Trucks Garaged As Shortage Worsens

The town since last Friday has faced the possibility that in the event a major snow storm struck there would not be enough gasoline to fuel snow fighting equipment.

Highway superintendent Robert G. O'Brien told an emergency meeting of the Emergency Energy Crisis Committee last Friday morning:

"I have 2,000 gallons (of gasoline) on hand. We would go through that in 24 hours if there were a major snow storm between now and Wednesday."

O'Brien said his department would then be out of fuel through normal usage.

O'Brien said as result of the worsening fuel situation, he had ordered the Highway Department pumps locked to prevent any gasoline from being taken.

The emergency committee, composed of town department heads, indicated the end of each month will probably see similar shortages in gasoline and departments should be prepared.

All unnecessary use of town vehicles was halted last week. O'Brien said he had garaged trucks in his department and halted the hauling of garbage to Carlisle until the town received a new supply of gasoline, expected this week.

The police and fire chiefs said some vehicles in their departments had been garaged until the town received more gasoline. Both the Fire and Police Departments use gasoline storage tanks separate from Highway Department tanks.

As of last Friday, the Fire Department's 1,000-gallon tank had 581 gallons of gasoline.

The Police Department also had a supply of gasoline on hand. "We would be willing to loan other departments gasoline in an emergency situation," Chief Edward F. Bowler said. "As of today (Friday) we're in pretty good shape. We will continue to curtail motor vehicle use until other town departments are straightened out."

The Police Department later that day received a gasoline delivery it had been expecting.

Other town department heads indicated they had taken their vehicles off the road during the current shortage. The Water and Sewer Department, for example, had 50 gallons on hand. Its workers were repairing a broken hydrant Friday.

Except for similar emergency repairs—in the Highway Department as well as Water and Sewer—town workers were given inside duties in an effort to keep vehicles off the highways.

Town comptroller James Costello told the emergency committee meeting at Town Hall that in an emergency departments could purchase gasoline from filling stations as long as they documented the need.

Selectmen Chairman Arthur Dunbar told the committee the Board of Selectmen intends to fight any gasoline allocation for municipalities.

O'Brien said his department's allocation is based on use last year. "If it's based on that, we're in trouble from now to the summer. Last year was a light year."

Because of the lack of snow last winter, snowfighting equipment saw limited use.

O'Brien said Brookline ran out of gasoline before Christmas and has since been buying from gasoline stations. "Now the gasoline stations are running out."

Chief Bowler asked the committee to look into using empty tanks around town for the storage of spare gasoline. Dunbar replied: "It has been discussed but that's not the problem. The problem is municipalities should get delivery."

As far as fuel oil is concerned, the town apparently is in good shape. School superintendent of grounds Ralph Luongo said one load at Lynch Junior High School turned out to be "bad." The company will not give the town that kind again, he said.

The town emergency committee broke up with the assurance from the Police Department that they would shortly receive a gasoline delivery which could keep the town running until Wednesday of this week.

Panic Buying

Customer Buys 25 Cents Worth Of Gas

Attendants at Winchester's service stations pretty well pumped their gasoline tanks dry last Friday and again on Monday as customers lined up for blocks. First news reports had indicated gas stations across the state would go on vacation to protest government policies on retail prices of gasoline.

Ken Binding of Ken's Mobil Station said, "They're crazy," referring to the gasoline distributors who plan to close. "It won't do any good. Everyone knows the problem and that the government won't do anything about it."

A spokesman at the Turner Sunoco Station on Main Street, referring to the state group, said, "I didn't join them last time and won't this time. I'll try to give gas to the public as long as I have it."

Tom Wheaton of the Wheaton Texaco Station said he would close "if everyone else does."

Nick Tierno of the Theater Mobil Station said, "Nobody has approached me. All I know is what I read in the papers."

Elliot Eason of Keenan Citgo said he doesn't know what he'll do - he'll make that decision when the times comes.

And Paul Reardon of Reardon's Texaco said, "I'm not union and don't expect to follow their lead."

Meanwhile, Winchester residents were not taking chances and tried to get as much gas as possible. Eason of the Keenan Citgo said he had three men steadily pumping gas on Monday morning. Though they held to a $5 limit, the average buy was between $2-$3 since most people had filled up on Friday. He even had one customer who bought 25 cents worth; another, 75 cents.

At Turner's Sunoco and the Theater Mobil stations there was a $2 limit. Here again customers' tanks wouldn't hold much more. All of the stations contacted by The Star had long lines of cars waiting to get gas. Paul Reardon of Reardon's Texaco said he ran out of gas last Friday. "We find we're in the middle as we listen to customers' complaints."

Dan O'Connell of O'Connell's Shell Station ran out Monday morning. He expected more later in the week. Monday afternoon a tanker replenished the supply.

Phil Ardagno of Phil's Citgo Station on 1012 Main st. closed Monday morning after his supply became low. He said he wanted to save some gasoline for his regular customers who would be stopping by on Wednesday.

Tom Wheaton of Wheaton's Texaco said he closed at 1:30 on Monday when he was all out of gasoline. He expected 1,000 gallons on Wednesday.

Turner of Turner's Sunoco Station spoke of a line "up to the other side of the theater" and said he would continue pumping "until his allotment for the day was gone."

And Ken Binding of Ken's Mobil Station said he was saving 20 gallons "in case of snow." He explained he would need this for vehicles used to remove snow. "This is a terrible situation."

At one point Friday evening there was a line of 25 cars along Main street in Winchester and Woburn waiting for service at the BP station in Woburn.

For High School

PBC Seeks More Money

Standing firm on the principle that money spent by the town should be spent only as directed by town meeting and not shifted from one budget or appropriation to another, town controller James Costello still refuses to pay for $14,000 worth of library books for the Winchester High School out of the 1972 school budget.

As a result, Permanent Building Committee (PBC) Chairman Robert S. Frank expects to ask town meeting at a special or the annual session for additional funds for the books.

At the same time, PBC will seek money for unexpected expenses not covered in the original bid and contingency fund for the more than $13 million high school project. For example, Frank says $4,500 is needed to provide emergency lighting for a certain section of the boys locker room. Also, stage lighting lies on a floor at the high school because there is no money to pay for installation.

This action came after almost three hours of open airing recently at the town hall among Frank Costello, the Board of Selectmen and School Committee members Harriet Dieterich, Stephen Parkhurst and Richard Lawrence.

The problem of paying the library books has been one of long-standing debate. Costello and the School Committee agree the books are needed at the high school and should be purchased.

And all, including Frank, seem to agree that the books were expected to have been paid for out of leftover contingency funds. But, there is to be no leftover money in the contingency fund which was originally $229,000 and now stands at between $13,000 and $17,000.

According to Frank, the high school remains unpaid because of several problems, the most serious being leaking windows which up to now have been recaulked three times and are now going through a test period.

PBC is holding back $96,000 from contractors White Construction Co. of Burlington and $20,000 from architects Brown, Flaher and Nickerson of Boston until items on a so-called "punch list" are corrected or installed.

And the remaining contingency fund, according to Frank, should stay intact until the project is nearer completion in case something more important than library books is needed.

In their desire to get library books into the school and to help PBC, the School Committee voted to use $14,000 surplus from the 1972 school budget to buy books. Last March they began sending bills for such books to the town controller for payment asking charges be made against the 1972 school budget.

Basically, this is where the disagreement lies. Costello contends the books are a part of the high school project just as much as the structure itself, the desks and other equipment, the grading around the facility and the playing field.

Until the building has been paid for and turned over to the School Committee, he says, payment for bills associated with the project are the responsibility of PBC.

He maintains PBC should pay for the

Chadwick Stepping Down, Three 'Interested' In Seat

Rep. Harrison Chadwick (R-Winchester) announced last Friday he will not seek a 15th term in the Massachusetts House.

He told a luncheon meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club that he has reached 70 years of age and by the end of his current legislative term will have had 32 years of continued public service. Four of those years were in the armed service.

"I feel now I would like to lighten the schedule," he later told The Star. "It's a good time to stop." The Republican legislator said the computer program he was responsible for administering in the legislature is "now working well," the public transportation crisis of the last 10 years appears to have been finally settled this term and the staffing of legislative committees is complete.

"I hired 40 people, all professionals, without any consideration to politics, and they're doing a job that the legislature feels it just can't get along without."

Chadwick said the Legislative Service Bureau, of which he was the first director, now has a permanent "and very competent" director who has taken over from him.

"I will certainly be interested in Winchester and will be doing things around town. Life's been pretty good to me and I would like to spend some time helping people less fortunate. There are lots of opportunities. I'm sure there will be more than enough things to keep me busy."

Chadwick said he took the occasion of the Rotary luncheon to announce his decision because "they are all my friends." The legislator still has another year to serve in his present term. Massachusetts House members' terms are two years.

He narrowly defeated Kenneth Trevett last November in his tightest win ever. After a recount, Chadwick's margin of victory was 20 votes.

Several names of possible contenders for Chadwick's seat have been mentioned. Kenneth Trevett, a Democrat, said, "I am giving the whole thing serious consideration." The 28-year-old employee of the Massachusetts Youth Services Department has run twice against Chadwick.

This time he could face primary opposition from Samuel Rotondi, a 27-year-old lawyer. Trevett in 1972 had no opposition in the Democratic primary.

Rotondi said of the possibility he may enter the race: "I am giving it some consideration, I haven't made any definite plans." He said he would decide following the March town election.

The primary for the state representative contest is next September. On the Republican side, a likely candidate is Sherman W. (Whip) Saltmarsh Jr., 44, an insurance agent and former selectman.

Saltmarsh: "I'm giving it serious consideration at this point. I have had a raft of phone calls since Harrison made his announcement." The callers are urging him to enter his name in the Republican primary, Saltmarsh indicated.

"I won't have a public announcement for a while." He said if he decides to go "it would mean realigning my business."

He said Chadwick's announcement "came as a real surprise, particularly the timing of it."

Rotondi said one argument against his running is that his father is seeking a seat on the Board of Selectmen in the March town election. He feels the voters of Winchester dislike any hint of "dynasty."

Harrison Chadwick

"There's a chance I could run. It means confronting Ken Trevett and he's a friend." But, Rotondi added, he will seek the seat if he feels he's the more qualified.

Rotondi mentioned that he is motivated to run because "the lack of interest in town in politics is incredible. It's not just incredible. It's suicidal. People are just not doing anything."

Trevett said he's been planning on running since his narrow defeat a year ago. "This prospect could change but I don't expect it to."

9 Take Papers For 24 Posts

By Monday at 4 p.m., nine persons had taken out nomination papers for election to the 24 townwide seats to be filled this year.

There are an additional 66 town meeting seats to be filled, hopefully by election rather than appointment.

The following are the persons who have taken out nomination papers:

BOARD OF SELECTMEN
Eugene B. Rotondi, 224 Forest st.

Walton C. Gagel, 7 Winthrop st.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE
Mary Louise Eugley, 43 Wildwood ave.

Gloria M. Butterfield, 384 Highland ave.

CEMETERY COMMISSION
Robert P. Johnson, 16 Ardley pl.

CONSTABLE
Howard E. Chase Jr., 100 Forest st.

BOARD OF ASSESSORS
George Louis Andersen, 28 Mayflower rd.

CHARTER COMMISSION
Robert C. Erleson, 155 High st.

Francis F. Cullen, 82 Bacon st.

Gagel, whose name had not previously been mentioned as a selectmen candidate, is a teacher at Lynch Junior High School. A resident of Winchester for four years, he has never run for public office before.

He has been employed by the Winchester schools for three years. He previously worked in the Long Island, N.Y., schools. He is studying for his doctoral dissertation in curriculum education at Boston University.

The following is a list of townwide seats expiring this year followed by the name of the present incumbent and the number of years the term of office lasts:

* One moderator, Raymond J. Kenney Jr., one year.

Two selectmen, Arthur Dunbar, John J. Sullivan, three years.

One assessor, George Louis Andersen, three years.

One member Board of Health, Lawrence F. Quigley Jr., three years.

One Cemetery Commissioner, Bradford J. Johnson, five years.

One Commissioner Trust Funds, Allan T. Buros, three years.

Coordinators

To Show Slides

The coordinators of the School Volunteers for Boston Library Program, Mrs. Polly Kaufman and Mrs. Margaret Brown, will come to Winchester to speak and show slides at the Women of Epiphany monthly luncheon at 12:45 on Jan. 15. Since 1965 the speakers have been supervising the teams of volunteers who operate libraries in over 100 of the more than 200 Boston elementary schools. Women from Winchester operate the libraries in two elementary schools in South Boston.

Recently the Women of Epiphany gave a money gift to provide extra sports books for the all-boys Bigelow school in South Boston.

People who are not members of the parish are invited to have lunch and attend the slide presentation. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Thomas Leonard, 28 Fletcher st.

Concelebrated Mass Held For Rev. Martin

A concelebrated mass was held recently at the Immaculate Conception Church for Rev. Henry T. Martin S.J., a student of Winchester Schools and born in Woburn. Father Martin served as the secretary to the Archbishop of Jamaica John J. McElenev S.J.

During his time in the United States, when he was not in missionary work in Jamaica, Father Martin resided with his brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Martin of 33 Sheridan cir. Father Martin was born in Woburn in 1899. He attended Winchester Elementary Schools, Boston College High School and in 1917, he entered Shadowbrook Jesuit Seminary where he served for a long period of years prior to his ordination to the priesthood. "Father Martin was a close personal friend and most gifted man, accomplished in literature, mathematics and philosophy with theology his principal interest," said the retired former Archbishop of Jamaica.

After his ordination in 1930 Father Martin went to the Gregorian University in Rome where he received his doctorate. Later he taught theology at Weston College and served as rector at the major Jesuit Seminary for six years before going to Jamaica in 1950.

Father Martin is survived by his sister Ann of Lakewood, Fla.; his brother Frank of North Cambridge and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Martin of Winchester.

Archbishop McElenev was the principal concelebrant at the recent Immaculate Conception mass assisted by Rev. Lawrence Burke, Superior of the Jamaican Jesuit Missions; Rev. William Kelleher, a Woburn native and former president of Boston College; Rev. George Kilcoyne S.J.; Rev. John Caulfield S.J.; Rev. Edward Whalen, S.J., both of Boston College; Rev. Philip Donnelly of Weston College, Cambridge; Rev. Francis Anderson, 297 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston; and Rev. William Doyle S.J., a Woburn native and now stationed at Boston College High School. Present for the mass were Rev. Forrest Donahue S.J. and Rev. John J. Collins of Weston College, Weston.

Father Leonard Pelletier of the Immaculate Conception Church served as the master of ceremonies for the concelebrated mass. Numerous relatives and friends of Father Martin and his family were present for the mass.

Archbishop McElenev gave the homily for the concelebrated mass.

BENEFIT - The Winchester chapter of the Florence Crittenton League will be participating in the mid-winter dinner-theater party to benefit the Crittenton Hastings House on Feb. 10. In foreground is Mrs. Ivania Joslin, newly-appointed Lexington circle coordinator. From left, standing, are Mrs. James Edwards and Mrs. James Quinn of Winchester.

Crittenton League Benefit Is Dinner-Theater Party

Members of the Winchester circle of the Florence Crittenton League met recently at Crittenton Hastings House in Brighton to launch plans for a mid-winter benefit co-sponsored by 16 suburban circles. The benefit will be a dinner-theater party on Feb. 10 at the Chateau de Ville, Framingham. Mrs. James Edwards of 46 Jefferson rd. will serve as reservations chairman for Winchester participants. She will be accepting reservations for the roast beef dinner and performance of "The King and I" through Jan. 9. Mrs. Edwards says because of the gas shortage and the possibility of wintry weather conditions, charter bus transportation will be available for those who want to travel this way.

For more information contact Mrs. Edwards. Mrs. James Quinn is president of the Winchester circle.

Mouth-To-Mouth Resuscitation

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico has provided this 13-article series on fire prevention and emergency procedures in the interest of greater safety in Winchester.

This is article No. 11 in the series on fire prevention and handling emergency situations which could involve your calling the fire department for assistance.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation should be taught to every member of the family, for reasons I will explain. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is the use of one's own breath to revive someone who is unable to breathe for himself. It is a very old form of life-saving. An example of its use can be found in the Bible in 11 Kings 4:34, when Elisha revives an unconscious child by blowing into its lungs.

Though most have heard of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, everyone does not realize the importance of time lapse, from discovery of the need for mouth-to-mouth and actually starting its application.

Examples of when to use mouth-to-mouth are drowning, electric shock, heart attack when victim has stopped breathing, carbon monoxide poisoning or asphyxiation from any cause.

When a person has stopped breathing, for any reason, his chances for being saved from death reduce rapidly over the first five minutes period after breathing has stopped. If resuscitation is provided the victim within 3 minutes, his chances of survival are already down to 75 percent.

When four minutes have passed, since breathing stopped, chances of saving the life are down to 50 per cent. At five minutes the victim has only a 25 per cent chance of revival!

Obviously, when so short a time is so important, there is no time for reading instructions, panicking, or delay for any reason! Therefore, if each and every member of the family has been trained in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, the delay in its application in case of a family emergency should be minimal.

Whenever occasion arises for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation the very first thing to do is summon help by calling the fire department. If you are the only conscious person present in the home, you can readily see the importance of having the fire department telephone number on or near the phone. In this event, be sure you give your name and street number, along with nearby cross-streets before you hang up the phone. Of course, if there is another person present, other than the victim, have him do the telephoning while you start mouth-to-mouth.

Learn to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation properly through actual practice on other members of the family. Hold family training sessions until you are certain everyone knows how to give mouth-to-mouth and the importance of giving it quickly! Remember, panic is the greatest enemy of the family in emergency situations. In-the-home training for the family reduces the chance of panic! Everyone should learn that wringing one's hands in case of emergency serves no purpose! Proper application of first aid measures saves lives!

Next week we will talk about emergency first aid for severe burns.

books out of the existing contingency fund or from additional funds which would be appropriated by town meeting.

To "bury the cost" of the books in their budget, the School Committee is giving townspeople an inaccurate account of the total high school cost, he notes.

At the recent discussion on the issue, at which time the School Committee was seeking opinion from Selectmen and Town Counsel Douglas Randall, Costello stood his ground as a public official saying the bills will not be paid out of the school budget under his signature.

On a question from Selectman Arthur Dunbar, who was PBC chairman previous to Frank when the high school project was beginning, Costello said "yes" he would pay for the books out of the school budget if they were for the Washington School since the Washington School is under the charge of the School Committee.

Selectman Lawrence Smith spoke to the issue of transferring money from specific categorical budgets such as from personal services to the expense budget. His view was that "historically such shifting has not been practiced." He said "If there is a surplus it should be returned to surplus and if there's a deficit, go to the Reserve Fund. Follow the pattern of the past," he advised.

After selectmen suggested the School Committee go to the Finance Committee and/or Town Meeting, Parkhurst said, "What if Town Meeting doesn't go along?"

Smith said possibly he (Smith) has more faith in the Town Meeting and their understanding of the problems. He said PBC should do the asking.

State aid was another aspect of the discussion. A few weeks before Costello had said state aid at 40 percent, the amount reimbursed on projects of the scope of the high school, would be jeopardized; and only 15 percent would be returned, the amount of regular operating expenses.

Frank and Costello described a recent Board Assistance Bureau (SBAB) at which

Assistant Superintendent William Clark was involved which gave a different picture. Frank said SBAB considers "the source (where the money comes from) is not their domain."

After being given all the facts, Costello said, SBAB asked "Why doesn't PBC finish the job it was charged to do?"

Following the town hall meeting Costello told The Star that the SBAB representative had said at the outset, "Let's recognize first of all that Costello is the controller in Winchester and therefore sets the procedure for paying bills in the town."

Costello told the town hall assemblage that SBAB noted, "So long as all was acceptable by the town controller the state would accept the town's request for reimbursement."

But even though he acknowledges state aid will not be held back, Costello still feels he cannot approve bills for the project if they are to be paid from school budgets. "If they had their way they wouldn't tolerate this kind of situation, but they will not pass judgement," Costello said of SBAB.

Frank and Costello both pointed out there is no limit to the total cost the state will consider for reimbursement as long as the "overall scope of the project doesn't change." Frank said "They (projects of this type) can remain open for years."

A third major topic of the discussion, considered by Frank to be paramount, was the waiting book vendors who are "upset." He said "They supplied books in good faith" and the bills should be paid. "Our credit rating is being jeopardized."

Selectman John Sullivan agreed "It's not good business to keep them waiting for their money."

Costello said he was "always getting the poor vendor bit" noting he "can't lose sleep over it."

He pointed to the school budgets for the fiscal years 72, 73-74 and the contemplated 75 budget for books for the high school library saying they total from $125,000 to $135,000 which raises the high school costs that much more.

Mrs. Dieterich and Parkhurst shook their heads in disagreement Mrs. Dieterich said the School Committee was interested in getting book bills paid. Parkhurst said the three-year program to buy books for the library was felt to offer "good accreditation" it took care of deficiencies in the library.

At one point Richard Lawrence asked how old were bills being held by Costello. The answer indicated high school book bills went back nine months while other bills were older. Examples cited by Costello included a bill for Cape Cod motel charges for the wife of a former School Committee Chairman and another bill in the amount of $240 "which Mrs. Grenzeback is attempting to collect."

The beginning of the forum centered on the question of transferring funds from one account to another and obtaining legal opinion particularly for so-called "grey" areas.

Parkhurst said, "It makes more sense to use leftover money in personal services account rather than tap the Reserve Fund and take away from another department."

Referring to obtaining legal opinion from town counsel, which Costello said he did not feel bound to follow if he was not the seeker, Parkhurst asked, "Would it help to have the School Committee vote to ask the controller to seek legal counsel?"

Selectman Sullivan said, "Don't write to the controller and ask for legal counsel. Contact both. He (the controller) has to pay the bills."

In conclusion, since the controller will not pay bills for the library books as the situation now stands and PBC needs additional funds to complete the high school before they can in good conscience turn the building over to the School Committee, it was decided that town counsel will draw up an article requesting $100,000 to pay for books and other expenses for the high school.

Frank said he couldn't guarantee he wouldn't need to go back to town meeting in April of 1975.

Bird Wins In Name Contest

William T. Bird of 8 Lawrence st. won second prize for his entry in a name-the-team contest conducted by Boston's franchise in the new professional World Team Tennis League.

The winning entry was "The Boston Lobsters."

For his "Volleys" entry, Bird will be awarded a trip for two to the Rod Laver Tennis Camp in Bretton Woods, N.H.

The Lobsters will play a 44-match schedule from May 15-Aug. 15, which includes 22 home matches at Boston University's

Walter Brown Arena.

The team has signed its number one draft choice, Kerry Melville of Australia, ranked fifth in the world.

Two Elected To Banking Posts

At the recent annual meeting of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, two Winchester residents were elected to executive positions.

Janet M. Pavliska of 36 Cambridge st. was elected executive vice president. Philip L. Russo of Kenwin road was elected assistant vice president.

Mrs. Pavliska has been with the bank for almost 20 years and has participated in management activities of all departments. A cum laude graduate of Brown University's three-year banking program, for the past four years she has been vice-treasurer of the bank.

Russo has served in various capacities for the bank during the past eight years.

Carol Singing

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was delighted to see my item from the Korea Times on Winchester's Christmas Eve carol singing custom reprinted again in The Star this year. I hope that it stands as a tribute to the organizers of the carol singing and especially to Mrs. Witham who conducts so well.

I was delighted to join the caroling in person this year. The spirit was so great that we hardly noticed the lack of lights on the tree.

Children's Theater

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My husband and I feel we must share our thoughts with the Town of Winchester in regard to the wonderful work accomplished by the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., under the direction of Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff. The performance of "Noah's Ark" was truly enchanting and full of enrichment both to the members of the cast, as well as the audience.

The production more than accomplished the goal Mrs. Samoiloff had in mind. This being to help us see what a rewarding experience children's theater can be for both those directly involved and for the community in which the results are shared.

It is very evident that the exposure to fine literature, the techniques of acting and the world of music do so very much to develop the self-confidence, poise and the many God-given talents our children possess.

Young people today more than ever need to find an outlet of this sort to direct their unlimited energy and to fulfill their need to contribute to society in such a positive way. If we could introduce our children at a young enough age to this marvelous means of self-development, I believe we should have far less restless and drifting young people.

We are relative newcomers to the Town of Winchester but have been pleased to find it to be a town of families who truly care for and about their children.

To establish or support a children's theatre would be one major step in the right direction.

Mother, Son Are Thankful For 'Ark'

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Both of my children were in the Winchester Community Theater—children's theater production of Noah's Ark. There were times when I felt it would never be ready to be performed. The earlier rehearsals were confusing and noisy, but Mrs. (Carlene) Samoiloff persevered and the performance was delightful.

Most important, however, was the opportunity for my children to commit themselves to a project and follow it through its completion; and for one of them the opportunity to overcome shyness and perform on the stage.

I hope the children's theater will continue in Winchester on a regular basis.

I was in Noah's Ark as Little Lion. I liked it very much. This was my first play and I was able to write a scene for my sister and me. I would like to be in a play again.

Siphoning: A Holiday Event

By Cathy Fallon

The year of the energy crisis has brought to town a variation on hitherto standard forms of holiday entertaining. To the long list of cocktail parties, brunches, buffets and smorgasbords can now be added siphoning.

Closely related to the omnipresent "happening" of a few years back, siphoning occurs spontaneously, without benefit of invitation and somewhat like a block party, attracts observers and advisors from up and down the street. It occurs from the purest motives of friendship and generosity when someone discovers he hasn't enough gas to get to where he's going and all the gas stations are closed.

A few phone calls are placed to likely friends who maintain their tanks near full and seldom drive beyond the confines of the town. Consultations are arranged among resident and neighbor handymen who borrow a few pieces of aquarium hose from unsuspecting fish, laboriously connect them one to the other and attach a turkey bulb baster to the end to avoid the risk of inadvertently inhaling gasoline when starting up the siphon.

Old buckets, plastic wastebaskets and garden sprinklers are gathered to catch the precious liquid and the entire group dons coats and mufflers and forms a procession to witness the siphoning itself.

The tube is slid silently and ceremoniously into the gas tank of the donor, the baster is squeezed tentatively a few times for suction and everyone waits in silence for the slurp that indicates suction has begun. Then the group is rewarded by the trickle of pungent vapor into a waiting receptacle.

Inevitably a crowd has by now assembled—the curious and the helpful. Waiting in the cold is made more pleasant by neighborly greetings and exchanges of holiday pleasantries. Under a sparkling winter sky, with brilliant moon and silhouetted pines, the observer corps keeps watch while the siphon slowly does its noble deed.

As the container is filled and transferred to the thirsting car across the street, a cheer arises from all assembled who then continue their revelry within warmer quarters over vapors more potable and less scarce than the transferred petrol.

Returning?

1944 saw residents using Office of Price Administration ration coupons. Bill Ryerson of Ardley road found these, along with certificate for use, in his home. They belonged to his father. Perhaps 1974 will see the return of rationing.

Letter From The Editor Blame It On Kohoutek

Chief Edward F. Bowler of the Police Department is not enthusiastic about the possibility of the return of gasoline rationing. He recalls that during World War II the rationing board refused to give stamps for operation of the town ambulance because the board felt its use unnecessary.

"We got the gasoline," the chief said. "Illegally." His point was that rationing boards don't always act wisely.

If you've been feeling uneasy lately and don't know why or if problems in the home have seemed intensified, blame it on Kohoutek.

Astrologer Frances Sakoian of Arlington tells me that the comet Kohoutek now nearing the earth is responsible for some of the malaise of recent weeks.

"Kohoutek intensifies everything," she said last week when I talked to her in her home. But these negative influences will pass away shortly as the comet leaves earth's atmosphere.

I have known Frances for about five years and am impressed with her knowledge of astrology, which is a mixture of science and art, and how she uses it to help people.

I thought it would be kind of fun to print her thoughts on the new year which she has ascertained by analyzing the planetary configurations for the United States.

Mrs. Sakoian, who has appeared on television and has lectured extensively, thinks 1974 will be a much better year than most of us feel at the moment. "Everyone expects a recession," she said. "But 1974 is going to be much better than expected."

She thinks this because Jupiter is trine Saturn—both business planets. A trine is a favorable aspect.

By the end of the year, however, the U.S. crops will be unfavorably affected in some way and there will be economic problems involving foreign countries. Money will be short, she said, and the young people "are in for a rude awakening. They are not going to be able to attend schools like they used to."

That's because of the shortage of money.

Mrs. Sakoian studied President Nixon's natal chart and has some comments on what's ahead for him. He has two critical periods coming up: Jan. 8-Jan. 23 and April 6-20. "If he passes through them he'll be okay."

Frances never lets her own politics influence her astrological readings. She said Nixon's destiny will be determined by what happens in those two critical periods.

"This is a crisis time in his life. He has in his aspect the moon, which rules our unconscious, in trine with Pluto. This gives him courage and determination to overcome obstacles." This aspect also gives him his spiritual and material success, she said.

"He would know that thoughts are powerful and therefore keep his own mind positive. He is able to plan his actions and make them productive...he's a strategist."

Mrs. Sakoian doesn't feel the President will be impeached because those who would see him impeached will go down with him. She feels members of Congress are guilty of considerable wrongdoing.

Unfortunately she asked me not to print another thought she had about President Nixon. Not because she fears she may be wrong (she never worries about that) but because she feels thoughts are strong influences. So I'll leave that in the back of my mind.

Some of her other thoughts: "Until the end of 1974 we will be under constant pressure from foreign currency. We are already under that pressure but people might not know it."

"From now until the end of 1975 there can be foreign military involvement (by the U.S.). We've got to be very, very careful not to get sucked into the Middle East."

"In February and March of 1975 the Russians will arm the Arabs and we'll arm the Israelis. But we (the people) won't know about it."

"Our nation is going to have all kinds of health problems. There is great danger from transporting radioactive material that could affect the health of our country."

"Starting in July, 1974, there will be problems with friendly nations that can affect money, the oil embargo and contracts. Agreements with friendly nations will be broken."

"Mid July, August and September there will be a shortage of raw material that could affect the earning power of the country. The fear factor will take over. It will affect the market." The fear factor, she said, will be stronger than the actual problems.

"Gold. We don't have it. Other countries won't gouge us too much. They're afraid if we go down they'll go down too."

"In 1974 we could be laying the ground for global war. There is a chance of germ warfare by 1980."

She said that research for this germ warfare is now going on.

She also said the new year will see the development of new power technology. "Sewage could be turned into fuel—methane gas. Water could be sent down into the earth and we'd get back steam."

Frances Sakoian

Mrs. Sakoian emphasizes that the stars "do not compel, they impel.... Whatever we're doing this year about the conditions is laying the groundwork for what will happen later. So we should proceed with caution and work for the greatest good of all concerned and not for selfish interest."

What happens in 1974 is not going to affect a few "but the whole world. These things need not happen. They could happen, because of planetary vibrations."

She compared the study of astrology to a blizzard. "You should be prepared. Or you can go out improperly dressed and get pneumonia."

Mrs. Sakoian's book, "The Astrologer's Handbook," is in its fifth printing. It will soon be published in Great Britain and Germany.

Scientists say on Jan. 8 and Feb. 7 the moon will be close to the earth and warn of unusually high tides on those two days. If we have severe storms, there could be flooding.

The moon has been as close or closer to the earth than the Jan. 8 position on not more than 20 days in the past 300 years, according to the U.S. Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Youths at Harvard Square have been handing out a "worldwide warning from God to all mankind, according to the private revelations of the Blessed Virgin to specific seers at Garabandal, Spain (1961-1965), San Damiano, Italy (1964-1970) and Bayside, Long Island, N.Y., (1970-1973)."

The literature warns of something coming from the sky. One describes it as a "great light... preceded by a storm" followed by "a great jarring or shaking of the earth."

Another, on Aug. 21, 1973, stated: "There will be a warning given to mankind.... I can tell you that a warning is very imminent. It will be most frightening. It will feel like the end of the world has come to many and there will be a tremendous flash."

The warning, the seers state, is intended to turn man back to God. Mrs. Arthur (Veronica) Lueken of Bayside, Long Island, N.Y., says that on Dec. 31, 1972, she had a vision.

"Jesus writes in the sky: 'WARNING SOON'.... Jesus stated that the date will not be necessary for He has given us enough clues (signs), and has given us our directions for the future. The numbers 1-7-3-2 appeared in the sky. Our Lady said to 'count the numbers 1-7-3-2 and to remember 1 and 2 makes 3 is the warning.'"

Comet-watchers have been angrily looking at the sky recently for any signs of Kohoutek. Well, according to Dr. Lubos Kohoutek (and he should know because he discovered it), comet Kohoutek will be visible in the evening sky just above the southwest horizon. Best viewing will be after Jan. 10 when the moon disappears from the sky.

I had a call the other day from a woman whose bedroom overlooks Sunset road, up off Washington street near the Woburn line. She says she was going to bed late last Friday night (about 1:15 a.m.).

"Suddenly as I was walking past the window a bright light caught my eye. I saw a large thing—like it was burning in the sky. It was falling."

"I guess it fell in the marshes." The woman said no sound accompanied the object. "At first I thought it was a plane falling," the woman told me. "It was bigger than a streetlight and much brighter."

She said after it fell into the marshes there was darkness. She expected to hear sirens and see flashing lights as the police and fire personnel arrived to aid in the "plane crash."

But there was only silence. So she called the Winchester and Woburn police departments and watched the papers for information. "No one knew anything about it." She said she has to conclude the object was a falling star but she remains skeptical. It was much bigger than a falling star. And if it was a meteor, where did it land?

Rep. Harrison Chadwick was asked recently by Speaker David Bartley to preside over a House session. He may be the only Republican in modern times ever to preside over a session.

Chadwick was telling me the other day about his impending departure from the House. "You know, I don't think I've ever been happier than I was when I'd come home tired, but glowing all over, knowing I'd done something worthwhile, knowing I'd put in a good day coaching the boys at hockey." That might give us a clue as to what Harry will be doing with some of his spare time.

I was cleaning out some shelves in the office Friday when a clipping fluttered to the floor. I don't even know what newspaper it's from or when it was printed. But on the reverse side is an advertisement to sell a 1965 Mustang for $1,700 so that might give us a hint.

"Rep. Chadwick Speaks Out On College Students Attire," the headline reads. Representative Chadwick, although a representative of a residential community with a high percentage of home town youths attending colleges and universities throughout the country, had his say during the discussion (on a bill to order state colleges and universities to establish student dress rules). "He was not speaking of any particular student but more on the collective representation of students among the most publicized unfavorables."

Letter From The Editor

"The dress of today's college students is a disgrace to the nation," Representative Chadwick stated. "It is a symbol of rebelliousness against the United States of America." Obviously the bill failed. Today, of course, consideration of such a measure would be ridiculous. Casual dress has even entered the once-staid business area.

Last week's paper carried results of the League of Women Voters' survey of recreational needs of the town. The results somewhat parallel the results of a survey taken in 1964 by a town committee.

That showed youths in grades seven to 12 wanted a swimming pool, teen center and tennis as their first three priorities.

This year's poll showed swimming far and away the most wanted facility. This was followed by a drop-in center and more playground equipment.

Between 1964 and 1974 we've seen a drop-in center come and go (it was too expensive to maintain through private funds and there were too many fights) and more tennis courts constructed. So far the town has turned down a pool.

We received a note recently from "Shattered Nerves" which reads: "HELP! Granted the new leash law is a nuisance to dog owners and their pets, it is more than a nuisance to their neighbors who own no dogs. "This is with reference to the owners who tie their dogs in the yard all day, rain or shine, and let them bark for 13 hours without taking a breath."

"When it comes to the point that one must walk about with cotton in the ears, or have a nervous breakdown, we believe something should be done about it. It is neither fair to the animals nor to those who must listen to them."

An advertisement appeared in The Globe last week advising in capital bold face letters: "Winchester's Finest-- Parkview Apartments. All utilities--no lease. MBTA and train service." prompting one cynical observer (not me) to comment: "Winchester's finest! Winchester's only!" He also said the original builders of the Parkview promised a train depot right there which never materialized.

If you've been wondering about the great length of this column this week and are worried about similar long columns in the future, put your fears to rest. It's still the end of the year for me as I write this (Sunday) and I've accumulated a lot of things I want to get rid of so I can start the new year with a clean desk. I may be a bit late, but Happy New Year to Everyone!

Vanilla Extract In Long Supply

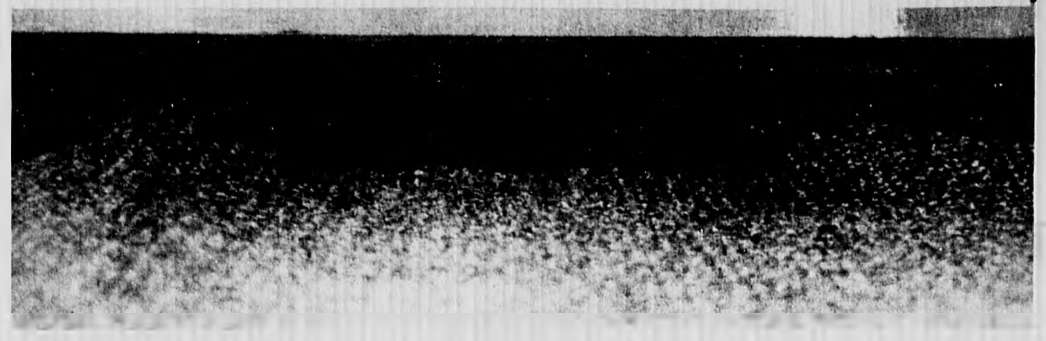

A storeroom at the Middlesex County Hospital is said to contain 1,200 cartons of vanilla extract.

According to Middlesex County Commissioners S. Lester Ralph, chairman, and Paul Tsongas, the excess supply of vanilla came before the appointment of Bernard J. Hennessy of Sudbury as purchasing agent for the county.

Before Hennessy's appointment to the new position, there were over 75 independent purchasing agents buying for Middlesex County facilities. Previously each department head was responsible for buying supplies, the commissioners said.

Commissioner Ralph pointed to over-buy of materials as a "misuse" and "inefficiency" rather than a problem of "abuse." By misuse, he explained, that individual department heads often over-bought while other departments were re-ordering the same materials. And many ordered items go unused, like the vanilla extract.

With a new county purchasing agent the commissioners hope to reduce purchasing costs by 25 percent. Under the new system, supplies will be purchased in bulk quantities and at competitive prices.

Leaking windows at Winchester High School have caused damage to other parts of the more than $13 million facility. Here a carpet is buckling.

Insurance FACTS

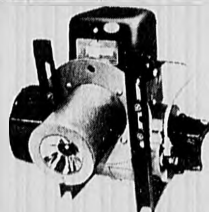

BY FRANK MAHONEY

There are three types of insurance a policy holder may carry; legal, mandatory and voluntary. Legal insurance is prescribed by law. Mandatory insurance is required by a second party to cover his interest. Any insurance which is necessary but not required by law is voluntary insurance. Knowledge of all three of these requirements is one of the things your agent specializes in. Knowledge of the various types of insurance available is his strength.

And the knowledgeable, friendly staff at FRANCIS X. MAHONEY INSURANCE AGENCY, 914 Mass. Ave., 843-3800 can meet your insurance needs and solve your insurance problems with competence. Store Caters To People Who Forget One Or Two Things

"One or Two Things" is an appropriate title for the store at 5 Mt. Vernon st. which understands that people are only human, and that forgetting one or two things is a way of life for some.

Manager Charles Cummings and his three employees make sure that the store has a large supply of convenience and frozen foods, fresh vegetables, snacks and deli foods, health articles, cosmetics and hygiene supplies. There is a full line of meats. If a customer wants a special cut of meat, he or she may place orders with the meat man and pick it up the next day.

At One or Two Things, there is extensive space for frozen foods in a 40-foot long vertical display case. An average of 2,500 items plus a few fresh meats and fresh produce is stocked at the store.

The store has only a few aisles to facilitate shopping. The choice of brands is large enough to provide a choice but not too large to confuse shoppers in a rush. Customers do not Previously a milkman for 25 years, Manager Cummings has been managing Berg Keshian's One or Two Things for two years. He has been at the Winchester branch for about a year and before that he was manager of the Arlington store.

Mr. Cummings has lived in Arlington all his life. He attended the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, in dairy management. He and his wife, Marilyn (Roby) have six children, two of whom also attend the U. of M. Bavel, 20, is a married student majoring in business management.

Debra, 19, is involved in child psychology. Michael, 18, is captain of the Arlington High School football team. Mark, 17, Jeff, 15, and Laura, 11, complete the Cummings family. The Cummings are grandparents of a five month old boy.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Cummings worked as a receptionist. She works part time as a waitress at a restaurant.

Tree Pick-Up Is Saturday

Townwide collection of Christmas trees, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Highway and Park Departments, will take place Saturday. Young adults over the age of 18 may take part in this community service.

"Make this your thing and join us on Jan. 5 at 9 a.m. at the parking lot opposite the Town Hall," says Lawrence F. Tobason of 6 Hillside ave., chairman.

In the past, donations taped to the trees have been appreciated by the Jaycees and used for projects in the community.

Refreshments will be served during and after the pick-up.

Push Impeachment Matter To House, Says Macdonald

"I write you again to urge you to bring the matter of impeachment of President Nixon before the House of Representatives immediately."

This was the introductory sentence in a letter from Thorbert H. Macdonald, representative of the Massachusetts Seventh District, including Winchester, to Peter Rodino, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

Macdonald went on to say, "I feel there is reason to believe that the president has committed such high crimes and misdemeanors as to warrant his impeachment by the House."

He noted "any further delay in taking definitive action will result in further paralysis" of the executive branch of the government "at a time when international and domestic challenges require trusted leadership" at home and abroad.

Macdonald noted he believes "most of the members of Congress have made up their minds" and he doubts any long drawn out proceedings will have much bearing on the final outcome.

"I hope you will expedite action on what is the gravest of all governmental matters and of the most awesome historical nature."

State Fire Marshal Issues New Rules For Gas Storage

State Fire Marshal Joseph G. Sneider has issued restrictive regulations concerning the use, distribution, storage, and transportation of gasoline.

Because of the energy crisis, and the closing of gasoline stations on Sunday, many motorists have purchased various types of gasoline containers to carry additional fuel in car trunks, the chief notes. Others set up reservoirs in their homes and garages for the same purpose. Both these practices are dangerous and are now prohibited under the new emergency regulations.

Also no person shall sell a container of more than seven gallons capacity, for the transportation of gasoline, or dispense gasoline into such a container unless the container has been approved by the state fire marshal or a nationally recognized testing laboratory such as Underwriters Laboratories or Factory Mutual Research. Each container must bear the label of the fire marshal or the testing laboratories.

Approved containers used for transportation of gasoline shall not exceed seven gallons, and the maximum amount transported shall not exceed 14 gallons. The gasoline must be in an open vehicle, or in a compartment of a closed vehicle separated from the passengers.

Sneider warned the public that gasoline should not be stored in habitated buildings or attached home garages. No more than seven gallons of gasoline may be stored in uninhabited buildings.

Sneider cautioned the public that violations of gasoline transportation rules could result in a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment of not more than one year or both. He asked public cooperation in preventing the needless tragedy which could result from non-compliance with these safety measures.

Tests of containers at the state laboratory showed most of the cans on the market leaked under pressure, had weak handles that broke off easily, or cracked under the drop test.

A plastic gas can called "Jerry Jug" and a metal one put out by the Kant Korrode Co., and a Sears Roebuck can with a national laboratory safety mark were said to be the only containers passed in local tests.

County Court House Set To Open Feb. 19

The Middlesex County Court House, nine years in the making and the topic of considerable controversy, is expected to be partially opened on Feb. 19.

The announcement was made last week by County Commissioner S. Lester Ralph, chairman, who also is the mayor of Somerville.

The $45 million structure, which was begun in 1965, is expected to be partially occupied by personnel from some of the offices now located in the old court house. The move is set for the weekend of Washington's birthday.

Among the offices to be moved will be the county engineers, county treasurer, retirement board and their staffs, the county commissioners and the probation offices of the Superior and Third District Courts.

The February move will not include the jail or house of correction, which, according to Sheriff John Buckley, still has "a good many bugs to be worked out." He refers to certain fire protection and means of egress in case of fire for jail residents who eventually will be housed on top floors of the 20-story facility.

While the building will open on Feb. 19, there are no provisions for parking other than what is presently in the area.

Edward J. Tedesco of Winchester is architect for the structure.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MOTORING PUBLIC

The news about the energy crisis and possible fuel shortages concerns us all, so I want to share a few meaningful facts that could prove of real importance to you personally.
... OUR LARGEST DISCOUNTS EVER are now being offered on the latest, most advanced Buicks — particularly the Electras, Rivers, Estate Wagons and LeSabres.
These models have recently been substantially increased in price by General Motors... however, Smyly Buick offers for your consideration NOW an excellent selection of the above mentioned models at the old price, plus the most generous savings in our 17 year history!

Because today we are all required to reduce driving speeds and asked to limit the use of our cars, consider these facts:

THE BUICK ELECTRA AVERAGED 18.3 MILES PER GALLON ... THE LeSABRE AVERAGED 18.9 MILES PER GALLON. During a very recent 2,611 mile drive from San Diego to Washington, D.C. (Sanctioned by the United States Auto Club).

Astounding — Yes, But True!

Based on these figures AN ELECTRA WILL TRAVEL 475 MILES AND A LeSABRE ALMOST 500 MILES ON A FULL TANK OF REGULAR GASOLINE.

Compare this to a SUB COMPACT AVERAGING 25 MILES PER GALLON WITH A STANDARD 11 GALLON TANK THAT WILL ONLY TRAVEL 275 MILES USING EVERY DROP OF FUEL.

Another important thought and fact to consider when essential driving is necessary and gas stations are closed!

Net Result to You Who Take Advantage of This Sale:

BIG CAR SAFETY — RELIABILITY — COMFORT
WITH EXTRAORDINARY FUEL CONSERVING ADVANTAGES

I think that, in reflection, you will agree this is a most unusual opportunity. You are, therefore, urged to consider our special offer in big savings NOW... don't wait 9 or 10 weeks till Spring as prices then will surely be considerably higher!!!

Very Sincerely,

W.J. Smyly

Fathers Visit Nursery School

Fathers visiting day was held recently at the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School at the First Congregational Church. The purpose of the Sunday afternoon visit was to give fathers an opportunity to share the school experience of their nursery-aged children.

According to Nancy P. Rodriguez of the nursery school, a similar program is planned in the spring.

The school, a non-profit organization, is now in its fifth year. The board of directors who administer and maintain the school are elected each year. Teachers Mrs. Arthur Jellis and Mrs. Edward Brickley are assisted in the classroom by two parent helpers at each session.

The school offers morning and afternoon programs for four-year-olds and a morning program for three-year-olds. For more information about the school or current enrollment openings, contact Ms. Rodriguez at 16 Sargent rd.

DiBenedetto Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Vito James DiBenedetto (Deborah Queen) of 151 Swanton st. are parents of their first child, a son, Vito James Jr., born Dec. 24 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James DiBenedetto of Jonesboro, La., and Mr. and Mrs. James Queen of Woburn.

Winton Club Cabaret Show Theme Is W.O.W.

The theme of the 1974 Winton Club cabaret show is simply W.O.W., according to this year's chairman Mrs. Stanley F. Harms Jr. She explains the show committee is hoping to produce a W.O.W. of a time for all those in the show, behind the scenes or in the audience.

LWV Meeting Will Discuss Education

The decision making process in the schools will be the subject of the general meeting of the League of Women Voters on Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. Mrs. Donald Puffer of 5 Edgemoor rd. will be the hostess.

Bowling

Last Saturday evening 14 people showed up for the eighth evening of bowling.

As a couple, Stan and Isabel Hart were the bowlers of the evening. Stan bowled mens' high game, 178 and Isabel bowled high womens' game, 162. Stan also took high series with a 469.

Bowler of the evening: Walter Armstrong, with a 114 average had games of 132-137-153. For total pin count after eight evenings of bowling: for the men, John Bradley, 3149 and for the women, Isabel Hart, 2822.

Going into the new year, there will be a definite effort by all, to beat Stan Hart who leads with an average of 154.

Improvement in averages for the eight evenings: Walter Armstrong, four pins; Isabel Hart, Ed Hurley and Jean Hurley, 2 pins; John Bradley and Jane Armstrong, one pin.

Asiatic Exhibit

To Be Witnessed

On Jan. 9 members of the Museum of Fine Arts and a group of Winchester residents will participate in a gallery talk in the Asiatic Galleries of the museum. Last month a member of the Asiatic department took the Winchester group through the special exhibit "Unearthing China's Past."

Anyone who is interested in joining the Winchester Museum group should contact Mrs. H. B. Kittredge of Everett avenue. Each month there is a specially planned program at the museum, she says.

for the five nights the show will run.

This annual show, considered to be a community affair by Winton Club members, will benefit Winchester Hospital and the neighboring communities who use the hospital. Community participation is needed to make the show "the continued success it has been over the past 52 years," says Mrs. H. W. Armstrong Jr., a member of the show committee.

Tryouts for the show will be held Jan. 7 at 7 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall. According to Mrs. Robert Quinn, talent chairman, participants can be anything they want to be. There are many parts to fit every size, shape or theatrical inclination, she says.

Mrs. Quinn has spotted tryout posters throughout the town to invite townspeople to join the cast of W.O.W. Mrs. Harms and Mrs. Quinn will be at the Town Hall with other members of the Winton Club to welcome those who tryout. The show will be outlined, steps demonstrated and auditions held. Coffee and soft drinks will be served.

Besides Mesdames Harms, Quinn and Armstrong, members of the show committee include Mrs. Regis Pelloux, Mrs. Stephen Parkhurst, Mrs. Frank B. Kelley Jr., Mrs. Lane McGovern, Mrs. Creighton Vallee and Mrs. Richard Dexter.

Mites Win 4-2 And 1-0

The Mites of Winchester Youth Hockey met Waltham twice over the weekend in league play and in tournament action and won both games. In the tournament finals the Mites hampered by illness bowed to Newton, 4 to 2.

In league action against Waltham Brian Regan scored first late in the opening period when he caught a Bobby DiVencenzo rebound at the left corner and fired it home.

In the second period on the power play Billy Eaton came in on the right side and found the range on a right corner blast with an assist to Scott Stillman.

Brian Regan came right back for his second goal as Tony Maida set him up in front. Brian lifted it over a downed goalie.

The third period was highlighted by the fine defensive play of Paul Tucci and Bobby Engel along with the twice scoring Eaton-Stillman combine. First Billy Eaton took a pass from Scotty Stillman in the right lane and unloaded in the upper corner. Next Scotty Stillman tore through the crease and banged home a Billy Eaton rebound.

through the crease and banged home a Billy Eaton rebound.

Scotty Binding and Ricky Parker played well at forward.

WALTHAM DRAWN

The next day the Mites drew Waltham again in the Waltham Youth Hockey Invitational Tournament and won 1 to 0 to advance to the final against Newton.

This was a very tight game and it was not until late in the third period it was decided Scotty Stillman broke down the left lane on a setup from Billy Eaton and Paul Tucci and fired a skimmer into the far corner - a great goal!

Standout skaters in this tournament victory were the Maida Brothers, Chuck and Tony, along with the Ferullo Boys, Paul and Eddy. Danny Sullivan played well on defense.

Bobby Engel and Scotty Stillman kept the Mites going in the Tournament finals but the local sick list spelled the difference in the end as they lost to Newton 4 to 2.

Bobby Engel got an early one for the home team when he parked at the left corner and pulled the trigger on a Scotty Stillman rebound.

This combination went to work again to Accidentally Overheard

The largest French prison was to be found at St. Laurent du Maroni. This included the notorious Ile du Diable, Devil's Island, off the coast of French Guiana, South America. Devil's Island remained in operation for ninety-nine years. It has been estimated that barely two thousand of the seventy-thousand sent to the island ever returned. From 1854 until 1953 this horror, exalted as a mockery to the honor generally thought to surround justice.

Play

Hockey Team In Even Split

By John F. Parrell

The story of this season's Winchester High School hockey team to date has been one of streaks, periods when they completely dominate the opposition, and other stretches where the defense sags badly.

This was never better shown than in last week's action where they blasted Watertown by 7-3 and then succumbed to high flying Burlington by 6-2. The Sachems must play a more steady game if they hope to remain in contention.

Games this week include a meeting with the tough Wakefield Warriors and a clash with Reading on Saturday. The game with the Reading Rockets will start at 5:30 p.m. at the Woburn rink. Next week's games will be at the USA playing surface. The opposition will be provided by the capable Stoneham and Melrose sextets.

A quick recapitulation of the season to date will clearly show the spotty play of the locals. In the scrimmage against Woburn they were in complete charge, but a week later they collapsed defensively with the Tanners emerging victorious.

Then they played a good sound game against Lexington for a shutout win. Belmont was beaten by 5-2. But for a time in the third period the Winchesterites slipped and the Raiders chalked up two goals.

After taking a one-goal lead in the first 15 seconds against a none too effective Watertown team, the Sachems went into the doldrums with the visitors caging three goals in the next few minutes. Over the remainder of the game Winchester picked up six consecutive goals while holding the Raiders scoreless.

Then came the meeting with first place Burlington. The Red Devils have been playing well, but nobody could have predicted what actually happened. They swarmed all over the Winchesterites from the start, and before the smoke had finally cleared they had a five goal lead after just over five minutes of elapsed time. They peppered Pete Frongillo in the Sachem nets with more shots than a goalie usually sees in a whole game.

His teammates were ineffective in clearing the puck out of their own zone, and Pete now knows how a combat infantryman feels in the front lines. A sixth Burlington shot hit the strings, but it was disallowed.

Then the Sachems settled down and played the hockey of which they are capable, even outscoring the Red Devils by 2-1 over the remaining 30 minutes of action.

The line centered by Tom Brennan with Charlie Evans and Mark Siegfried at the wings tallied both goals, and has been responsible for the greater part of the goal production to date. Siegfried had hat tricks in the Woburn scrimmage and against Watertown and had a pair of goals against Belmont, Woburn and Lexington in addition to his goal against Burlington.

So the theme for the upcoming action would seem to be more consistent performance by the defense corps, including an ability to clear the puck when penned in as they were by Burlington. A little more scoring by the other lines would also help to make the B-E-S line even more effective by providing longer rest periods between shifts. This Sachem team has plenty of ability, but needs to coordinate its efforts to get maximum efficiency.

Hoopsters Toy With Red Devils

The Burlington basketball team came here last week for the second game of the Middlesex League season and were beaten easily by the Winchester High School Sachems 72-59.

This was by no means as close as the score might indicate. The 27 points chalked up by the visitors in the final period was not a great rally, but came as a result of careless and sloppy basketball by the home team.

The game was never a real contest as Winchester had 14 points before Azar Haneef of the Red Devils dropped in a pair of foul shots after about four minutes of action. Their first basket came in the final minute with Haneef again scoring, and it was 20-6 at the end of the period. During its usual steady floor game, the Winchester five moved far out in front for a 46-20 halftime lead.

But in playing the none too formidable Burlington team the Winchester group accumulated more fouls than usual. As a result, John Zanolli was lost in the first minute after half time.

The ensuing parade of reserves coupled with a let down in their usual well disciplined game, found the Sachems badly outscored over the second half. There was never any danger that the visitors would win, but it was not good basketball by any stretch of the imagination.

Coch Vandy French hopes that the team will regain its composure in the tilt with Belmont on Wednesday because the dangerous Wakefield Warriors will be here for a big game tomorrow night. With several players back from last year's experienced "Tech" quintet, headed by Lapham, their high scorer, Wakefield looms as the first major obstacle of the Middlesex League season for the Winchester team.

They played well against Melrose, but the Burlington, and in all probability the Belmont affair, was neither testing nor helpful in preparing for the Warrior invasion. The two games next week with Watertown and Lexington will both be played on foreign courts.

Although the record to date is 4-0 overall and 2-0 in Middlesex title play, the Sachems still have a long way to go and proportionally tougher opposition ahead than they have met to date.

They played steady basketball in beating Sharon twice and showed courage in battling Melrose to the end for a stirring win in the last seconds. The team must have both of these qualities in the coming games and forget the erratic play which they showed against the less capable teams if they are to stay at or near the top in the league.

Four of the five starters were in double figures, and Zanolli would also have been with more playing time. Co-captain Mike Helfern and Haneef of the visitors had 23 points to lead the scorers.

'TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE

You have agreed to purchase a house or piece of property. You have discussed with the seller the importance of a definite settlement date. Whether the reason is personal or for business, it makes no difference. But if closing is important within a certain time limit, be sure that the phrase, "time is of the essence" is inserted into the sales agreement.

If this key phrase is not included, then either the buyer or seller can delay settlement for a "reasonable" time. What may be reasonable for one party may be unreasonable for the other. At this juncture, it may become a matter for the court to settle.

On the other hand, if you anticipate the need for flexibility, avoid the insertion of the "time is of the essence" limitation. This is just another reason why it is important to discuss the sales agreement with your attorney before you sign your name on the dotted line.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

Rev. Munn Is New Pastor

On Jan. 1 Rev. Sherrill Munn began his ministry as pastor of the Second Congregational Church.

Rev. Munn, who was born and reared in Oklahoma, was graduated from Pasadena College in California where he also received his master's degree.

He also holds a master's degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., where he served as graduate assistant to Rev. Ralph Earle Sr., father of a former minister at the Second Congregational Church.

Rev. Munn is now studying for his Ph.D. in the New Testament at Boston University School of Theology.

His wife, Geri, is from Colorado. Educated in California, she is an elementary school teacher. The Munns have one daughter.

Rev. Sherrill Munn

Carrie Elizabeth, 13 months old.

Rev. Munn takes the place of Rev. Michael S. Strah who has accepted a call to become minister of the First Congregational Church in Bethel, Conn. Rev. Strah begins work in Bethel on Feb. 1.

St. Eulalia's To Begin 'Respect For Life' Series

A secondary religious education program called "Respect For Life" will be launched at St. Eulalia's Church on Jan. 7.

All high school students, grades 9-12, are invited to participate in the program. The first session will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 7 in the church hall to consider the topic "Life in Prison." Rev. Robert Casey, chaplain of Boston State College, will be speaker.

Other topics in the series will include: Jan. 14, "Poverty in the Third World," March 25, "Exceptional Persons," and on April 1, "The Unborn."

High school students are also

Senior Set Attend Party

Thirty elderly people, ranging in ages from 57 to 94 years old, were transported from the Don Orione Home in East Boston on Dec. 15 when the Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy, invited them to the Winchester Hall for entertainment, dinner and gifts.

Venerable John Mangano, Trustee Robert O. Fiore and chairman of the program and entertainment committee Jerry Borsini Sr. accompanied bus driver John Pearson of Winchester in picking up the 15 men and 15 women, two of whom, Henrietta Penta and Mrs. Florence (Fleice) Blockel are originally from Winchester. They were under the supervision of recreational therapists Vinnie Markellonis, Brenda Horvass and Madeline Palumbo.

Music was by accordionist and leader Angelo Gentile, drummer Louie Gentile and saxophonist Bill Ellis. The dinner was prepared by Chef Frank Boss Dattilo. Assisting the men in serving were Mangano's wife, Irene, and her mother, Mrs. Rita Zboya, who was formerly a registered nurse at the Don Orione Home.

Methodists Bring Resolutions And Goals On Sunday

On Sunday at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church parishioners will share in the Wesley Covenant service. Participants are asked to bring their list of resolutions and goals for 1974 in a sealed, self-addressed, stamped envelope. The service will close with the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

At 4:30 on Sunday there will be a service of installation for officers of the Massachusetts Council of Churches at Belmont Street AME Zion Church in Worcester. Rev. Joseph Sprague of Crawford Church will be installed as executive director.

The administrative board will meet Jan. 9. Annual reports are due Jan. 10. On Jan. 13 the senior highs will hold a smorgasbord from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the Pairs and Spares will be Jan. 18 at which time the group will attend a basketball game between the Boston Celtics and the Atlanta Hawks. Reservations should be made early by contacting Steve or Sue Powers.

The annual meeting of the church will be held Feb. 7.

St. Mary's Sodality To Meet Jan. 8

The monthly meeting of St. Mary's Sodality will be held Jan. 8, in St. Mary's Hall at 7:30 p.m. after the celebration of holy mass.

"Gospel of St. Matthew with Rembrandt" will be presented by Rev. William Keech, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Wakefield.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. James Burns and Mrs. Charles Craven and a committee.

The officers for the coming year are: Mrs. John Ellis prefect; Mrs. C. Phillip O'Rourke, vice-prefect; Mary McLaughlin, secretary; and Alice O'Leary, treasurer.

Adult Classes On Lifestyles Set At Epiphany

The first day of Epiphany will be celebrated Sunday at the Parish of the Epiphany and continue through to Feb. 24, the Sunday before Ash Wednesday.

The Board of Christian Education is planning to hold adult classes offering opportunities to consider issues and problems of every day life such as business ethics, sexuality, marriage and alternative lifestyles and abortion.

Related to the program will be a four-week Tuesday evening series (Jan. 29 - Feb. 5, 12 and 26) on values clarification, the second presentation in the 1973-74 Interfaith Adult Education Program.

Cullivan Is Elected

Donald E. Cullivan of Winchester has been elected president and chief executive officer of the international environmental engineering firms of Camp Dresser & McKee International Inc. and Camp Dresser & McKee Ltd., subsidiaries of Camp Dresser & McKee Inc., Boston.

Cullivan is an environmental engineer who has directed overseas environmental engineering projects. He has served as community water supply advisor for the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID).

He joined CDM in 1956, and in 1968 was made an associate of the firm. In 1970 he became a partner and was elected executive vice president of the two international subsidiaries. When Camp Dresser & McKee Inc. was formed in 1970, he became a senior vice president of the corporation.

Cullivan is an engineering graduate of Northeastern University with a master's degree in sanitary engineering from Harvard University. He is a diplomate of the American Academy of Environmental Engineers, a fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and a member of the Inter-American Association of Sanitary Engineering, the Water Pollution Control Federation and the American Water Works Association.

Study Projects

Two Winchester students attending Skidmore College are among more than 190 students working on independent study projects, on or off campus, during the winter term.

Gwendolyn E. Best, a senior and daughter of Mrs. Alice D. Best of 83 Grove St., has a project on painting.

Freshman Wendy H. Dillon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Dillon of 24 Wedgemere ave., is aiming to develop aesthetic perspectives in photography.

Rev. Strah Named To Post In Conn.

By Ruth Flax

The Rev. Michael S. Strah, minister of the Second Congregational Church, 473 Washington St., will leave Winchester Feb. 1 when he and his family move to Bethel, Conn., where he will become minister of the First Congregational Church in Danbury.

He has been in Winchester since August, 1970, where besides being a full time minister he worked on his doctorate degree in social ethics at the Boston University School of Theology. He has completed his classwork and is writing his dissertation.

Rev. Strah grew up in Iowa. He attended Northwestern University, majoring in speech with a minor in philosophy and psychology. In 1962 he entered the Chicago Theological Seminary, where he received a traveling fellowship, a scholastic honor award allowing him to continue his studies in three to five years.

In 1966 Rev. Strah accepted a call to become minister at the Colonial Church in Prairie Village, Kansas, a suburb of Kansas City. Three years later he became a full time student at Boston University. From this position he accepted the church in Winchester.

During his stay in Winchester, Strah was active in the Peace Committee, a three-year-old association whose goal was to make the public aware that they were unknowingly supporting the Vietnam War, to make them aware of the ways in which they could work for peace and to seek positive ways to influence the government.

The committee is not primarily church affiliated although it started at a peace fair at St. Eulalia's church. A majority of the members are from St. Eulalia's. Rev. Strah says this "speaks well for the professional leadership of the church since the clergy there has encouraged Peace Committee activities."

For a year the committee held a weekly vigil at McCall Junior High School. They later moved to the War Memorial by the Town Hall and continued there until Nov., 1972. This past year a main activity was to appear at the town dump twice a month to hand out anti-war material.

The Winchester Peace Committee is one of few such organizations that is still active. It has sponsored several public forums such as the one on Dec. 6 when Noam Chomsky spoke on Henry Kissinger's foreign policy.

The committee took part in an all-day celebration of the Boston tea party at Burlington Mall on Dec. 15 where they served several thousand cups of tea and passed out literature on the bicentennial.

In recent months the committee has continued to stress the political prisoner issue. It has tried to make people aware that prisoners in North Vietnam are supported by

Rev. Michael Strah

U. S. tax dollars in direct violation of the peace treaty.

A short while ago Winchester Peace Committee began working with the People's Bicentennial Commission, a non-profit group making plans to celebrate the bicentennial of the U.S. in 1976. This group views the celebration "as a time of self evaluation, as a time to re-think what justice and freedom really mean today," Strah said.

Rev. Michael Strah terms the Winchester Peace Committee "the most meaningful involvement that I have had in Winchester." Its effect on the town was beneficial in that "many recognize the committee, and its meetings have had consistently good attendance."

Rev. Strah was active in the Winchester Ecumenical Association. He served as treasurer from 1972 to 1973. He described it as a "unique association" with an open relationship between the ministers and priests.

Rev. Strah is married to the former Joyce Johnson. Mrs. Strah did undergraduate work at Syracuse University and received a master's degree in social work at the University of Chicago. She is a social work consultant for the community resident program at the Walter Fernald School in Waltham. The Strahs have two children, Anne, two and one half, and David, six and one half.

Rev. Strah regrets leaving the Boston area since he loves the history connected with it and enjoys living in a large metropolitan area. He says he will be sorry to leave the Winchester Falls. He and his family enjoy camping and hiking and own a camper trailer.

Final Class For Junior Skaters Is Saturday

The final class of the Winchester Wellesley Club's Boots 'N' Blades children's figure skating lessons for session I will meet this Saturday to complete testing for step advancement.

According to Mrs. Alice K. Mirak of the Winchester Wellesley Club, the junior (grades 1-3) and the senior (grades 4-8) groups' testing and advancement evaluation has been continually following USFSA steps: beginner, advanced beginner, novice, intermediate and advanced.

Ribbon awards or certificates of achievement are to be presented to each enrollee to summarize his or her individual progress during the 10-week lessons.

In addition, the junior program which concludes Saturday will include games and relays utilizing some newly-gained skills. Among activities will be the potato relay with emphasis on speed and balance and the wheelbarrow relay using the "shoot the duck" stance, she says.

Full Rink skating to improve stroking will be an integral part of the hour long lessons for Juniors in Session II.

The ninth and tenth weeks of the senior classes have focused on the introduction to skate dance steps as well as testing. Particular attention is given to teaching the dutch waltz, canasta tango and swing dance. Openings remain for the second session of classes running from Jan. 12 through March 16, Saturday mornings, at the USA Rink, Conant rd. For information contact Mrs. Daniel Lisberger, 8 Worthen rd., immediately.

Crucial Meet For Tracksters

Coach Tom Kline's Winchester High School Sachem speedsters chalked up their third consecutive Middlesex League victory last Saturday at the Lexington track facility. Burlington was the victim by the lopsided count of 50-36.

This would have been even higher but for the absence of several boys due to family vacations and injuries.

To indicate how completely the Winchester runners dominated the situation it is only necessary to note that a relay team made up of one sprinter, a two-mile runner and two shotputters won quite easily. However, Burlington annexed the five relay points because of a lane infraction.

The Sachems are deadlocked for first place with Wakefield and Reading but must come fact to face with reality when they collide with the perennially talent-loaded Warriors. Wakefield has tremendous strength in the distance races and Winchester must score heavily in the shorter events in order to stay close enough to throw the decision into the relay race where the Sachems appear to have an edge.

The program of five meets starts promptly at 8:45 on Saturday morning in what looks to be the most important meet of the season.

The Warriors tuned up for their clash with Winchester by besting Melrose, a team which year in and year out is always a tough nut to crack. The Sachems will have to scrap hard for every possible second and third place in order to stay in contention.

Winchester took six first places, five seconds and five thirds in bombing the Iled Devils of Burlington. It was the third consecutive dash win for Bob Tonello and was Chuck Hayford's third win over the mile distance. Bob figures to be able to come through again, but Chuck must clip better than 25 seconds off his last time in order to stay with powerful Kevin Crowley of Wakefield.

Steve Hopkins of Burlington was the top scorer with wins in both the high jump and the 600.

He took the running event in the creditable time of 1:20 by nipping Dave Burns of Winchester at the wire. Dave turned in an excellent performance since he is much more accustomed to running the 1,000 yard event. Other first place winners for Winchester were Chip Roche in the shot put, Tim Parker in the two mile, Mark Lanigan in the 1,000 yard run, and sophomore Rick Mauger in the 300.

There was also keen competition in the girls events and Donna Criscione picked up a third place in the 45 yard dash.

The summary: Two-mile run: Parker (W), Sheehan (B), Andrews (W). Time: 10:44.4.

Shot put: Roche (W), Canelos (B), Kemper (B). Distance: 45 ft. 2 1/2 in.

Hurdles: Goosens (B), Meahl (W), Harris (W). Time: 6.7 sec.

Dash: Tonello (W), Cronan (W), Brock (W). Time: 5.5 sec.

300-yard dash: Mauger (W), Stackpole (W), McCullough (B). Time: 36.2 sec.

600-yard run: Hopkins (B), Burns (W), Rigney (W). Time: 1:20.

High jump: Hopkins (B), Samoiloff (W), Miller (W). Height: 5 ft. 6 in.

1,000-yard run: Lanigan (W), Hamras (B), Beaulieu (B). Time: 2:31.3.

Mile run: Hayford (W), Tirrell (B), Alcott (B). Time: 4:57.4.

Still Undefeated, St. Mary's Wins Over Milton 7-1

Two goals each by Dan Whitney and Bill McLean provided the bulk of the offense as St. Mary's hung onto first place in the American Division of the CYO Hockey League by beating Milton 7-1.

Whitney assisted on both of McLean's goals to earn himself a four-point day and the game puck.

St. Mary's ran their regular season undefeated streak to 19 games spanning two full years — Jan., 1972 to Jan., 1974.

McLean got things going at 4:40 of the first period with Whitney assisting. Milton came back 12 seconds later to tie the game but Jim Beaton's goal on a good set up from Art Johns at 7:19 put St. Mary's ahead to stay.

McLean scored again, this time assisted by Whitney and defenseman Tony Santo, at 1:23 of the second period. An unassisted goal by Art Johns at 2:11 made it 4-1 St. Mary's. Whitney then scored twice in less than four minutes to give St. Mary's a five-goal lead with the game only half over.

Peter Haley finished the St. Mary's scoring with a goal at 7:19 of the second period assisted by Dan Powers and Frank Ryan.

There was no scoring in the final period with St. Mary's content to sit on the lead.

St. Mary's faces its toughest test of the season Sunday at 7:30 a.m. when they face second place Norwood at Boston College. Norwood has the league's best offense but, 'in the teams' only previous meeting, St. Mary's won 2 to 1.

WHS Swim Team Still Undefeated

Sunday the Winchester High School swim team exhibited what Coach Vin Palumbo calls strength and poise to gain them an undefeated season.

The Sachems hosted a consistent power in New England swimming as they opposed Leominster High School's swim team and beat them soundly 54-29. The score, however, does not convey the actual closeness of the individual races which led to a Sachem victory.

Leominster brought a squad of seasoned swimmers. The tone of the entire meet was set with the finish of the first event - the 200 yard medley relay - with the Sachem team out-touching Leominster's relay by 3-10ths of a second.

The following action found the home team taking eight of the 11 first places where two of the races were decided in Winchester's favor by 2-10ths of a second.

Senior Jim Frizell and tri-captain Steve Armstrong collected two first places each while tri-captain Vinny Palumbo and brother, junior, Roy, took one each.

Other outstanding performances came from two first year men, John Henriques coming off a four-day sickness, contributed two second places in the grueling 200 yard and 500 yard free, and Dan Holmes, who collected a second and third place while also anchoring the victorious medley relay.

Sachem scoring: J. Frizell, 8; S. Armstrong (C), 8; V. Palumbo (C), 6; R. Palumbo, 5; J. Henriques, 4; D. Holmes, 3; C. Vickroy, 2; J. Parkhurst, 2; B. Conley, 1; R. Minutoli, 1; Relays:

1st Med. Parkhurst, Palumbo, Palumbo, Holmes, Conley, Minutoli.

2nd Med. Conley, Minutoli, Burns, Vickroy.

1st Free, Armstrong, Vickroy, Henriques, Frizell.

2nd Free, Ciccio, Corf, Kent, Kohr.

The last two Sachem inter-conference meets are scheduled for this week: Friday, 3:15, at North East Regional and Sunday, 2, against B.C. High at the Arlington Boy's club.

AWARDED — Donald Hawley, senior at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., was awarded the varsity T for the 1973 soccer season. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Hawley of 25 Ledgewood rd., he was a co-captain of the 1973 team and played fullback for the Banquets which had a season record of 3-7. He has received three letters for soccer.

Tips

—Do not allow trash of any kind to accumulate in your yard and especially close to house, garage, or outbuildings. Keep yard clear of flammable material for 30 feet from structures.

—Remove flammable vegetation for 30 feet from each building on your property. During long dry spells, cut flammable growths to 18 inches high beyond the 30 foot point, to extend out 100 feet or the property line.

—Check your power line coming into the house, if it is above ground. If necessary have the wires relocated to keep them away from brush or trees. Be sure close wires do not cross.

Daylight Saving Makes Problem For Workers

Reversion to daylight saving time is hindering public works employees trying to do their work in the dark, the selectmen heard Monday.

According to Edward Donnelly, selectmen executive secretary, the Public Works Council met recently and discussed the possibility of beginning Highway and Street Department workers at 8 a.m. instead of 7 a.m. because it is dark at 7 o'clock.

Personnel have found they cannot do their job adequately due to lack of light, he said. Daylight saving time went into effect Sunday.

Donnelly said he contacted the public library to get daily sun rising times. Monday, he said, the sun rose at 8:14 a.m. He suggested any change "be on a limited basis" possibly discontinuing on April 1 when the sun will rise at 6:27 a.m.

Selectman Vito Giarrizzo felt that Feb. 4 (sun rise, 7:57 a.m.) would be better.

The whole question of whether the union will permit such a change and other ramifications should be explored, said the selectmen, who decided to turn the matter over to absent selectman John Sullivan asking that he return Monday with a recommendation.

Further on the subject of energy, the Finance Committee sent a memo to selectmen to advise "of their feelings regarding the gross overheating of the town hall, particularly in the evenings."

Finance members said the high temperatures waste fuel and dollars, set a poor example for other town buildings, create an

Hospital Plans To Move Maple Street, Construct Garage

Winchester Hospital would relocate Maple road, demolish four houses abutting the road and replace its nursing quarters with a multi-level parking facility under plans being considered.

Atty. William J. Speers, representing the hospital, explained for The Star details on this latest hospital proposal.

The hospital would demolish the four houses abutting Maple road on the westerly side between Orient st. and Fairmount st. The hospital has owned two of these houses "for quite a while" and has the other two under an option to buy arrangement.

The present Maple road between Orient st. and Fairmount st. would be relocated further westerly. Valley road (which runs between Highland ave. and Maple rd.) would be extended slightly to connect with the new Maple rd.

The new Valley road extension would connect with Orient st.

Russell House, the hospital's nursing quarters, at the corner of Fairmount st. and Maple rd., would be torn down.

"So a year or two from now they would start construction of a multi-level (parking) facility," Speers said. The new parking garage would have three floors, two of them cut into the side of the hill. "You wouldn't have a sheer wall." The garage would accommodate 250 to 300 cars, Atty. Speers said.

The new site would be subject to rezoning action. The hospital seeks to place the site into a conservancy-institutional district to make it consistent with the present hospital zoning.

The hospital also seeks to acquire 22 Highland ave., a town-owned house, for additional temporary parking. Atty. Speers said the house would be razed, the land graded and paved.

The temporary parking lot during construction of the multi-level garage would be at 22 Highland ave. If the selectmen approve turning it over to the hospital.

The hospital recently submitted a petition to the Board of Selectmen asking that articles be included in the warrant for the March annual town meeting for approval of certain required changes.

The selectmen intend to conduct a public hearing on the hospital plans Monday, Jan. 21.

Atty. Speers said the latest hospital proposal came out of informal discussions with the Board of Selectmen and Planning Board.

He said automobiles would be able to enter the new parking facility from Maple road, which would be relocated at the hospital's expense. The land for the new Maple road would be given by the hospital.

Board of Appeal approval would be required for certain aspects of the proposal, including the new zoning.

Spears said cost of tearing down 22 Highland ave. and building a parking lot there would also be borne by the hospital. The hospital, in addition, would pay to restore 22 Highland ave. to its original condition, except for the house.

On using 22 Highland ave., Spears said, "Although it may only be a short term solution to the hospital problem, it is no great bargain to the hospital."

Spears will present the legal aspects of the proposal to town meeting.

Planning Board action is required on the abandonment and relocation of Maple rd.

The Board of Selectmen could transfer 22 Highland ave. without town meeting approval.

Warrant Closes; WHA, WBA Articles...?

Selectmen last Wednesday closed the warrant for the annual town meeting with uncertainty over the status of two zoning requests.

One is from the Winchester Housing Authority over its intended use of Old Lincoln School on Washington street for elderly housing.

The Board of Selectmen received notification from Bishop & Ahern, the authority's law firm, that WHA will file "at a later date the text of articles for the warrant to obtain approval of a change in zoning and authorization for the execution by your board of a deed to the authority of the site."

The other uncertainty was from the Winchester Business Association over its proposal for mixed business-residential zoning in Winchester Center.

The selectmen voted to keep these two articles in the warrant until requested to remove them. They set Jan. 11 as the deadline on receiving zoning proposals. Though they technically closed the warrant, the board could reopen it until Jan. 14, when they are

Eight Take Papers For School Board

Selectmen, Charter Races: Minimum Interest So Far

Eight persons have taken out nomination papers for election to the two open seats this year on the School Committee, insuring a contest for that board for the first time in several years.

On Tuesday, with less than 14 days remaining for candidates to obtain nomination papers, only eight persons had taken papers for election to the charter commission.

There are nine seats to be filled by voters to a charter commission. The Board of Selectmen this week expressed its concern over the lack of interest in charter commission. (Another story on this page deals with that concern.)

Elsie M. Nelson, town clerk, said she expects a ninth person to take papers for charter commission.

If a ninth person does not, it was not immediately known what the result of the election might be - whether the election of a charter board is nullified or whether less than nine persons can constitute a charter board. If a ninth person does file papers, and no more than nine, then those who file their completed nomination papers will be automatically elected charter commissioners.

There are two seats up for election to the Board of Selectmen and only three persons with nomination papers in their hands for that board.

There is one moderator to be elected as usual and one candidate; one assessor and two candidates; one Board of Health member and one candidate.

Also, one Cemetery Commissioner to be elected and one candidate; one constable and three candidates; two Park Commissioners and two candidates; one Planning Board member and one candidate; one library trustee and two candidates; and one Water & Sewer Board member and one candidate.

Thus far the only seats for which there are no candidates are on the charter commission (one) and Commission of Trust Funds (one).

Many of the figures will likely change in the next week as other candidates enter the races and some who have taken out papers decide not to file.

Deadline for taking out papers is Thursday, Jan. 24, at 5 p.m. Nomination papers must be submitted for certification by Jan. 28. These dates are also the dates for taking out and submitting papers for town meeting seats.

The following are the names of persons who have taken out nomination papers listed in the order they signed the papers out at the town clerk's office.

Concern Expressed Over Few Charter Candidates

The Board of Selectmen has expressed its concern that only eight persons have taken out nomination papers for election to a charter commission.

Board Arthur Dunbar said he would like to see less than nine running for the nine seats to be filled on the commission.

This is the first time in history Winchester will have the possibility of electing a charter commission to study town government and recommend possible changes to the electorate.

At the request of Selectman Lawrence T. Smith, the board decided to approach by telephone prospective commission candidates to urge them to run.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall said he didn't know what will happen if fewer than nine persons are elected. "I think the law is silent on that," he said.

He said there is no legal prohibition barring present town office holders from running for charter commission. Persons running for reelection are also eligible to run.

As with all town offices, candidates have until Jan. 24 to obtain nomination papers. The town clerk's office will provide the papers. The candidate must obtain 50 certified signatures of registered voters in Winchester.

Those who have taken out papers so far are Robert C. Ericson, 155 High st.; Francis F. Cullen, 82 Bacon st.; Vincent G. Carroll, 207 Highland ave.; Frederick W. Kimball, 4 Norwood st.; Michael M. Connolly, 4 Upland rd.; Jason W. Dade, 33 Sargent rd.; James B. L. Lane, 8 Ardley rd.; and Ann W. Oppenheimer, 67 Thornberry rd.

Letter From The Editor This Is Your Town Too

This section of this column this week is addressed to the 70 percent in town who don't vote in Winchester elections and to the 95 percent who have never run for public office.

First, you 70 percenters: Do you realize the government of Winchester year after year is ruled by persons who are elected by a minority of townspeople. Which means we have a minority town government. Which means the same persons are elected year after year.

Which means things are done the same year in and year out, year after year, decade on decade. If your reaction is "so what, I like things done the same year after year" then next time you request action from the Board of Selectmen and they don't do anything then maybe you will realize why you better get out and vote and change some of the faces around some of the tables at Town Hall.

The government depends on you, as corny as it sounds. Right now is the best time to resolve to help your town. Read the statements the candidates have printed in the newspaper. Talk to the candidates when they introduce themselves around town. Take a moment to look at their literature. See who is best qualified, whose philosophy best represents yours and who will spend the necessary time to keep your government running.

Now you ninety-five percenters: Do you realize this is your town too? You have been letting other persons control it. Do you realize just how simple it is to run for office?

All you need to do to run for town meeting member is get a nomination paper at the town clerk's office at Town Hall (that's at 71 Mount Vernon st. - you know that street, the one that runs in front of the police station) by 5 p.m. on Jan. 24.

Then you have to obtain 10 valid signatures. This means you better get a few more than 10 in case someone leaves out his middle initial or says he is a registered voter and isn't. You have until Jan. 28 at 5 p.m. to submit those nomination papers to the town clerk for certification. Signatures must exactly correspond to the signatures on the town clerk's voting list.

If you obtained 10 certified signatures, your name goes on the ballot. Winchester is divided into 6 precincts. Each year each precinct elects 11 town meeting members who serve for three years. (There is no salary.) Last year there was not a single contest for any town meeting seat in any precinct prior to election day.

For the other elected positions (a complete list appeared on page 1 of last week's Star), 50 valid signatures are required. The final date for taking out papers is Jan. 24. They must be turned back to the town clerk by Jan. 28.

Being a town official needn't be the dreary affair many of the incumbents have made it. It can be exciting and rewarding, though time consuming. There are so many new persons in Winchester, most of whom have never become involved in their community, that if this faction were tapped the town would have a well-needed new resource from which to draw.

The town is waiting for you.

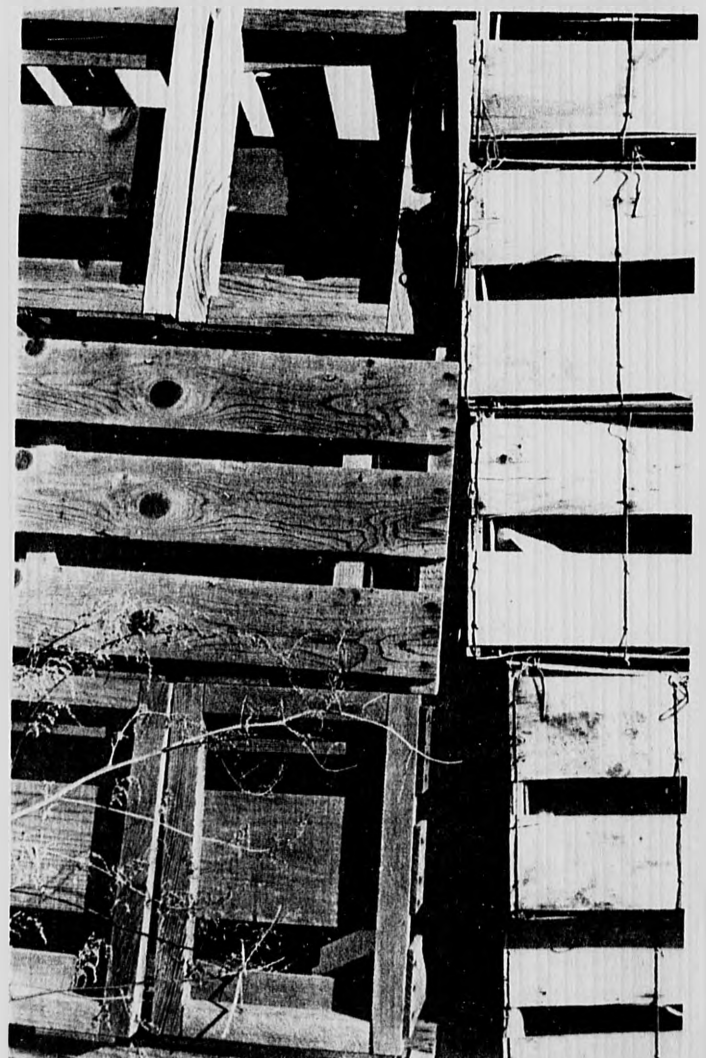

If elected politics isn't your thing, there are hundreds of appointed seats that are regularly being filled.

There are so many appointed committees in Winchester that I doubt if a single person could name even 50 percent of them. They range from the Ad Hoc Center Committee to the Student Government Day Committee.

There are committees like the School Bus Study Committee, Winter Pond Study Committee, Central Business District Study Committee (this in addition to the ad hoc committee mentioned earlier), five permanent building committees (four of them though are temporary) and the Fire Code Study Committee.

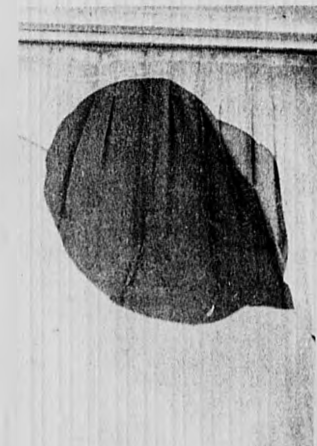

Among the permanent building committees is one called the Permanent Building Committee, Fire Department Sub-Station.

Time Running Out For TM Candidates

As of Wednesday at 10:30 a.m., 24 persons had filed notification with the town clerk of their intention to seek a town meeting seat. Incumbents have until Jan. 21 to notify the town clerk of their intention to seek reelection. Persons seeking town meeting seats for the first time may obtain nomination papers up until Jan. 24.

There are 66 members elected each year. The town clerk's figures Wednesday showed two persons had filed in Prec. 1, eight in Prec. 2, three in Prec. 3, seven in Prec. 4, four in Prec. 5 and none in Prec. 6.

Anne M. Lewis

Anne N. (Meany) Lewis, 40, of Boca Raton, Fla., died unexpectedly on Dec. 23. She had been a Winchester resident for eight years prior to moving to Florida two years ago.

Mrs. Lewis was born in Charlestown on April 21, 1933, the daughter of Patrick J. and Teresa (Kearney) Meany.

She was a 1951 graduate of Everett High School attended St. Francis and Immaculate Conception Schools in Everett. While a Winchester resident she attended St. Mary's Church.

A funeral mass was celebrated on Dec. 27 at St. Joan of Arc Church at Boca Raton, Fla. Burial was in the Boca Raton Cemetery.

Mrs. Lewis leaves her husband, Thomas; two sons, Thomas Lewis Jr. and Edward Lewis, both of Boca Raton; a daughter, Gayle Lewis of Boca Raton; her parents, living in Port Lauderdale, Fla.; and a sister, Margaret Jackson of Winchester.

Irene Boyle

Irene (King) Boyle, 72, of 15 Nelson st., died Jan. 1 after a short illness. Before her retirement in 1971 she was employed in the cafeteria system of Winchester schools.

Mrs. Boyle was born in Cambridge, the daughter of Joseph and Marion (Linhares) King. She lived in Winchester for more than 30 years.

Widow of the late Eugene A. Boyle, she leaves three sons: Eugene J. Boyle of Dunedin, Fla.; James V. Boyle of Lowell, and Paul E. Boyle of Winchester, also a daughter, Mrs. Marion Penfold of Clearwater, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Hale of Revere; and 12 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Mary's Church. Funeral mass was celebrated at that church on Jan. 4 with Rev. Robert Boyle of Holy Cross Cathedral of Boston officiating. Burial was at Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford. Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Richard Irwin, Market Gardener Dies On Jan. 2

Richard J. Irwin, 74, of 9 Dunster lane, died at Winchester Hospital on Jan. 2 after being in ill health for five months.

Mr. Irwin was born in Arlington. He came to Winchester when he was young. He attended the Winchester schools and later became well-known as a garden farmer with his brothers at the Irwin Farm off Hedge street, now the site of St. Eulalia's Church.

He operated the farm for many years before becoming a market gardener both for Irwin Brothers and Julius Lansky. He was a member of the Market Gardeners Association. He retired three years ago.

Mr. Irwin was the husband of Lillian (Norcross) Irwin and father of Richard C. Irwin and Jack H. Irwin, both of Woburn, and Mrs. Grace R. Maloney of California and Mrs. A. Charlotte Smith of Warwick, R.I.

He also leaves two brothers, John Irwin of Arlington and Charles Irwin of Winchester; five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Harding, Mrs. Eleanor Spelman and Mrs. Margaret Goodwin, all of Winchester, and Mrs. Marion Cook of Whittingham, Vt., and Mrs. Mildred Leavitt of Medford. He also leaves 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held last Saturday at the West Medford Baptist Church, Rev. Lincoln A. Smith of Lakewood Baptist Church, Warwick, R.I., and Rev. Robert P. Smith of Lowell officiating.

Burial was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Arlington. Norris Funeral Home handled arrangements. Donations in his name may be given in his memory to the charity of donor's choice.

Paul E. Kelleher

Paul Edward Kelleher, 70, retired U.S. Post Office official, died Jan. 6 at a Rockland Hospital. He lived in Winchester for 30 years.

Mr. Kelleher moved from Winchester to Tenants Harbor after retiring in 1965. He had been regional real estate director for the Post Office out of the Boston Office.

He was a 1926 graduate of the University of New Hampshire. He leaves his wife, Laura (McLaughlin) Kelleher; a son, John P. Kelleher of Annapolis, Md.; a daughter, Mrs. Nancy Curtis of Pennsylvania, and two sisters, Mrs. Matthew P. Cavanaugh of Peterborough, N.H., and Mrs. John J. Ayotte of Stonington, Conn.

Funeral mass was celebrated yesterday at St. James Church in Thomaston.

Moss

On Saturday at 7:30 a.m. at the Immaculate Conception Parish there will be an anniversary mass for the late Frank Tortolano.

Russell Hart Wins Pack 524 Pinewood Derby

Cub Scout Pack 524 held its annual Pinewood Derby recently with Russell Hart winning the pack racing championship.

Hiroo Yatsushashi placed second and Robert Sardella earned third position.

Hart also won the award for the best design.

Bill Koenig was recognized for the best all-round car and Paul Scall was noted for having done the best paint job.

Yatsushashi, Sardella, Hart and Scott Parker, Mike Vrotsos, Kevin Sarnay and Mike Elzinga won the racing championships for the individual dens.

John A. MacIsaac, Carpenter, Dies

John A. MacIsaac of 33 Wildwood st. died unexpectedly at Port Hood, Nova Scotia, on Jan. 2. He lived in Winchester for 40 years.

Born at Port Hood 81 years ago, Mr. MacIsaac was the son of Duncan and Mary (Macdonald) MacIsaac.

He was a carpenter, having been in the employ of Robbins and Burke Truck Body Co. of Cambridge for 35 years. He retired 15 years ago.

For a period he served with the Canadian Army.

He was a member of St. Mary's Church and was active in the Winchester Council 210 of the Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his wife, Marion (McEachern) MacIsaac; three daughters, Mrs. Andrew A. (Ellen) Smith of Winchester, Mrs. Betty Verhault of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Mary Collette of Kohn, Germany; also two brothers, Anthony MacIsaac of Billerica, Hugh MacIsaac of Port Hood, and a sister, Mrs. Christine Drapau of Winchester; also nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral mass was celebrated by Mark Sheehan of St. Mary's Church at the church on Jan. 5. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Lane Funeral Home handled arrangements.

On Jan. 20, Patricia Vautrain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Vautrain Jr. of 107 Cambridge st., will leave for Grenoble, France, to study at the University of Grenoble during the spring semester.

A sophomore at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and a 1972 graduate of Winchester High School, Miss Vautrain will attend classes in the Comite de Patronage, an adjunct institute to the University of Grenoble.

The 28 students participating in the program will be accompanied by Nancy Lamb, an assistant professor in the French department at U.M. They will return in June.

Smith Club Has Party

The Winchester Smith College Club held a party recently at the home of Mrs. Frederick Rozelle for area Smith College students and prospective students.

Mrs. Robert Williams, chairman of the candidates committee, and committee members Mrs. Lawrence Delafield and Mrs. Robert Kittredge were hostesses. Mrs. Thomas Crnig, president attended.

The Smith students who attended represented all classes. Besides enjoying a mid-semester get-together, they provided information and answered questions. Attending from Winchester were Elizabeth Hall, Becky Osgood, Gwen Seferian, Deborah Yavner, and Cathy Cook.

Prospective junior and senior high school students were Virginia Gray, Stephanie Littell, Susan Vitka, Kristin Johanson, and Patricia Annino of Winchester.

Voke Committee Grants Pay Hikes

Five percent salary hikes were granted last week by the Northeast Regional Vocational School District committee to its major administrators. The raises follow the pattern set in the settlement with the teachers there.

The increases were made retroactive to July 1, 1973. Salaries for the 1973-74 school year will be:

Superintendent John Connelly, $28,250; deputy director Carleton Kenerson, $23,525; vice-principal Robert Breagy, $21,000; administrative assistant William Connery, $18,280.50; business manager Louis Sanville, $15,750.

Apportionment

Fair apportionment of assessment for students attending the school still exists, Winchester representative Gerard P. Donahoe said recently.

"We are right back where we were two years ago on the apportionment matter," he told the Winchester selectmen. Donahoe was referring to the successful lawsuit filed by Winchester, Woburn, Winthrop and Wakefield to obtain a reapportionment.

Winchester received about $92,000 in refunds because Winchester students were not using the seats allocated during the day school.

The school has added an extended day program comprising 30 percent of the total 1973-74 budget.

"Winchester is paying for 19 seats in this program although only three local students are attending," said Donahoe. "We are trying to work out a fair share apportionment but this may take until 1976."

He is urging that the town counsel look into the matter to be sure Winchester is being treated fairly.

Donahoe expressed concern at the high legal fees the regional school committee was asked to pay for collective bargaining work. Legal fees have run up to $20,000 for eight months work on one contract with the teachers. Two more contracts, the custodial, and the office workers, still need to be settled. Donahoe told the selectmen that he has introduced a motion that no new contracts be discussed until legal fees are discussed.

Dr. Henry Gibson

Dr. Gibson Elected Chief of Thoracic Surgical Service

Harris Gibson Jr., M.D., 9 Polk rd., has been elected chief of thoracic surgical service at Winchester Hospital, according to an announcement by Reese E. James, hospital administrator.

Dr. Gibson, graduate of Alabama State College and Menary Medical College, served his internship at the United States Public Health Service Hospital in Boston, his general surgical residency at the same hospital and his residency in thoracic surgery at Boston City Hospital.

He has served as clinical instructor at Boston University Medical School and as assistant chief of surgery at the Public Health Service Hospital.

Gibson is co-author of two articles on specialized surgical techniques, published in the American Journal of Surgery and the New England Medical Journal. He has done several research projects on open heart surgery which have been presented to the United States Public Health Service Clinical Society.

'House Tour' At Library

The public is invited to a "house tour" of a middle-class Victorian (1870-1880) house in Winchester. Admission is free. The home is on view all day, every day in the lobby of the Winchester Public Library.

A creation of Chuck Burleigh, high school senior who lives at 7 Sheffield rd., the house is a glimpse into a bygone era.

Double front doors are opulently screened by heavy lace. An over-embellished front hall is meant to impress. There is wall to wall carpeting (a needlepoint reproduction made for Chuck by Lee Weatherby of Watertown, a retired linotype operator), heavy velvet portieres in the parlor.

The tone of the room is heavy and dark according to the fashion of the times. The Victorian penchant for collecting is evidenced by the bric-a-brac and souvenirs around the room.

Burleigh, who hopes to major in environmental design at the Parsons School of Design in New York, has taken a basic sturdy 1920's doll house and by careful additions (the wing that houses the kitchen and bath) and astute decoration (scaled wall papers and authentic kitchen clutter) has created a period piece.

Most of the items in the house are antiques, although the brass beds and some of the wall papers were bought from a firm that specializes in doll house furnishings. The parlor chairs and settee were made in Germany around 1870 but the icebox, cabinet and soapstone sink as well as the chandelier in the parlor were all handcrafted by Chuck himself.

The house was shown at a recent meeting of the Tiny Treasures Society. Other miniatures from Chuck's collection, as well as samples and catalogs useful to the collector, are on display in the glass case in the library lobby.

Moving?

Maple street behind Winchester Hospital would be moved further right after houses abutting street are torn down. Russell House, the nursing quarters (left) would be torn down to make way for a garage.

AIM Auditions For Grades 5,6 Jan. 22

Instrumentalists in the Winchester Public Schools, grades five and six, will audition for the spring Adventures in Music (AIM) concerts at the Winchester High School auditorium on Jan. 22 at 1 p.m.

Burton Cowgill, music director of Winchester schools, has set up the auditions for an early release afternoon. Children who audition should be able to play a short piece within the area of their proficiency and should prepare chromatic scales within their range for the audition.

Pupils who are selected will participate in the final concerts scheduled for March 30 and 31 at Lexington High School.

Young instrumentalists will play side-by-side with professional musicians who perform with Newton Wayland, director for AIM.

Applications for auditions have been distributed to pupils through music teachers in schools.

Questions regarding auditions should be directed to AIM town chairman, Mrs. Andrew Nichols.

Dog Leash Law

Dogs must be kept on leashes in Winchester from 7 in the morning to 7 at night. Owners of pets in violation are fined.

Watersheds Plan Meeting Tonight

A new approach to water and land planning is now underway in the Charles, Mystic and Neponset River Watersheds.

Residents of the three watershed areas, including Winchester, are invited to attend a public workshop today at the Dedham Holiday Inn beginning at 8 p.m.

Participants will have an opportunity to work with state and federal planners to spotlight local water and related land issues and develop priorities for solutions, prior to the formulation of plans.

The planners will use citizen comments from these workshops in selecting alternatives for long-range management of the watersheds' water and land resources that is beyond the scope of any one agency.

The workshop planners are part of a $3.5 million state-federal program called the Southeastern New England Study (SENE). "The over-all goal," according to SENE Study Manager Bob Kasvinsky, "is wise use and protection of the area's resources."

He said that local residents were being called in early in the planning process so that their values will have a major impact on the Study's final recommendations.

The SENE Study is co-sponsoring the workshop with the Mystic, Charles, and Neponset River Watershed Associations.

Issues under focus at the workshop will include regional and local alternatives for treating chemicals, runoff, storm and residential sewage dumped into the rivers and their tributaries enroute to Boston Harbor.

Participants will also discuss water supply, land use problems and solutions, wetland and flood plain use and protection, and recreational opportunities.

Tip

Always keep your landscape clean by removing litter, leaves and deadwood from under trees and shrubs. Prune out deadwood still on shrubs, and dispose of it. Remove dead and dried portions of ground covers. Leave space between shrubs and trees to help prevent fire spread.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Legislative Session

Rep. Chadwick Speaks Out: Selfishness, Churches, Taxes

Rep. Harrison Chadwick, who recently announced he will not seek reelection, spoke to The Star on highlights of the 1973 legislature. During the interview he spoke out on inflation, the energy shortage and "the fabric of our society."

The following are the observations of the Winchester Republican legislator:

He does not choose to call the energy situation a crisis. "Farsighted people have seen it coming for some time. Relative to our present population, there is less energy to go around."

"We are all going to have to condense our use of energy. I think there is really only one crisis in our country today: the moral crisis. I think a moral condition from ethical standards, permissive philosophy, that exists in the United States constitutes a genuine crisis. People of the United States should really feel alarmed about it. It exists nationwide."

"Watergate has crystallized the whole thing: the rottenness that exists in society, not just in government. It exists in the whole fabric of our society. (He described rottenness as selfishness, lying, cheating and sexual promiscuity.)

"An unpopular president happened to get caught with it around his neck. If we were to open all the skeletons that exist in closets, they would be as bad as 'Watergate.' The skeletons can be found in closets in the business world, at home and in all areas of society, Rep. Chadwick said.

"Building strong character is no longer considered a fundamental in the educational system. I bemoan the fact that so many of our churches have become social activist organizations instead of preaching the gospel and morality."

As an example of selfishness, he cited the recent protest by the truckers in Ohio and several other midwestern states. "They have no desire to cooperate for the overall good of the people. If you don't like what the government does, you demonstrate. If I were the ICC I'd take their licenses away in no time."

TRANSPORTATION

The legislature last session passed an omnibus package establishing 10 transportation districts in Massachusetts outside MBTA control. "This is really necessary for cities like Springfield, Lawrence and Fall River to get federal money for bus service. "It is a voluntary arrangement. In the MBTA district, the state has agreed to pay half of the deficit levied on the cities and towns by the 'T'. This is an ongoing situation. The state is committing itself to continued railroad service.

"Along with it we approved $15 million to be used on a matching basis with federal funds. They come through on a 2-for-1 basis. Fifteen dollars of ours produces $45. That will be used primarily for road bed and rolling stock."

"Watergate has crystallized the whole thing: the rottenness that exists in society, not just in government."

INFLATION

"I predict there will never be an end to inflation while the federal government, year after year, doesn't balance the budget but continues to issue bonds. And now they have outstanding $400 billion in bonds. That's almost half a trillion dollars. Just in November they went in debt for $4 billion. "Massachusetts is almost as bad." The state, he said, is living beyond its means. "Massachusetts has a $2½ billion budget and still borrows money to pay for such basic expenses as maintenance items."

"This year I've filed a bill that will mandate program budgeting. We're using a line item budget that business gave up 50 years ago. The advantage of program budgeting is we have to segregate proposed expenditures by major categories and then assign priorities to the programs within those categories."

TAXES

Rep. Chadwick was disappointed to see the collapse of the Massachusetts Tax Commission that was to have recommended an alternative to the property tax. He hopes the legislature next session at least will appropriate the necessary money to have the commission's report printed.

"Our tax laws are in miserable shape. They are a patchwork quilt. There has been no attempt over the years to equalize the tax burden." For example, he cited the insurance industry successfully fighting back certain bills.

SOCIAL

"We" did very well by the elderly. We are going to guarantee them a minimum living income. This is a big step forward. $370 million has been set aside for housing for low income families and for the elderly of which the elderly will get 6,600 units of housing at $100 million. This will do a lot to help patch up."

REDISTRICTING

"The House of Representatives was able to force a black senatorial district through the legislature. This was a big step forward. There aren't more than enough blacks in Boston to make a black senatorial district. "Although the Senate fought, the House prevailed. It is a great step forward in civil rights."

Black senatorial district: 'A great step forward in civil rights.'

"I felt the racial imbalance law should be repealed. It was conceived with good intent. At the time I was glad to vote for it. Now it promotes more acrimony than any accomplishment of good will."

PRISON REFORM

"I feel the prisoners are now coming under the control of the Department of Corrections and hope we can come out with a happy middle position. Personally I favor the merit system for prisoners who want to cooperate in returning to society. But I am not willing to do anything for prisoners who insist on being incorrigible."

CAMPAIGNS

"Controls on the activities of the lobbyists was the outstanding feature (of the session). But I still wonder how we're going to control the campaign gifts that are given in the envelope under the table. I'm all for the cleanest campaigning. But we haven't closed all the loopholes."

REORGANIZATION

"The legislature's handling of the governor's reorganization was a disgrace. The legislature had ample opportunity to improve on the legislation he submitted which they felt needed to be changed. But they sat on their hands and did nothing and now this situation has become a political football to the detriment of all the citizens."

"A majority party in the legislature wants to make sure Gov. Sargent doesn't get credit."

TWO PARTY SYSTEM

"It is necessary to strike a better balance as far as the two-party system is concerned. As for the make-up of the legislature, there are enough lawyers, teachers and young men fresh out of the classrooms in college. What the state needs is more businessmen."

How Does Smoke At Incinerator Stack With Cigarettes?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

With all the publicity given air pollution and the standards set by the authorities for the incinerator, they are overlooking other pollution problems like the exhaust from unnecessary bussing and use of a lot of gasoline that doesn't help the energy problem.

There are also the smokers who pollute themselves and the air we breathe in spite of the warning it may be dangerous to health.

I have often wondered how the smoke from all the Winchester smokers sent up one stack would compare with the smoke from the incinerator; also if it would meet the minimum requirements per cubic ft. content for the incinerator.

I expect each one has built-in scrubbing equipment that collects some of the pollutants but a lot of smoke and fly ash gets into the air considering the number of smokers and cigarette butts you see around town. Still the smokers seem to live with it like we lived with backyard burning for years and nature seemed to keep the air fit to breathe with the exception of an odd time when conditions trapped the pollution since automobiles became numerous. Then we had a rainstorm and wind and the air was clear and the stars sparkled again, but the way the air is being fouled up, it is going to take more than Geritol to keep healthy.

Challenging Duty

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

During the month of December, I was in the jury pool for the Superior Court for the County of Middlesex at Lowell. I am proud to have served as a juror and I am now more aware of the way in which the judicial system works.

At first I was troubled by the slowness of the process, and the many details. Some reforms are necessary, certainly, since the civil cases we were hearing actually happened in 1969 and 1970.

Criminal cases, however, reach the courts much faster. But the important thing, it seems to me, is that each person had his day in court, and then a jury of his peers decided what was a just and fair decision.

A jury is a cross section of American citizens—a variety of ethnic, social, economic backgrounds. It was interesting to observe decisions hammered out, each juror having his say. Each time the jury returned to the courtroom with a verdict, the judge thanked the jury for careful consideration and for reaching a just verdict.

On the final day of the December session, Judge Mitchell told the jurors that it had been a productive session—33 cases settled, 20 of them in the court room. He thanked us for being willing to serve.

To me, jury duty was a challenging and interesting experience, and I look forward to serving again whenever called. I recommend it to my fellow citizens.

Town Lacks Life

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

For the progress of Winchester as it is (no life to it), I wish to say this:

I do not blame our town fathers or anyone else, but when a person has lived in Winchester for 50 years or more as I have talks with our aged and finds they have to pick up roots at 73-75 years of age and move to some up-and-coming small town (where they are welcome), I think it's too sad for words.

This is true because there are only going to be 52 units for 500 applications in our elderly housing, and this is if they ever get it ready. Too bad people who have lived here 50 years have to think about moving to surrounding towns so they can get a reasonable rent and where they are welcome at this stage of their lives.

These small units is other towns are three rooms, bath, long living room, bedrooms, kitchen, wall-to-wall carpeting, drapes, buttons you can push if you are ill and other benefits.

Where is Winchester? No life.

Aberjona River at Davidson Park: More warning needed for skaters?

That's otherwise known as the West Side Fire Station, completed two years ago.

Then there are two permanent committees for the study of swimming pools—one for an indoor pool and the other for an outdoor. The list goes on. The point is, if you would like to serve there is probably a board or committee to fit your interest.

Recently I've been hearing comments on some of the people who are planning on being candidates this year that they haven't lived in town long enough.

If you are new in town and would like to run for office, don't let those comments phase you. We should welcome new people running for office and getting involved in their community. For too long too few people have borne the burden of holding office.

Also hear comments that so-and-so is too young to run for this or that. But if we wait until the young people get the experience some feel is necessary then they won't be young any longer. And we need some young voices on our boards. The young are entitled to representation.

In fact, considering their number, the young are very much under-represented among Winchester's committees and boards. This doesn't necessarily indicate their willful exclusion by appointing authorities, but rather the apathetic attitude to community service among so many young persons.

Women, too, are grossly under-represented. Making up at least half of the population, they account, by my own whimsical tabulation, for about 10 percent of office holders. Let's get out there, women, and get those signatures.

There is at least one person interested in changing the way candidates are listed on the Winchester ballot. Under the present arrangement a candidate for reelection is listed first. Not only that, he gets the word "incumbent" next to his name.

That seems a double unfair advantage and one designed to automatically reelect incumbents. And voters do select incumbents and those listed first as evidenced by the automatic reelection of the first 11 names listed in each precinct for town meeting.

Why should incumbents be given an advantage? It seems to me if an office holder hasn't gotten his name across to voters in the three years he has held office then he doesn't deserve to be reelected.

One person I talked to thinks the fair way to list candidates would be by the date they took out nomination papers, the first taking out papers listed first.

At least the town should do what other communities have done and have candidates pick ballot position by chance, usually by picking a number out of a hat.

Hear Ye!

The following is a list of meetings of town boards and committees taken from the Town Hall bulletin board. All meetings are usually open to the public. Unless otherwise noted here, all meetings take place at Town Hall, 71 Mount Vernon st.

Thursday, Jan. 10

Winchester History Committee, Water Department Room, 7:30 p.m.
Town Government Study Committee, Park Dept. Office, 8 p.m.
Finance Committee, Conference Room, 7:45 p.m.

Monday, Jan. 14

School Committee, Sanborn House, 7:30 p.m.
Board of Assessors, Assessor's Office, 7:30 p.m.
Board of Selectmen, Selectmen's Meeting Room 7:30 p.m.
Finance Committee, Conference Room, 7:45 p.m.

Candidates have been dilatory in taking out papers for office and getting their news announcements in The Star. I guess they are all waiting to see what the other fellow is doing before making a commitment.

It's too bad they have to see what someone else is doing before doing something themselves. From now on, as we print the growing list of candidates from week to week, we'll print them in the order they took out papers. And let's hope they return those papers.

Sorry for so much election comment this week but just one more item and I'll be through. Checked with town counsel Randall about the eligibility of town employees in running for office. (There are several this year.)

No problem anywhere except if someone employed by the School Department is running for School Committee (none in Winchester as far as I know). Someone employed by the School Department can run for Board of Selectmen and a member of the Police Department can run for School Committee without any problem, Randall advises. Some cities have prohibitions against School Committee members holding paid positions in their communities but not Winchester.

System is the key word in modern merchandising. Computers guide everything from inventory to customer's change. Walking through a discount store where everything seems to have been laid out by a horde of engineers, you begin to feel like one of the packages the girls up front put your stuff in, then staple closed with sales slip attached.

I was in a discount store near here the other day buying a welcome mat. (I'm not encouraging visitors, only clean rugs.) The mat had no price on it. I took it to a woman clicking prices on to gadgets. "There's no price on this," I said. "Will they know how much it cost up front?"

"They don't know nuthin' up there," she said. "They just push buttons." With that she pushed the button of the little machine she was holding and stuck a price tag on the welcome mat. It was $1. "How's that?" she asked.

It was perfect, I told her. It wasn't perfect because the mat only cost a $1. Maybe it's true value was $1.50, or maybe 50 cents. But it was perfect because the woman a down-to-earth no-nonsense type, didn't go through the prescribed routine of calling for Edna the department manager, who calls for Jim the store manager who doesn't know anyway and taking up the time of half a dozen people.

Clicky Click. In one instant she had a price on the mat, saving myself and the store Lord knows how much time. She's a valuable employee for that store. Just don't let them find out about it though.

We've had a couple of reports from residents about the hazardous conditions Sunday at Winter Pond. "At least four or five people fell in," one tells us. The police rescued one boy after he fell through the thin ice. It has been suggested there be some kind of warning in town—like maybe a sign at the rotary—when ice is thin.

HIT AND RUN

Who is the intended candidate running around town with the book "Getting Elected" by Chester Atkins under his arm? He made me promise not to tell.

Has anyone noticed that the "Cub Reporters" of Channel 2 has been yanked off the station? Probably not.

Has anyone seen Kohoutek yet? We received a report that good viewing is on Winchester drive in Lexington (a continuation of Winchester's Johnson road). Look in the direction of Arlington, just above Venus, the brightest star in the sky at that time, around 6 p.m.

Anyone ever wonder why the Fire Department rescue truck sometimes responds to accidents and the Police Department ambulance at other times? "Professional rivalry" is the reason given to me. Whichever department is called first responds.

Winchester High School yearbooks must be in scarce supply. The Star has been asking since last June for a copy of the Aberjona Yearbook. We've asked at least half a dozen people connected with the school. We're still waiting.

Christy McDonald's Bakery on Mt. Vernon st. must be getting ready to reopen. They've received wiring and plumbing permits.

Why do I always smell Chinese food at the corner of Swanton and Washington sts.? That's a long way from Wong's Chateau, which when you think of it is a rather strange name for a Chinese Restaurant—the Chateau part I mean.

Paul O'Neill of O'Neill's Pharmacy, 294 Washington st., has been informed by the state lottery commission that the person who bought a ticket worth $291,000 has turned in the ticket. O'Neill gets $2,500 whether the person turns in the ticket or not, he was told.

He says a town worker originally bought the winning ticket, sold it to a woman who works with him and she sold it to a friend, who cashed in on it. She is Marie Copeland of Ipswich.

There has been quite a run on siphoning equipment and locks for gasoline tanks. Bonnell Ford has run out of caps for gasoline tanks which lock but expects more. There has been an increase in the number of illegal siphonings in recent weeks, particularly over the weekends.

I was over at the Town Hall parking lot Friday at noon with some of the elderly waiting for the Recreation Department bus to take them to Burlington for the start of the senior citizen bowling league.

"It's terrible to get old. But you might as well have fun. If you don't, you might as well die," one woman was saying.

Another woman, on this snowy morning, commented on the as-yet sparse attendance. "You know old people. There's snow and they stay home."

A few minutes later Recreation Director, Donald Spinney arrived and the half dozen persons waiting in the cold joked with him.

"Don, when you are old we'll take care of you."

Spinney: "I'm never gonna get that old." "Don's going the other way."

When the group was getting on the bus one man asked, "Hey Don, where's the bar?"

By now there was quite a good crowd—maybe a couple of dozen—getting on the bus. They had been keeping themselves warm in their cars while waiting for the bus. Don hopes that if attendance keeps up to at least 25 the department can sponsor the bus-bowling trip every Friday.

If you or your firm has an alarm system connected with the Winchester Police Department you'd better check the bill you recently received from W.S. Security Systems.

Three years ago the Boston firm took over operation of the burglary alarm panel at the police station. "Unfortunately the panel was in an absolute mess," says W.S. office manager Mrs. Cogan.

W.S. didn't know who was tied into the Winchester system and who was not. "After years of trying to extract the information, we got the names of the people tied in," Mrs. Cogan says.

Because the firm didn't know who was tied in prior to its taking over and who was tied in after, they sent out "installation" bills of $50 to all customers. The bills included an additional charge of $24, an annual service charge. Mrs. Cogan says the $24 is a usual amount and is authorized by the Police Department. But if your bill was more than that—say $74—check your records.

Vandalism

Committee To Fight

After spending more than $20,000 for vandalism out of the 1973 school budget, the School Committee notified the Board of Selectmen recently of its desire to reduce school vandalism and to hear more about an auxiliary police department program to fight vandalism.

According to Executive Secretary Edward Donnelly, the auxiliary police department plan, if adopted, would be patterned after an ongoing plan in Woburn where auxiliary policemen patrol in the vicinity of schools and school playgrounds during evenings.

Donnelly said if a similar plan were adopted in Winchester it would come under Wilbur Otis, civil defense director, and his team of auxiliary policemen.

He said further many things would have to be "ironed out" such as the amount of authority auxiliary policemen would have. Would they apprehend violators or would they turn information over to regular policemen who in turn would follow through on arrests?

Monday night Selectmen reviewed an itemized list from the School Department showing the kinds of vandalism the department has experienced during the past year and costs.

Glass installed by companies amounted to $6,988.61; glass replaced by maintenance personnel, $10,097.60; tools stolen from the maintenance department, $880; and other vandalism $2,041.12 plus labor (not included) making a total of $20,007.33.

The Winchester High School had to have $2700 worth of glass installed; Lynch Junior High more than $1750; McCall, more than $1950; and Muraco and Vinson-Owen Schools more than $500.

This past year two flag poles at $352 each had to be replaced, one at Noonan School, the other at Wyman.

The cost of repairing a chain link fence at Washington School cost the town $288. Replacing a toilet at the high school destroyed by a bomb cost the town $99. Other repairs were to light fixtures, file cabinets, gates, smashed inter-coms, and classroom doors.

Some of the tools stolen from the school maintenance department include a ram set stud gun with fasteners, valued at $200; a Sabre saw, $125; a chain saw, $100; seven hedge clippers valued at $18 each or $126; and level at $35.

Selectmen decided to have their sub-committee to the Winchester Police Department check into the Woburn auxiliary program more fully and in the words of Vito Giarrizzo "come back with an implementation scheme" for Winchester.

Skaters Ignore Warnings, Fall Through Pond

Several skaters fell through thin ice Sunday at Winter Pond despite repeated police efforts to clear them out.

The police throughout the day received calls from residents of the area reporting skaters had fallen through the ice. All apparently were pulled to safety by other skaters without requiring hospitalization.

At 11:45 a.m. Officer Richard W. Fisher reported he used a loudspeaker in an attempt to convince skaters the ice was not safe. "All but a few ignored the warning and continued to skate," he said. "Many were adults."

At 2 p.m. Officer Donald Jackson used the loudspeaker to clear the ice "without success." At 4:15 p.m. Officer Fisher reported a boy had fallen through and again urged the skaters to stay off the ice "again with little success." The majority of the skaters were adults," he said, "and older kids. The parents of many children were in cars and on the bank watching."

The Police Department, incidentally, does not test the ice and has no way of knowing its safety unless someone falls through.

In other police activity in the past week, there was a break reported Saturday morning at Winchester Carlton, 50-A Cross st. There was minor vandalism inside, a police report said.

Winchester Carlton last Wednesday reported gasoline siphoned from a vehicle there. On Saturday the tank of a car at 246 Ridge st. was siphoned of its gasoline.

Last Friday night a house at 6 Town Way was thought to have been the scene of an attempted break. The back door was found ajar and two pairs of footprints were seen in the snow. Tires on a car there were slashed.

There was a break reported at 18 Andrews rd. last Thursday. Minor items were stolen. Sunday at 3:45 p.m. resident of 27 Lloyd st. reported a car went over the lawn and struck a parked car there and drove off toward the parkway.

There was a three-car collision Sunday at 81 Cambridge st. All the cars were going in the same direction and had damage to the rear bumpers. There were no injuries.

Two teenage youths reported last Wednesday they were beaten by several other youths who jumped out of a car containing nine or 10 youths. One of them was treated at Winchester Hospital after receiving a cut over the eye from a car antenna. The incident happened at Dix st.

'Orphan' Dog

Winchester Animal Rescue issued the following announcement recently:

Gentle, affectionate, housebroken, but afraid of men, this lovely shepard type dog was found abandoned with her new-born babies in a box behind a liquor store.

Sheltered by animal welfare, the puppies have found homes and "Mama" has been spayed. Now won't somebody please give me a home before my time is up, her sad brown eyes seem to ask. Call 729-1698 or 729-5718 if you could open your heart and your home to this pathetic pet.

Recreation Duties Would Be Transferred

A petition to transfer the duties of the Recreation Committee to the Park Commission and eliminate the Recreation Committee will be included in the warrant for the annual March town meeting.

Submitted by Town Meeting Member Robert P. Joyce (Prec. 6), the petition is being checked by Town Counsel Douglas Randall.

Joyce said he filed the petition because the recreation programs have "grown to such an extent, almost $100,000 at this point, that the responsibility for spending such a budget should be placed under the direction of an elected body rather than an appointed body. The Board of Selectmen never sees their budget."

Members of the Recreation Committee are appointed by the selectmen. The five-member Park Commission is elected.

At one time recreation activities were handled by Park and after a lengthy study the duties were divided and separate boards formed.

Park Chairman Albert A. MacDonnell said he served on that committee which investigated the possibility of hiring a full time recreation director. The study lasted several years, he said, and was done by representatives of the Board of Selectmen, Finance Committee, School Committee, other town boards and citizens.

TMM Joyce said that when Park ran the recreation program it consisted only of playground and beach supervision.

Recreation Committee chairman Thomas W. Mullaney said he likes the present arrangement where Park takes care of the physical end of recreation activities and Recreation programming and staffing.

"If we did put them together I don't see where we would be gaining anything. There would still be the same staff." Would it be cheaper? he was asked. "There isn't any overlapping of expenses. One is involved with physical upkeep, the other with programming and staffing."

Joyce said his move would save money. "Materials that are similar in departments could be purchased at the same time resulting in some savings. I don't know how much it would save. It would save some."

He said he also thought the move would result in better communication.

Chairman MacDonnell said if Recreation duties are transferred to Park, "We're not going to change much. There's not much we can change." His position on changing? "That's strictly between the selectmen and the group that has the petition."

But he did say Park has enough duties to perform now and members of the Recreation Committee are "top grade."

Joyce, several times turned down in bids for appointment to Recreation, was asked if his petition represents "sour grapes" on his part.

"I've heard from members of the Recreation Committee that they themselves have discussed the possibility of becoming an elected commission or possibly go under the Park Commission. But none of them has the initiative to propose it for a vote of the committee."

Joyce was asked about a report that his move represents an act to get at Recreation Director Donald Spinney. "Three years ago I made a motion at town meeting to cut the budget of the Recreation Committee" specifically in the area of permanent personnel services. I felt the recreation director was overpaid by studying various towns around us who have recreation directors."

Joyce said he checked eight communities, which at that time were paying "$10,000 on the average."

At the time, he says, Spinney was making $13,800. "Now he makes $14,200."

Winton Club

Rehearsals Begin For WOW

By Suzanne B. Armstrong

January is the month and the annual Winton Club Cabaret Show is the place to do your thing whether you are in the cast or in the audience or both. Lots of our cast people play dual roles.

This year's show is a fast paced, excitingly staged all-Winchester revue. Activities, clubs, local endeavors, and recreational advantages will be presented in many variations along with solo spots of local color.

Talent night and tryouts were held this week at the Town Hall. Mrs. Ralph Swanson, president of Winton Club, and Mrs. Stanley Harms Jr., chairman of this year's show, and her general committee welcomed newcomers and renewed friendships with veterans.

Mrs. Robert Quinn, a busy talent sign-man, and her committee were on hand to sign up performers, explain rehearsal times, and to take notes on sizes needed.

Today full rehearsals got underway—morning workouts for mothers or Winton Club members, evening rehearsals for cast members who work or study during the day.

This is the way the show begins. From this start, the finished Cabaret should emerge sparkling and fresh commencing Jan. 29 with the children's performance. The following four nights are cabaret style—chairs and round cozy tables.

Mrs. Samuel Perkins is chairman of the program.

The Winton Club cabaret program is a directory of all the hundreds of supporters of Winton Club and the Winchester Hospital.

Winton Club is involved with two projects that will curve into one explosion of energy beginning Jan. 29. Winton Club cannot supply Winchester Hospital the amounts needed to maintain the linen supply without the support of the community.

Come to the Winton Club cabaret. Buy a program. Enjoy it.

'Art To Loan'

"Art to loan" at the Winchester Public Library will be ready for circulation on Monday.

Framed reproductions of a variety of art masterpieces will be on display. Reserves will be accepted at the circulation desk. The introductory collection will be hung in the Smith Room by Saturday.

Sunday hours at the library are from 1 to 5.

Strong Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strong of Lynn announce the birth of their third son, Michael Wayne, at Union Hospital, Lynn, on Dec. 24. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Strong of Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald G. Richburg of 17 East st.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE - The Winton Club Cabaret Show rehearsals are underway for final performances beginning Jan. 29. From left, back row, the program committee includes Mrs. Robert W. Birtton, Mrs. James B. Lane, Mrs. Alexander B. Samoiloff, Mrs.

James E. Barger, Mrs. Robert Duffy, Mrs. Jerome Flanagan, Mrs. Salmon W. Putnam IV; front row, Mrs. D. Craig Wark Jr., Mrs. Samuel E. Perkins, chairman; Mrs. Percy H. Hill and Mrs. Warren J. Taylor.

Parenthood Is Meeting Topic At Wyman School

Alice L. Palubinskas, professor of psychology at Tufts University, will be guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Wyman and Ambrose Parents' Associations on Jan. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Wyman School Auditorium.

Ms. Palubinskas will speak on being a parent. A Winchester resident for 20 years, she has served on the Citizens' Advisory Committee in Winchester and continues to be interested in the school system.

She received her bachelor of science degree from Salem State College, a master's degree from the Harvard School of Education, and a Ph.D. from Iowa State University.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served. In case of bad weather, the meeting will be held Jan. 24.

'Pink Ball' Aids Medford Hospital

The Auxiliary of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford, will hold its ninth annual Pink Ball on Feb. 9 at the Jackson Complex of Tufts University.

According to Mr. Alfred Capachietti of Winchester, the event "is becoming a pleasant winter tradition." Decorations will follow the valentine theme.

The ball provides men and women from the hospital community an opportunity "to display some of the latest styles while at the same time helping the hospital financially," suggests Mrs. Capachietti.

For reservations contact Mrs. Arnold Schutzberg of 15 Central street.

Newly Formed MV Children's Council To Meet Tonight

The newly formed Mystic Valley Council for Children will hold its first meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at St. Charles School in Woburn.

Local Members of the group include Mary McPhail, Richard Beaton, Ruth Westwater, Roy Cummings, Louise M. Fackert, Nancy Earsy, Paula Petrillo, George MacMillan, Rev. Walter B. Davis and Rev. Dean Benedict.

Acting chairman for the child council is Frank R. Mazzaglia, executive director of the Woburn Chamber of Commerce.

Towns included are Winchester, Woburn, Arlington, Burlington, Lexington and Wilmington.

Mothers To Hear Mrs. Twitchell On Picture Books

The Mystic Valley Mental Health Association will present one of its ongoing Mothers Morning Out programs on Jan. 17 at the First Congregational Church from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Henry Twitchell, children's librarian, will discuss "Picture Books for Young Children." Her talk will include a child's view of himself and his family, other people, and the real and imaginative world.

All mothers of young children are invited to participate. Baby sitting and transportation are available.

For more information contact Mrs. William Cummings.

Latest Victims: Wakefield, Belmont

Sachem Hoopsters Win Six Straight

By John F. Parrell

Playing two games in three nights, Coach Vandy French's Winchester High School basketball team ran their Middlesex League record to 4-0 and their overall slate to 6-0 last week as they easily rolled over hapless Belmont 77-50 and took a thriller from the Wakefield Warriors by coming from behind for a final score of 49-47.

This is the best start for a Sachem hoop team in many years. Their rosters are already discussing the Tech tourney.

But, before there can be any thoughts of post season play, the Winchester team faces 14 more games of which nearly a dozen must be played against stronger opposition than faced to date.

They will be tested this week as they play on foreign courts against Lexington, the bane of the league for the past four years, and on Watertown's old and smallish playing surface.

They then return to their own gymnasium for three consecutive home games with Stoneham, Reading and Woburn. The Tanners have proved to be the surprise of the season, having won all their league games, with only a loss to Concord-Carlisle to tarnish the record.

The game with the Marauders at Belmont was a contest for only one period with the Sachems holding a single point edge, 14-13. Belmont collapsed in the second period as the Sachems scored almost at will, piling up 26 points to 8 by the home forces for a 40-21 halftime lead.

Belmont showed better basketball in the third period, but they could not cut into the Winchester lead. With reserves playing the final quarter the Sachems pulled away a bit more for the 77-50 triumph. All five starters were in double figures for Winchester.

The summary:

WINCHESTER	14	26	16	21	77
BELMONT	13	8	15	14	50

The Junior Varsity group did not fare as well and dropped their game 53-43. Wilson of Belmont was the top point getter with 17 while Heffernan and Mills each chalked up 9 for the Sachems.

The summary:

WINCHESTER	13	8	7	15	43
BELMONT	14	9	12	18	53

Vs. Wakefield

The game with the Wakefield Warriors found the local forces pitted against an experienced and sharp shooting unit. Many of the visitors are veterans of last year's Tech tourney quintet.

Wakefield was the best team that Winchester has faced in nearly two weeks. The Sachems started off as though they would blow the Warriors off the court, piling up a 14-8 first period margin.

As in the Melrose game, Winchester sagged badly in the second period as the Warriors led by Capt. Jay Moore and Roger Lapham poured in 21 points for a 31-26 halftime lead.

The scoring was even at 10 points each in the third quarter. The Warriors did most of their scoring early to pull away to a 40-30 lead. The Sachems battled back but Wakefield still showed in front as the final quarter opened by 41-36.

It was an uphill struggle all the way. The home forces had gained the lead as the final minute opened and were in front by four points.

It looked like the end for Wakefield when Moore went out on foul with 32 seconds left to play. Sandy Bigelow followed 15 seconds later.

An ill-timed attempt to drive cost the Sachems the ball and enabled the Warriors to close to within two points, this time they maintained ball control to clinch the verdict. Co-captain Mike Heffernan and Lapham led the scorers with 12 markers while the Sachems had three players with seven points and two others with eight.

Lexington Beats Squirt Lions 2-0

The St. Eulalia Pee Wee Lions played their second home game in four days on Jan. 2 and, still smarting from a 10-0 pouncing by Reading, were not to be outdone as they edged the North Medford Mustangs 5-4.

The Mustangs broke on top early in the first period. By the time the Lions got together, they were down 2-0. Scott Compton pumped in a pair of goals, combined with great hustle on the line, to tie the score at 2. All of this happened before the first period buzzer.

Rich Arnold jammed in the go-ahead goal two minutes into the second period, and from that point the Lions were never headed. The 3-2 lead held until the third period as Medford tied the score 3-3.

Body checking became a factor as both teams started to draw penalties. Greg DiSilva and Jack Collins put the icing on the cake to give St. Eulalia's a 2 goal lead with five minutes left to play.

The blue-shirted lads from Medford, with their never-say-die coaching, were spurred on to close the gap at 5-4.

Pee Wee Lions Edge Medford 5-4

The Lexington Squirt "A" team beat the St. Eulalia's Lions 2-0 on Jan. 5. Lexington out-skated the Eulalian Lions in the first period. The equalizer appeared to be from Jack Davies who did great goaltending. The Lions lacked zip and found it tough to penetrate the Lexington defense. They could only muster two shots on net before the first period ended 1-0.

In second and third period action, the Lions skated at least even with the Minutemen. They were unable to match the second goal Lexington picked up late in the second period.

The Lions had several good scoring opportunities by Billy Ferry, John Huebl, Steve Dionne, Steve Tucci and Tim Casey. Time after time the Lions were denied as the Lexington defense closed in to block shots and passes.

Lexington is currently holding down first place in the Middlesex League.

Women's PhysEd Class To Begin

Beginning next Monday at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Gerlinda Boyack will lead a women's physical fitness class taking women through a variety of exercises designed to improve overall fitness and trim "certain areas."

Mrs. Boyack has experience teaching at the YMCA and teaches many after-school classes for boys and girls as a part of the community school enrichment program. Her adult classes last for one hour. During initial classes, she explains her philosophy behind certain types of exercises.

For those who cannot attend Monday evenings, there will also be a morning class at 9:30. Some may also wish to attend both sessions.

Classes will be held in the Ambrose School gymnasium. For further information contact Mrs. Sandy Thompson at 48 Somerset rd.

—Your best fire extinguisher in the yard is your garden hose. But, water taps are sometimes too close to the house to allow their use in an emergency. Be sure you have at least one water tap well away from all buildings. Your emergency hose should be a good quality rubber, not plastic.

20 MPG IN A LUXURY CAR? THAT'S BMW.
Can one of the best cars in the world actually be economical to operate? It can if it's a 3-liter BMW from Germany's famed Bavarian Motor Works. Motor Trend Magazine, November 1973, says "BMW is unexcelled among the world's automobiles. And what other car can deliver 17 mpg at a steady 80 mph—with automatic. And an amazing 20 mpg with stick shift!" And of course you get even better mileage at lower speeds. Test-drive the 3-liter BMW at your dealer's now.
BMW has a complete line of 3-liter, four-door sedans and sports coupes from $8,145 to $12,034. Also 2-liter and fuel injected 2-liter models from $4,798 to $5,633.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MOTORING PUBLIC
The news about the energy crisis and possible fuel shortages concerns us all, so I want to share a few meaningful facts that could prove of real importance to you personally.
...OUR LARGEST DISCOUNTS EVER are now being offered on the latest, most advanced Buicks—particularly the Electras, Riverias, Estate Wagons and LeSabres.
These models have recently been substantially increased in price by General Motors... however, Smly Buick offers for your consideration NOW an excellent selection of the above mentioned models at the old price, plus the most generous savings in our 17 year history!
Because today we are all required to reduce driving speeds and asked to limit the use of our cars, consider these facts:
THE BUICK ELECTRA AVERAGED 18.3 MILES PER GALLON ... THE LESABRE AVERAGED 18.9 MILES PER GALLON. During a very recent 2,611 mile drive from San Diego to Washington, D.C. (Sanctioned by the United States Auto Club).
Astounding — Yes, But True!
Based on these figures AN ELECTRA WILL TRAVEL 475 MILES AND A LESABRE ALMOST 500 MILES ON A FULL TANK OF REGULAR GASOLINE.
Compare this to a SUB COMPACT AVERAGING 25 MILES PER GALLON WITH A STANDARD 11 GALLON TANK THAT WILL ONLY TRAVEL 275 MILES USING EVERY DROP OF FUEL.
Another important thought and fact to consider when essential driving is necessary and gas stations are closed!
Net Result to You Who Take Advantage of This Sale:
BIG CAR SAFETY — RELIABILITY — COMFORT
WITH EXTRAORDINARY FUEL CONSERVING ADVANTAGES
I think that, in reflection, you will agree this is a most unusual opportunity. You are, therefore, urged to consider our special offer in big savings NOW... don't wait 9 or 10 weeks till Spring as prices then will surely be considerably higher!!!
Very Sincerely,
W.J. Smly
SMYLY BUICK, INC.
FINAL FACT
The government's statistics show that the probability of being killed is 3 times greater in a small car involved in an accident than in a large car.
P.S. Our mid-sized Buick Century and our compact Buick Apollo averaged slightly over 20 miles per gallon during the same test!!!

1st Congregational Church Involved In Outreach Work

The First Congregational Church of Winchester is a member of the Cooperative Metropolitan Ministries, a Greater Boston organization dedicated to improving the quality of life in the inner city. The ministries group uses the resources of its member churches and temples to sponsor the rehabilitation of housing in Boston's South End.

Through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Worcester Street Trust, CMM has closed a loan of $570,000 with the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency to rehabilitate 31 apartments for low and moderate income people.

Interior demolition work has been finished and the buildings are now well into the construction stage.

From its 45 member churches and temples CMM has gathered together a group of professional people and technical experts to guide the housing rehabilitation program.

The rehabilitation plan is in Mrs. Schroeder Will Speak To Baptist Circle

St. Mary's Loses But Still In First

St. Catherine's of Norwood handed St. Mary's CYO hockey team its first regular season loss in two years Sunday by a score of 2-0.

The loss leaves St. Mary's still clinging to first place, but only two points out of third in the CYO League tight American Division race.

Norwood outshot St. Mary's 33-17 and held an even wider territorial edge. Goalkeeper Cliff Falla came up with 31 saves in a game that was 1-0 until Norwood scored the clincher late in the third period.

Norwood's win was their first over St. Mary's in three and a half seasons.

First place position will be at stake Sunday when St. Mary's faces third place Allston. The Allston team has won four consecutive games. Game time is 8:30 a.m. at Boston College.

Sachems Shade Lexington, 42-40

For the first time in many years a Winchester hoop team has been able to defeat a Lexington basketball team. This feat was accomplished Tuesday night by 42-40 when Co-captain Tim Porter caged the ball with just six seconds left on the clock.

The Sachems spurred to a big first period lead of 16-6 and seemed well on their way to a handy victory. Early in the second period the Minutemen scored 10 straight points in less than three minutes, but three hoops by Winchester kept them ahead, and it was 25-20 at the buzzer. The home team caged the ball as the final second was ticked off. It was ruled as no basket.

The third period found the Sachem shooters ice cold. They missed no less than seven shots from under the basket. Once again the home team tallied four straight baskets for a 28-25 lead. A basket and one foul shot by Sandy Bigelow knotted the score at 28-28. A minute later he picked up two foul shots for a 30-28 lead.

Captain Phelan of the Minutemen came through for a deadlocking basket only 20 seconds later. Each team added another basket. With 40 seconds left Lexington moved ahead by 34-32.

They increased it by two more points and the teams exchanged baskets until co-captain Mike Heffernan netted a set shot at the 4:29 mark for a 38-38 tie.

A goal tending call put Winchester ahead. Two foul shots with 1:02 left to play created another tie.

Lexington had trouble getting in close. After taking a time out, the ball went to Porter, who made sure of the winning shot. Nate Bittling played a major share in the victory by his strong play in the rebounding off boards at both ends. The game was a thriller and a well deserved victory for the scrappy Sachems, now 5-0 in the Middlesex League and overall show 7-0.

Distance Races Tire Winchester

By John F. Parrell

Wakefield's powerful track team paced by an awesome group of distance runners bested the Winchester High School Sachems by 53-33 in the battle of previously unbeaten teams in play last week.

The two-mile, mile and 1,000-yard events

Winchester High School tri-captain Mike Corf churns the water doing breast stroke during recent meet. He placed second.

found the Warriors chalking up 26 points for each Winchester point. Kevin Crowley moved back to the two mile and Meyer dropped down to the 1,000 but both turned in superior clockings.

Co-captain Tom Meahl's absence due to illness was a bad blow to Sachem hopes. The resulting juggling to compensate was to no avail. Winchester's first two places went to Andy Samoloff in the high jump and sophomore Rick Mauger in the 300.

Second places for the Sachems went to Chip Roche in the shotput, Pete Rigney in the 300, Dave Burns in the 600, and Paul Tonello in the dash. Paul had taken first in the three previous meets. Romeo of Wakefield edged him in a blanket finish.

The next meet will be Tuesday at the Lexington facility starting at 5:45 p.m. The opposition will be a strong Melrose team which has lost only to Wakefield.

The summary:

Two-mile run:	Crowley (WA), Hanson (WA), Hanson (WA), Constantino (WA).	Time: 9:32.9.
Shotput:	Bugli (WA), Roche (W), Polagaris (WA).	Distance: 48 ft. 3 1/2 in.
Hurdles:	Browne (WA), Sentimerites (WA), Harris (W).	Time: 6.1 sec.
Dash:	Romeo (WA), Tonello (W), Randalman (W).	Time: 5.4 sec.
300-yard dash:	Mauger (W), Rigney (W), Izzell (WA).	Time: 35.5 sec.
600 yard run:	Chrislo (WA), Burns (W), Cohen (WA).	Time: 1:18.2.
High Jump:	Samoloff (W), Miller (W), Cronin (W).	Height: 5 ft. 6 in.
1,000 yard run:	Meyer (WA), Doherty (WA), Lanigan (W).	Time: 2:22.
Mile Run:	Crocker (WA), Smith (WA), Haggerty (WA).	Time: 4:42.6.
Relay:	Won by Winchester

Swim Team Rolls Over Northeast, BC

Friday and Sunday the Winchester High School swim team completed its pre-season schedule by rolling over Northeast Regional, 53-30, and B.C. High School, 50-33.

The Sachems continued to show much strength in all 11 events as well as backup depth in order to capture the second and third places necessary for victory.

Winchester dominated in both meets by taking eight of 11 first and seven of 11 second places from Northeast, and seven of 11 first and second places against B.C. High. The individual races were much closer against B.C. High.

Going into the meet Friday against Northeast Regional, the Sachems held five of the pool records there; when they left, eight of the records were theirs.

Five new records were set and one tied, while two other records stayed intact.

The first three events of the meet found record breaking swimmers and the fourth event saw one tied. Winchester's medley relay team of John Parkhurst, Vinny Palumbo, Roy Palumbo, and Dan Holmes finished with a time of 1:57.7, eclipsing the old record by two seconds.

Steve Armstrong then broke the 200 yard freestyle record with a time of 2:06.3. Next, Vinny Palumbo bettered his own pool record in the 200 yard individual medley by two seconds, recording a 2:22.2.

Jim Frizell followed by tying another Sachem pool record held by Steve Blasi in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 25.2. The 100 yard butterfly record, previously held by former Sachem Jose Rivera was broken by John Henriques, also by two seconds, with a time of 1:02.7.

Finally, the last event of the day resulted in the Sachem 400 yard freestyle relay team of Jim Frizell, John Henriques, Steve Armstrong and Vinny Palumbo eclipsing the old mark by more than eight whole seconds, turning in a time of 3:48.8.

The two Sachem records that stayed intact were Steve Blasi's 100 yard backstroke and Vinny Palumbo's 100 yard breaststroke, both set last season.

The team's regular season will open today against Waltham High School, where the Sachems will be carrying the momentum of a great pre-season and the high hopes of continuing their string of victories for the rest of the year.

Country Club To Host Curlers

The Winchester Country Club will welcome members of 24 curling rinks from the United States and Canada today.

United States entries include the Country Club, Brae Burn, Canadian Club of Boston, Weston, Wellesley, Winchester, Nashua, N.H.; Ardsley, N.Y.; Hershey, Pa.; and North Shore, Ill. Nine rinks are coming from Canada.

Matches will begin tonight, continuing all day Friday and Saturday, and through Sunday, with the finals to be held at 1:30 p.m.

Two Winchester rinks will be entered. The first Winchester rink will be skipped by Dave Shean with Helen Shean, Bill Speers and Martha Speers. The second Winchester Rink will be skipped by George Whitten with Nat Whitten, Stan Neill and Priscilla Neill.

The alternate rink, winners of last year's second event, the Nelley Trophy, will have Dick Pettingell as Skip, with Peggy Pettingell, Ron Stillman and Marilyn Stillman. Besides the Farnsworth and Nelley Trophies, the rinks will be competing for the Barton Trophy.

Jim and Vivian Wilcox are chairmen of this year's Bonspie Committee, assisted by Dick and Stephanie Schmaeder, Gus and Nancy Wunder, Phil and Nancy Doherty, George and Loreta Redding, Mike and Flo MacKenzie, Wally and Mary Lou Williams, Wally and Rosemary Knutsen, Henry and Lucy Hunter, Bob and Grace Murray, Charlie and Marian Reeves, Mollie Lisberger, and Jim and Sue Scott.

Art Giannelli, Billy Shields Are Head Coaches

Arthur Giannelli and Billy Shields were elected recently for two-year terms as vice-presidents on the board of directors of the Winchester Pop Warner.

Also elected to two-year terms were Henry Peluso as treasurer, and as directors, Howard Goodrow, Fred Schultz, Betty Wilsack, Cuzzy Fiore and Joe Marrone.

The following were elected directors for one year: Tom Cafarella, Chuck Addelsberger and Jim Tedesco.

At a recent meeting in the library, Giannelli was elected head coach of the "A" team and Shields was elected head coach of the "B" team. Both were coaches of the "C" team this past season. Both also have been coaching in the program for the past five years.

Banquet plans have been finalized. The "C" teams banquet will be held Jan. 18 at the Sons of Italy Hall on Swanton street beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The "A" and "B" banquet will be held Feb. 15 at the Sons of Italy Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Toastmistress Club

First meeting of the New Year for Winchester Toastmistress Club is Monday, at 8 p.m. in the Suter Room of Epiphany Church, 70 Church St., presided over by Lois Hamilton, president, of Malden. Mrs. Carl E. Thomas of 52 Vine St. will be toastmistress.

Theme of the evening is "Microphone Magic" which will be developed in an hour's workshop led by Mrs. Preston S. Johnson of Melrose. Members will be practicing use of the microphone and tape recorder and while listening back to the taped talks will evaluate the results.

Several members will be attending the winter meeting of Council number three next Saturday, in Auburn at the Yankee Drummer Inn. At the morning meeting, a speed reading workshop will be presented.

International Toastmistress Club second vice-president Mrs. Hurley Briscoe of Norfolk, Virginia, will present the book reviews workshop.

Boys and girls participating in the fall drama workshops led by Paulett Taggart "follow the leader in sound and movement." A new drama workshop series will begin Jan. 16 at 3:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church.

Sun-Where-74 About To Begin

A New Year, a new series to be conducted by Paulett Taggart in association with the OM Theater Workshop, Boston, will begin this week at the Winchester Unitarian Church for boys and girls 10-14.

According to Ms. Taggart, "There seems little doubt that the children will adopt the theme of energy in view of the acceleration of the crisis."

As this new group explores energy with drama workshop techniques, "they can synthesize their discoveries with last year's theater piece Sun-Where-74 and offer an expanded Sun-Where-74 to spring audiences," she notes.

Sun-Where-73 was played in Metcalf Hall, Ambrose and Lincoln Schools and the Boston Center for the Arts.

Friends and families of participants in the improvisation process came to the final fall workshop conducted by Ms. Taggart recently. Assisting from the OM Theater Workshop was Judy Engle. From former Winchester workshops were Clare Dingwell, Ken Herrin, David O'Brien, Renee Vroman, Wendy Klug and Fred Scholl.

The Tuesday group of boys and girls under 10 years led off with "Follow the Leader in Sound and Movement" and the comical "Folding Chair Relay." To show the essence of drama they played tug o'war with a real rope, then with an imaginary rope, and finally with hand puppets in improvised conflicts of will.

Finally each became a human character - a lion tamer, a popcorn vendor, a policeman, identified by two masks, happy and unhappy. All entered an airplane (happy masks); were tossed and turned by stormy weather (unhappy masks); but eventually landed safely (happy masks) with cheers ending the scene.

The Wednesday group of young people from 10-14 years joined the younger group in a Yoga series used for warm-up exercise. Later the younger group retired to the audience.

The second group concentrated first on the sensory awareness exercises of ensemble space-shaping and play ball, in which an imaginary ball changes size and weight as it travels from one player to another. Next they demonstrated a demanding classical mime exercise: walking into (imaginary) water from toes to neck they showed the water gradually moving up the body and the resulting undulation basic to both water and body movement.

Using props and costumes pieces instead of the masks of the younger group they became characters - a magician, a flutist, a race horse trainer - all of whom became trapped in a defective elevator. Tension built until help arrived to free them.

Where they were, what was happening and how they felt were communicated with the aid of gibberish sounds but no words. Participating in this group were Kathy Annino, Sandra Farrar, Maria Fitzgerald, Dick Gardner, Brad Hobbs, Carrie Hosmer, Leah Russell and Ronald Schettino. For more information, contact, Paulett Taggart of 17 Ridgfield rd.

Max-Ed Includes Additional Courses

The Max-Ed program at Winchester High School is beginning its second semester.

The program provides an opportunity for students to take courses outside the school offered by various community agencies. This allows students to learn "by experiencing," says Diane Boettcher of the guidance office.

"So far this year the response to the existing program has been extremely favorable with new courses being added for the second semester," Mrs. Boettcher notes.

Courses being offered include police science I and II, fire science, elementary school aides, hospital work in pharmacy, physical therapy, lab and central service; plants and flowers, ecology, journalism, zoo seminar, travel agency work, library work, "You and Winchester," and individual projects designed by students.

For more information, contact Mrs. Boettcher in the guidance office before Jan. 23.

Barrucci Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barrucci of 162 Swanton St. are parents of their first child, a daughter, Lisa Maria, born Dec. 28 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emidio Barrucci of Woburn and Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Corby of 160 Swanton St.

Daylight Saving Causing Problem For Town Workers

unfavorable image for citizens and visitors, and make it unhealthy for occupants of the building.

Selectman recognized that maintaining a constant temperature throughout the building on all floors is impossible. Donnelly said when "the upper floors are just right" the "basement is cold and damp."

Giarrizzo wondered if "blocking off" short distances of radiation in rooms "which are extremely warm" might help the situation.

Donnelly said the heat is turned off in the building every morning at 10, the building retains heat and he doesn't see what else can be done "except turn off the boiler."

Parking Survey

Selectman Lawrence Smith and his daughter conducted a survey last Saturday morning following complaints to selectmen from residents disturbed by parking violations.

Smith, who said he wanted to see for himself the seriousness of the problem, was surprised to find 22 violations in an hour.

Smith and his daughter found three vehicles parked next to hydrants and other cars and trucks carelessly parked on grass and sidewalks in front of residences.

The streets included in the survey were: Cross street, Kenwin road, Highland avenue, Forest street, Mount Vernon street, Glen Garry, Curtis street, Allen road, Sherwood road, Sargent road, Stratford road, Fletcher road, Penn road, Oneida circle, Westland avenue, Seneca road, Cambridge street and Foxcroft road.

Saying he had license numbers of all violating vehicles, Smith suggested "strict enforcement of the by-laws" on parking or "rescind the law."

He said, "People seem to feel they can park anywhere. We should not relax just because it is winter."

Hockey Team Drops Pair 3-0 And 3-2

The Sachem hockey team of Winchester High School rebounded hard from its opening loss to the Woburn Tanners to chalk up three straight victories over Lexington, Belmont and Watertown in recent action.

But then came the blitzing by Burlington, followed by losses last week to Wakefield and Reading. Led by their sensational net minder, Parisi, the Warriors blanked Winchester 3-0. Reading scored a third period goal for a 3-2 victory last Saturday.

With a 3-4 slate at the start, and games with traditionally strong Stoneham and Melrose this week, Winchester figures to open the second half with a losing slate unless they stage an upset.

The Sachems must make full use of their latent ability. Defensive lapses and inconsistent position play have been the major forces which have cost the Sachems dearly in every one of their four setbacks to date.

If they continue as they have, the Spartans and the Raiders will be quick to capitalize. Playing at the top of their game for the entire 36 minutes the Sachems could shock either or both of the perennial tourney contenders. This happened once, in the 4-0 shutout of the Lexington Minutemen.

The Stoneham game was played last night. Melrose will be here Saturday. Face off for the game with the Henry Hughes coached sextet will be at 4 p.m. It is expected there will be a large turnout of fans for this week's big games.

The game with the Warriors found the visitors taking a one goal lead in the opening period. Melanson was the scorer with assists for Tucker and Tecce. There was no further scoring until the final period, although Wakefield had a territorial edge and kept Pete Frongillo in the Sachem nets on the alert.

Parisi in the goal at the opposite end was not tested too severely, but it was still anybody's game just before the midpoint of the third period.

At this point the Warriors netted another goal when Melanson passed to Donahue at 5:54. Winchester kept on battling. Fitzpatrick slipped the disc to Crocker, who drove it home from the side at a sharp angle.

The Reading game was played at the Woburn rink. In this one Winchester grabbed a one-goal lead after less than eight minutes of play. Charlie Evans drove it home with assists going to Tom Brennan and Mark Siegfried.

The Rockets tied the count just past the eight-minute mark of the second period with Hennigar scoring on assists from D. Brown and Melanson. The Sachems forged ahead again just before the 10-minute mark with Gerard Kivney converting on assists by Kevin Pierce and sophomore Don Allard.

Reading pressed the attack in the third session. Play was mostly at the Winchester end. The defense was not able to clear. Don Roy converted a pass from Kiley after less than a minute of play. The Rockets, sensing a victory, hemmed the Sachems in their own end.

Peter Frongillo made four saves in a row to thwart the threat, but with two Sachems crowded into the crease with him Pete was beaten for the winning tally by Buttery on assists from Kiley and Don Roy.

The summaries:
WAKEFIELD, 3, WINCHESTER 0
First period: Melanson (Tucker, Tecce) 6:04.
Second period: No scoring.
Third period: Donahue (Melanson) 5:54; Crocker (Fitzpatrick) 7:58.

READING, 3, WINCHESTER 2
First period: (W) Evans (Brennan, Siegfried) 7:34.
Second period: (R) Hennigar (D. Brown, Melanson) 8:17; (W) Kivney (Pierce, Allard) 9:57.
Third period: (R) Don Roy (Kiley) 0:51; (R) Buttery (Don Roy, Kiley) 8:51.

★ Warrant

expected to seal the warrant with their signatures.

The selectmen voted to delay the start of the actual annual town meeting until March 28 but at the same time voted to convene a special town meeting March 14 so funds can be appropriated for several purposes.

Funds voted at an annual meeting cannot be expended until after July 1. The special town meeting will act on appropriations for improvements to Leonard Pool (Park Commission), reconstruction of the town incinerator (Solid Waste Disposal Study Committee), funds for completing the new high school, said to be as high as $135,000 (Permanent Building Committee) and operating expenses for a charter commission (Town Government Study Committee).

Town Counsel Douglas Randall said $10,000 to $20,000 may be requested by TGSC, which automatically receives $7,000 from a community once creation of a commission is approved by the voters but may request additional funds to operate.

The voters in March will be asked to create a charter commission and elect nine commissioners.

Besides the merging of the Recreation Committee into the Park Commission and zoning changes for Winchester Hospital (reported elsewhere in this week's Star), the annual town meeting will act on the following articles:

—Planning Board recommendations for establishing by-laws on vision clearance and signs and zoning correction of property on Fernway.

—Water & Sewer Board request for funds for an engineering survey of all property west of Cambridge street for sewer study.

—Report of the Capital Improvement Planning Committee on its six-year budgeting program.

—Plans of the Architectural Review Committee to create a permanent architectural and design review commission.

—Enactment of a by-law to prohibit drinking of alcohol in public places.

—Appropriations to purchase land for conservation.

—Request to have the town pay 50 percent of its employees' health insurance.

Reason for the delay in the start of the actual annual town meeting (though the special meeting two weeks earlier means the town meeting members convene on the traditional date) is that the Finance Committee report is behind schedule.

"The processing of budgets is very seriously in arrears, primarily due to lack of impetus," Finance Chairman James B.L. Lane wrote in a letter to the selectmen.

"A discouraging number of same are six to eight weeks behind your published schedule. A few extra weeks will certainly permit more careful investigation and review of not only budgets but also the special articles."

Bloodmobile To Visit Jan. 23

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church, 34 Dix St., from 2 to 7 p.m. on Jan. 23. Anyone between the ages of 18-66 who is in good health and weighs over 110 pounds may give blood.

Seventeen-year-olds (with written parental consent) may also donate. A recent change in malaria regulations now allow persons to donate if three years have elapsed without additional episode and travelers from malarious areas are accepted six months after returning to this country.

Appointments may be made by calling the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross, 729-2300. Parental consent forms may be obtained at the Chapter House, 39 Church St.

Subsequent bloodmobile visits will be held throughout town. On Feb. 8 the Bloodmobile will visit the Red Cross Chapter House; March 30, Sons of Italy Hall; April 3, St. Eulalia's Church; May 13, Winchester High School; and June 13, St. Mary's Church.

Two Women From Winchester Involved

Expeditions Join Scientists And Amateurs In Worldwide Projects

By Arthur MacDonnell

Two young women living in Winchester have unusual jobs that have taken one to the Transvaal and the other on a trip to study stone configuration in Great Britain.

Marian Youngblood and Barbara Sleeper, who live at 8 Chestnut st., work for Educational Expeditions International (EEI) in Belmont. EEI is a non-profit organization that conducts research expeditions all over the world.

Ordinary people sign up for one of the jaunts, say to the Arun Valley in Nepal to collect data on wildlife. EEI sponsors scientists in field research projects and invites selected members of the general public to become participating research assistants on field investigations in anthropology, land and marine archaeology, astronomy, ecology, marine biology and geology.

For the privilege of being invited on one of these expeditions, the participants pay a fee which is used to underwrite the costs of the project. The Arun Valley expedition, for example, will cost $990. Air fare is extra.

Sleeper and Youngblood got involved with EEI last March. Miss Sleeper was graduated from the University of Washington in zoology and anthropology. She was a research assistant and manuscript editor there before becoming a full time staff coordinator at EEI.

Miss Youngblood is also a staff coordinator at the Belmont office. She heard of EEI through the Easterly family, whose permanent home is 8 Chestnut st.

Miss Youngblood heard of EEI while at a dinner party at the Easterlys attended by one of the founders of the organization.

"EEI is the kind of business that involves people who like to travel quite a bit and know how to deal with people. Just about every kind of person goes on the expeditions. I was asked if I would like to join. I had been writing for three years and wanted to do something more substantial."

She had been writing feature stories for magazines as well as working on a book, a project still in progress.

Dr. Harry Easterly is on a year's medical exchange program in Aberdeen, Scotland, Miss Youngblood's hometown. While the Easterlys live in Aberdeen, Sleeper and Youngblood live in their home.

As part of their duties in coordinating the expeditions, both women have gone on one expedition and expect to participate in others.

Sleeper went on the "Transvaal Fossil Man" 14-day expedition to South Africa last summer to survey the ape-man caves of the North Transvaal. Chief scientist on the project was Dr. Phillip Tobias of the University of Witwatersrand, who has had a working partnership with the U.S.B. Leakeys since 1959 and who acted as scientific adviser for the movie "2001."

Youngblood went on the "Megalithic Britain" tour in August which studied Stonehenge and other sites which had not previously been surveyed. "It was absolutely marvelous," she says of the experience.

"Many of them were only known by the locals. They had never been documented, never recorded, never measured." The project discovered sun-moon alignment similar to Stonehenge.

Gerald Hawkins, who wrote the book "Beyond Stonehenge," was the chief scientist on that expedition. Miss Youngblood will be returning to Britain this year to excavate the site of a stone circle in the Lakes District of England.

She explained a stone circle as a burial site surrounded by circles used for ritual ceremonies, thought to have been meeting places for the community.

The site of one in Cumberland will be studied. It is in a remote area "pretty untouched. We expect this stone circle will be intact and may have evidence important to archeologists."

Back in Belmont, the women, meanwhile, are making arrangements for many of EEI's other slated expeditions.

Sleeper says that when teams get ready to leave she gives them briefings on where they are going, conditions to expect, shows an expedition film and sees the groups off in New York. They participate in an orientation period she conducts during this pre-staging period in New York City prior to departure on international expeditions.

"I love it," she says. "It's fun. I get strange calls from all over the world." Newspapers telephone for information on certain projects and someone may call from Japan to sign up for a project. Tracking people down is another major part of her work. Often callers are looking for someone halfway around the world.

Then there is equipment to be packed, registered, insured and sent off for shipment. Sleeper also meets many persons coming into the office inquiring about project proposals.

Day Gets Ph.D.

William Day of 14 George rd. received a Ph.D. in health, physical education and recreation from Kent State University, Ohio, during the fall quarter.

Previously he received a bachelor of science degree from Springfield College and a master of arts degree from Kent State University.

Richard Shusta Earns Promotion

Richard J. Shusta of Pond street has been promoted to operations officer at the New England Merchants National Bank. He is a member of the equipment financing department of the credit and loan division of the bank.

Shusta attended Bentley College and joined the bank of 1962. He is a member of the National Assn. of Accountants and the American Institute of Banking.

Holding plumb line at excavation site in the Transvaal is Barbara Sleeper, one of two Winchester women involved in Educational Expeditions International, a Belmont organization which joins scientists and amateurs in scientific expeditions.

Statistics

"You never know what each day at the office will bring."

Part of her work involves writing to scientists asking if they will participate in projects, reviewing proposals and finding people who need funding. This latter work is under the center for Field Research, where she is a project consultant.

She also works on the National Exploration Scholarship Program, sponsored by the Robert Sterling Clark Foundation, the U.S. Office of Education, Office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Last year 77 students between the ages 14 and 21 were awarded participation scholarships on projects all over the world. In 1974, 100 to 125 scholarships will be made available.

Returning to Winchester was a "kind of a funny thing" for Miss Sleeper. She left the town nine months after she was born and moved back last July "out of curiosity."

Both women like the town. "It's quaint," Sleeper says. "It's away from the hustle and bustle of Boston."

"It's quiet and peaceful," Youngblood says, "as a country atmosphere."

Having been born and raised in Scotland was an important factor in EEI's interest in Youngblood. She was schooled there and graduated from St. Andrews University. She has lived in Germany, France, California and wrote for a newspaper in the Bahamas for two years. She coordinates the Britain trips; Sleeper the African anthropology and biology.

After leaving Winchester at the age of nine months, Sleeper lived in several eastern cities for 15 years. She spent the next 15 years on the west coast and returned to Winchester from Seattle.

EEI's interests begin with anthropology and end with volcanology. In between are such disciplines as astro-archaeology (megalithic Britain, Egyptian temple), astronomy (solar eclipse expedition in Mauritania), marine archaeology and biology and geology (Simien Mountains in Ethiopia).

A recent jaunt took 50 amateur and professional astronomers to Guanacaste, Costa Rica, to film an eclipse of the sun in an attempt to spot the comet Kohoutek. Led by Harvard University Prof. Donald H. Menzel, the group included high school students.

Citron, director of the Smithsonian Institution's center for the study of short-lived phenomena.

An article in The Independent Journal of San Francisco described the experiences of a group making the first survey of the Amaro Mountains of Southern Ethiopia. They became "separated from the main party on a reconnaissance mission, ran out of water and spent two torturous days hiking back to base camp."

"And, on all EEI expeditions, participants carried their own back-packs, built their own campsites, dug their own sanitary facilities and usually made do with the type of rations GIs try to forget."

"Yet, everyone survived—and most loved it. In fact, many participants indicated they'll sign up for more of the same."

Part of the reason participants would undergo such rough living appears to be the feeling they get from being part of a discovery.

As for the scientists who head the expeditions, they appear quite satisfied with the arrangement. "The scientists themselves are equally enthusiastic about the success of the joint ventures, noting that in the three-week field trips they can achieve as much as they normally would in more than a year," an article in Newsweek (Aug. 14, 1972) states.

"I would prefer one of these young people to a hired hand any day," declares Dr. Igor Loupekine of the University of Nairobi. "They have two hands, two eyes and two feet and an enthusiasm for what they are doing that makes up for their lack of experience."

Loupekine continued: "Anyone we hire for this work would lose interest or get tired by midday. But these students work until they drop." And Loupekine succinctly summed up the all-around advantages of the scientific safaris: "The students are happy because they have seen animals, good scenery. And we are glad for the opportunity to conduct research with someone else footing the bill."

Newsweek quoted one student: "One of the main attractions is the ability not only to view something natural and awe-inspiring such as a volcano, an eclipse or a ruin, but also to become in some way involved in the actual work of scientific research."

Tips for the woman traveller: stick to one color scheme; that way you can mix and match your clothing and get the maximum amount of variety. If you are going to take a suit, wear it on the plane or wear your heaviest clothing on the plane to cut down on the weight of your luggage. Miracle fabrics are what fit the bill: anything that can be tucked away and will not wrinkle will be just what you need to stay looking nice.

VNA Diamond Jubilee Meet Is Tomorrow

The Winchester Visiting Nurse Association will hold its 75th annual meeting tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Symmes Room of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Dr. Rosamond Murdock, director of school health, Division of Family Services, Dept. of Public Health for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will be guest speaker. Her topic will be school health.

The Visiting Nursing Association in Winchester provides complete nursing service. Its nurses staff the town's schools. They make home visits and provide public health assistance. This three-way program is unique in Massachusetts, says Mrs. Hugh McCarthy, president of the VNA.

Mrs. Joshua Coit founded the Winchester VNA in 1899 for the purpose of bringing home nursing care to local residents and to establish a school to train nurses.

In 1912 a "cottage hospital" was dedicated and opened in a still existent house between Washington and Lincoln streets.

On May 28, 1917, the VNA opened the present Winchester Hospital, reports Mrs. McCarthy.

In 1955, the VNA assumed the responsibility of school nursing in 1958, the Board of Health nursing services. The VNA board of directors number 39. Members have general charge and responsibility of running the association, along with providing a volunteer corps to assist the staff of six registered nurses.

Mrs. McCarthy will conduct the "Diamond Jubilee" meeting on the 11th. The public is invited "to this interesting and historic event," she says.

New Members

The Winchester Visiting Nurse Association luncheon was held at the Winchester Country Club, recently to honor four retiring members and welcome 12 new members.

Two Alarms

Woman Dies When Fire Sweeps House

A 69-year-old woman died in a two-alarm blaze in her home early Tuesday morning. Her body was pulled from the flaming house 45 minutes after the arrival of firefighters.

Mrs. Helen B. Nutter, of 3 Black Horse ter lived alone in the large three-story wooden structure which was nearly totally destroyed in the fire.

Firefighters said they were prevented from reaching Mrs. Nutter by the flames. They had received an unofficial report when they arrived at the burning house that there was a woman inside.

Mrs. Nutter was found in bed in a second floor bedroom with the blankets pulled over her head.

Mrs. Nutter was found by Woburn fire Lt. Robert MacDowell and Winchester fire Lt. Francis Welch. Pronounced dead at the scene, her body was taken to Lane Funeral Home.

Lt. MacDowell of the Woburn department said he climbed into the second floor bedroom window by way of a hand ladder and went to the area of the densest smoke. He said he felt the bed with his hands and found the victim.

The first alarm of fire came into the Police Department at 12:33 a.m. from a resident of Prospect street. A second alarm was sounded immediately after firefighters arrived at Black Horse terrace, which is a small dead-end street off Main street across from the old high school.

Firefighters reported the house was burning extensively when they arrived. Police officers broke down the front door. Fire Chief I. Francis Amico said he received a report that when firefighters entered the home there was a large hole burned in the floor.

Amico said cause of the blaze is unknown. It is being investigated by the state fire marshal.

Medford and Woburn engines helped the Winchester firefighters put out the blaze. Woburn rescue truck assisted at the scene.

The last Winchester fire fatality was recorded in 1968 when Mrs. Doris Bell, 53, of 71 Salisbury st. died in a blaze in her home, according to records supplied by the Winchester Fire Department.

Fire Chief Amico said smoke was heaviest on the second floor where Mrs. Nutter was found and flames greatest on the first floor. There was no determination made on the medical cause of Mrs. Nutter's death.

The fire chief said a stopped clock at 10:30 p.m. might indicate the start of trouble at the house.

There were four firefighters who received minor injuries.

Firefighters said they were hampered by ice and snow around the house. It is believed the fire began in the cellar.

Memorial services will be today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at the Winchester Unitarian Church. Relatives and friends are invited.

Mrs. Nutter (Helen Bates), was the wife of the late Winslow Nutter. She was the mother of Nancy DaSilva of Ossining, N.Y., and Charlotte Levey of Newton.

Mrs. Nutter was the sister of Harriet Patch and Richard Bates, both of Carlyle, and Edmund Bates of California. She was a longtime resident of Winchester.

Burning house on Black Horse terrace creates rivers of smoke as most of the structure is destroyed by early morning blaze.

18 Take Papers For Charter, 5 For Selectmen, 9 School

There is one week to go for persons to take out nomination papers for the March town election. So far:

-Eighteen persons have taken papers for election to the nine seats on a new charter commission.

-Five men, including the two incumbents, have taken papers for election to the Board of Selectmen.

-Nine persons have drawn papers at the town clerk's office for the two open seats this year on the School Committee.

-Election contests have developed for Planning Board, Constable, Park Commission and Board of Assessors.

As yet no contests have developed for six town meeting seats in Prec. 1 and four in Prec. 6, for Commissioner of Trust Funds, Water & Sewer Board, Library Trustee, Cemetery Commission and Moderator.

The names of all candidates who have taken papers may not necessarily appear on the ballot. Traditionally, some take papers and don't file them.

Selectman John J. Sullivan announced this week he will seek a third three-year term on the board. Several persons in recent years, including Sullivan, have broken with Winchester tradition and run for second terms on the Board of Selectmen.

Sullivan is thought to be the only person ever to seek a third term. Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar is seeking a second term on the board. The other three persons in that race are Eugene B. Rotondi, Walton C. Gagel and Michael R. Scotti.

The list of charter commission candidates contains many names of persons prominent in Winchester activities.

The following is the complete list (as of Tuesday afternoon) of persons who have taken nomination papers:

Corrections

The Star would like to correct several errors which appeared in last week's campaign coverage and a possible misleading impression created by a page 1 photo caption.

In the list of candidates for library trustee, the name of Michael Hager of 5 Emerson rd. was spelled Hayes. The correct name is Michael E. Hager.

It was also stated that there is one vacancy this year on the Board of Library Trustees. Actually there are three vacancies. (Two of the vacancies are the result of expired appointments.)

The correct name of the candidate for Cemetery Commissioner is Bradford J. Johnson of 16 Ardley pl., not Robert Johnson. About the page 1 photo of empty crates near the skating rink, U.S.A. manager Ralph Tedesco says the crates are empty flower boxes, are not the property of the rink or anyone connected with the rink and were not on the U.S.A. property.

MacDonald Has 5-Year 'Rolling' Post With Town

The Winchester School Committee and Superintendent of Schools William C. MacDonald have entered into a five-year employment contract, effective Sept. 1974, which "every year could be negotiated for another five years."

This action was announced Monday night by School Committee member Stephen Parkhurst who said the committee took on the agreement "with a great amount of enthusiasm."

Parkhurst referred to legislative action last year which offered an option to placing superintendents of schools on tenure. The Committee "is opposed to the concept of tenure and on this basis made the decision to execute the five-year contract," he said.

MacDonald, who voiced his pleasure with the contract, said he "shares the view of the School Committee and has publicly said so."

Mary Pronski, committee candidate, stood at the close of the regularly scheduled meeting to say she wanted to go on record as being "disappointed" that the committee was

Vacant TM Seats; Town Clerk Urges Residents To Run

Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson this week urged residents to take out papers for election to town meeting, particularly in Precincts 1 and 6, where there are too few candidates to fill the vacant seats.

Precincts 1 and 6 adjoin. They are located in the northern area of Winchester bounded by Governors ave., Swanton st. and Horn Pond Brook rd.

The other four precincts have sufficient numbers of candidates at this point to insure each one of the 11 seats vacant will be filled by election. In some of the precincts, in fact, there are even enough candidates to insure contests.

These figures, of course, could change over the next week. Candidates have until Jan. 24 to take out nomination papers and until Jan. 28 to return them.

Incumbents have until Jan. 21 to notify the town clerk of their intention to seek reelection.

Not all candidates who take out papers return them. A total of 10 valid signatures is required for a candidate to be certified for election.

As of Tuesday at 1 p.m., there were still six seats (five 3-year and one 1-year) awaiting candidates in Prec. 1. In Prec. 6, there were four 3-year seats for which there were no candidates.

Normally when town meeting seats go unfilled by election, meeting members in the precincts fill the slots by appointment.

Mrs. Nelson said some persons who take out papers won't return them because of a fear of losing.

'Penny Opera'

Mrs. Mears Sings Own Tune

"I object very strongly. Doggone it... our signature should mean something."

These words came from Mrs. Mary Mears of the Winchester School Committee as she objected to a plan proposed by committee member Stephen Parkhurst Monday night which would pave the way for payment of library books for the Winchester High School.

Payment of the books has been the subject of controversy for nine months. It began when the School Committee voted to pay for a portion of the books out of surplus funds in its 1972 operating budget. The Permanent Building Committee (PBC) had said it did not have funds in its contingency fund of $13 million for the high school to pay for books.

Town comptroller James Costello refused to authorize payment for the books on the belief they are not replacements and should be a capital expenditure; that bills for the high school, still technically under the charge of PBC, should be paid for by PBC and not the School Department; and that townspeople will not have an accurate picture of the total cost of the high school if the School Committee is allowed "to bury the costs" of the books in their budget.

Parkhurst's proposal, accepted by all on the committee except Mrs. Mears, would have the Finance Committee transfer $13,712 from the 1972 school budget to the town reserve fund which in turn would make funds available to PBC for payment of the books. The School Committee agreed that an unexpended balance in its 1973-74 budget would remain unexpended for future similar action.

In effect the transactions will be bookkeeping in nature. As Parkhurst explained "The net expense to taxpayers will be zero."

Parkhurst said the town comptroller "acted properly" in not paying the bills "under the theory they are a part of capital expenditure."

Committeemember Richard Pharo reiterated the "town controller acted properly" but noted "an argument could be made that he did not act properly," that the books "are not a capital creation of the library."

Pharo said he would accept the plan since "we are trying to expedite the situation and get the books paid for."

Committee chairman Harriet Dieterich said it wasn't good business to keep book publishers waiting for their money.

Mrs. Mears said, "I object very strongly and ask that it be recorded." Calling the episode "a penny opera" she said "I object to everyone in town trying to run the business of the School Committee. Doggone it... our signature should mean something."

Parkhurst and Pharo noted their sympathies with Mrs. Mears' stand. Pharo said, "The only way to get on with the job at the high school is to take action."

The Star contacted James Costello to ask if the plan was acceptable. Costello said he found no fault with the transaction and said he receives PBC authorization for payment of the books out of PBC funds he will pay the bills.

Obituaries

Francis M. McNamee

Francis M. McNamee of Stoneham, a former Winchester resident, died unexpectedly Jan. 11 at his home. He was a maintenance foreman for the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center, Wallham, and formerly was with the Mosler Safe Company of Boston.

Mr. McNamee was born 61 years ago in Boston, the son of Joseph and Veronica (Movel) McNamee. He attended Boston schools and served with the U. S. Navy during World War II at which time he was a shipfitter-first class.

A one-year resident of Stoneham, he lived in Winchester for 10 years.

He was a member of St. Mary's Church. Last Friday morning Rev. Mark Sheehan of that church celebrated a funeral mass in Mr. McNamee's memory. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery. Lane Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Survivors are his wife, Mildred R. (Hiley) McNamee; and three sons, Donald E. McNamee of Winchester, Francis M. McNamee of Stoneham and David R. McNamee of Arlington.

He is also survived by seven grandchildren, a brother, James McNamee of Ridgewood, N.J.; two sisters, Mrs. Rita Sebesta of Ringhampton, N.Y., and Mrs. Vera Thompson of Santa Fe, N.M.

Donations in his memory may be made to the charity of donor's choice.

Kenneth B. Park

Kenneth B. Park of Governors Island and Pompano Beach, Fla., formerly of Winchester, died unexpectedly. He had celebrated his 80th birthday Nov. 25.

Born in Winchester, Mr. Park was the son of the late John and Annie Park. He was graduated from Winchester High School and Lowell Technological Institute from which he received an honorary degree a few years ago.

He was president and founder of the Watson-Parks Co. of Boston and Andover, manufacturers of chemicals and textiles.

He lived in Wellesley for several years before moving to Florida 25 years ago.

He was a member of many civic and fraternal organizations in the Boston area. He held a 50-year membership in the William Parkman Masonic Lodge of Winchester.

He also was a member of the Engineers' Club of Boston, the Wellesley Hills Country Club and the Brae Burn Country Club of Auburndale. He was president of the Pine Grove Cemetery Assn. and a communicant at the Gifford, N.H., Community Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen E. Park of Gifford, N.H.; and Pompano Beach, two daughters, Mrs. Jane P. Morin of Manchester, N.H., and Mrs. Judith P. Coyne of Lacombe, N.H.; also four grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Howell Shepard of Derry, N.H.

Private funeral services were held in Gifford, N.H. with Rev. Floyd G. Kinsley, minister of the Gifford Community Church, officiating.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Gifford Community Church Building Fund, Gifford, N.H.

Snow Storms Pile 13 Inches; Most In Years

Highway Department crews this week were finishing the clean up of last week's snow storm which left Winchester deep in white for the first time in several years.

Assistant Superintendent of the Highway Department Edward Murphy said Tuesday his crews were hauling away the accumulated snow on north Main street. The right side of the street had already been cleared.

Murphy said he measured snow accumulation from last Wednesday's fall at 13 inches. (On the hill, it was 14 inches.) Thursday's snow fall was measured at 13 inches. (On the hill it was 14 inches.) Thursday's snow fall was measured at five inches, for a total of 13 inches.

Murphy said the department had no problems in fighting the storm. "We were very lucky everything worked out fine. The churches were ready Sunday and the schools ready Monday." As for the streets, "the whole town is black."

The snow fighting began last Wednesday at 10:15 a.m. when crews began plowing. The plowing continued throughout the day and night as the snow fell slowly but steadily. Crews kept ahead of any great accumulation for the most part.

"All hills and main drags were black-by this morning," Asst. Supt. Murphy said last Thursday. All schools and town parking lots had been plowed and sanded by 4 a.m. last Thursday, Murphy said.

Murphy had 21 men and seven trucks out plowing the sidewalks at the schools. School was called off on the third stormy day, Friday, because precipitation had turned to freezing rain, making travel treacherous.

Murphy, substituting for Supt. Robert G. O'Brien, who is ill, said there were no problems with the gasoline and diesel fuel supply. In fact, he said, supply problems have abated.

He keeps a record of fuel used and when the department's supply is down to half he reorders.

"Normally it takes two days" for a supplier to deliver.

Tip

—If you have an incinerator or outdoor fireplace, cover the flue with ¼" mesh spark arrester. Be sure door can be closed tightly. Clean space of flammable material at least 10' around incinerator.

—If you have a butane storage tank in the yard, be sure it is far enough away from buildings to allow access to shut-off valve if house is on fire.

Community Theatre Sets Two Meetings

The board of directors of the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., Children's Theatre will hold two planning and informational meetings next week.

The first will be Jan. 22 at 7:45 p.m. in the meeting room of the Winchester Public Library. The second meeting will be on Jan. 24 at 3:30 in the same place.

Children new to the Children's Theatre as well as veteran actors and actresses in the cast of Noah's Ark may attend either meeting.

A financial report of Noah's Ark will be presented. Plans for a spring production and staff members will be announced.

Selectmen Invite Public To Monday Hearing On Hospital Plan For Multi-Level Parking

The town counsel said this week that town meeting and the School Committee must rule on the use of 22 Highland ave. before the Board of Selectmen can turn the property over to Winchester Hospital for parking.

The Board of Selectmen heard this ruling Monday from Counsel Douglas Randall, who said since the property, taken by eminent domain, had been intended for expansion of Washington School and town meeting authorized its taking "for school purposes", then the selectmen cannot authorize its takeover by Winchester Hospital.

The selectmen, meanwhile, have sent 80 notices to various residents who have an interest in the hospital expansion informing them the Board of Selectmen will conduct a public hearing on the matter Monday (Jan. 21) at 8 p.m. at Town Hall in a room yet to be determined.

Secretary Edward F. Donnelly said residents on Highland avenue from Forest street to Alben street have been notified as well as residents of other nearby homes.

Selectman John J. Sullivan asked that residents of Orient ave. also be notified, "by police officers, hand delivering them if necessary."

The School Department does not need 22 Highland ave., an occupied house, because school population has leveled off.

Randall told the selectmen they can negotiate a five-year maximum lease according to law. The hospital wants to tear down the house and put in a ground level parking lot to serve its temporary needs during construction of a planned three-level garage. The Highland ave. site would then revert to the town.

In other action Monday, the selectmen asked the press to inform its readers they are looking for names of persons interested in serving on the volunteer boards and committees under their jurisdiction.

John F. Nash Jr., on the recommendation of Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, was voted by selectmen to become a member of the Winchester Fire Dept. call force. The 18-year-old, who lives at 39 Ledyard rd., is a 1973 Winchester High School graduate who attends Northeastern University. His appointment will take effect as soon as he passes a physical examination.

Robert O'Brien, superintendent of streets, was re-appointed to serve as local superintendent of insect pest control for another one-year term.

Sherman Saltmarsh, designee to the Advisory Board for the Mass. Bay Transportation Authority, on the recommendation of Selectmen, will be asked to continue in this position for another year.

Hospital Holding Special Meeting Tonight On Plans

Winchester Hospital officials will present details of its plans for a "multi-level parking facility" to residents of the area tonight at 8 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria.

A hospital official, who stressed plans are not final, said property owners in the area of the hospital on Highland avenue have been invited to attend the meeting.

Sketches of the proposed relocation of Maple road will be shown.

Serving The Community For 93 Years

Letters To The Editor

Town's Losing A Good Man

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Winchester is losing a good man. Rev. Michael Strah, for the last three years the minister of the Second Congregational Church, is leaving to become minister to the United Church of Christ in Bethel, Conn.

In the short time Mike has been here, he has influenced the attitudes of many of us about the vital issues of peace and war. A mild, gentle person, he has given courageous witness to the Gospels with special emphasis on the "Sermon on the Mount." With his help we have established in Winchester a community of people working to reflect for ourselves, for our families, friends and neighbors a commitment to peace.

Mike Strah's work in Winchester has not been without controversy. His outspoken criticism of the war in Vietnam, his high visibility at peace vigils and peace education activities, and his unrelenting effort to raise in this community the moral issues related to war, have made some people uncomfortable and have irritated and angered others. There are those who will be glad to see him leave. We, the members of the Winchester Peace Community, will miss him sorely.

On Sunday, Jan. 29 from 3 to 5 p.m. in McCarthy Hall, St. Eulalia's Church, there will be a reception for Mike and Joyce Strah, giving the people of Winchester an opportunity to express their appreciation to the Strahs for their contribution to this town.

The Peace Committee invites all those who have known the Strahs to come to say goodbye. We also extend a special invitation to those who might be interested in the work of the Peace Committee to come and get acquainted with us.

In honoring our friend, the best tribute we can pay him is to keep alive in Winchester a commitment to the work of peace.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I think we are fortunate indeed to have such an efficient police force in our town.

On Jan. 3, I had to call for the police ambulance because of an accident to my wife. They said they would be there at 8 a.m. and they were right on the dot.

The officers that made the call were William O'Neil and James Gallant. I cannot speak too highly of their obvious knowledge of a difficult job—moving a patient with a fracture.

They were courteous, very careful and they took all the necessary precautions.

May I say again we are fortunate to have such a well-trained organization with dedicated people.

Write For More Transportation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

There appeared recently a note in the Editor's Letter about bus service between Arlington and Winchester. I suggest we consider the possible importance of such a service to the people of Winchester and beyond.

I live on Penn road which is an easy walk to the corner of Church and High, where for years I could, and did, get a bus to go to Arlington and thence to Boston or to Winchester Center, the Highlands, Stoneham, even Wakefield fairly often, every half hour, in the really way-back days.

Then gradually fares went up, the number of passengers decreased, the route was shortened until it was discontinued entirely. Buses go from Arlington to Burlington and beyond on Rte. 3, but none now go even to the center.

How many people might visit the hospital by bus? How many workers from Winchester and other towns people who now have to drive or be driven, would go to work by bus if there were one? Maybe there would not be such a need for building expensive parking facilities by the hospital if more people could get there by bus.

If you feel as I do that Winchester needs more public transportation write to this address as given earlier in The Star: Martin P. McKeon, M.B.T.A. Office, 45 High st., Boston, Mass. 02110.

'Fatso' Charges At Other Birds

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

What little I have learned about the habits of birds has been picked up over a long lifetime of watching "my" birds behave the way they should or not.

I have my small-bird feeder on the south side of the house and the feeder for bigger birds on the east side. This keeps the different sizes separated and they do not interfere with each other.

I used to get pheasants here in my back yard, but that is a thing of the past. Also, I used to get huge flocks of hungry pigeons, but I solved that problem (or it solved itself). They do not bother to come around any more. I also solved the grey squirrel problem, which was an expensive nuisance. I say this last brag with my two fingers crossed.

On my small-bird feeder right at this mid-winter period: I get mostly pine siskins with an occasional gold finch now and then. At other times of the year, I get flocks of gold finches, purple finches, tufted titmice, red polls, etc. Occasionally I find lately that an English sparrow, whose wheelbase is a bit too long to allow it to sit straight on the perch will scrooch around sideways and gobble up the thistle seed intended for the little fellows. They are smart, these "English" gluttons!

Among the pine siskins and gold finches I notice that they are constantly on the move, one pushing the other off the perch and taking his place, only to be pushed off himself in turn one after the other so rapidly that no one bird can possibly monopolize the feeder for any length of time.

I find it is a different situation at the larger feeder. Here I get mostly sparrows and starlings with an occasional siskin from a piratical blue jay, who grabs a mouthful of sun flower seeds and ducks away again to sit on his own favorite perch not far away where he holds on with one hand while hammering away at the seed held in the other hand with the branch as an anvil.

I think most of my sparrows are of the so-called "English" sparrow variety, the descendants, I think, of those ubiquitous denizens of the streets in horse drawn carriage days. I am sure that there are other varieties but I am not sharp enough to distinguish them.

The sparrows, I find, seem able to tolerate one another, and they also seem to tolerate the starlings. At least, a whole mob of these birds will gather on the feeder so that there is standing-room only and gobble away as fast as they can, paying no mind to their neighbors.

Not so, however, when a certain song sparrow arrives on the scene. We call her "Fatso" she (or he) is so fat and round. Whether "it" is a he or a she, in these days of women's lib is more than I can tell, but it does have the streaked breast and the black stick-pin in the middle.

Male or female, however, makes no difference. It takes over the whole feeder for itself alone. It takes over the whole feeder, even though they were 10 to one. Fatso is not much bigger, only more aggressive and ferocious. If any of the other birds who keep coming to hang on the edge of the feeder so much as step into the floor, it rushes them, head down, wings hanging loose from its sides, and they never stay to try it out. They scatter and soon she has the place all to herself.

We have had this single solitary bird for some years now. Or we have had another one just like it. It never seems to have had a mate. Maybe she never married, or, another thought, maybe he sends his wife down to Florida for the winter while he looks after the old homestead all by himself. In all the times that we have had him, he never changed his tactics, nor his manners, as far as I can see.

I call this bird a single solitary bird because we frequently see him eating away, all by himself, long after all the other birds have gone for the day—sometimes at twilight, when you are left to wonder how he can see.

I wonder if "my" bird is just a wise guy or a bully, or if this is the way a true song sparrow should behave?

Bills Filed

Selectmen's Group Seeks To Tighten Control On Spending

The Massachusetts Selectmen's Association has filed a sheaf of bills in the legislature seeking to tighten the local grip on expenditures.

Among the bills is one which would allow a city council or a town meeting to delete any school expenditures or item increase which was over the budget for the preceding year. Such action, under the bill, would require a four-fifths vote of the town meeting and would take effect after acceptance by the voters at a municipal election.

In the same area of monetary control, a legislative amendment filed by the MSA would prevent any law being passed by the legislature which imposed added costs on cities and towns.

The bill would require that implementation of any bills requiring expenditures from local governments be accepted by vote of the local authorities unless the law was enacted by a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature or unless funds have been provided by the state for covering costs.

A second version of the same bill would add to the prohibition any bills granting exemptions from local taxation and increasing pensions or retirement benefits of local employees. These also would not go into effect until local authorities or town meetings had accepted their provisions.

Hopedale Selectman Richard T. Moore, chairman of the MSA legislative committee, stated that both of these bills received wide support at the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association Convention at Hyannis this fall.

The heavy financial pressure on towns and cities of legislative changes that require local funding was deplored by local officials. "In some cases," Moore said, "even where state funding for a mandatory program is promised by the legislature, such funds have not been forthcoming. This leaves local taxpayers bearing the burden of cost for programs at the local level that they have not approved."

The major thrust of the convention dealt with providing lobbying strength at the legislature to present the local point of view, which is heavily against state ordered, but not state funded, expenditures.

Two of the bills filed by the MSA allow for the inclusion in the following year's budget of any unpaid amounts owed towns for reimbursement for state-owned lands within their boundaries or for career incentive salary increases for policemen.

To date, the legislature has never funded the Quinn bill, which offers salary increments to police officers who earn college credits toward a degree. The hard-fought police and fire chief salary ratio bill, passed last year, which sets the chiefs' salaries at almost double that of a patrolman or firefighter in an individual town, would also become a local option rather than a mandatory piece of legislation under the provisions of one of the MSA bills.

The bill, however, would not affect those towns which have already begun paying the higher salary to their chiefs before a local option provision is adopted.

Cutting the amount of time in which a subdivision plan shall govern land use to three years after its approval by a planning board, protection from damage suits of municipal officials acting in official capacities, a provision for filling vacancies on boards and committees in cities and towns are all among the items considered in the MSA bills, which were filed for the association by Sen. John Bullock (D-Arlington), Rep. George Woods (R-Franklin), Robert Vigneau (D-Burlington) and three representatives.

Letter From The Editor

What A Library Trustee Does

With so few running for library trustee (three as of Tuesday afternoon) I thought it might be fun to find out what it is a library trustee does and maybe in the process get someone interested in seeking one of the three seats to be filled this year.

I had always imagined a library trustee as an old man with a small mouth wearing prince nez sitting around a table with a couple of old women wearing prince nez and all of them scrupulously going over every book intended for the library shelves.

As usual, reality and fantasy differed. Edward F. O'Connell, chairman of the board of library trustees, informs me that the members "set the policy, my friend."

In other words, they determine the general guidelines for the library and leave its day-to-day operation to the library staff. The board also "relates to other town boards," O'Connell says. By this he means the trustees communicate with the Personnel Board, for example, about raising the salary of research assistant, with the Board of Selectmen over janitors objecting to working on Sundays and with the Finance Committee on many matters.

The board, though, is an independently elected body responsible to the voters. It does have the responsibility of managing funds left to the library in trust. "They allow us to do little things we want to do but can't within the exigencies of the town budget," O'Connell says.

The trustees decide to close Fridays and open Sundays and whether to request the town meeting for air conditioning funds (not this year).

It seems that the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority is called MBTA only by newcomers to Massachusetts and those closely involved with its operation. The "T," as it likes to be called, conducted an expensive public relations campaign a couple of years ago to convince us all to call the system "The T," but no one does.

Just about everyone who lives within the area served by its buses and trolleys still calls it the good old MTA. After all, how would that song sound if it went, "Get Charley off the MBTA?"

Speaking of names reminds me that though the School Committee tried very hard to get us to call the old high school McCall Junior High School just about everyone still calls it the old high school.

The new name of the old McCall School, for some reason, caught on though not quite in its intended form. Officially it's the Lincoln School. Around town, though, it's the New Lincoln. And the discarded old Lincoln School (which doesn't have a new name) is, naturally enough, the Old Lincoln around town. All of which will cause some people to yawn.

I asked a member of the Finance Committee the other night if I could have a copy of her report on the future of Winchester Center done for the Planning Board by a private consulting firm. (She was head of the subcommittee looking into the Planning budget.)

"No," she snapped. "You'll have to get that from Mr. Schaefer (Planning Chairman Otto Schaefer). Big secret! My heavens, you'd think we were dealing in the Watergate tapes the attitude some town officials have toward reports. I'll get a copy of the report, you can be sure of that."

The Historical Commission would like everyone to know that its second historical map of Winchester may be purchased at the Winchester Trust, Bixby & Northrup, Ann Blackham Realtors, Winchester National Bank and Winchester Cooperative Bank.

One local wit suggests that Winchester could help cut the consumption of gasoline by residents by allowing the licensing of a package store. That way people wouldn't have to travel so frequently to Woburn and Medford.

If someone asked me what the three things the average Winchester resident has on his mind at the moment I would say, first, that he feels the oil "crisis" has been contrived to boost prices; second, he feels very concerned, and resentful, about inflation; and third, he is disgusted with the deterioration of television programming.

The oil "crisis" by the way appears to have been overblown, according to the latest accounts. Overblown? Coincidence of coincidence! Now that prices have gone up, Congress is threatening action, even nationalization of the oil industry, and the oil companies have broken the back of environmentalists (Alaskan pipeline approval, among other projects), then suddenly we discover there hasn't been an oil shortage all along!

This fuel shortage, along with inflation, appears to be a subject both conservative and liberals deplore and suspect of being the result of inner workings at oak paneled penthouses in New York.

Television I am no authority on. In the 15 years or so I have been watching it, every year seems to have become worse than the one before. Which probably says more about me than television.

The resignation of Harry Chadwick as Winchester's sole representative in the state legislature recently brought forth the names of three persons interested in occupying the Republican legislator's seat: Democrats Ken Trevett and Sam Rotondi and Republican Whip Saltmarsh.

Now another Republican has come forth to express an interest in the position. He is Dominic P. Ograttas of 216 Cross st. He is 31, Winchester educated, former assistant secretary to Gov. John Volpe for special services and a management consultant on real estate development, according to his resume.

The crucial date (Jan. 28) is coming up for candidates to submit their completed nomination papers to the town clerk. Some of the candidates will have become discouraged at the prospect of losing, others will think it doesn't look good for them to lose and so will drop out.

But there is nothing shameful about losing. Many candidates for a townwide office lose the first time out, win support, build a following and then go on in a subsequent election to pick up a seat. John Sullivan, after all, lost his first time out for selectman (by one vote).

Steve, a high school student acting as an elementary teacher aide at the Lincoln School through the Max-Ed program, accompanied Diane Boettcher, Max-Ed coordinator, as she addressed the School Committee this week and talked about new courses.

Steve said he found the Max-Ed program valuable because he felt his help "gave teachers an opportunity to work with slower students." Further, he said, "I've found this to be my most important course." He explained he had thought he'd like to be a teacher but "now I know I don't. Consequently, I've saved myself a lot of time and effort."

School Committee member Richard Pharo asked Mrs. Boettcher how courses were selected and if she was assured that courses were "learning experiences." As an example he pointed to a new course at the Stoneham Zoo. Is care taken that the student will learn about animals and their care rather than one of "throwing food?"

Mrs. Boettcher assured Pharo that care is taken to gain learning experiences for students. Vincent Larocco, high school principal, interjected the course had been drawn as one of "cleaning cages" but a course must have "more to it than the time serving or we'll say let's forget it."

Mrs. Meers said "a lot of vets started out cleaning animal cages." She added, "It's a really down-to-earth experience, even makes for better parents - like preparing one to change diapers."

Sports writer John Parrell thinks the school traffic women should carry some kind of light in the mornings for their own protection.

He said he saw one woman the other day with fluorescent mittens and that helped but was not enough protection, particularly in snow when visibility is cut.

I understand the group which is trying to raise money to help the family of hospitalized Officer William J. Gannon is going to start distributing tickets next week for a raffle to be conducted later this year.

The committee is going to ask representatives of Winchester clubs and organizations to attend a meeting next Tuesday so they can give raffle tickets to their members to sell.

The places where residents can buy the tickets will be announced later.

Some people have been wondering why so many Winchester police officers participated in the fighting of the fire on Black Horse terrace the other night. I don't have the answer. But maybe because they discovered the blaze they figured it was theirs - the same way the Fire Department feels when someone calls them for an ambulance. They send their rickety rescue truck instead of calling the Police Department to send their more adequately equipped ambulance.

The Boston Globe reported that last week's storm left more snow than any storm in 13 years. But in 1970 a single snow storm that lasted a couple of days left at least 20 inches in metropolitan Boston.

MARY LOUISE EUGLEY
For School Committee

Mrs. Eugley Is Candidate For Committee

Mary Louise Eugley of 43 Wildwood st. is a candidate for School Committee. She is from the Easton, Pa., area and a graduate of Centenary Junior College.

She is married to Jenness P. Eugley, an engineer, and is the mother of Gwendolyn and Alan Eugley, both graduates of the Winchester school system and college alumnae. Another daughter, Melissa, born in 1964, attends elementary school in Winchester.

A resident of Winchester for 17 years, she has been a member of the Girl Scout movement for over 25 years, serving as a day camp director of Camp Joy on South Border road and training many women to become Girl Scout leaders.

At present she is on the Mistick Side Girl Scout council board which serves Winchester.

Interest in youth work led her to participate actively in the church where she was a church school teacher, treasurer of the church school and Fellowship Director.

After being president of the Women's Association of the First Congregational Church, she was installed as the first president of Church Women United in Winchester. This group includes representation from nine Winchester churches.

As a board member of the Winchester Senior Service Corps, she is aware of the thoughts and needs of the older members of the community. She has been on the Parent Faculty Board of the Winchester High School and is currently a board member of the Wyman School Parents' Association. In this capacity she has had frequent contact with the School Committee.

She has always believed that when you find a good community you will also find the citizens interested and involved. She wants to spend all the time necessary to be sure that "the large investment made in our young people's future may be a wise one."

Mrs. Pronski Announces For School Committee

Mary G. Pronski, who has been attending School Committee meetings for six years, this week announced her candidacy for School Committee.

Mrs. Pronski is a graduate of the Winchester public school system. She is a graduate of Malden Hospital School of Nursing and is a registered nurse.

She has been active on the Lincoln School PTA executive board and has been serving as its treasurer, program chairman and is hospitality chairman.

She was an evaluation representative for Winchester High School, was a member of the Citizen Advisory Committee responsible for the administration and School Committee newsletter and was on the high school guidance committee.

Mrs. Pronski has been a town meeting member from Precinct 2 for many years. She was treasurer of the Little League Women's Auxiliary.

She is married and has three children in the Winchester public schools—one in the elementary grades, one in junior high school and the third in high school.

September of 1973 marked the start of the seventh year Mrs. Pronski has been attending the bi-monthly meetings of the Winchester School Committee.

MICHAEL SCOTTI
For Board of Selectmen

Mike Scotti Is Running For Selectmen Seat

Michael R. Scotti of 36 Foxcroft rd. has announced his candidacy for the Board of Selectmen.

Married with three children, Scotti has been a licensed insurance broker for 10 years. His business location is Scotti & Co., 7 Waterfield rd.

He was appointed by Gov. John A. Volpe to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Insurance Commissioner's Office, Boston. He is a director of the Metropolitan Bank & Trust Co., Melrose, and is a notary public.

Scotti is a member of the Winchester Rotary Club, Winchester Jaycees, Massachusetts Independent Insurance Agents Brokers Association, Sons of Italy, National Association of Independent Insurance Agents, The Bostonian Society, Old State House and Veteran Motor Car Club.

Scotti's hobbies include antique cars. He is the owner of a 1935 Chevrolet and 1930 Model A Ford.

Scotti is 31 years of age. His wife is Hester Hayes (Swain), a native of Winchester and member of St. Eulalia's Choir. The Scotti boys, John, 6, and Michael, 7, attend Ambrose Elementary School. Susan, 2, is the third Scotti child.

Cathy Fallon In Race For School Board

Catherine H. Fallon of 1 Chesterford ter. has entered her name in the race for School Committee.

"My candidacy is a logical extension of the past eight years during which I have been actively involved and interested in the problems and progress of the Winchester public schools," she said.

"As the mother of four children in the system, ranging from kindergarten to eighth grade, I am vitally concerned that Winchester maintain the highest possible quality of education that available dollars will allow in the immediate future."

"From personal observation and involvement, I recognize the challenges and the problems which confront a school committee member. I enjoy the decision-making process and I cannot think of any more useful service to perform for a community which has offered so much to me and my family."

Mrs. Fallon is a town meeting member from Precinct 6. From 1967 to the present she has served on the parent association boards of Noonan School and Lynch Junior High School. In 1970 and 1973 she was vice-president and president of the Noonan School Parents Association.

From 1967 to 1973 she served as a representative to the Community School Association, a group which provides liaison between parent groups, school committee and administration. She is presently a member of the general committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

In 1972 Mrs. Fallon was appointed by the School Committee as a member of the Selection committee to choose a principal for Lynch Junior High School. From 1972 to the present she has served on a committee assisting the School Committee in revising and editing existing policies and regulations.

From 1969 to 1972 Mrs. Fallon served as a member of the Winchester Advisory Council on Education and was instrumental in establishing the Winchester Resource Panel more than 100 citizens who willingly share their talents with Winchester's school children.

As an active member of the League of Women Voters of Winchester, Mrs. Fallon chaired a study for the education committee which resulted in the consolidation of pupil services in the Winchester public schools under a director of pupil services.

CATHERINE FALLON
For School Committee

She also helped to write a report which researched alternative building possibilities for local schools.

Presently Mrs. Fallon is a free lance reporter for The Winchester Star and The Woburn Daily Times. She proposed and edited the first standardized elementary school handbook in town and has been a publicist for various school, church, theater and musical events.

A cum laude graduate of Middlebury College, Vt., Mrs. Fallon majored in American literature and served as managing editor of the college newspaper. She has taken graduate courses in education and publishing at Ohio State University and New York University.

She worked as executive secretary to the president and vice-president of Hayden Publishing Co. in New York prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Fallon is married to William J. Fallon. They are the parents of James, 13, Patricia, 12, Paul, 7 and Robert, 6.

Revolutionary War Program Tonight

The Winchester Historical Society will present a program on the Revolutionary War tonight at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

Entitled, "Winchester vs. the British, 1775," the program will feature color slides by Dr. John McCauley who, accompanied by Mrs. McCauley, will focus on costumes worn during the Revolutionary War period.

Also a part of the program will be displays of full regalia worn and used by British regulars and Revolutionary arms. Frank Gauthier of the Newport Artillery and James Marchant of Mystic ave. will present the exhibits.

The public is invited.

Mrs. Smith To Lead New Course

Libraries, a community resource, will be the subject of an adult education course beginning Jan. 30 at 7:30 in the meeting room of the Winchester Public Library. There will be six class sessions each lasting one hour in this tuition free course.

Ann M. Smith, reference librarian, will teach the course which is designed to make all libraries more accessible to the average user.

A complete tour of the home library, including areas not normally open to the public and an explanation of library procedures will be followed by discussion and practice exercises on the card catalog, selected indexes and reference works. Instruction in the use of microfilm and other nonbook materials will also be provided.

Mrs. Smith offered this course in the fall of 1972; the 1974 version has been expanded to last six instead of four weeks and will involve class members in short practical projects in subject areas of their choice.

Registration will be handled by the Winchester Adult Education Program and will be announced in their flyers in late January. Class size will be limited to 20.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale

Junior, cadette and senior girl scouts of the Mistick Side Girl Scout Council will be out in force soliciting support of the girl scout program as the annual cookie sale starts Jan. 25.

Troops receive a bonus for every box they sell which is used for service projects, trips and camping. There is a bonus for the two junior troops, one cadette and one senior troop for selling the most boxes.

The council profit from the sale is used to offer a better scouting program for the girls, for maintenance of camp sites, and for wider opportunities for girls and adults.

Mrs. Roy Johnson is Winchester cookie manager.

Library Volunteers Needed For Winchester Schools; 'Buy Films,' Says Rudolph

By Pauline Dishmon

Though there are more than 100 parents of pupils, mostly mothers, who now serve as volunteers in Winchester's school libraries, more are needed, according to John I. Rudolph, director of library services.

Up to now, Rudolph says, the nine elementary school libraries have been staffed by volunteers who work in limited time segments every morning and afternoon that schools are in session. Volunteers may give as much or as little time as they are able, he notes.

Rudolph explains, volunteers check books in and out, make certain that overdue books are returned, help children make book selections and reshelve books, Rudolph says.

In addition, they meet periodically and work closely with school personnel to establish procedures and iron out problems, recruit new volunteers, and look to ways to encourage individuality at each of the schools.

Rudolph, who assumed his post last June, combining the former positions of coordinator of instructional aids and special programs and coordinator of instructional materials, held by the late Thomas A. Moore and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Sheeran, now on leave of absence, says he is encouraged by cooperation of local educators and parents and is looking forward "to exploring redirections."

He believes the "total use of a library" by students serves several important purposes. Besides offering an opportunity for learning and recreation, it teaches responsibility—returning that which is borrowed.

Rudolph points out that "very few books are lost in the course of a year" and attributes this to pupils learning library responsibility at an early age. He speaks of a cooperative program between the schools and the public library for fourth graders.

Rudolph has been working closely with principals of the schools over the past months to get feedback on weaknesses and strengths now at the schools.

In recent weeks, he says, they have been discussing capital outlay programs and are looking to avoid duplication of materials that are used only frequently.

In addressing the School Committee recently, he spoke of being an advocate of "paying a bit more for good equipment rather than buying cheesy" equipment which may not last.

Concerning films, Rudolph feels the purchase of certain selected films as opposed to continually renting them is another way of saving instead of "letting it (money) go down the drain."

He explains that during the past few years more than 10,000 films have been rented at $10 a film. Many of the films "have few changes and are in poor shape," he says. A review of the film situation will disclose that purchase of "certain films" which are not changing and used over and over again can save the town money.

Films cost from $125 to $700. At present they are rented from the Boston University Film Co-op and the Mass. Film Co-op of the Department of Education. "Films are heavily booked and are old and out-of-date," Rudolph says.

He speaks highly of the condition of equipment used in Winchester's schools and gives credit to David Frary, full-time communications specialist at the high school, who does repairs to all equipment and oversees the F.M. radio station and closed circuit television.

Before his arrival on the scene a year ago September "we waited months for repairs. He's terrific," Rudolph said speaking of Frary.

The supply of books and audio-visual equipment in Winchester is good, Rudolph says, noting it can be better. He speaks of catalogs at schools for ordering materials and a resource center at his office from which teachers can draw for classroom use.

He told the School Committee of his desire to publish a newsletter in the weeks ahead to remind teachers of "what's available" in the hope that "some excellent material not being used will be used."

School library volunteer Mary Steranka assists pupils on a geography question. Parents of pupils assist Winchester's

A graduate of Boston University, Rudolph holds a masters degree in media from Boston College.

For five years he worked for WNAC radio.

V-O Parents To Dine Oriental

A Chinese new year celebration will be sponsored by the Vinson-Owen Parents' Association on Thursday, Jan. 24, in the school auditorium.

The evening will feature a Chinese dinner catered by Pete Tse, whose sons, Barry, David and Robert, are students at Vinson-Owen. Tse is the owner of the China Moon Restaurant in Stoneham.

Co-chairwomen for the event are Mrs. Eric Benson of 59 Johnson rd. and Mrs. John Pierce of 53 Thornberry rd. Favors and decorations designed by Mrs. Richard Yamamoto of Carriage lane will provide oriental decor.

Tickets for the dinner must be purchased in advance and are available from the co-chairwomen and from Mrs. T. Brook Green of 17 Cox rd.

DAR Chapter Sets Musical Program

Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, 4 Curtis st., will be hostess to the members of the Committee of Safety Chapter DAR, on Monday. Dessert and coffee will be served at 1:30 p. m. by Mrs. Warren Hichborn and her social committee.

A varied musical program including show tunes and classical and sacred numbers has been prepared under the direction of Mrs. Ernest J. Wright, chapter Music committee chairman.

Vocal soloists will be Mrs. Cornelia Gordon and Mrs. Ernest Wright. Anne Blanchard, organist of the First Church of Christ Scientist, will accompany them on the piano.

Board Vote Limits Out-Of-State Travel

The Board of Selectmen, recently faced with the sticky job of preparing a budget for out of state travel, voted to seek $4,000 for that purpose.

The proposed budget will cover conference expenditures incurred by all departments of the town during the fiscal year ending in 1975.

After an hour long discussion the board voted to seek the $4,000 for travel outside the commonwealth, representing a cut of $3,152 from the original $7,152.

Selectman Vito Giarrizzo moved that the amount of $4,000 be approved, and that departments be limited to travel within the New England area. He said many large businesses and industries are cutting back travel. Giarrizzo's proposal will limit each department to between $350-$400 per year to cover conferences in the New England area.

Selectman Lawrence T. Smith asked town counsel why these requests could not be included in each department's individual budget. Counsel Douglas Randall replied that they can if clearly identified as out of state travel in the motion to accept the budget.

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly felt that an out of state budget under the control of the selectmen will be more uniformly administered.

Under the Smith proposal—individual travel budgets—each department would have to defend its expenditures at town meeting. Under the present system the selectmen defend all expenses at town meeting.

The following is a brief analysis of out of state travel requests for fiscal 1975 provided to the selectmen by Donnelly. Also listed is the expended figure for 1972. (The 1973 figures were not used because there was limited travel that year.)

Department	Expended 1972	Request 1975
Fire	$471	$ 690
Library	758	1,390
Water And Sewer	---	---
Board of Health	212	300
Comptroller	423	775
Data Processing	118	250
Treas.-Collector	279	500
Town Clerk	440	305
Police	582	860
Recreation	---	693
Highway	---	793
Exec. Sect.	502	596
TOTALS	3,785	7,152

Engineering department and the Board of retirement are also listed in the analysis but have failed to request funds in the past several years.

Each request from the various department heads included lengthy justifications for travel out of state.

A memorandum from Comptroller James Costello requested the selectmen treat each request individually instead of paying on a percentage basis method used in recent years.

He commented on increases in transportation fares: "The existing transportation limit of $150 was established in 1964 and the obvious increase in costs during the past 10 years dictates consideration of an increase in the limit."

Leila-Jane Roberts, Library Director, said of her request for $1,390: "It is accepted that those in professional positions can expect to be allowed to attend professional conferences at the expense of the town."

She ended her statement by observing that the School Department, "closest to the professional library staff," has an appropriation of $5,000 for out of state travel. "It is used for far more people than just the superintendent."

Executive Secretary Donnelly was asked how department heads would respond to the selectmen's cut. He indicated that the heads would be unhappy to hear that their traveling would be confined to New England. He also stated that they were unhappy with the percentage basis method used in the past few years.

Any decisions made also affect the possibility of Donnelly's attending conferences for the coming fiscal year.

Final approval of this budget item faces a vote of the annual town meeting in March.

Dr. Arbeene To Be Feted

Dr. George Norman Arbeene of 3 Vinson cir., national surgeon general of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, will be feted at a banquet on Feb. 16 in the Grand Ballroom of the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Arbeene, who is surgeon in George Dillboy Post 529 and the state department of Massachusetts VFW, was born in Boston, son of the late Norman and Ajea Arbeene.

A graduate of Somerville High School, where he was captain of the track team and selected an all-scholastic football player, he attended Tilton School in New Hampshire.

Later, he entered Tufts University where he continued with sports. His indoor running broad jump record of 23 feet, eight inches, remained unbroken for many years. He was elected class marshal and was graduated from Tufts in 1938. Subsequently he entered Tufts Medical School and was recipient of the C. V. Mosby prize in pediatrics.

While attending medical school he was a chemistry teacher at Somerville High Evening School for five years. After graduation from Tufts he interned at Chelsea Hospital and was commissioned lieutenant junior grade in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

He served on numerous landing crafts attached to the Seabees as a medical instructor. After discharge from the Navy, Arbeene was appointed to the staff and faculty of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as assistant to the medical director.

He was a visiting physician to the radiation laboratory, Chemical Warfare Service, Aeronautical Laboratory and the Manhattan Project (atom bomb development).

He became surgical assistant to Dr. George W. Morse, surgeon in chief of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and was appointed medical officer in charge of the medical department of the MIT army school training program.

After a two-year residency in surgery at the Brooke Hospital in Brookline, Arbeene was appointed surgical assistant to the surgeon-in-chief of the American Mutual Insurance Co., and chief of hand surgery at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Eligible to become a member of the American Board of Surgery, he decided instead to enter the practice of general and industrial medicine and practiced for over 20 years in Somerville. He was on the staff of 12 hospitals in the Greater Boston area.

Arbeene became interested in the VFW and joined the Dillboy Post in 1945 as post surgeon, a post he has held since then. He served as state surgeon for VFW for 16 terms and in 1957 was elected national surgeon general.

Active in community service, he was a member of the Boston Nursery for Blind Babies, founding member of the Boston Association for Retarded Children and director of the blood program for the Somerville Red Cross Chapter.

He is one of the founders of the Mystic Valley Citizens Against Pollution, including citizens from Winchester, and was elected to two terms as commodore of the Charles River Yacht Club.

He is employed by Raytheon Co., as manager of medical services at the Bedford and Spencer laboratories. He is married to the former Agnes Needham and is father of six children.

He is brother of Louis Arbeene of 4 Wellington rd., a Somerville High School teacher; and Leon Arbeene, retired lieutenant of the Somerville Fire Department, formerly of 550 Washington st.

Boynton Elected

Richard W. Boynton of 6 Fells rd. was elected treasurer of the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society for 1974 which has more than 105,000 members throughout the country. He is employed by AVCO in Lowell.

First Baby Of 1974: Julia, 6 Lb., 6 Oz.

Ten Winchester businesses sponsored a first baby of 1974 contest. Each donated a gift to honor a new year and a new baby.

They are: Winchester Co-operative Bank, Winchester National Bank, Winchester Savings, Winchester Trust, McCormack's Apothecary, Fitzgerald Fuel Co., Topsy Turvy, Ronton's Market, Hanlon's Shoe and Helen's Pastry Shoppe.

The Star thinks that if the winner could speak, she might have this to say:

Because I am a little girl, the donations of the Winchester stores to the new year's first

Panel Of Lawyers To Discuss Juries, State Sentencing

A panel of attorneys will discuss juries and sentencing in Massachusetts at the next open meeting of the League of Women Voters on Jan. 23, in the Public Library's Meeting Room. Coffee will be ready for members and guests at 7:15 p.m.

Attorney David Mortensen from Winchester will introduce the panel which includes a prosecutor from the District Attorney's office of Middlesex County.

Also present will be Scott Hirschbarger, assistant director of the Mass. Defenders, and former director of the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law.

The third panelist is Gordon Walker, an active trial lawyer associated with the firm of Hale and Dorr, and member of Boston University's Law School faculty.

Mrs. Roger Baumann, local chairman of the statewide league study of the administration of justice, will be moderator.

The league invites all Winchester residents to attend.

Trump Elected Board Chairman Of Lahey Clinic

John G. Trump of 9 Cambridge st. has been elected chairman of the board of trustees of the Lahey Clinic Foundation, Boston.

Trump, a Lahey trustee for the past 10 years, succeeds Robert C. Tyson of New York, recently deceased. Active in the affairs of the foundation, Trump serves on the executive committee and is chairman of the trustee research committee.

Professor of electrical engineering at MIT, Trump graduated from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and received a masters degree from Columbia and a doctor of science degree from MIT. He is a fellow of the American Physical Society, American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

He is a member of the New England Roentgen Ray Society and the American Radium Society. He received the Lamme Medal of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in 1961.

Technical Director of the High Voltage Engineering Corp. Trump is chairman of the board of the company.

Dr. Trump directs the high voltage research laboratory at MIT. He worked closely with Robert Van de Graff in the development and adaptation of high voltage equipment to provide X-ray therapy for the treatment of malignant and non-malignant disease.

The department of radiotherapy at Lahey Clinic has for many years collaborated with Trump and his laboratory in the treatment of patients.

Early Birds Bowling

In Early Bird bowling the Hawks team made a clean sweep starting the second half of the year winning all the honors. The Hawks include Rose Bezjian, Isabel Hart and Eleanor Bazylnski. They are in first place and scored high team game and high team 3 games with Isabel Hart earning the high individual game.

Recent activities with the Winchester Early Birds bowling league are reported as follows:

The Early Birds' six-week bowl-off prize day coincided with the annual Christmas gift swap. Every time a bowler made her first strike, she received a prize. The results of the bowl-off:

Eloise Kadesh, highest number of pins over her average for a single game; Joan Doyle, highest number of pins over her average for two games;

Gerry Lesperance, the most strikes.

For the week of Jan. 3: First place team, Thrushes, including Vi Vamgell, Bea Tonello, Ilene White.

Second place team, Chickadees including Mimi Burlnett, Lorraine Staniewicz, Jane Spencer.

Third place teams, Ravens, Cardinals and Hawks. The Ravens include Elaine Binding, Pat Corf, and Jackie Wert; Cardinals, Terry Dokas, Marilyn Kelley and Joan Morgiello; Hawks, Rose Bezjian, Isabel Hart and Eleanor Bazylnski.

Outstanding performances were as follows: Cynthia Kaylor, 199, 507 series; Terry Dokas, 197; and Angela Pollino, 521 series.

baby will have a pink linge to them.

Dr. John W. O'Grady delivered me on Jan. 7 at 11:58 a.m. My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Streeter (Mary McLaughlin), named me Julia Anne, after two of my great grandmothers. Julie is what everyone will call me. Nineteen inches tall, I weighed in at six pounds, six ounces, one day before I was supposed to. My hair is dark brown and my eyes are dark blue. My mother thinks they will change to brown, but they could go either way, since the members of my family have both brown and blue eyes.

I have a sister, Elizabeth Marie, two and a half, and a brother, Ben, 1.

My father is chief engineer for Analog Devices and Systems Corp. in Cambridge. My mother is a housewife who will soon have her hands full with the three of us. She has lived in Winchester all her life. My father is originally from Pennsylvania.

I see a lot of strange faces looking down at me. The one that comforts me most is my mother's. She has long blonde hair. She is always smiling at me. Since there was already a girl and a boy in my family, she had no real preference to my sex. I'm glad I'm a girl.

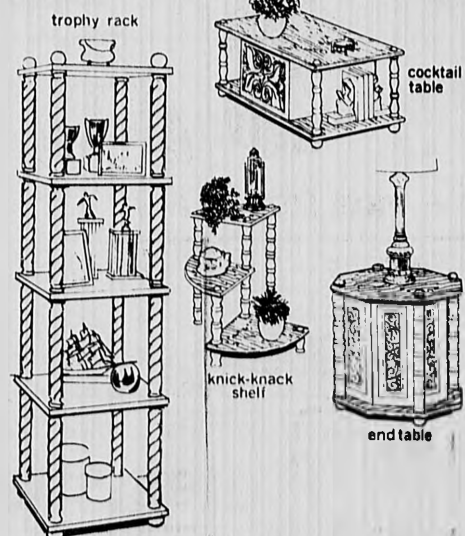

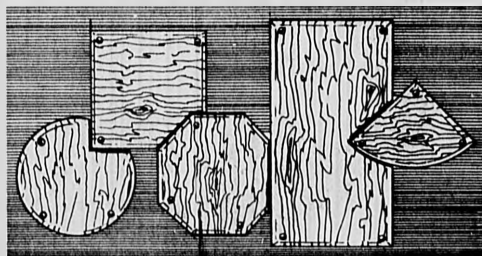

My grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McLaughlin of 66 Brookside ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Streeter of Knoxville, Pa.

I was discharged last Saturday, when I went home to 9 Russell rd., where my family has lived for the past two years.

Canadians Win Mixed Bonsel

The Riverside Curling Club from St. John's, New Brunswick, won the first event award, the Farnsworth Trophy, at the 17th annual invitational mixed bonsel Sunday at the Winchester Country Club.

The Riverside rink, skipped by Tom Foster, with Val Robinson, George Robinson and Mary Foster, defeated Winchester No. 2 in a close match decided only by the last rock.

Winchester No. 2 was skipped by George Whitten, with Priscilla Neill, Stan Neill and Nat Whitten. Mrs. Harold Farnsworth presented the trophy to Foster and his rink.

Jim Wilcox presented the second event award, the Neiley Trophy, to the Skip of Winchester No. 1, Dave Shean and his rink, Helen Shean, Bill Speers and Martha Speers. They defeated Brae Burn No. 2, skipped by Frank McDonough.

The third event, the Barton Trophy, was won by the Catarqui Curling Club from Kingston, Ontario, who defeated the Beaver rink from Moncton, New Brunswick.

Twenty-four rinks from the United States and Canada competed for the three trophies, playing three or more matches during the four day Bonsel.

The finalists were piped onto the ice by Scottish Bagpipers in the traditional manner. Mr. and Mrs. James Wilcox were co-chairman of the Bonsel.

Bob Wolfe On The Mend

Bob Wolfe of Prospect street, former all scholastic back for the Sachems and currently enrolled at the University of Massachusetts, has been on the sick list for the past three weeks. Home to spend the Christmas recess with his parents, Bob suffered a severe attack of appendicitis which required surgery.

He is now well on the road to recovery but may still face an operation on his knee which was injured during the past football season. A final decision will be made after examination by another consulting orthopedic surgeon.

Melrose Whips Sachem Sextet

By John F. Parrell

Coach Ted Kelley's Winchester High School hockey team dropped a hard fought game to the Red Raiders of Melrose at the USA rink last Saturday afternoon.

The final score was 3-1, marking the third consecutive defeat for Winchester in which the opposition tallied three goals.

The action was fast throughout the game, with Pete Frongillo of the Sachems and Jeff Ventola in the net for Melrose making some fine saves. Frongillo's were more difficult because his defensive cast had little success in clearing the puck out of their own zone. The Melrose crew stormed in for minutes at a time. Some untimely penalties did nothing to relieve the pressure.

Charlie Evans spent a large part of the game trying to dig the puck out of the corner, which threw his line out of balance. Since the defense seemed unable to cope with the clearing situation, it fell to the lot of the forwards to come to their aid.

This was not the usual swashbuckling, hard shooting type of team for which Melrose has long been noted. They skated well, but there were few signs of the high powered offense which has been the hallmark of Melrose hockey in the past.

It is a good sound sextet which may qualify for the state tourney, but unless it changes much for the better it will be hard pressed to win the Middlesex League championship. However, you never can tell a Henry Hughes coached team short and the season is only half over.

The visitors went right to work from the drop of the puck and the game was less than two minutes old before Mike Harris popped one past Frongillo. Action continued fast, but neither team could muster a goal until Dennis and Brian Hughes combined about nine minutes into the second session.

The Winchester goalie had some anxious moments early in the third period as the puck remained in the Sachem defensive zone. About the five minute mark, the Winchester offense started to move. Ventola turned aside dangerous shots by Tom Brennan and Charlie Evans.

Steve Murphy passed to Don Allard at the right of the Melrose net as the sophomore Sachem drove it cleanly into the net behind the surprised Ventola.

The Brennan, Siegfried, Evans line tested the Raider net minder for the next minute. When the Winchester defense sagged again the forwards were too leg weary to halt the Raider drive. This time Brian Hughes drove it home for the final tally.

The summary:
MELROSE 1 1 1 3
WINCHESTER 0 0 1 1

Score: 47-36

Swim Team Takes Fifth Win

The Winchester High School Swim Team won its fifth consecutive swim meet last Sunday when members opposed Waltham High School Swim Team at the Waltham Boys Club. The Score was Winchester 47, Waltham 36.

According to Winchester coach Vincent Palumbo, "the score was not as close as one might think." Knowing Waltham's weaknesses, Palumbo said he "compensated by not swimming his aces in normal events." This, he said, made for a closer and more interesting meet.

Palumbo said he feels the key to an undefeated season lies in the meet against Weston on Jan. 25 at Weston Junior High Pool. "They are the toughest team in the conference," he said. "They have 23 straight wins under their belts. The team is trying to peak for this meet," Palumbo says.

Scoring for the Waltham meet:
1st, 200 yd., medley relay, Conley, Goodman, R. Palumbo, Holmes.

2nd, 200 yd., medley relay, Enge, Burns, Minutoli, Vickroy.

3rd, 200 yd., medley relay, Karp, Hines, Bradley, Fichera.

Bruce McKenna Is Key Yale Player

Bruce McKenna, son of Mrs. Dorothy McKenna of 33 Allen rd. and a sophomore guard on the Yale basketball team, has been a key player for the Elis so far this season.

The 6-2, 170-pounder has started several games in the backcourt and is averaging 6.6 per outing. His best effort was 15 points in the Bulldogs' 102-92 victory over Holy Cross. It was Yale's first win of the season and its first over the Crusaders since 1967. McKenna also tallied 14 in a losing effort against Fordham. Yale's record is 4-7 and 2-1 in the Ivy League.

The former Boston College High School standout was the second leading scorer on last year's 20-1 freshman squad with a 13.6 average. He hit for 25 points against Connecticut and 24 against Southern Connecticut as well as 23 on two other occasions.

McKenna has played in all 11 varsity contests this season. "Bruce has had some good games and some bad," says coach Joe Vancisin, who picked up his 20th career victory at Cornell recently. "He really can go to the hoop, but he's got to learn when to run the fast break and when to slow it down. He's just a sophomore and will improve with more game experience. He's made a lot of progress already."

McKenna was an honorable mention All-State pick at Boston College High. He is majoring in English at Yale and plans a writing career.

Squirt Lions, 10, Trounce Waltham, 1

The St. Eulalia Squirt Lions overwhelmed the Waltham entry in the Middlesex Squirt A Hockey League on Jan. 7 by a score of 10-1 at the Waltham Sports Arena.

Tim Casey and Billy Ferry registered hat tricks for the young Lions. Mark Deyab fired home a pair of goals.

The scoring was rounded out by single counters from the sticks of Greg Diffley and Steve Tuell. This hard-hitting contest featured respectable playmaking by Mark Garner and Larry Malda with strong two-way performances by Steve Dionne and Jim Kenny.

This Saturday evening at 7:10 the Squirt Lions will host Wakefield of the Wilmington Squirt League at the Winchester U.S.A. rink.

Sachems Now 8-0 On Court

By John F. Parrell

The basketballers of Winchester High School Coach Vandy French added the Watertown Red Raiders to their growing list of victims by taking a 56-51 decision at Watertown on Saturday.

This win gives Winchester 6-0 record in the Middlesex League and an 8-0 slate overall. Winchester shares first place in the Middlesex League with the Woburn Tanners. Should both teams win two games this week there would be a head-on confrontation for first place at the local gymnasium next Tuesday.

Playing on the old Watertown floor, and with wily Coach John Meyers on the bench, Winchester had its work cut out before pulling out a hard-earned triumph by a five-point margin.

The game was nip and tuck all the way with the lead changing hands frequently. The Sachems hit for seven first period hoops and the Raiders had five. The home team dropped in four foul shots for a final score of 14 for each team.

The second period was almost a carbon copy of the opener. The Sachems managed to drop through 13 points to 12 for the Raiders. This was good for a narrow half time lead of 27-26.

The third period found Watertown forced into more turnovers. Winchester's rebounding began to become more effective. Both teams were tight defensively and both capitalized on the foul shot opportunities.

The Sachems pulled away to a 43-38 margin which they preserved to the end by an even shooting 13 points for both teams in the final quarter.

Co-captain Mike Heffernan accounted for 19 points with four field goals and 11 out of a possible 16 from the foul line. Sandy Bigelow had 10. All other starters tossed in at least six points each.

Nate Biting had seven offensive rebounds and 17 off the defensive boards for a game total of 24. Co-captain Tim Porter and Sandy Bigelow chipped in with an even dozen.

The schedule calls for home games Tuesday with Stoneham, a good scoring and dangerous quintet, and Friday with the Reading Rockets.

The Sachems must be at their best if they are to stay in the unbeaten ranks until the crucial clash with the Tanners on the local court next Tuesday. Neither of these teams can be looked past by the local team.

Coach French puts it this way: "We intend to face each game as it comes, you can never take anybody for granted. Look what Burlington did to Wakefield. We won't start worrying about Woburn until they are next on the schedule."

Struggle

The summary:

WATERTOWN	14	12	17	9	52
WINCHESTER	7	13	12	13	45

The summary of the Watertown game:

WINCHESTER	14	13	16	13	56
WATERTOWN	14	12	12	13	51

The junior varsity team did not fare as well. They had an ice cold first quarter, 14-7. Although they played the Raider group even for the rest of the game, the seven-point margin held for a 52-45 defeat.

The Winchester scoring was well distributed with Steve Waite the leading point getter with 10. Ford of Watertown netted a dozen foul shots in 15 attempts, and added 5 points for a game total of 22.

Mites Outskate Melrose By 5-2

The Winchester Youth Hockey Mites downed Melrose 5 to 2 over the weekend in a game sparked by Scotty Stillman's two unassisted goals on the same shift while the team was short-handed.

Tony Maida got the Mites started midway through the first period when Scotty Binding passed to him about 20 feet out in front and Tony pulled the trigger on a perfect backhand.

Billy Eaton closed out the first period scoring as he took a great pass from Bobby Engel on the left side and slapped it in the right corner, a good position play.

After a scoreless second period the Mites came back with a big third period. Billy Eaton started it all off when he came down the right wing off an assist from Danny Sullivan and beat the goalie with a hard shot in the upper right hand corner.

The rest was all Scotty Stillman. Playing short-handed at the three-minute mark Scotty took charge.

First he intercepted a pass inside his own blue line and broke loose with an early fake and outskated everyone to pop it home. Scotty broke up the Melrose rush right after the face off and he was off again. Nobody could catch him and he put it in before the goalie could even set up. Two great efforts.

Playing well on defense were Andy Guleserian and Jimmy Coppins while Taxi Squaders Jon Smollen, Chuck Maida and Paul Ferrullo did well on offense along with Mike McCarthy and Ricky Parker.

Committee Accepts Playground Group

The School Committee recently accepted a list of names, including educators and parents, who will serve on a new playground committee. The names were presented by Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald.

Educators include George Flynn, principal at Washington School; Stephen Gorrie, teacher at Noonan School; Stephen Hood, physical education representative, division of instruction.

Parents include Mr. and Mrs. Lee Weller, Mrs. Allan Rodgers, Mrs. Robert Bairnsfather, Mrs. John Doherty and John Nunziato.

without the hustling efforts of Greg DeSilve and Justin Kermond and two-way play Ed Doherty and good passes by Jack Barret and Allen Garner. The Lions will take this team on tonight at USA.

Pee Wee Lions, 3, Edge Belmont, 2

St. Eulalia's pee wee Lions edged Belmont, 3-2, when they visited Belmont Jan. 7.

The Ashbee League has this big club with a 9-3-2 record as an opponent. The Lions paid no attention to that as they outskated and outshot the opposition in what was agreed as one of the outstanding performances of the year.

Positional play of the Lions was excellent with great poke checking by defensemen and back checking wings kept Belmont on their heels throughout the game. The Lions put on several exhibitions of puck control, on one occasion keeping the puck in Belmont's zone for almost an entire shift.

Talies by Scot Compton and Jack Collins with the tie breaker by Rich Arnold provided enough scoring to win the contest.

These goals would not have been possible

By Bridgette

At the end of the stormy Wednesday of the ninth, 11 tables braved the elements and enjoyed a cozy, single session as their reward. Grete and Harold Enge were the North-South winners by a wide margin, a real close run for second spot, however. In the East-West direction, Ruby White and Anne Murray took first place.

Did you reach the cold 7C contract? In actual play no one did; half the field were in 6C, making seven, the other choices being 6D, making six, and 5C, making 7. There are only 30 combined high-card points in the North-South hands, but the solid diamond suit and both shape and control in the hands make the grand slam air-right.

Little League Meeting Tonight

An open meeting of the Winchester Little League, Inc., will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church to discuss plans for the 1974 season. This will be the first meeting under the direction of the league's new officers. The public is invited.

Accidentally Overheard
The largest egg of any living animal, according to recent reports, is that of the whale shark. One egg case measured 12 inches by 5.5 inches by 3.5 inches. This was picked up in 1953 by a shrimp-trawler at a depth of 180 feet, in the Gulf of Mexico. Inside the egg was a perfect embryo of a whale shark 13.78 inches long. If this egg had not mistakenly been brought up, another live shark would be swimming in the Gulf of Mexico today!

Boots 'N' Blades Program Combines Hard Work, Fun

"Figure skating: hard work but fun too" was the theme of Boots 'N' Blades first 10-week session. Games, races and relays provided some of the fun during the final class, Jan. 5. "The results of the hard work were obvious," cited program director and professional, Joyce Winship, "For some 69 junior and senior enrollees earned ribbons during this term to attest to their recent efforts and new skills."

The children's hour long figure skating lessons began their second and final 1973-74 10-week session last on Jan. 12 at the U.S.A. Rink, Conant rd.

Short History

Produced in the Emme Valley near Zern, Switzerland, the original Swiss cheese's excellence can be judged by the clarity with which the fresh milk taste comes through the aging process. A wheel of Swiss Emmenthal weighs between 150 and 220 lbs. and requires at least a ton of milk to make. Emmenthal has a sweeter, nuttier taste than its imitators.

83-65 Margin Over Spartans

By John F. Parrell

The Stoneham Spartans came here Tuesday evening and went home on the short end of an 83-65 score.

This moves the Winchester High School record in the Middlesex League to 7-0 and their season's tally to 9-0. Reading will be here tomorrow night and then comes the head on clash with Woburn, currently tied for first place in the standings.

They play winless Belmont tomorrow and figure to have a much easier time than the Spartans will have against the Rockets. If both Winchester and Woburn enter the game with clear slates it will be the first time in the long history of the series. A capacity group of royal rooters is expected for this game. The crowd will surely set a record for the new gymnasium.

The win over the Spartans was gratifying because the visitors have been giving the Spartans a hard time for the past several seasons. They have had great height and sharp shooters. This year's group does not measure up to their usual standards.

After half the opening period had been played the Spartans showed in front by 7-4. Then came a string of good plays and shooting to build a comfortable first period margin of 17-6.

The visitors had not been playing good basketball with turnovers, missed passes and mediocre floor play counting heavily against them. During the second period and the first half of the third period Winchester's game slipped to the level of the Spartans.

Both teams chalked up 15 points during the second period. Stoneham closed the gap to within nine points early in the third quarter. With less than four minutes left in the period, co-captain Mike Heffernan and Wayne Dennis made consecutive steals and the Spartans piled up 15 points to eight for the visitors. The end of the third quarter found the Spartans comfortably in the van by 60-41.

Coch Vandy French substituted freely in the final period. The Spartans were in foul trouble as the lead continued to mount. It was 73-52 after three minutes of play. The reserves continued to exert pressure on the Spartans with the final score 83-65 in favor of the Spartans.

Bob Bernaby of Stoneham, top scorer of the game, netted 10 hoops and four free throws for a total of 24. Nate Bitting led the Winchester team with nine baskets and a pair of fouls for a total of 20 points.

He was also strong on defense as he pulled down no less than 15 rebounds. Co-captain Mike Heffernan chipped in with 19 points. Wayne Dennis scored 17. Balboni of the Spartans tossed in 15.

The summary:
WINCHESTER 17 15 28 23 83
STONEHAM 6 15 20 24 65

Jack Brennan Does Hat Trick

Jack Brennan, former Winchester High School hockey player, played a major role in Dartmouth's win over Princeton by a score of 10-1.

Referee Jack Garrity said Brennan was skating well and drove in three goals to make a hat trick for the Big Green.

Congregational Church Plans 134th Annual

The 134th annual meeting of the First Congregational Church of Winchester will be held Jan. 23 in Chidley Hall at 7:45 p.m.

The church was founded in 1840.

Light refreshments will be served as members gather for review and decisions affecting the mission of the church. Plans for the coming year will be received by the congregation. Of special interest will be projections by the Church Committee and the Priorities Task Force.

Over 130 men, women and youths are involved in planning committees. The 1974 budget will be studied and voted. Officers and committee personnel for 1974 will be presented and voted. Allen O. Eaton of 77 Arlington st. will be moderator for the annual meeting.

The Diaconate, officers and new members of the church standing committees will be installed at the morning worship service on Jan. 17.

On Jan. 27 in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. the clergy and laity from the Metropolitan Boston Association and the Winchester Ecumenical Assn. will participate in the installation of the minister of education. A reception for the Rev. and Mrs. George W. Easton will be held following Rev. Easton's installation.

Next Sunday from 2:30 to 5 p.m. there will be a teacher's workshop. Leaders for every age level will cover next semester's courses and introduce new Shalom materials.

Rev. Benedict Asks 'To Whom Shall We Go?'

On Sunday Rev. Dean Benedict, pastor of the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church, will preach on the topic "To Whom Shall We Go?" The service begins at 10:45 a.m.

Church school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. Junior high church school begins at 4 p.m. The senior high youth fellowship smorgasbord will be from 5 to 7:30.

At 7:30 p.m. next Sunday there will be a combined meeting of the trustees, the property committee and the executive board of the United Methodist Women.

On Jan. 23 there will be a bloodmobile at the church. Jan. 24 the UMW circle meetings will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Crawford Room and at 7:30 p.m. at Marie Farrar's, 12 Clematis st. for a Pound and Yard Party.

On Jan. 27 Rev. Landon Lindsay will be guest preacher for Human Relations Day.

Mothers Of Twins Meet January 28

The Founding Chapter of the Mass. Mothers of Twins Assn., Inc., in which Winchester residents hold membership, will meet Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. at the Pleasant Street Congregational Church, Arlington.

The program will include initiation of new members and a talk by Janet Bellizzi on being a twin and teaching twins.

For more information contact Mrs. Michael Patti of 72 Oak st.

Rehearsals For ICC Musical Revue On Now

Rehearsals for the musical revue, "On the Trail," at the Immaculate Conception Parish are now underway. Chorus rehearsals are held each Sunday afternoon at 2 in the school hall. Rev. William Cummings is show director.

Committee chairmen for the show are: secretary-treasurer, Mildred Paoletti; rehearsal, Mal Comita; publicity, Fran Bockhoff; photography, Anton Segota; scenery, Sr. Verona and Sr. Priscilla; stage, Sr. Patricia; props, Florence Capua; taping, Carl Hunt; transportation, Peter Capua; costumes, Julia White; sponsors, Mae Lawton; tickets, Mary Brown; program, Joan Segota; makeup, Ann Nowell; and usherettes, Camille Capriolo.

To help finance the show, a fund-raising campaign has begun. Candy and cake sales are being held along with a games party set for Jan. 25 at 8 p.m.

ICC Needs 8th Grade Teacher

The religious education office at the Immaculate Conception Parish reports needing an eighth grade teacher for classes meeting on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m. Substitute teachers are also desperately needed.

Baptismal preparation instructions are held Monday evenings at 7 in the school. Parents who want children to be baptized in the near future should send their children to the class.

The women of the parish are invited to spend a spiritual evening with the Woman's Sodality in the school hall at 7:45 p.m. Following a film, "The Gift of Life," there will be a mass and communion.

Awarded Citation

Manuel Rainha of 534 Washington st. was one of two people awarded a citation of humanities by the Salvation Army for his help to the victims of the Chelsea fire. Rainha, an instructor at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational High School, and his plumbing students helped move 60 tons of canned goods by hand for distribution among the homeless. They also assisted the Chelsea public works crews in protecting the city's water supply.

Inter-faith 'Values Clarification' Course Begins Jan. 29 At High School

The Winchester School Department and the Winchester School Committee, through the Inter-faith Education Committee, are sponsoring a "Values Clarification" course for four weeks beginning Jan. 29. Leaders for the program, to be held at 8 p.m., are Rev. Nicholas Spagnolo and Marilyn Franck. Rev. Spagnolo is director of the Espousal Conference Center in Waltham, a certified counselor, and a professor at Tufts University. Ms. Franck, who holds BS and BD degrees, is a pastoral counselor and human relations trainer. The courses will explore four questions: What is really worth my time, energy? How do I make decisions? Do some of my choices de-humanize? Can I improve the quality of my life? The courses are expected to offer an opportunity for personal growth, improvement of interpersonal communication and expansion of individual and group horizons. On Jan. 29 and Feb. 5 participants will explore transactional analysis through film and the techniques of Sidney Simon, Richard Reichert and others. On Feb. 12 and Feb. 26 participants will examine interaction between husbands and wives and parents and children from the perspective of transactional analysis. Transactional analysis is a popular counseling method introduced by Thomas Harris in his book "I'm O.K., You're O.K." and Eric Berne's "Games People Play." The method is felt to help people change their self-image, develop independence in making decisions and find more energy in order to enjoy life. For information on registration and the small fee involved, contact Mrs. Priscilla Baumann, 26 Everett ave. The fee is reduced through donations of ENKA, Rotary Club, Winchester Ecumenical Association and individual churches.

Bloodmobile To Visit

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Crawford Memorial Church, 34 Dix st., from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 23. Persons between the ages of 17-45 may give blood. Parental consent is needed for 17-year olds; consent forms may be obtained at the Red Cross Chapter House.

The Red Cross has issued the following guide for prospective blood donors.

Blood donors should eat a regular well-balanced meal — either breakfast, lunch or dinner — within four hours prior to donation. Do not attempt to donate with an empty stomach. Avoid fatty foods such as butter, cream, ice cream or eggs. Both men and women must weigh at least 110 pounds.

A recent change in malaria regulations now allows persons to donate if three years have elapsed "without additional episode" and travelers from malarious areas are accepted six months after returning to the United States.

Appointments may be made by calling the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross. Babysitting service will be provided between 3-5 p.m.

Adventists Services

"In Times Like These" series will be continued in the Friday evening services at 7:45 at the New England Memorial Church of Seventh-day Adventists, 5 Woodland rd., Stoneham. Professor John Wood will speak on "After the Age of Aquarius, What?"

The Saturday morning worship services will be held at 8:20 and 10:55. Arnold Swanson will speak. Sabbath school will begin at 9:30 a.m. Classes are for all ages.

Donahue In Cast

Timothy J. Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Donahue of 8 Allen rd., is a member of the cast of "Ah, Wilderness," a production by the Bowdoin College dramatics organization, Masque and Gown, to be selected for presentation at the New England regional festival of the American College Theatre Festival.

Temple Shalom

Friday, Jan. 18
Evening services begin at 8:15. The sermon will be "The Home Game."
Sabbath morning services will begin at 9. The junior congregation will meet at 10 a.m. Mincha starts at 5:25 p.m.

'Y' Features Stained Glass Window Course

The art of creating stained glass window hangings and other decorations will be taught by Barbara Koon at the Burlington Area YWCA.

She has been fashioning delicate stained glass items for many years. The Tiffany method of copper foiling Barbara teaches is used to create a three dimensional work of art. Mrs. Koon's classes are Thursday mornings, 9:30 - 11:30. Nursery is available for pre-schoolers. For further information contact the Burlington YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd.

Real Estate Today

By Realtor A.R. DeVellis

PRICE RISE DECEIVING

The average price of new homes has risen appreciably year after year. Does this mean that the home-buying dollar has shrunk by the same percentage? Not by a longshot! The new home buyer today gets a lot more for his buying dollar than ever before. For example, the median single home price increased some 50 percent between 1963 and 1970, but during that same period, average square footage rose from 1,385 to 1,600 feet and the number of bathrooms rose from 1.6 to 2.

The story in appliances is similar. Forty percent more houses were air-conditioned in 1970 against only 19 percent in 1963.

Ninety percent were sold with a range compared to 79 percent in 1963, and the increase in dishwashers climbed from 26 percent to 60 percent. Not only are home buyers getting more house for their money, but current re-sale values will prove that they're not making such a sacrifice after all.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

Variety Store
Robbed Of $70

McDonald Variety Store, 105 Cross st., was robbed of $70 Saturday night by a thief who emptied the cash register while the proprietor was out back.

Owner Malcolm McDonald told the police he heard the cash register ring and went out front to see a slim young man with a beard leaving.

The young man, described as having long dark hair, fled in a green Pontiac. This was the third time McDonald's has been robbed in a year.

In other police action in the last week, town custodian Francis Muraco, 61, of 8 Irving st., was released from Winchester Hospital Monday with back and neck injuries received in a crash Thursday night.

A police report on the accident indicated that a car was passing a town plow on Washington st. near Swanton st. and a car driven by a Medford man in the other direction swerved to avoid the vehicle, striking Muraco's car, which was parked.

The Police Department said it did not know the identity of the driver of the first car.

There were numerous other accidents reported throughout town last Wednesday and Thursday during the snowy weather, particularly on Johnson road where there was a head-on collision. There were no reports of injuries.

The police received a report last Thursday that a snowblower was stolen from a garage at 14 Cabot st.; on Friday that there was a break at 43-A Chester st. and money taken from a bedroom; on Saturday that 20 quarts of oil were stolen from Wheaton's Texaco on Cambridge st. after a door was pried open.

Last Wednesday Peter MacDonnell, 14, of 309 Main st. received a cut on his scalp and a leg gash after reportedly being struck by a car driven by a 20-year-old Burlington man at 6:20 p.m. at 155 Main st.

A week ago Tuesday police received a report that a young man snatched the pocketbook of a woman at 4:30 p.m. at Main and Herrick sts. She said it contained $25.

WOW! Cast
Rehearsing

By Suzanne B. Armstrong

The first real snow of the winter and full rehearsals for the annual Winton Club cabaret show always seem to run concurrently. Winchester Town Hall is a busy place mornings and evenings but the energy expanded by the chorus lines and soloists keep everyone warm.

This year's show, WOW! is a community effort—from Winton Club members, their friends and neighbors and, most important, the merchants.

Last Thursday night an impressive group gathered around Alan Smith at the piano and sang lustily, practiced cues, and began the staging of their number. Real estate brokers, travel agents, druggists, photographers, clothiers, grocery specialists, and many more were there.

Each one has a very brief, but very sharp moment in the spotlight. Stage fright may be hovering over during the coming weeks. If your favorite merchants are seen mumbling between now and show week, have sympathy and be on hand to cheer them on.

Winchester dentists are busy filling the spot left by last year's Winchester physicians. They rehearse after hours and their scene is now a deep, dark professional secret.

This year's cast is an exceptionally large one. Some of the spotlighted members are Vincent Carr, bassoonist who commutes from Everett; Diane and Ed Carter from Harvard; Chuck and Jan Cooper from Andover; "Buttons" von Rosenvinge from Wellesley; Carol Driscoll and Diane Oliver from Arlington.

One of the fastest numbers in WOW! is a chorus line based on a very fast polka and appearing in this number are Mrs. Richard Preston and her daughter, Laurie.

This year's director from Cargill is Chris Brown. A devoted Californian, the amount of skier's white gold on the streets does not fill him with enthusiasm. His professional credit is long varied and impressive. His meeting and melding with the cast has been a perfect blend of enthusiasm and ability.

He is innovative, patient, but very precise. Rehearsals move smoothly.

reasons for the decline is, "You can't buy what you want downtown."

Many members compared the shopping center in the square in Winchester with the Burlington Mall which has free parking and diversity of shops.

But member Walworth B. Williams commented, "You do a lot more walking around the mall than at Winchester Center." Williams later went on to move that the planning consultant money be reduced to $5,000.

"Unless they have a project breathing down their necks they don't spend the money," Kincaid said. Williams added: "If a project arises, they can ask for a transfer (of money)."

The motion lost 6-4.

Chris Brown, Director of Winton Club Show, preps Alan Smith, musical director and pianist; Mrs. Stanley Harms, chairman of 1974 show; and Mrs. Robert Quinn, talent chairman.

Insurance
FACTS

BY

A large insurance company has several hundred thousand or even a few million policies in force at one time. Keeping track of all these is of the utmost importance. It was Dr. Herman Hollerith, a statistician, who developed a system for counting up figures by using holes punched in cards. One card was made for each person. Machines using these punched cards now do almost all the accounting work that an insurance company needs. And the work can be done both fast and efficiently! Like many other industries, Insurance Companies have found the modern world of computers invaluable.

And you'll find the personal service at FRANCIS X. MAHONEY INSURANCE AGENCY, 914 Mass. Ave., 643-3800 invaluable in meeting your insurance needs. We extend the same personal service in meeting your real estate needs as well and urge you to call us today with your listing. Our membership in MIA assures you of the widest possible exposure and our large backlog of qualified buyers assures you of a prompt sale. Open: 9-5 Mon.-Fri.; by app't Sat.

HELPFUL HINT: Rates cannot be discriminating; no one class of insurance holders should be insured at the expense of another.

Finance Cuts Funds For Planning

The Finance Committee Monday night passed a scaled down Planning Department budget which provoked discussion over planning for Winchester Center.

Initial discussion at Monday's Finance meeting dealt with such nitty gritty as approving $650 for a planning office dictaphone and $650 for a traffic counter.

A $425 dictaphone was approved after discussion on "the dying art of taking dictation" and a traffic counter disapproved ("it would only be used a couple of times a year").

The planning budget included $10,000 for professional services, money normally used by the Planning Board to hire professional consultants.

A sub-committee of the Finance Committee studying planning's budget recommended the $10,000 be cut to $7,000. "At the moment the Planning Board has no specific items to be studied," member Barbara Hankins said.

Hankins said Planning wants to do something about the parking situation at Wedgemere Station, particularly in view of the energy shortage.

"I think we all recognize they do need some paid consulting services," she said.

Finance Chairman James B.L. Lane said, "We have cut them substantially the last couple of years. Obviously they would like to have all kinds of money to let someone else do their thinking for them."

"But I think they realize now they have to make the decisions."

There was some discussion whether the $3,000 cut means less planning for deteriorating Winchester Center with the opinion expressed that there have been enough plans drawn in the past.

"They (Planning Board) did say with the decline in interest in planning by the business association they are the only body concerned with planning in Winchester Center," member Sally Kincaid said.

There was discussion over what's wrong with the center, with member Alfred L. Landry stating that the ticketing of over-parked cars discourages persons from going into the center.

"They should take the meters out," he said.

Member John Williams said ticketing discourages meter feeding. He thought the

C. Paul Luongo

Luongo Firm Celebrates 10th Year

The C. Paul Luongo Company of Boston, founded by C. Paul Luongo of Winchester, will celebrate its 10th year in 1974.

Luongo, who is president of the international press-public relations firm, will host 10 celebrations in cities throughout the United States and Canada.

The first event was a dinner for clients and members of the U.S. and Canadian press held in San Francisco.

On Jan. 18, Luongo will appear on the Paul Benzaquin Show (WNAC-TV) to discuss "a most frustrating but rewarding business."

Other television appearances will include "To Tell the Truth" and two programs for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

After having been associated with Young and Rubicam, Inc., New York, and the Raytheon Company, Luongo formed the C. Paul Luongo Company, which offers full communications services for consumer and industrial accounts on an international basis.

Luongo is a graduate of Bentley College, Suffolk University, The Cambridge School of Radio and Television, and Babson College, from which he received a master's degree in business administration. He was awarded an honorary degree from Graham Junior College in 1970, and has also attended Berklee School of Music and Harvard University.

He is listed in six editions of Who's Who In The World.

First Aid For Burns

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico has provided this 13-article series on fire prevention and emergency procedures in the interest of greater safety in Winchester.

Burns are one of the leading causes of death in accidents which happen in the home. They often cause emanant damage and serious scarring. Since long periods of hospitalization are frequently necessary in the treatment of burns the costs involved can be extremely high. In addition, the psychological effects of severe burns may be years in running their course.

Some of the hazards involved with home fires are (1) the effect of extremely hot air, on the lungs, and the potential shock that can result, (2) similar effects that take place on the outer skin. The various burns one can get are classified as follows:

First degree - the skin becomes red.

Second degree - the skin blisters.

Third degree - deep destruction of tissues. Deep cells which ordinarily work for continuous new skin production can be destroyed.

There is no way you can determine the degree of burn right after it occurs. Then too, the degrees may differ over the entire burn area.

Basic first aid measures for burns, to be given while awaiting the arrival of professional assistance or the transporting of the victim to the nearest hospital are simple and easy to accomplish. First of all keep the air from the burn by applying thick dressings gives relief from the extreme pain and prevents further danger of infections.

Obviously the ideal dressing for any burn would be sterile, but if you do not have sterile bandage on hand, use the cleanest material available. A clean bed sheet can be quickly ripped to use for bandage or clean towels.

Do not apply wet bandage, always use dry, clean material as the wet will tend to stick and be difficult to remove. Remember, anything you apply as first aid must be removed once the patient arrives at the hospital.

Put the dressings on the burn in several layers, five or six if possible. Then, once this is accomplished, add more covering to the patient's burn area to eliminate as much air as possible. Be certain that your hands are clean before you start first aid of a burn.

Never, purposely break the blisters in your first aid application, but don't stop your procedure because blisters burst while you are applying dressings.

If the eyes are involved in the burn area, try to flush with water to remove foreign material, if the patient can stand the discomfort. Avoid using oils or ointments in the eye, unless you must do so due to the extreme pain the patient is suffering. Immediate professional medical aid is a must in cases like this.

If the burn should involve more than 10 percent of the body, have the victim lie flat, and raise the foot of the bed about 12". If arms only are involved, raise them above the level of the rest of the body. If the patient has severe burns over a large area below the waist, do not allow him to walk; he should be carried on a stretcher when help arrives. While awaiting help do not let patient drink excessive amounts of fluids. Give water only in sufficient amount to momentarily quench his thirst. If help is a long time in arriving, make a solution of 1/2 teaspoon of salt, and 1/2 teaspoon of baking soda in a quart of water, and give this to the victim 1/2 glass at a time every fifteen minutes.

These are First Aid Measures Only-do not delay in

Joseph Crowley To Direct The Summer School

Joseph T. Crowley Jr., a math teacher at the Lynch Junior High School since 1970, will be director of the Winchester summer school this year.

The School Committee appointed Crowley this week on the recommendation of Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald, who with other staff members interviewed several candidates for the position. Fred Murray, high school band director, who has led summer school activities in recent years, reported earlier he would not be a candidate for the position.

Crowley holds a bachelor of science degree from Boston College. He has taught at Northeastern University, Salem State College, in Derry, N.H., Tewksbury and Woburn.

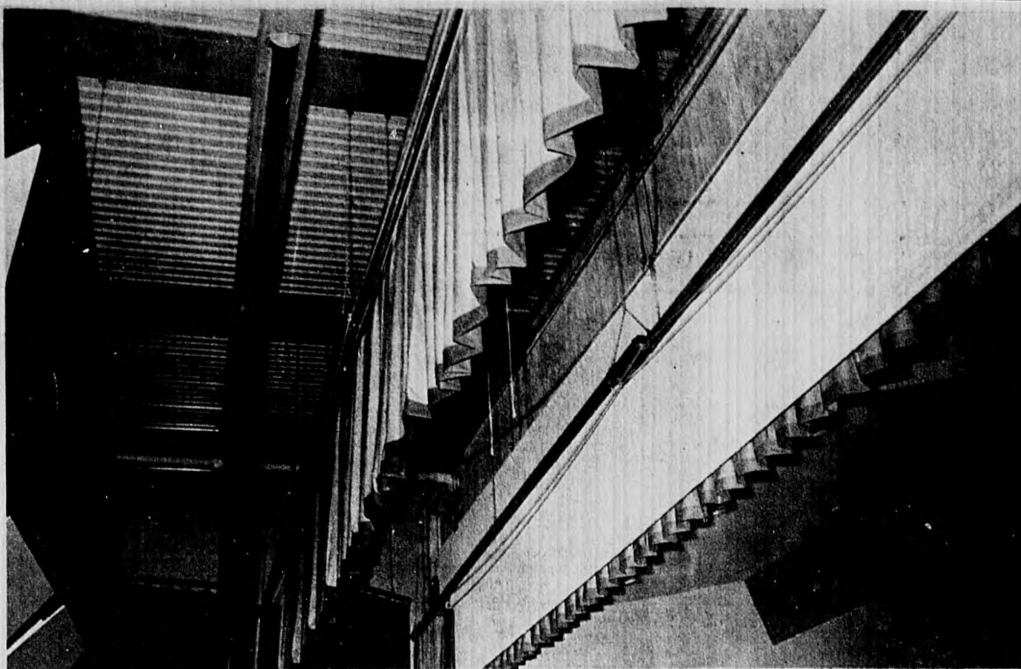

In other assignments, Mrs. Nancy D. Merritt will be a para-professional in the math department at Winchester High School taking the place of Roberta Thomas who resigned from the position in December. Mrs. Merritt, who has experience student teaching in Winchester, holds a bachelor of science degree from Tufts University.

The School Committee received letters from Henry K. Fitts, English teacher at the Winchester High School, and Henry T. Knowlton, director of physical education and athletics, announcing their plans to retire on June 30.

A native of Winchester, Fitts has 26 years of experience teaching in the Winchester school system. Knowlton has been with the system for 35 years.

Ann Blackham Realtors: 'Always People Waiting'

Business, politics and housewifery may make for a harried pace, but Mrs. Ann Blackham seems to handle everything in a calm manner.

Ann Blackham and Co. Realtors, 11 Thompson st., was begun in January, 1969. Since Winchester is reported to be a well run community, with an excellent school system and a propitious location, Mrs. Blackham and her eight associates never lack for customers. "There are always people waiting," smiles Mrs. Blackham.

She explains that due to the new zoning ordinance, the houses west of Cambridge street must be built on a 20,000 square foot lot, or more while those close to the center of town are on land ranging from six thousand to 18,000 square feet. Some parents may prefer a big yard for their children and opt for a house away from Winchester Center, but Mrs. Blackham finds that most people with families want to be close to the center of town so that the parents won't be constantly chaffering.

Winchester residents with summer places prefer living near the center so that their lawns won't require as much tending during the months they are absent. The condominium rage hasn't affected real estate business here, Mrs. Blackham says. More and more young couples are investing in big houses, she says. They might not be planning a family for a few years yet but "they love the space and enjoy fixing it up."

Ann Blackham and Co. rents a unit in a duplex, a help to professors in the area on sabbatical who rent the remainder of a house. Ann Blackham was born in New York and brought up in Ohio.

She received a bachelor of arts degree in English at Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, and master of arts degree in economics at Ohio State University in Columbus.

Before Mrs. Blackham's advent into real estate, she worked for Filene's in Boston. Later she was employed as manager for the Winchester Filene's, now out of business.

Mrs. Blackham had always "envisioned

Public Invited To Choate Open House

An open house for the general public to view the new inpatient mental health unit at Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn, will be held on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

A new dimension in mental health care for residents of the Mystic Valley area, the unit will provide short-term psychiatric care in a therapeutic community. This new service will be one of the essential elements of a comprehensive community mental health center program being developed in cooperation with the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center.

Preference for admission will be given to Mystic Valley residents, which includes Winchester.

The new unit will accommodate 18 patients in single, double and three bed rooms. The layout and decor of all rooms have been planned specifically to de-emphasize the institutional look and to enable patients to participate in a therapeutic community life with the assistance of highly trained staff.

Each patient room resembles a "den" or sitting room, since the beds are converted to lounge sofas during the day. A large community room will serve as the focal point for group meetings, informal socializing and activities. Breakfast and snacks will be available there. Lunch and dinner will be eaten in the hospital cafeteria by patients and staff together.

Madrigal Singers Entertain Patients

Ten Winchester students, members of the Madrigal Singers of the Winchester High School, sang for patients and visitors at the New England Rehabilitation Center, Woburn, recently.

Among those singing were Susan Boodakian, Martha Moore, Rebecca Downs, Karen Culver, Valeria Hobbs, Thomas Moore, Jay Ensland, Thomas Jones, John Holland and Jeffrey Hobbs.

Burton Cowgill, director of music at the high school, supervises the Madrigal Singers. The volunteer singers toured the four floors of the center and sang at each of the balconies in the main entrance.

Madrigal indicates the form of music presented, coming mostly from the 15th and 16th centuries and written by Italian and English composers.

According to Mrs. Patricia Krusell, director of activities and a Winchester resident, the singers indicated their intent to return to the center again soon.

Merger

Twenty Winchester students, presently attending the Buckingham School and the Browne & Nichols School, are participating in a week of celebration as the two schools officially merge as of Jan. 1. The new combined school will be known as Buckingham Browne & Nichols School.

Students from Winchester are: Susan Broadhurst, Carol Cesari, Victoria Hawley, Sarah Horne, Elizabeth Manuel, Jill Manuel, Caroline Rogers and Patricia Simboli.

Also, Mark Pasillo, Campbell Rogers, Hartley Rogers, Scott Sanderson, Stephen Alfano, Ralph Seferian, Richard Stockwood, Norman Alpert, Robert Cagliano, Lawrence O'Connell, Daniel Powers and Craig Gibson.

The former Buckingham School was founded in Cambridge in 1902. The former Browne & Nichols School was established in 1883.

With four campuses and 900 students, the merged school will be among the largest independent day schools in New England. The combined school offers coeducation from kindergarten through grade 12. Peter K. Guinness is headmaster.

CUTTING CLASS - Terrance Sylvester, right, of Winchester gets personalized instruction with the skill saw from James Smith who heads the carpentry department at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School. A senior, Sylvester is working on the school's first student house-building project in Stoneham which will be completed in the spring.

Talent Overcomes Handicap

Mary Jack King of 891 Main st., a wheelchair patient since her teens, has an artist's desire which beats her handicap.

She defied predictions about her disability and went on to become an accomplished artist, painting prize-winning pictures from her chair and conducting 10 classes each week.

Miss King will exhibit 20 of her works in oil, still life and portraits of children and interiors during February at the New England Rehabilitation Center, Woburn.

The exhibits of paintings and special crafts at the Rehab Center during the past four years have created special interest and won recognition from patients and visitors. Changed from month to month, the displays are primarily for the pleasure of visitors but many have been sold.

Arrangements for the displays are under the direction of Mrs. Paul C. Keleher of 117 Church st., who also serves as treasurer of the volunteer's group at the center.

Miss King has won many awards; but teaching people, especially children and young people with handicapped conditions, brings her the greatest joy. "It is very meaningful to help a disabled person to grow and gain recognition and to find new goals and a life work," she says.

"I enjoy people and I enjoy teaching people who can't paint with me. So I am probably more of an artist than an artist."

Her friends say Miss King is both. Volunteer Mrs. Keleher stated, "She's a saint as well as an artist and teacher."

Since her teens when she was confined to a wheelchair, Miss King has set out to paint in earnest. The fact that she is dependent on a wheelchair does not mean she lacks for sources of inspiration for her paintings.

Her colorful pictures grace the walls of her studio home. She enjoys painting portraits of children and many come to sit for her. She has studied under expert teachers, but for the most part her works today are a direct result of her determination, talent and skill.

Miss King has exhibited in many places. She is able to drive her specially equipped automobile and attends art displays all over.

She works in art and with her classes five days a week. On her time off, she "loves to cook" and entertain. She is adept at preparing all kinds of foods but prefers to mix up some Italian dishes or something else special.

Miss King is a member of the Copley Society of Art in Boston, the Duxbury Art Association, Winchester Art Association and Burlington Art Society.

Wakefield Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Wakefield (Leslie MacLaren) of Tewksbury are parents of their first child, a son, Adam Christopher, born Jan. 7 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. MacLaren of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wakefield Jr. of East Sandwich, formerly of Winchester.

Winchester Gets $81,124 From State Lottery

Winchester will receive $81,124 as its share of 1973 state lottery funds. This is $30,944 more than received last year after nine months of operation.

According to town comptroller James Costello the return to the town is $8,305 more than had been estimated. Last year the return was $247 more than had been estimated.

Costello explains the amount a city or town earns from the lottery is determined by assessments to town property or what is called "equalized valuation."

He says the state Tax Commission "attempts to adjust for disparities in assessing practices throughout the state" in an effort to make returns fair and equitable. The Tax Commission computes equalized valuations which have the effect of bringing all communities to a 100 percent assessment level.

Some Massachusetts citizens are currently charging that towns and cities assessed at 100 percent of true market value are penalized in favor of towns not revalued recently.

Examples of disparities can be seen in a booklet "Tax Rates-1973-Actual and Full Value" published by the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, Inc., 145 Tremont st., Boston. Woburn is assessed at 100 percent; Burlington, 98 percent; Winchester, 91 percent; Woburn, 42 percent; and Stoneham, 43 percent. Costello says the law requires that valuations be at 100 percent.

One of the legislators calling for correcting imbalances is Rep. Paul Schneider of Canton, who points to the distribution formula as favoring communities which have disregarded the state law for 100 percent assessments. He has called for an investigation by Lottery Director William E. Perrault.

Schneider has a plan for correction: total amount distributed to 351 cities and towns would be computed by dividing the total by the population of the state to get a per capita figure. Individual towns could then use that standard as multiplied by their population to compute their share.

A consistent critic of the presently used formula, Schneider filed legislation last year and again this year. Last year his legislative proposal got through the House but died when the legislature prorogued.

Costello notes that the Taxpayers Federation has filed legislation for comprehensive revision of assessment administration and organization. This will include state supervision, local organs of assessment and taxpayers' rights of appeal. "The equalization valuation method is not accomplishing what it was designed to do," he says.

2 Families Benefit

Two Winchester families were among the larger beneficiaries of the lottery during the past year. Robert J. Taylor of 12 Hill st. was a million dollar prize winner in February. Joseph Tozza of 29 Bellevue ave. was recipient of $100,000 in January.

According to state Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, chairman of the State Lottery Commission, net proceeds from the lottery are distributed to cities and towns according to law.

In the calendar year 1972, $22 million was distributed to cities and towns after nine months of operation. After 21 months $57 million was distributed to communities.

Since the program began, $61 million has been awarded. There were 19 new millionaires; 27 who won $100,000; and 250 who won $50,000.

Crane pointed to the success of the Santa Claus Game which boosted Massachusetts to the top position in sales among the eight states which conduct lotteries.

Besides Crane, members of the Lottery Commission include state comptroller Arthur H. MacKinnon; secretary of public safety Richard E. McLaughlin; retired Judge Frederick S. Pillsbury and Joseph P. McDonough, comptroller of the New England Aquarium.

School Hours Unchanged

The Winchester School Committee voted this week to maintain regular school hours even though there may be a hardship to students going to school before daylight.

The vote came on the recommendation of Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald who said he had consulted with John McKinley, safety officer; representatives of the Community Schools Association, SEEM (a special education program) superintendents, and the Smithsonian Astro Lab before making his recommendation. The latter organization reported on sunrise times and revealed daylight is expected to arrive two minutes earlier each day.

A disruption of the bus schedules which would have a chain reaction was one of the primary reasons for keeping the school hours as they are.

Five of the seven SEEM superintendents favored MacDonald's position of holding present hours. The safety of the students would not be hampered since most of them "receive portal to portal transportation."

MacDonald, who received a few calls from parents on the subject, received memos from Gov. Francis W. Sargent and the commission of education asking school committees to decide to change or not.

Mrs. Mary Mears, committee member, said, "Parents should talk with their children the way they would if children were going out at night." She pointed to some children wearing orange hats on dark mornings as a good safety precaution.

School Committeeman Richard Pritchard said there "is a difference between daybreak and sunrise."

With about 20 more days to go before complete light, MacDonald jokingly said, "We're on the right side of the sun."

Committee Approves Interim Position

In preparation for the retirement of William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services, the School Committee has approved the creation of an interim administrative position with a salary range of $18,000 to $20,000 per year.

The person selected for this assignment will serve temporarily, giving the committee an opportunity to reassess the administrative and business functions of the school system based on present needs.

As soon as this study is completed and a description of the permanent position has been worked out, it will be publicized and applications will be accepted.

Applications for the interim position are currently being received by Henry B. Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel, Winchester Public Schools.

ANNUAL MARCH ELECTION

Three More Run For Charter

With today the deadline for candidates to take papers for election to posts in March, the following is a rundown of election news to date:

Three more persons have taken nomination papers for election to charter commission, bringing to 21 the number of persons seeking the nine charter seats.

Two more persons have requested papers for election to the single one-year vacancy to be filled this year on the Board of Library Trustees.

The number of candidates for Board of Selectmen and School Committee remains the same as last week: five, Board of Selectmen; nine, School Committee.

All other townwide contests remain the same as last week, with contests so far for Planning Board, Park Commission, Board of Assessors, Constable and Library Trustees' two 3-year vacancies.

As of Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., no contests had developed for Commissioner of Trust Funds, Water & Sewer Board, Cemetery Commission, Moderator and Board of Health.

Candidates have until 5 p.m. today to obtain blank nomination papers to the town clerk for certification.

Below is printed a list of the candidates for townwide office who have taken out papers so far. Not all candidates will submit papers to the town clerk, thus removing their names from the list.

Only Prec. 3 Has No Contest

Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson said Tuesday that so far in this election year contests have developed for town meeting vacancies in all but one precinct.

That is Prec. 3, where there are 13 seats to be filled and only 11 candidates. Mrs. Nelson urged residents of Prec. 3 to consider running for town meeting.

Prec. 3 is that area of Winchester which is bounded by Mystic Valley parkway, Mystic ave., Prospect st., Lorena and Leslie roads, south reservoir and the Medford line.

Town meeting members running for reelection had until Monday of this week to notify the town clerk of their intention to run again. Today at 5 p.m. is the deadline for new town meeting candidates to take out papers.

Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline on submitting nomination papers for election to town meeting.

Each of the town's six precincts automatically has 11 seats to be filled each year. Some precincts have more this year because of vacancies created during the year by resignation or death.

The following is a breakdown in the number running in each precinct.

PREC. 1
12 seats to be filled; 18 candidates;
PREC. 2
17 seats to be filled; 20 candidates;
PREC. 3
13 seats to be filled; 11 candidates;
PREC. 4
15 seats to be filled; 19 candidates;
PREC. 5
11 seats to be filled; 17 candidates;
PREC. 6
12 seats to be filled; 15 candidates.

Hearings On Hospital Plan Selectmen Favor 22 Highland Ave.

Winchester Hospital officials said Monday a new building to be constructed adjacent to the present facility would contain 35 additional beds as well as expanded outpatient services.

A parking garage would provide 425 spaces. During construction a surface lot across Highland Avenue would be used for 192 employee parking spaces.

The information came during a two hour hearing before the Board of Selectmen requested by the board to obtain more information prior to making a recommendation on whether the town should permit 22 Highland Avenue to be used for parking.

The land is under the control of the Board of Selectmen, which leases the house and lot as rental income property. The house would be razed and the land blacktopped.

Atty. William J. Speers Jr., representing the Hospital, said if the trustees at their meeting this week approve, and the town grants permission for Maple Road to be moved, then "the hospital will return to private ownership all of the houses it has acquired except those four on Maple Road and one other."

The four houses on Maple road (behind the hospital) would be razed to make way for the relocation of the street further down the hill. The land thus cleared would be the site for the new three-level garage.

Russell House, the nurses quarters at the corner of Maple rd. and Fairmount st., would be razed as well. The fifth house mentioned by Speers would be retained as a home for the Winchester Visiting Nurses Association.

"All of the foreseeable needs of the hospital could be accommodated on that lot," Speers said.

The hospital owns 15 houses and has one more being considered for purchase.

The selectmen appeared to indicate their general approval of the use of 22 Highland ave. Vito A. Giarrizzo, the hospital's most persistent critic, said,

"If they don't get 22 Highland ave., something else will have to be done... I think 22 Highland ave. is the best location if there is to be off-street parking."

Some members of the public spoke against use of the property as a parking lot, citing the exiting of cars on to Highland ave. as a danger to children and other automobiles and the increase in noise and congestion after 192 cars daily begin using the lot.

Others questioned hospital officials on who would use the lot and if precautions will be taken for their protection. Officials said only employees would use 22 Highland ave. and the hospital, not the town, would provide for their security at night.

But most of the comments at Monday's hearing were on the major construction planned by the hospital. Officials said they didn't know how much the new building will cost, nor how much space it will contain.

They said it probably will have 35 more beds (it now has 200) and will contain expanded outpatient facilities. Atty. Speers said "the hospital doesn't want to grow" but has been pressured into growing due to the need to bring the public the best instrument care.

Such expansion, he said, "will reduce the total medical cost to the public."

Francis A. Sarnie of 7 Valley rd. commented: "The addition is as large as the existing hospital. If they didn't build the addition they wouldn't need a parking garage."

Hospital officials said they have filed a letter of intent to build as required by the state. They also said cost of relocating Maple rd. will be borne by the hospital, as well as the relocation of utilities.

Selectman John J. Sullivan said that if the hospital goes ahead with its addition construction and the town doesn't "provide some relief" in parking, "we compound the problems for the neighborhood. We need an intermediate solution."

He said the hospital has considered many solutions to its parking problem, including cutting into the grassy strips along Highland ave., and found use of 22 Highland the best solution. Cars now park along winding, narrow Highland ave.

The new garage would be located on the Fairmount side of the hospital. The present parking lot at the hospital would become an underground parking lot for doctors. On top of this doctors' parking lot the new addition would rise.

The doctors' "deck," as hospital officials call it, would contain 90 spaces. During construction of the new building overhead, the "deck" would be used for parking for construction workers' cars.

Atty. Speers said the School Committee will meet next week to consider turning over 22 Highland ave. to the town. If successful, the next move will be to prepare a five-year lease and seek town meeting approval in March.

If the state attorney general approves the town's recently voted new zoning by-law, all the hospital land will be included in a "conservancy-institutional" district. If not, Board of Appeal action will be required.

Estimated cost of leveling the house at 22 Highland ave. and blacktopping is $100,000. The land, except for the demolished house, would be restored when the new garage opens. The lot at 22 Highland ave. would be fenced and screened, Atty. Speers said.

"It's expensive parking for five years temporary use," he said. "But the hospital feels an obligation to its employees, visitors and neighbors to get the cars off the street."

Speers said that approval of the present plans "would end the physical encroachment on the neighborhood."

Neighbors Deride Hospital Officials

By Pauline Dishmon

Winchester Hospital's board of trustees will be asked to relinquish property it has acquired in recent years in the vicinity of the hospital and return it to the economy.

On the suggestion of a hospital neighbor, board chairman Robert B. Kittredge promised at an open hearing last Thursday night to ask the trustees to resell property on Valley road (and beyond in a so-called buffer zone). This would be contingent on approval of the hospital's latest proposal for expansion to modernize and provide additional parking.

The long-range plan calls for demolishing four houses, three owned by the hospital, and relocating Maple road in a westerly direction, freeing space for new hospital medical facilities and permitting construction of underground parking.

The increased parking would raise capacity from 195 to 600 cars on the hospital grounds, including underground parking for 425 cars.

The addition to the hospital would not add to the present 200 beds, Kittredge said, but would allow for better medical facilities and permit bedrooms to be returned to salaried staff.

The hospital would relocate its boiler plant to the center of the remodeled hospital, cutting down noise pollution, officials said.

The plan to move Maple road was first suggested by former planning board member and present selectman William Chapman, said Kittredge.

The hospital trustees, who seek to put the entire hospital site in a conservancy-institutional district, will need support of the selectmen, the Planning Board, the Board of Appeal and town meeting.

A short-term aspect of the plan would be to lease property at 22 Highland ave. for five years for temporary surface parking. The hospital will need approval by the School Committee for this since they currently have control of the site purchased some time ago for expected school expansion.

Kittredge told the assembly of about 40 persons the hospital recently filed a petition to the Board of Selectmen asking that articles be included in the March annual town meeting warrant for approval of changes necessary to make the proposal possible.

He said the hospital will also have to apply for a certificate of need through the Public Health Council, required by law. Hospital administrator Reese James said the hospital has filed a Letter of Intent.

From the outset, Kittredge was the butt of derisive remarks from several persons in the audience. First, he was scolded for not having introduced himself. Next, a man was heard to say "They've given me five years of harassment and I'm going to give them some of it now."

Interruptions and side remarks continued as architect Wendell Morgan from Ritchie Associates attempted to explain the proposal using drawings showing existing parking, noise pollution, foliage, the roadway relocation and the proposed master plan.

When he said 600 cars could be accommodated on the site, another resident called out "Is that good?" When he said Maple road would become 30 feet in size and there would be sidewalks on both sides of the street, comments focused on noise from trucks.

When he said the new receiving area would be in the present Maple road area, another resident hollered "Will it increase speed?"

"Let him finish," shouted another.

"And not answer questions," said the former.

Morgan said there would be no demolition of hospital structures. The architects would attempt "to create a vertical distribution core in the center." They would orient the new boiler "inward to lessen noise to the neighborhood."

What Happens When Sachems, 8-0, Meet Tanners, 8-0?

Winchester Victor, 64-45

By John F. Farrell

The gymnasium at the high school set an all time attendance record Tuesday night for the confrontation between the Sachems and the Woburn Tanners. Both teams entered the game undefeated in Middlesex League play and were deadlocked for first place. The crowd was not only large but enthusiastic, and packed every available seat in the stands and overflowed behind the baskets. It was indeed a colorful setting as both teams took the floor determined to come out on top.

Although Winchester has had some great teams, Woburn finds a winning hoop team a rarity. According to all available records this was the first time that both were unbeaten in the league when they met. Winchester's scoring record was an average of just about 64. The Tanners were only a half point lower against mutual league opponents.

The Tanners figured two points better on defense in games played in the league. But, as so often has been said, what do figures really mean in a clash of such traditional rivals?

The Sachems maintained their steady scoring pace by getting a 64 average. But the Tanners fell off badly on both offense and defense. They managed to contain the scoring of Winchester's guards, Co-captain Mike Heffernan and Wayne Dennis.

But both youths played an outstanding floor game, helping the Sachems get more action in the front court. The forwards alone scored enough points to top the 45 point total of the disappointed visitors.

Much had been expected of John O'Connor, the rangy junior center for Woburn, but he managed to come up with only two hoops. The game was actually won on the boards as Coach Vandy French's quintet pulled down 50 rebounds to only 24 for the Tanners.

Sandy Bigelow played his best game ever in the Winchester uniform, pulling down 11 offensive rebounds and 15 on the defensive end. He was also the top scorer with 18 big points.

Nate Bitting flipped in six baskets and a pair of foul shots for 14. Co-captain Tim Porter had an even dozen. Both did a good job on the boards and helped to blunt the Woburn attack.

The teams started out cautiously. It was 1-29 of the first period before the Tanners opened the scoring with a pair of foul shots. Sandy Bigelow dropped in a basket a few seconds later and it was a 2-3 game.

Another minute passed and Bigelow scored again and added a foul shot to run the count to 5-2. Nate Bitting and Wayne Dennis, on an assist from big Nate, added four more Winchester points before Skeffington tallied the Tanners' first basket at 3-6.

Bigelow, Bitting and the Bitting-Dennis combination reversed pushed the Sachems ahead by 15-4. Two sets of two foul shots by Woburn made the count 15-8 until both teams added four more points for a first period score of 19-12.

A Tanner basket came in the first half minute of the second period. Nate Bitting broke out in a scoring rash with two hoops and a foul shot over the next minute to balance two baskets by the visitors. Then Winchester hit for four baskets to pull away by 32-16. Two foul shots and two baskets by the visitors brought the half to a close at Winchester 32, Woburn 22.

Two early baskets by Sandy Bigelow matched a like number by Woburn. A Tanner foul conversion brought the lead down to nine points. Play continued fairly even during the third period, with both Nate Bitting and Wayne Dennis in foul trouble and forced to sit out several minutes. However, neither team was hitting too well, and the quarter ended at 40-32, with the Tanners still holding a chance of victory.

Bigelow tallied a single foul and Zanoli hooped one and added another foul point to make the score 44-34.

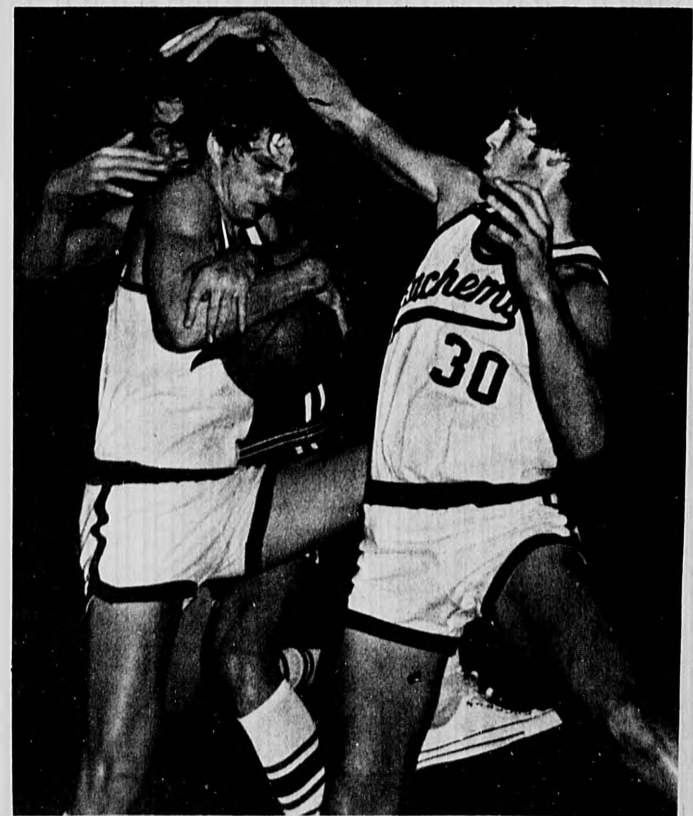

Another Bigelow hoop and a basket on a steal by Dennis ran the count to 48-34. Co-captain Tim Porter came through with two baskets, and a foul shot by Bitting followed by Heffernan's basket pulled the lead up to 55-38. A Tanner hoop at 4:31 was neutralized by one by Bitting only 15 seconds later.

By this time it was evident that the cause was lost for the Tanners, and with reserves playing at the end for both teams the final whistle found the Sachems comfortably winning by 64-45.

As so often happens in pressure packed games there were some moments of sloppy play by both quintets. However, as the game was played the Sachems truly earned the victory. The margin of their triumph quite accurately reflected the difference in the two teams in this crucial game.

William McDonough, Somerville Sergeant, Found Dead By Police

William S. McDonough, 56, of 2 Dana ave. was found dead early Sunday morning by Winchester police officers after a neighbor complained of a barking dog.

A sergeant with the Somerville Police Department, he suffered from heart trouble. Winchester police officers theorize Mr. McDonough was attempting to reach his glycerine tablets when he collapsed.

Police Lt. John P. McHugh said a call came into the desk around 4 a.m. complaining of a dog barking all day on Highland ave. Police officers saw the dog in an enclosed porch and left 10 minutes later after the animal calmed down.

Lt. McHugh meanwhile was unsuccessful in reaching the McDonough home by telephone. The number is unlisted. He asked the officers to return. Officer Richard J. Anselmo reported that he and Officer Robert Baird rang the bell, knocked on the door and received no response. He said the dog had resumed barking. Hearing a noise inside, Anselmo said he looked through the small window on the door and saw a body lying on the floor behind the front door.

He said after some difficulty he managed to kick in the door. Medical examiner Dr. Harry L. Benson estimated death as occurring four hours earlier.

Values Clarification Is Adult Education Offering

The Winchester Interfaith Education Committee, in cooperation with the Winchester School Department and the Winchester School Committee, is offering a four-week course in "Values Clarification" beginning Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. at the Winchester High School, as a comprehensive addition to the 1974 adult education program.

Led by Rev. Nicholas Spagnolo, director of the Espousal Conference Center in Waltham, and a certified counselor and professor at Tufts University, the course will seek answers to such questions as: What is really worth my time and energy? How do I make decisions? Do some of my choices dehumanize? Can I improve the quality of my life?

A key objective for the four week program will be to spotlight techniques by which an individual can improve his interpersonal communications within the family and within the community at large.

Using the simple techniques described in the popular paperback "I'm O.K. You're O.K." by Thomas Harris, participants can learn to contact their true feelings, change their self-images, develop independence in making decisions and find more energy in order to enjoy life.

Marriage Encounter Will Be Subject 27th At St. Eulalia

At 8 p.m. Sunday evening, at St. Eulalia's there will be a presentation open to all married couples to explain Marriage Encounter, a weekend experience for those wishing to improve an already good marriage relationship.

Held in the church hall at 50 Ridge st., Winchester, speaker couples will talk about how love can be deepened through communication by open and fearless dialogue. In dialogue, the heart of encounter, husband and wife can share feelings, attitudes, fears, joys, and resentments in a loving manner.

Marriage Encounter is not sensitivity training nor comparison of marriages in groups; rather, a positive way to renew a close relationship. It is open to all faiths; ministers, priests and nuns are welcome also. For further information, contact Jim and Mary McEwen in Arlington.

Mary Manning Is On VNA Staff

Mary Ellen Manning of Watertown has been appointed to the nursing staff of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association.

A graduate of Boston College where she was a member of the commuter's council, she did public health nursing at Columbia Point.

Following graduation, she worked at Santa Maria Hospital, Cambridge. Before coming to Winchester she was employed on the staff of the Back Bay Nursing Agency.

In addition to her nursing duties on the VNA staff, Miss Manning will be nurse at the Muraco School. She recently announced her engagement. A fall wedding is planned.

Weiss Wins Three Awards

Eric Weiss, photographer for The Winchester Star, has won three awards in the annual contest of the New England Press Association.

Weiss took second place honors in the personality category for his photograph of a police safety officer on duty for the last time; and honorable mentions in the pictorial and sports categories in their class.

The photograph in the pictorial category was of a boy skating at sunset. The entry in the sports category was of a Little League baseball game in Winchester.

The newspaper also won an honorable mention for best editorial page.

In the same contest, John L. Drugaish of 43 Canal st. won a first prize for best black and white advertisement in its class for an entry he composed for the special centennial supplement of The Arlington Advocate last year.

Dog Leash Law

Dogs must be kept on leashes in Winchester from 7 in the morning to 7 at night. Owners of pets in violation are fined.

Pollution Hearing Scheduled By State

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health will hold a public hearing on Winchester's incinerator pollution control in February.

The hearing will consider the town's proposed compliance schedule for pollution control as a result of the incinerator in line with federal and state standards.

The Department of Public Health will receive written testimony on the matter until March 7. A copy of the proposed compliance schedule is available for inspection in Room 320 at 600 Washington st., Boston.

The public hearing is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 28, at 10 a.m.

Serving The Community For 93 Years

More Honesty Needed

Two reports appear in this week's Star on meetings between Winchester Hospital officials and the residents of the area and between hospital officials and the Board of Selectmen indicating that "facts" given at each meeting were different.

For example, hospital officials told the public Thursday there were no new beds planned. They told the selectmen and the public Monday 35 new beds would be added. In addition, Administrator Reese E. James, Trustees President Robert B. Kittredge and Atty. William J. Speers Jr. told the Monday meeting it hasn't been determined how many square feet of space the planned new building will contain.

Nor, they said, has it been estimated how much the new building will cost. Yet the officials exhibited architectural drawings of the proposed building.

Maybe at this early stage in the hospital planning it's impossible to give exact figures on cost and footage. But the hospital wasn't asked for exact figures. They were asked for approximations. They said they didn't have these figures, which is hard to believe.

At one point Atty. Speers said the building would cost "millions of dollars," at another Administrator James said that though the hospital had an estimated figure in 1970, a cost figure today would be impossible to calculate because construction costs have risen from 12 to 14 percent. That should not be a difficult calculation to make if the hospital were willing to divulge its 1970 figure.

Not too many persons in Winchester would argue against the hospital keeping up to date or even expanding its facilities to bring the best health care to residents of Winchester and surrounding communities. Winchester Hospital has long been recognized as an exemplary institution as far as medical care goes. It has not, however, been an exemplary neighbor.

Its failure to disclose fully what it has in mind has made many residents cynical of everything the hospital does. We have seen this attitude of keeping the public in the dark about issues affecting the public for too long and in too many places, from Washington to Winchester. Its end result is only to delay things, create an atmosphere of distrust and make the public more determined than ever to get to the real facts.

This newspaper and the Board of Selectmen have been on record for some time that they intend to ferret out all details of hospital expansion. Still the hospital persists in delivering half the picture, stating they don't know the answers to questions that any institution would have to have before considering such a major undertaking as a new building. How can you even think about constructing a new building unless you already know how big it should be and how much it's going to cost?

Those residents who own homes near Winchester Hospital have been particularly hurt by the dilatory explanation of plans. They are unable to sell their homes because no one wants to buy a house under threat that the hospital might expand into its backyard. The owners are unable to fix up their homes because they don't know if their house is on the list of homes to be acquired.

The selectmen Monday had great praise for hospital officials. Lawrence Smith was particularly laudatory for their willingness to "cooperate and compromise." This praise was touched off by the information that the hospital intends to get rid of 10 of the 15 houses it has bought in recent years. It's getting rid of the houses because if the town approves its latest plan it will no longer need those houses.

Mr. Smith's praise might have been better directed at the residents who have lived under this fear that their home might be next. The residents have stood it all with great patience.

Hospital and town officials have pointed out that there is no guarantee that once this latest expansion is completed the hospital won't embark on a new expansion program. They state that there will be no expansion for the foreseeable future.

The residents of the Highland avenue area would do well to insist that the hospital trustees state this in writing. While admittedly such a paper would not be legally binding on a future hospital board of trustees, it would nevertheless present some ammunition should the hospital begin a new period of buying up homes.

Letters To The Editor

Good Samaritan Is Billed For Injury

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am writing this letter to tell you of a little experience I had this summer when I was coming home from work. (I am a longshoreman.)

I was coming along South Border road around 9 at night and saw a column of smoke coming from the woods. I saw a car parked at the side and a man trying to put out the fire. I stopped and helped him but the fire was getting worse.

I stayed in there a good two hours. I had difficulty seeing and breathing but there was no one there to help. I went to the Winchester Hospital, where I was treated.

A month later I received a bill for $64. I gave this bill to the town because I thought I had been doing the town a great favor. Just think if the wind had been blowing. There are many nice houses around there.

Paul Harrison
36 Irving St.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Harrison forwarded to The Star the following letter addressed to him from the Board of Selectmen, signed by Edward F. Donnelly, executive secretary: Dear Mr. Harrison: Jan. 8, 1974

"This is in regard to your medical bill of $64 for treatment at the Winchester Hospital on Oct. 16, 1973. Please find attached copy of my memorandum to the Chief of Police and the Fire Chief dated Nov. 20, 1973, along with copies of their responses.

"I have discussed this matter with Town Counsel Douglas A. Randall. He has advised me that in light of the reports from the Fire Department and the Police Department that the town cannot honor your claim. You will note that the Fire Chief advises that he has no record of any fire occurring in Winchester at the time of the incident.

"In an effort to resolve this matter, I telephoned Chief Leo McCabe of the Medford Fire Department to see if the City of Medford would honor your claim. Chief McCabe indicated that the city could only assume responsibility for claims when someone in official capacity with the Medford Fire Department actually requested assistance in fighting a fire or in some other emergency situation.

"In addition, I called the MDC and attempted to determine what disposition they might make of your claim. I was advised that such a claim should be filed with Mr. Richard H. Furbush, secretary to the Metropolitan District Commission, at 20 Somerset St., Boston, Mass. This claim would be evaluated, and a determination as to the Metropolitan District Commission liability would be made.

"I am sorry that I am unable to be of further assistance to you."

Grateful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Homefronters:

Novel Idea To Stop Truck Bridge Crash

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In view of the fact that several trucks a year crash into the Cross street underpass and the sign "10'4" at least on one side has now been somewhat obliterated by the latest crash, may I suggest the following:

On the railroad, when I was a boy, I remember a hanging draped series of wires before underpasses in order to warn the trainmen on top of the cars to duck before the train passed under. I wonder why we can't install a comparable device over the road on either side of the Cross street underpass so that the driver of a truck, unknowingly about to hit, gets a forewarning and can slam on his brakes.

My son suggested an accompanying overhead blinking light with a sign: "LOW: SLOW"; but I don't know if the neighbors would like that blinking light very much.

According to my design the only time any noise could be associated with it would be when a truck high enough to hit the underpass would hit these wires (or whatever) first.

I don't know if the town or the railroad would be responsible for erecting such a device, but, if one considers the safety of the truck driver, the truck and any pedestrians using the catwalk when the impact occurs, I feel someone should do something about this constantly occurring hazard.

Board Position On Travel Criticized

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Having served for several years as a trustee of the Winchester Library, I was severely disappointed to see that the selectmen have continued to reduce allotments for out-of-state travel. Similar action in the past has fallen particularly heavily on the head librarian since she serves with distinction in the national professional organization of librarians.

Her duties require her to attend meetings twice a year outside of New England, and the cost of attendance, particularly in light of her modest salary, is not a small matter to her.

In the past the selectmen have arbitrarily made across-the-board percentage reductions in requests for out-of-state travel. This has resulted in the librarian making personal payments for a portion of the cost of her attendance at meetings.

I thoroughly agree with the comptroller that requests for out-of-state travel should be dealt with individually. I strongly disagree with the policy of the selectmen which limits such travel to New England.

Winchester's librarian has undertaken professional responsibilities outside of the town which reflect favorably on the town and enhance her ability to serve the town. She assumed these responsibilities in good faith at a time when reimbursement for her travel was a town policy. It is unfair to now reverse that policy.

Incidentally, I would be curious to know what is this thing called "prince nez" which you referred to on Jan. 17 as being worn by library trustees. I can attest that none of the trustees during my tenure wore a prince nez, but I cannot say whether any of us ever wore a prince nez.

You Walk Further At The Mall

Town Engineer Jake Ciarcia has an overlay down in his cellar office at Town Hall which he places over a map of Winchester Center to show visitors how much more compact the shopping area is here compared to the Burlington Mall.

The overlay is an outline of the mall shopping area which Jake places over a map of center. A shopper can walk from Renton's to Winchester Theatre or from Renton's to the parking lot across from Town Hall and still not cover the distance he would walk from Sears to Jordan's at the mall.

Or the shopper can walk from the parkway and Main street to Wedge Pond or from the Trust Company to the Town Hall parking lot and still not cover the extremities of the mall stores.

Yet shoppers in Winchester Center would never think of walking from Renton's to the theater. They drive. But at the mall, do they drive comparable distances? Say from Filene's to Sears? Of course not.

Maybe the reason is that at the mall while a shopper is walking from one end to the other there are other shops that he passes on the way and so it doesn't seem like a chore to walk but rather a pleasurable experience.

Though Winchester Center is small, the stores are spread out and a shopper who has parked at the Town Hall passes only a few stores en route to the Trust Company.

Maybe Winchester needs one of those geodesic domes Buckminster Fuller is so proud of. What a great experiment that would be. Though a rather costly one.

The selectmen are considering using auxiliary police officers to patrol the schools in an effort to curb vandalism; a move I consider unwise.

Auxiliary police now have limited duties, such as directing traffic and backing up the regular officers in emergencies. Their use on a regular basis, even though they would be directly responsible to the Police Department, would give them a "regular" status and thus give them a feeling of greater power.

Auxiliary men are not trained as regular police officers and are who can predict their behavior when confronted with criminal activity. Lord help the town if someone gets shot breaking into a school. If the town needs more protection, it should hire police officers.

Now that Winchester's new traffic lights are operating it's interesting to watch how many drivers, so accustomed to going through these intersections without stopping, keep on going through red lights. Old dogs and drivers — it takes a while to teach them new tricks.

Speaking of old dogs, sports writer John Parrell tells us that one elderly Winchester rooster thought it was poor sportsmanship that the Winchester basketball team "held the ball" toward the end of the thrilling Woburn game Tuesday night.

Quite to the contrary, Parrell says. Mike Phillips and Wayne Dennis couldn't have been held down with chains. "They were running up and down the court like racehorses. It's doubtful if the Boston Celtics could have provided Woburn with a victory with a 19 point lead and three minutes to go."

The old dog's point was that the Winchester fellows should have let Woburn have a chance to score. But Woburn had long since given up the ghost and reserves played at the end for both sides.

Vice Pres. Gerald Ford has certainly wasted no time opening a credibility gap.

Poor Taxi Service, Clear Streets Plowed

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My husband and I have lived in Winchester only a few months, but a couple of events recently have made us question the services provided here in town.

Last week I was using a laundromat on Washington street when a woman and two small children came in to use the pay telephone to call a taxi. The woman was told that she would have to wait "a few minutes" before the taxi could arrive.

I left the laundromat nearly one hour later and the woman and her children were still waiting. Since the weather was not stormy or icy, I began to wonder just what taxi service is available here. If I need to call a taxi in Winchester, should I expect to wait one hour for service?

Secondly, my husband has noticed on several occasions that the drivers of the snow plows continue to clear the streets after all the snow and ice has been removed. The plows drive back and forth creating sparks from the dry pavement.

Perhaps this gives the drivers some kind of small-child-with-matches sense of power, but it seems a waste of time and energy and taxpayers' money to us.

Anne Monk

Police, Fire Aid Woman

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to thank the Winchester Fire and Police Departments and an unknown young couple who helped me, my daughter and grandson on Tuesday night, Jan. 15, when my car caught on fire on Forest street.

The couple took my daughter and grandson to the home of my sister, Mrs. Richard Errico, on Bates road.

Mrs. Teri Smith

Only a few people, he says, favor impeachment. All the national polls give quite a different picture.

And, Ford says, he "knows" Nixon isn't responsible for the tape erasures. How does he "know"? Did his mother tell him? In typical Nixonian fashion, he doesn't let us in on that secret.

The automobile workers were one of the few sectors of the labor force to earn a substantial wage increase last year. The price of cars is up and the sale of cars down. I wonder if that tells us anything.

What ever happened to those people who used to think everything was a Communist plot? With all this impeachment talk you'd think they would be working overtime to let us know of this latest international conspiracy.

Gasoline rationing cards like this have all but disappeared but not the Winchester rationing board.

Now word comes that Winchester still apparently has a rationing board in effect. It was set up in 1968 as part of the nuclear defense protection program. Most towns and cities in Massachusetts set them up.

But the one in Winchester never formally disbanded. Its members were K. Paul Chase, John H. Van Dyke and John Lyman, all former selectmen. The possibility these old boards might be revived in view of the so-called energy "crisis" (if you believe it) prompted Van Dyke to comment: "I would still make myself available if needed."

Atty. Jack J. Moss of Winchester entered a not guilty plea recently in a conflict of interest case involving the Woburn Industrial Park and the Woburn Redevelopment Authority. Moss and Dr. J. Vincent DiRago were indicted by a grand jury in December for a possible conflict involving the sale of land during development of the "park."

An article in the Wakefield Item recently said, "Persistent rumors at the time of the collapse of the Surety Bank and Trust Company that organized crime had some connection with the failure may have had some truth behind them."

"There are now strong indications that George E. Cartier, one of a quartet indicted in the Surety conspiracy, was murdered in the fall of 1972... Atty. George V. Higgins (prosecutor in the Daniel Moore case) is convinced that Cartier is dead."

The case of Firefighter Riga before the state Civil Service Division has been settled — finally — after so many months. Riga first brought a grievance over his suspension for a week last spring.

He had refused to fill in for an officer by working overtime. "I am directed to inform you that the case of Joseph J. Riga before the Civil Service Commission has been reviewed and after due consideration of all the evidence the commissioners voted to deny the complaint brought under provisions of... and that the action of the appointing authority in suspending the employee for one week from his position as Fire Fighter, Winchester Fire Department, was justified and is hereby affirmed," the commission secretary wrote without giving any reason for the action.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall, however, wrote to the selectmen that the complaint was dismissed "based upon the absence of adequate grounds and failure of the complainant to appear."

League Worker Ann Oppenheimer Announces For Charter Commission

Ann H. Oppenheimer of 67 Thornberry rd. has announced her candidacy for the Charter Commission.

Mrs. Oppenheimer has worked with the Town Government Study Committee and the League of Women Voters since the summer of 1973 to put the question of electing a Charter Commission on the 1974 ballot.

To this end she captained the Precinct 4 door-to-door voter signature drive. It was also her responsibility to prepare for publication the Town Government Study Committee's yellow fact sheet distributed throughout town by petition carriers.

Last year Mrs. Oppenheimer was elected to a second term as town meeting member from Precinct 4. Mrs. Oppenheimer first became interested in town government in 1969 when campaigning for construction of the West Side fire station.

Since that time, as an active member of the Winchester League of Women Voters and past chairman of its voter service activity, her efforts have been concentrated in town government affairs.

In 1971 Mrs. Oppenheimer was appointed to the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee because of her interest in ecology and the environment. She is presently serving as corresponding secretary of the Winchester Environmental Protection Association.

Mrs. Oppenheimer, president of the Winchester Mount Holyoke Club, is also a member of the Winchester College Club, the Winchester Tennis Association and the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club.

Her interest in the future of the town was demonstrated when in 1972 she helped present to the Winchester Business Association a financial mechanism for revitalizing Winchester Center.

After receiving her B.A. from Mount Holyoke College in economics, Mrs. Oppenheimer worked at Arthur D. Little, Inc., as a member of the professional staff doing economic research, chiefly in the area of input-output analysis and economic forecasting.

At Arthur D. Little Mrs. Oppenheimer participated in an intensive study program on transportation and prepared a manual on industrial activity for a New Jersey City. She is married to Robert H. Oppenheimer.

Candidates Urged To Send Releases

Candidates for townwide public office in Winchester are urged to send their announcements to The Star for publication as early as possible.

Because Winchester this year will be electing nine charter commissioners, the number of persons running for office will be larger than in previous years.

The Star will print two news releases from each candidate, which includes the initial announcement of candidacy accompanied by a picture, and one letter to the editor.

Candidates must provide their own picture.

CANINE ORPHAN — This lovable watchdog desperately needs a home, says Kay Cardin of the local Animal Welfare. Hit by a car sometime ago and rescued by the police, Kelsa, a jet-black Labrador, is now in good health and spayed. Anyone who has a good home for Kelsa should call Mrs. Cardin at 8 Copley st.

John Noble Is Running For School Committee

John W. Noble Jr. of 32 Woodside rd. announces his candidacy for School Committee.

Noble is employed in school administration as the assistant director of physical education for the Cambridge public schools. His primary responsibility involves administering the total physical education program for the elementary system, comprised of 16 schools and a teaching staff of 23.

His administrative experience, plus his past teaching experience, have involved him in the administration of a large school system. He feels this will be of valuable assistance in the decision making function as a member of the School Committee.

"I look on my candidacy as an effort to become involved and make a worthwhile contribution to the community," he said. "My profession brings me in daily contact with many of the same problems that are facing our school administrators. My insight into these problems will be a great asset while making decisions regarding them."

"I am continually exposed to the challenging issues in areas such as Bill 766, budget cutting, priority setting and evaluation of personnel."

"Our schools are an $8 million business and should be administered as such. Programs should be reviewed and reconsidered annually and revised or discontinued when necessary."

"I would consider it a privilege to work with a man of Mr. MacDonald's ability and assist him in developing programs of which Winchester can continue to be proud."

Noble is married to the former Maureen Joyce of Woburn and has lived on Woodside road since 1958. They have four children:

Kathy, Jack Jr., Beth, and Steve, who attend the Winchester public schools.

He received a bachelor of science degree in physical education from the University of Massachusetts (Amherst), and a masters of education degree from the State College at Boston. He also has other graduate experience at Tufts University and Boston University.

Noble is involved as a member of the Recreation Committee, working closely with children, young adults and parents in an effort to satisfy the recreational needs of the community.

Some Insurance Rates Lowered After Survey

A complete analysis of fire protection facilities in Winchester has been completed as a result of a recent survey conducted by the Insurance Service Office of Massachusetts.

Analysis indicates the town now grades third class for specifically rated properties. This compares to a previous grade of fourth class for specifically rated properties. The grade of "B" for dwelling minimum rates remains the same.

The approximate reduction of rates on specifically rated properties will be 10 percent.

The survey in the Fire Department was conducted in the following areas: Management, organization, manpower, equipment, equipment maintenance, training, fire prevention, record keeping, communications, communications procedure, fire alarm and general performance of the department.

Also analyzed were the building code, fire prevention code, water system and structural condition of the buildings in the town.

Register To Vote!

If you are not registered to vote, you can register any time during the town clerk's regular office hours: 8:30-4:15. You can also register during these special registration hours:

Monday, Jan. 28, 8-9 p.m.
Monday, Feb. 4, 8-9 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 9, noon to 10 p.m.
Tuesday, Feb. 12, until 10 p.m., the last day to register for the town election, March 4.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MOTORING PUBLIC

The news about the energy crisis and possible fuel shortages concerns us all, so I want to share a few meaningful facts that could prove of real importance to you personally.

...OUR LARGEST DISCOUNTS EVER are now being offered on the latest, most advanced Buicks — particularly the Electras, Riverias, Estate Wagons and LeSabres.

These models have recently been substantially increased in price by General Motors ... however, Smyly Buick offers for your consideration NOW an excellent selection of the above mentioned models at the old price, plus the most generous savings in our 17 year history!

Because today we are all required to reduce driving speeds and asked to limit the use of our cars, consider these facts:

THE BUICK ELECTRA AVERAGED 18.3 MILES PER GALLON ... THE LeSABRE AVERAGED 18.9 MILES PER GALLON. During a very recent 2,611 mile drive from San Diego to Washington, D.C. (Sanctioned by the United States Auto Club).

Astounding — Yes, But True!

Based on these figures AN ELECTRA WILL TRAVEL 475 MILES AND A LeSABRE ALMOST 500 MILES ON A FULL TANK OF REGULAR GASOLINE.

Compare this to a SUB COMPACT AVERAGING 25 MILES PER GALLON WITH A STANDARD 11 GALLON TANK THAT WILL ONLY TRAVEL 275 MILES USING EVERY DROP OF FUEL.

Another important thought and fact to consider when essential driving, is necessary and gas stations are closed!

Net Result to You Who Take Advantage of This Sale:

BIG CAR SAFETY — RELIABILITY — COMFORT
WITH EXTRAORDINARY FUEL CONSERVING ADVANTAGES

I think that, in reflection, you will agree this is a most unusual opportunity. You are, therefore, urged to consider our special offer in big savings NOW ... don't wait 9 or 10 weeks till Spring as prices then will surely be considerably higher!!!

Very Sincerely,

W.J. Smyly
SMYLY BUICK, INC.

P.S. Our mid-sized Buick Century and our compact Buick Apollo averaged slightly over 20 miles per gallon during the same test!!!

Why She Is A Candidate

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Why I am a candidate for the School Committee:

The Winchester Star spurred me on. Apathy—never! People live in Winchester with enthusiasm. And with even more enthusiasm people return to Winchester, especially parents of school-age children.

In 1960 we selected Winchester to be our home town after a nomadic Navy life. The oldest child entered McCall in the eighth grade. The others attended Mystic School. Again The Winchester Star enters the picture. A call for substitute teachers led me into junior high teaching. A degree in political science from Mount Holyoke College in 1944 qualified me in the field of secondary social studies.

Continuing interest in teaching culminated in a masters in education from Boston State College. My student teaching requirements were met at Lynch Junior High School in the Spring of 1964.

The Town of Lincoln employed me as a teacher of English and social studies for three years, 1965 through 1968. I turned down tenure to reach reading in Lexington. In May of 1969 I completed the requirements for a certificate in advanced graduate study in secondary reading at Boston University.

Job bleakness took our family to the Greater Washington area. I gained one year experience as a reading resource teacher in Oxon Hill Senior High, Maryland, and three years experience at Northern Virginia Community College as an assistant professor of reading in the developmental division.

I know the field of education as a parent and a teacher.

I know a good school system.

I know the burdens of a taxpayer. I know the questions that the citizens of Winchester ask.

Our two oldest boys are graduates of Winchester High School and subsequently of Harvard and Stevens Institute of Technology. Our third son, a Mystic School graduate, now attends the University of Richmond. Our daughter, happily, is in the Class of 1976 at Winchester High School.

It is exciting to see the new schools, to admire the able administrators, to respect the talented teachers, and win or lose to be a candidate for the School Committee as a citizen of Winchester.

Apathy—NEVER!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The purpose of the Fire and Police Departments is to protect the citizens of the town. When the situation calls, the men of both departments join together to do all they can to provide this protection.

As a member of the Fire Department, I, myself, am glad that both departments can work together, as well as independently.

When a call is received, apparatus is sent from the department which has been called to prevent needless delay, but neither one hesitates to call the other if needed.

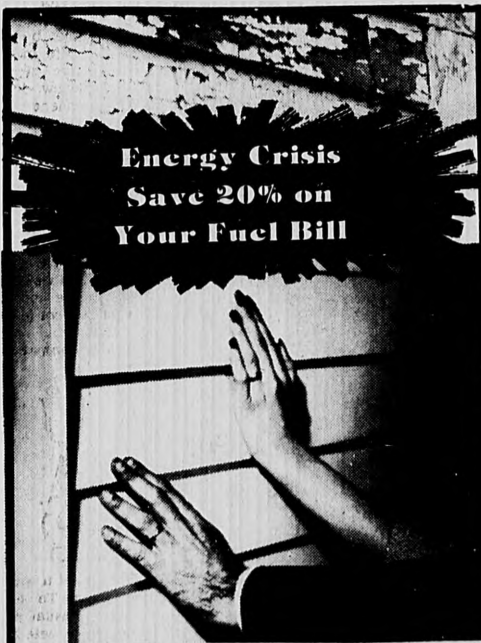

It appears to me that if material printed was checked before hand, there would be no need for retractions or corrections of matter printed in this paper.

Three Charged In Bank Heist

Winchester resident James Edward Guilmond, 33, was one of three men recently charged by a Federal grand jury for armed robbery of the Suburban National Bank of Arlington, Woburn Plaza Branch, last Aug. 9.

Besides Guilmond, indictments charged Richard Alan Capulonis, 26, of Worcester, and Francis David Lovell, 26, of West Boylston. Guilmond lived on Brookside ave. (off Cross st.).

U. S. Attorney James N. Gabriel said each man was charged with two counts taking approximately $17,146 and using guns during the course of a robbery.

Edward J. Lee, assistant U. S. attorney who presented the case to the federal grand jury, said the maximum penalty for the offenses is confinement up to 25 years or a fine of up to $10,000, or both.

Last August, as they fled from the scene of the robbery, the men who robbed the bank headed for Winchester and took the Winchester and Woburn police on a wild chase centered in the Cambridge street-Wildwood street area.

Mrs. Ann H. Maselunas, 60, of 361 Main St. was caught in a crossfire between the fleeing robbers and police. She was injured by shattered glass.

Early the following morning the car used in the robbery was found in a wooded area across from the J. H. Winn Co. on Washington Street.

Later federal agents arrested two suspects in New York City. They were charged with possession of firearms, a federal offense, and have been in custody since that time.

The Winchester man was arrested in Malden in early November on gun and drug charges. He has been incarcerated at the Billerica House of Correction since then.

It is reported that indictments were brought about through the cooperative efforts of area police, state police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

League To Study Juries, Justice

The League of Women Voters will continue its study of the administration of justice in three discussion groups scheduled for Tuesday through Thursday.

The pros and cons of plea bargaining, the value of grand juries and the selection and management of juries will be explored. The discussion leaders are Mrs. Abraham Goldin of 15 Carriage la. Mrs. Charles Morgan of 6 Crescent rd. and Mrs. William Fallon of 1 Chesterford ter.

The meetings have been arranged as follows:

Tuesday, Jan. 29, 7:45 p.m. Home of Mrs. Nolan Jones, 22 Squire rd.

Wednesday, Jan. 30, 12:30 p.m. Home of Mrs. John McPhail, 23 Allen rd.

Thursday, Jan. 31, 9:15 a.m. Home of Mrs. Winfield Knopf, 233 Main st.

Non-members interested in joining one of these groups may call Mrs. Roger Baumann, chairman, 26 Everett ave.

Miss Travers, James Crowley Pledge Vows At Nuptial Mass

St. Mary of the Nativity Church, Scituate, was the setting for a double-ring wedding ceremony uniting Susan Marshall Travers to James W. Crowley on Dec. 15.

The Rev. George Connolly was celebrant who officiated at the nuptial mass. A reception followed at Humarock Lodge, Scituate.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Travers of Scituate. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Crowley of Winchester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line empire of white Alencon lace pearl embroidered and peau-de-sole and featured a fitted bodice, high Victorian neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of French silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Robin E. Gray of Scituate was maid of honor. She wore a pale blue A-line empire gown featuring a high neck and long sleeves with ruffles at the neck and wrists. She carried a nosegay of miniature pink and purple carnations and blue baby's breath.

Joseph F. Crowley of Scituate was best man for his brother. Ushers included Michael E. Hadley of Burlington, nephew of the bridegroom, and Sean P. Travers of Scituate, brother of the bride.

A graduate of Scituate High School, the bride is employed by Jay's Publishers' Service Inc. The bridegroom, a Winchester High School graduate and a member of the Winchester Elks Club, is vice-president of Jay's Publishers' Service Inc.

After a trip to Cape Cod, the couple is living in Scituate.

Jaycee Week Is Time To Reflect

In observance of National Jaycee Week, Winchester Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes held a sherry hour last Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McMorro.

Jaycee President Lawrence Tobiasson noted that Jaycee Week provides an opportunity to reflect on the community service projects completed during the last year. He encourages anyone interested in learning more about the work of the Jaycees to contact him.

The Winchester Jaycees organized thirteen years ago, with membership open to young men ages 18 - 35.

The Winchester Jaycee-ettes this year celebrate the 10th anniversary of their assistance to Jaycees and to the community. Major concerns of Jaycee-ettes are mental health and retardation and healthy babies.

Their efforts with the local March of Dimes Drive reflect their dedication. Recently they donated a copy of Dr. Virginia Apgar's book "Is My Baby Alright?" to the public library. Mrs. Richard McMorro, president of the Jaycee-ettes, pointed to Dr. Apgar's book as one in great demand, and that the Jaycee-ettes are pleased to make this copy available to the library.

Winton Cabaret

WOW In Final Throes Of Polishing Acts

WOW is the theme of this year's annual Winton Club Cabaret Show. Wildly innovative and competent, Mrs. Frank B. Kelley Jr., chairman, is turning the Town Hall stage into a professional theatre.

The WOW audience will see the Winchester Railroad Station with all of its weathering, a giant clam shell that opens up to reveal a live leggy mermaid, and a town disposal area with a real live moving trash disposal monster.

Mrs. Kelley reports her crew has provided background paint lettering and then have refurbished everything from a park bench to an antique cane rocker.

The crew has worked Saturdays and week nights building sets and backdrops. Frank B. Kelley and Ralph Swanson are co-chairmen. Members of the crew consist of engineers, lawyers, businessmen, plant managers and manufacturers.

The dancing tentists of Winchester are now in the final throes of polishing their act... the Winton Club Drill is ready for its standard position of closing the first act.

The special Ascot Gavotte is to be staged complete with beautiful and original costumes. These costumes and the Winton Club Drill costumes are given for use by Mrs. Percival B. Metcalf of Ginn road. She arranges for show chairmen to design the drill outfit and then has them tailored for each of the 16 girls who will wear them. Mrs. Metcalf makes his donation to the club in memory of her late husband, thus benefiting Winchester Hospital.

Winton Club Cabaret Show stage crew members take a break as they prepare for WOW to be staged at Town Hall next week. From left, top, Frank B. Kelley, Jr., chairman; Robert W. Armstrong Jr., William Gustin, Richard Bannister, Theodore E. Burleigh Jr. and James Pettee. Absent is Ralph M. Swanson, co-chairman and other crew members.

Simolioff, Ellis Lead Mixed-Up Doubles Tourney

Al Simolioff and Don Ellis of Winchester combined to win the mixed-up doubles tennis tournament Jan. 12 at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center while Mrs. Richard (Marie) Furr of Winchester and Mrs. Lorraine Darby of Woburn joined forces to win a similar event at the Charles River Indoor Tennis and Health Club in Newton.

At Winchester, Al Simolioff and Don Ellis outscored 18 other teams of men to evolve as trophy winners. According to tournament director Joe Roark, Simolioff and Ellis presented a formidable duo to the opponents as they used their height and range to volley and smash offerings from an aggressive net position. Both, stated Roark, were serving well and were very effective in their service returns.

At Newton, Marie Furr and Lorraine Darby showed a surprisingly effective doubles pattern that featured excellent court coverage and aggressive volleying. Their well-coordinated parallel court coverage had their opponents in the unenviable position of having to make almost perfect shots to win points and thus make errors that tended to pile up Furr and Darby's impressive point total under the exacting Vass system of scoring.

The dominance of Winchester players did not stop at the winner level. A team of Dick Furr and Bob Pritchard, both from Winchester, enjoyed runner-up status to the winning team of Simolioff and Ellis. A team of Bob Cummings of Winchester, along with Donald Gadois of Gloucester, were tied with the Furr-Pritchard team for second place honors.

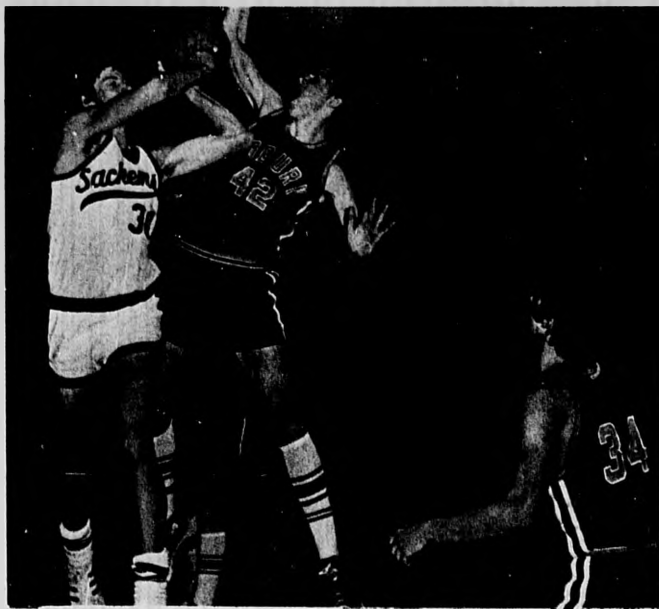

John Koslowski, president of the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center and the Charles River Indoor Tennis and Health Club, stated that mixed-up doubles for men, by teams, and for women, by teams, are rapidly gaining in popularity for these Saturday night tournaments. He indicated future events of this nature will be offered in February and March.

Lifesaving Course

Two courses in senior lifesaving to prepare persons to work as lifeguards will be given this winter at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational High School.

The senior lifesaving courses begin Feb. 22. One class is at 7 p.m. The other is at 8:30 p.m. Each lasts 90 minutes and continues for 12 sessions.

For more information contact the adult educational office at Northeast.

Squirt Lions Win Two Games, Tie One

In a busy week, the St. Eulalia Squirt Lions won two games and tied one against three fine Squirt A Hockey teams from neighboring towns.

On Jan. 15, the Lions came from behind to defeat the Melrose Chiefs 4-3 at Lynn. St. Eulalia goals were scored by Joe Sciacca, Mark Deyab and John Huebl on breakaways, with the winning goal by John Kisi. Goalies Jack Davies and Chris Hoffman were outstanding throughout the game.

On Jan. 19, the Lions edged Wakefield 3-2 at Winchester USA rink in an exciting exhibition of fine two-way hockey. John Kisi opened the scoring by slamming in a pass from Steve Dionne, who had busted down the right wing from deep in his own zone.

Mark Deyab scored a picture goal after taking a pass from Greg Diffley. Billy Ferry tallied the winner with a hard shot from right wing off a long pass from Steve Tucci.

On Jan. 20, a wide open contest with Lexington at the Fessenden School ended in an 8-8 tie. Goal scorers for the Squirt Lions were Billy Ferry with three, Mark Deyab with two and Steve Dionne, Larry Maida and John Huebl with single counters.

Red Cross Offers Aquatic Grants

John J. Walte Jr., chairman of the Winchester Chapter American Red Cross, announces two scholarships to the Red Cross National Aquatic School will be awarded by the Winchester Red Cross Chapter.

Written request must be submitted to the Winchester Chapter, 39 Church st., by Feb. 15 and must include reasons for desiring the scholarship. Additional information regarding locations and dates and application may be obtained from the Winchester Chapter.

In an effort to help meet the need for qualified Water Safety Instructors, the Red Cross conducts national aquatic and small craft schools at strategic locations around the country beginning in June to give enrollees an opportunity to take training before starting summer activities, said Walte.

The training is available for men and women 17 years and older who are better than average swimmers and medically approved as physically fit. A faculty of experts, mainly volunteers, train the students who later teach others how to be safe in, on, and around the water.

Young, Eager Wrestling Team Pins Medford By Large Score

With a smashing defeat over Medford High School in last week's home meet, the Winchester High School wrestling squad finally turned the tables on the beginning of a difficult wrestling season. The final score was Winchester 51, Medford 12.

Only five of 13 varsity members returned this year to the Winchester squad: Ed Neves (100 pounds), Jay McGrath (128 pounds), George McHugh (140 pounds), team captain Steve Johnis (148 pounds) and Paul Lee (heavy weight).

Joe Busichella, a senior who is doing well this season, returned to the Winchester team. Busichella wrestled in the 1972-73 season—off and on—as varsity and junior varsity last year.

A major difficulty for this season has been the lack of experience for the majority of the varsity members since Winchester has no type of feeder system for the varsity program; many of its opponents do have such programs. In a sport where experience is vital to success, this difficulty is not easily overcome. The Winchester squad is now one and three, with losses to Malden, 43-24, Reading, 51-9, and Billerica, 39-21.

Practice and dual meet experience are beginning to pay real dividends for the Winchester squad, regardless of its inexperience.

In the Medford meet Ed Neves won a decision over Dente of Medford in a close bout by 8 to 7.

Neves, a junior, scored a takedown in the first and second period with a reversal in the third period and an escape in the second period for a total of eight team points resulting in a decision of 3-0 in favor of Winchester.

Mark VanGeron, a sophomore, lost a decision to Cronan of Medford with Medford scoring four points and VanGeron only one, an escape in the second period.

This tied the meet for Medford. Another lightweight, Jim Bouhouys, a sophomore, was pinned by Arreira of Medford in the second period, bringing the score to 9-3 in Medford's favor.

The turning point for Winchester was Robert Quine's defeating his Medford opponent by a fall in 3:49 in the second period giving the Winchester squad a 15-9 edge over Medford. Jay McGrath, a junior and co-captain, pinned his Medford opponent, Capolla, in 39 seconds with a "pancake" takedown and pinning combination.

Without question McGrath's takedown and pin was the highlight of the night for the Winchester squad. Frank Smedley, a first year wrestler and sophomore who shows great promise, easily defeated his Medford opponent with a 10-5 decision in Winchester's favor.

George McHugh, a junior at 140 pounds, pinned his Medford opponent with a pin at 2:30 into the second quarter. Steve Johnis, captain of the Winchester team, defeated his opponent in a decision of 8-0, bringing the score to 27-9 in Winchester's favor.

Medford wrestler in 1:29 with a pancake takedown and pinning combination. Hamilton is a junior who shows real promise.

Joe Busichella, a senior and second year wrestler, pinned his opponent in 1:21 of the first period. Busichella wrestles at the 167 pound weight level.

P. T. Miller at 177 pounds lost a close decision for three team points (7-7) to Rubenstein of Medford. Miller is a first year wrestler and a senior.

John Calaresse, who is a sophomore and wrestles at 187 pounds, won his second victory over Medford with a pin at 3:07 in the second period bringing the score to 45-12 for Winchester. John, who is a novice wrestler, shows much promise.

Paul Lee, the senior heavyweight, finished the meet off by easily defeating the Medford heavyweight with a fall at 3:01 in the second period bringing the score to 51-12.

In terms of potential this has been a good year for the Winchester squad. Over 50 high school students went out for the sport, with 40 still on the list.

Promising junior varsity squad members: Don Martin (100 pounds), a sophomore; Joe McCarthy, a junior at 130 pounds, Danny Ladd, senior, at the same weight; Bill Hamilton, a sophomore at 140 pounds; Mark Finneran and Jay Estabrook at 134 pounds; Vincent Bement at 147 pounds; John Apostolou, Brian Abbanent, and Doug Bishop at 165; with Bob Hernon and Wayne McNeil at heavyweight.

A lengthy and difficult season awaits the Winchester squad. Experience will be gained vital to success. The team with a taste of victory is young and eager.

Sachem Swimmers, 7-0, Ready Friday For 'Meet Of Decade'

Last Wednesday and Thursday, the Winchester High School swim team took their second and third conference victories of the year, upping their season record to 7 and 0. The Sachems defeated a mediocre Brookline High School team on 96 to 62 and on the following day had their biggest meet to date, downing powerful Belmont 96-76.

Against Brookline, Winchester did not have the services of sprint ace Jim Frizzell due to an auto accident, but did not seem to need him. They completely dominated the meet, taking nine out of 11 first places.

Belmont, the defending conference champs, proved to be a much tougher opponent. This time with the help of Frizzell, who had two firsts, Winchester took nine out of 11 firsts. Individual races were much closer.

The meet standout was Steve Armstrong, a junior who shattered two pool records while recording his best times ever in the 200 yards and 500 yard free style events with times of 2:01.7 and 5:33.6 respectively, and bettering his time by 22 seconds in the latter event.

Another scoring threat that has made their talents known in the past two meets are the diving team of Jay Williams and Chip Vickroy, both seniors. This tandem has taken both the first and second places in the last two meets, providing the Sachems with that added one-two punch.

Scoring against Brookline were:

S. Armstrong (C)	12
R. Palumbo	10
D. Holmes	10
A. Goodman	8
V. Palumbo (C)	7
R. Minutoli	6
J. Williams	4

Free relay 1: Frizzell, Armstrong, Henriques, Holmes.

Free relay 2: Corf, Fichera, Ciccio, Karp.

Vs Weston

Tomorrow at the Weston Junior High School pool undefeated Winchester will be pitted against undefeated Weston, the winner of which could be the western conference champs.

This event has been touted to be the best high school swim meet in a decade. On paper this event is a tossup.

Coach Palumbo predicts that the team who is the hungriest will win. "My boys are starved," he said.

Starting time: 3:30 p.m.

Girls' Gymnastics Team Off To Winning Start

The girls' gymnastics team has begun the season by winning their first two meets. The season began Jan. 7 with a home meet against Stoneham. The score was Winchester 52.30, Stoneham 48.70.

Outstanding performances of the day were by Lee Costello, who received a 7.15 average for her floor exercise routine. She received the highest score and a qualifying score in that event for the state individuals meet to be held in March.

In order to compete in this meet, each competitor must receive three qualifying scores in the event in which she wishes to perform. The qualifying scores for the floor exercise are 6.8 and above; for vaulting, 6.8

and above; for the balance beam 6.0 and above; for the uneven bars 4.8 and above.

Another strong performance was by Becca Higgins, who received a 7.95 for her vault which gave her a qualifying score.

On the balance beam Dolly Porter took first place with 4.15. Kim Shawcross performed in all four events (all-around) and contributed to the team score.

The girls' second meet was a close one with Melrose. Final score was Winchester 55.65, Melrose 55.27. Three qualifying scores were received: Lee Costello, going all-around for the state individuals; Sue Higgins on the floor exercise; and Kim Shawcross on the vault.

St. Mary's Clinches Playoffs

St. Mary's hockey team pounded Dorchester in the corners and on the scoreboard Saturday to clinch a CYO League playoff berth for the 14th consecutive season. The team is one point behind first place Norwood with two games left before playoffs.

Steve O'Neill got things rolling for St. Mary's with a goal at 4:39 of the first period, Art Johns assisting.

Team Will Meet Wakefield Feb. 2

Hockey Night in Boston, featuring top schoolboy hockey games in Eastern Massachusetts broadcast over WCRB 1330 AM radio, will focus on a game between Wakefield and Winchester at 2 p.m. on Feb. 2.

Hockey Night in Boston will carry games through to Feb. 19 and 21 at which time semifinals and championship games will be heard.

Tournament dates and times will be announced as pairings are made. They will include at least four opening round games.

The quarterfinals will be played March 6-7. Semifinals will be played March 9. The Eastern Mass. finals for Divisions I and II will be held March 11. The state finals will be held March 18.

Dorchester came back two minutes and one second later to tie the game. St. Mary's went ahead to stay at 7-4. Bill McLean scored the first of his two goals, assisted by Dan Whitely.

McLean scored his second goal of the game at 1:33 of the second period converting O'Neill's pass to give St. Mary's a two goal lead.

Defenseman Tony Santo made it 4-1 with a slap shot from the point that went between the Dorchester goalie's pads.

Art Johns scored two goals, both in the third period, to complete the scoring. Center Mike Jeannette set Johns up for the first goal at 1:31. His second was an unassisted breakaway goal at 4:59.

St. Mary's had a season high 44 shots on the Dorchester goal.

By clinching a playoff spot St. Mary's kept intact a team record of never finishing out of the playoffs. St. Mary's plays Walpole Sunday at 1 p.m. at Boston College. A St. Mary's win and a tie or loss by Norwood would put St. Mary's back in first place.

Sachems Ice St. Sebastian's

The Winchester High School hockey team played a non-league game with St. Sebastian's Monday at the USA rink, topping the opposition in a free scoring game 8-6.

It was nip and tuck right up to the final minute of action. St. Sebastian's knotted the count at six goals each when Devaney beat Peter Frongillo at the 11:29 mark.

Tony Pronski caught fire and took the faceoff down to put Winchester ahead by 7-6 10 seconds later. He rushed in again to make it 8-6 16 seconds later.

This game differed from the usual low-scoring Middlesex League contests. All three lines took part in the barrage with no less than 10 Sachems contributing points in the eight goal-bombardment. The visitors, led by Devaney, who had a hat trick, kept Peter Frongillo busy at the Winchester end of the rink.

The summary:

Winchester 1 2 5 8
St. Sebastian 2 2 2 6

First Period: (S) Kennedy, unassisted, 3:33; (W) Siegfriedt, assists for Brennan and Evans, 9:19; (S) Devaney, assists for Maskell and Berry, 9:42.

Second Period: (W) Murphy, assist for Allard, 0:24; (S) Maskell assist for Devaney; 5:22; (S) Quirk, assist for DiGiovanni, 10:56; (W) O'Connor, assists for Pronski and Sandford, 12:03.

Third Period: (W) O'Connor, assists for Sandford and Pronski, 4:31; (S) Devaney, assists for LeDoux and Maskell, 5:42; (W) Siegfriedt, assists for Evans and Brennan, 7:18; (W) Kivney, assists for Allard and Pierce, 8:16; (S) Devaney, assists for Maskell and Quinn, 11:19; (W) Pronski, assist for Pierce, 11:29; (W) Pronski, assist for Sandford, 11:45.

Last Week's Game

Coach Ted Kelley's Winchester High School hockey team lost two games last week, both by close scores.

The Woburn Tanners took the game Wednesday night by 3-1. On Saturday the Sachems went to Lexington, where the final count was 2-1. This brings the season's record to 3-7-1, which indicates neither the style of hockey of the Sachems forces nor the steady game which Peter Frongillo has been playing in the goal.

The Winchester offense has accounted for 26 goals. There have been just 30 scored against them. The goals for figure is 2.36, and the goals against is only 2.73.

The Sachems opened against Woburn with a swarming, storming attack and peppered John Bennett with 10 shots during the first period, none of which caused the red light to glow. After being trapped in their own zone for most of the first five minutes, the visitors broke loose and scored on their first real shot of the game.

Tommy Bertochi snagged a rebound of a driving shot by Dave Ethridge. With Frongillo on the ice after the first save, Bertochi drove one high into the net.

Once again the Winchester sextet pressed the attack, with Woburn unable to clear their own zone. With just a half minute left before the end of the period there was a face off at the Winchester end. MacDonald passed to Paul Hunt and Woburn led by 2-0.

During the second period the Tanners played their best hockey of the entire game, restricting the Sachems to seven shots by keeping their defensive zone clear.

Tony Pronski and Phil O'Connell teamed with Pete Sandford and the last named drilled the shot home. This brought the score to 2-1, raising the Sachems hopes once more.

The final Woburn goal came with the visitors short handed when Bob Connolly thwarted an attempt by a Winchester defense player to get a power play started. Connolly made a clever move, stole the puck and smashed it past Frongillo. By this time both teams were weary after the fast early action, and there was no further scoring.

The summary:

WINCHESTER 0 1 0 1
WOBURN 2 0 1 3

First Period: (WO) Bertochi, assist Ethridge 6:15; (WO) Hunt, assist MacDonald 11:29.

Second Period: (WI) Sandford, assists Pronski and O'Connell 6:43.

Third Period: (WO) Connolly, unassisted 5:24.

VS. LEXINGTON

With memories of their 4-0 first round defeat of the Minutemen in which they had played their best balanced game of the season, the Sachem sextet took the ice hoping to duplicate their previous success.

However, the experience of eight games and the benefit of playing on home ice made a big difference for Lexington. They played a much improved game although they could only manage 16 shots at the Winchester cage they were able to pass Pete Frongillo twice, while the Sachems registered on only one of their 23 scoring opportunities.

The first score came after 8:15 of the first period on a shot by Bob Thompson which bounced straight up and then landed on one of Frongillo's lads. The referee ruled that it was inside the cage and held his ground in the face of strong Winchester protests.

The second goal for Lexington came in the second period as a result of a sticking penalty against a Sachem defender when Thompson and MacAlduff combined in passing to Bob Roudreau, who scored what proved to be the winning goal.

The Winchester sextet kept on pressing, thought they had scored, only to have it disallowed. Finally at the 10:34 mark Tom Brennan engineered a power play goal as he drew out the defense and passed to Mark Siegfriedt for Winchester's only goal.

The summary:

WINCHESTER 0 0 1 1
LEXINGTON 1 1 0 2

Tracksters Edge Lexington, 45-41

After dropping a close meet to Melrose on Tuesday, Winchester High School Coach Tom Kline's forces rebounded to edge Lexington in the Saturday meet, 45-41. Going into the relay event the Sachems trailed by 41-40. The speedy quartet of Tonello, Cronan, Meahl and Mauger reeled off a 2:27.4 performance to take the event and the meet.

One feature was the shattering of the Sachem indoor shotput mark by Chip Roche. He hurled the iron ball 49 feet, 9 1/2 inches to set the new record. Dave Burns in the 600-yard run was the only other Winchester performer to take a first place. It was an uphill fight with seconds and thirds plus the relay which accounted for the victory.

Donna Criscione in the second heat of the girls' dash equalled Kerry McKenna's first heat performance of 6.4 seconds. Laurie Samoloff's 6.5 was good for a second place.

The summary:

Two-mile run: Jordan (L), Parker (W), Masten (L). Time: 10:27.1.
Shot put: Roche (W), Dexter (W), Rigney (W). Distance: 49 ft. 9 1/2 in.

Hurdles: Scolare (L), Beard (W), Baicigalupo (L). Time: 6:7 sec.

Dash: Cupp (L), Cronan (W), Kent (L). Time: 5:3 sec.

300-yard dash: Williams (L), Mauger (W), Meahl (W). Time: 34 sec.

600-yard run: Burns (W), Rigney (W), Scott (L). Time: 1:19.8.

1,000-yard run: O'Michael (L), Lanigan (W), Crowell (L). Time: 2:25.6.

1,600-yard run: Norton (L), Hayford (W), Hoiseth (L). Time: 4:46.3.

High jump: Vaughan (L), Miller (W), Samoloff (W). Height: 5 ft. 7 in.

Relay: Won by Winchester.

Pee Wees Rolling, Score Two Wins

After a 3-0 trouncing at the hands of Reading, the Pee Wee Lions of St. Eulalia's Church together put two wins and a tie last week to get rolling again. Watertown became the first victim, losing 6-3.

Passing and skating backed up by strong goaltending combined for this win. Three days later at the Lions den, USA rink, Belmont, which lost the first contest 3-2, was determined to avenge this as their performance indicated.

Up and down action predominated, game with the goalies keeping both teams in the contest.

The Lions put the pressure on in the dying seconds but could not capitalize and had to settle for a 2-2 tie.

On Sunday the hungry Lions visited Waltham for their third game in six days. The first encounter with the Watchmakers had them on the short end of a 5-4 score. The opening face-off showed that the Lions were not going to be denied.

Great skating, passing and poke checking kept Waltham bottled up and on their heels. The stiff body checking didn't hurt their play either. Although Waltham scored first it was their last.

When the smoke settled after a scrappy, hard hitting but well played contest the Lions skated off with a 6-1 victory. There are no single stars in this one. The whole team did it all. If the Lions pick up where they left off on their next two home games, Wednesday, Jan. 23, Arlington and Saturday, Jan. 26, Medford 8:20 p.m. USA, look out!

By Arthur Gogras
In the Winchester Youth Hockey League a tough game was played by the Bruins, who edged the Rangers 6-2, on Jan. 13. Bob Torriere and Jim Cogan worked hard in the corner to get the puck out front to Bill Andrews, who snapped a hard wristshot into the net for Bruins.

Coming out of the penalty box after a charging penalty, Will Paglia picked up a pass from Bill Schromm, broke in alone, faked goalie for score to tie it up for Rangers.

A power play goal by the Bruins while Will Paglia in penalty box for Rangers, Steve Fay scored on a pass from Mike McEwan. The Bruins played a good passing game while Steve Collins scored after accurate head man pass from Dave Doucette. Bill Andrews scored on a tip-in on passes by Steve Fay and Jim Cogan. Bob Torriere scored after some hardwork by Steve Collins who made a pass out front.

Near the end of the game, Rangers pulled the goalie and on a power play, in which all on ice worked the puck around to Will Paglia, who got free in front of net and dumped it in.

Rangers' Kevin Consoles played a heady game both ways, making superior diving save on Bruins breakaway in the first period. Mike McEwan and Jack Noble played aggressively while Bruins made teamwork pay off.

No. 8 For Sachems

Winchester won its eighth straight Middlesex League game by beating the Reading Rockets 7-6 in the game played Friday night here. It was a hard fought game right to the final whistle. The Sachems were never behind except for a few moments in the opening period.

Neither team was too effective in shooting over the first six minutes, the score remaining in single numbers. The foul shooting of co-captain Mike Heffernan gave Winchester four consecutive points. A hoop by Nate Bitting produced a first period lead of 1-0.

Sandy Bigelow finished off a neat tapoff play by scoring after seven seconds of play in the second period. He tossed in two more baskets during the period to run his first half total to 10 points. The Sachems gradually increased their lead throughout the latter part of this quarter, leading at half time 39-30.

Wayne Dennis, who had been held in check during the first half, started the second like a fire horse. With some clever steals the Winchester team was able to maintain a comfortable margin.

All five Winchester starters ended up with double figures. Sandy Bigelow and Heffernan tallied 18 points each. Nate Bitting had 16 points. Wayne Dennis had an even dozen. Co-captain Tim Porter came through with 10. Dave Herook paced the Rockets with 17. Ollie Clemens and Dan Collins each netted 14.

FACTS
BY FRANK MAHONEY

Insurance is a highly technical business. The average buyer, unfortunately, cannot expect to know for himself exactly what he needs. This means that he has to rely heavily on the insurance agent or broker he chooses, to tell him the best insurance plan for his own particular needs. Not only is there a difference in insurance policies, but there is a difference in insurance companies. Some are stronger than others, or more liberal in the interpretation of contracts. When you choose an insurance man, make sure he knows his business from top to bottom.

And when you choose FRANK X. MAHONEY INSURANCE AGENCY, 914 Mass. Ave., 843-3600 you can be sure that we will give you the best possible advice and guidance. If you still don't understand all the ramifications and coverages of the Mass. no-fault laws, we will take all the time needed to explain the details to you so that you do understand. Hours: 9-5 Mon. - Fri.; by appt. Sat.

HELPFUL HINT: Ordinarily an agent has power to bind his insurance company to an agreement.

Epiphany Church Schedules Annual Meet. Saves Fuel

The Parish of the Epiphany will hold its annual meeting on Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish dinner. For reservations contact the church office.

In an effort to help in the energy crisis the church itself is closed and unheated, remaining this way until Jan. 28. Services last week were held in the parish house. The chapel and Hadley Hall are other areas for activities.

Services will return to the church on Jan. 27. If the experiment of keeping the church itself closed and unheated works well, it may be repeated during the coldest of the winter months.

Offices in the parish hall will remain open as usual.

Prayer Power Lecture Topic

Prayer power provides a way out of "defaming habits, depressing attitudes, and ill health," Albert B. Crichtlow, CS, will tell an audience next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Crichtlow, the first black to become a Christian Science lecturer, is from Petit Valley, Trinidad. He will be introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Herberich of Sheffield West.

Albert B. Crichtlow

Crichtlow was a flying officer with the Royal Air Force from 1943-46. For 20 years he was a design engineer with an architectural firm in Trinidad and later became a building contractor.

He served on the Christian Science Committee on publication for Trinidad for 13 years. As a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he travels extensively.

Healings of racial prejudice as well as physical conditions through the power of prayer will be related in his talk.

Chairman of the local lecture committee is Mrs. Eleonora M. Spanjaard. Persons who need transportation to the meeting should contact the Christian Science Reading Room between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Epiphany Women To Attend Meets

Several Parish of the Epiphany women are planning to attend Days of Fellowship and Praise scheduled by the Episcopal Churchwomen of Massachusetts in February.

One session will take place at Christ Church, Needham, on Feb. 6 where the keynote speaker will be Elisabeth Elliot Leitch, author and missionary to Peruvian Indians.

The second session will be given on Feb. 13 at the Church of the Messiah, Woods Hole, and will feature the Rev. Elsa Walberg, worship chairman of the Episcopal Churchwomen Diocesan Board.

Toastmistress Club Changes Meeting Place

The Winchester Toastmistress Club will meet at the home of president Lois Hamilton, 519 Pleasant st., Malden, at 8 p.m. on Monday instead of at Epiphany Church, Winchester as previously planned.

The theme of the evening will be speech contest preliminaries. All members will participate by preparing and developing a five-minute speech (which will be timed) on words such as dignity, time, resolutions, instinct, strength, communication, spoof, crisis, humor, or vision. This is a demonstration and practice session for the annual speech contest on Feb. 11, open to the public.

Hilda Hope of 37 Glen Green, who will be Toastmistress and introduce speakers, will be one of three judges.

Worship Service To Honor Carl Sandburg

A special worship service, created and arranged by the Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide, minister, Winchester Unitarian Society, and sponsored by the worship committee, will be held at 10 a.m.

St. Mary's Plans For Confirmation

The Sacrament of Confirmation will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church on May 20 by Bishop Lawrence Riley.

To help students become aware of the importance of the sacrament in their lives, the church is offering 14 learning sessions.

The first will be an inscription rite on Jan. 28 at 7:30 in the upper church. At this time children, accompanied by parents, will be formally accepted into the current year's confirmation class. Each will be given a "Live in the Spirit" book which will be used in preparation for confirmation.

Meetings will be conducted by Rev. Mark Sheehan, director, and seminarians Marcel Martel and Phil Hainley. The following teachers will participate: Mrs. Marie Nuzzo, Mary Welch, Bob Quinn, Mary Ann O'Callaghan, Carol Kermond, Kathy Farren and Father Bernard Hoy. Joseph Costello will have a home class.

Questions should be directed to the Religious Education Office.

Ideas on modern religious developments will be explored in depth at St. Mary's Church on Jan. 30 at 8 p.m. and will continue on subsequent Wednesdays through April.

The program comes following the results of an interest survey. The exploration of questions and issues which are perplexing adult Christians will be open to all interested and concerned.

According to the Religious Education Office of the church, adult education is a subject of intense interest in the Catholic Church today for four reasons: Vatican Council II, the crisis in Catholic education, the ecumenical movement and the revolting revolutionary changes in modern society.

They report Catholic education has been in the process of extensive analysis and evaluation throughout the United States. As a result, there is new emphasis on adult education programs throughout the church.

Wyman Students See Pantomime

A pantomime program was given recently at Wyman School by Trent Arterberry of Arlington.

Arterberry studied theatre arts and worked with an original experimental theatre group at the San Francisco Art Institute under the direction of Jonathan North.

The following year he trained in dance with Don McLeod at the School of Performing Arts in San Diego. He joined McLeod's mime troupe and toured colleges and universities on the West Coast.

Arterberry has worked extensively with children in teaching and performing the art of pantomime.

Mill Speaks To Men's Garden Club

W. Robert Mill of Belmont will speak at the next meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Greater Boston on Feb. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Imber House, 417 Common st., Belmont.

Mr. Mill, president of the Mass. Orchid Society, will speak on "Growing Orchids Under Lights." He will illustrate his talk with color slides. Refreshments will be served. Wives and members, interested gardeners and members of garden clubs in the Garden Club Federation are invited.

This Sunday at the Winchester Unitarian Church, 478 Main Street.

Entitled "The Song of the People" the service will feature the wit, wisdom,

Methodists Set Human Relations Observance

Crawford Memorial United Church has designated Sunday as a time for the expression of concern for one another by observing Human Relations Day.

Pastor Dean Benedict points to the Methodist Church as one of many cultures. All groups have something to share. We also share in one another's needs. There are many who need assistance to rise up and live on their own, he said.

A special offering will be taken to fund a variety of projects through which persons are assisted in finding fulfillment and self-empowerment. Nationwide the goal of this offering is $1,000,000 divided among these various projects.

At Crawford Memorial a special service is being planned by a task force. The guest preacher will be the Rev. Landon Lindsay, minister of human relations, for the Southern New England Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. Rev. Mr. Lindsay, formerly served as pastor of the United Methodist Church in Lexington and Christ Church in Wellesley.

There will be a coffee hour immediately following the morning worship service.

Rev. Easton To Be Installed

Friends from all Winchester churches are invited to attend the installation of George W. Easton, associate minister of the First Congregational Church on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary followed by a reception in the Vinton Room.

Participants in the service include Dr. Oliver Powell, area minister for Metropolitan Boston Association, U.C.C.; Rev. Msgr. Joseph W. Lyons, pastor of St. Eulalia's Church, Mrs. Richard W. Havens, chairperson, committee on church and ministry, Metropolitan Boston Association, U.C.C.; plus the following leaders of First Congregational Church: Rev. Charles D. Friou, Chairman, Board of Christian Education; Mrs. Paul F. Jopling, Assistant in Christian Education; Mr. Joseph Neville, Director of Forum; Mr. Evander French, Jr., chairman, Ministerial Search Committee; Mr. F. Brooks Cowgill, senior deacon; Dr. Donald T. Rowlingson, chairman, Adult Education; Rev. Walter B. Davis, pastor.

Easton is a career minister of Christian education with major interest in ministry at the local church level. He was graduated from Brown University and Yale University Divinity School. He also completed an additional master's degree and the course work for a doctorate in Christian Education at Hartford Seminary Foundation.

In Winchester he will direct all educational activities for children, youth, adults and families in addition to other general ministerial tasks.

Mr. and Mrs. Easton (the former Anne Leighton Browne of Wilton, Conn.) live at 24 Grove st. with their daughters Melissa, Laurie, and Meredith.

Model Student

Karen Angliera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Angliera of Winchester, is attending Academic Moderne Modeling in Boston.

Reception For Strahs Set On Sunday

Rev. and Mrs. Michael Strah will be honored at a reception given by the Winchester Peace Committee on Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. at McCarthy Hall at St. Eulalia's Church.

Strah leaves Winchester to become a minister of the United Church of Christ in Bethel, Conn. after serving three years as the minister of the Second Congregational Church. Friends of the Strahs who would like an opportunity to say good-bye are invited to attend.

Because the work of the Peace Committee was important to Mr. and Mrs. Strah, committee members feel a good way to honor the Strahs would be to increase individual commitment to that work. People in the community who have an interest in the Peace Committee are invited to come and get acquainted.

Sherry, coffee and dessert will be served.

Lecture Series On Plants Set

Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm & Nurseries, 242 Cambridge st., will sponsor a winter lecture series on house plants starting Feb. 13. The six sessions will be held at 10 a.m. No admission will be charged. For reservations contact Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm & Nurseries.

horhood, and "all parking would be related to the place to be visited."

Morgan said attempts would be made to control parking so that only staff would come in through the new Maple road area. Kittredge reported that staff in 1963 was 375 employees. Now there are 534. James said arrival and departure of employees now and in the future would be on "a staggered basis."

The emergency entrance and exit will still be on Fairmont street, Morgan said. Receiving will move to the Orient road end of Valley road.

Residents asked about Winchester Hospital patients. How many are from Winchester, how many from other towns, what towns do they come from, and do those towns have their own hospitals?

The response was 22 percent of the patients at the hospital are from Winchester. The other 78 percent come from Woburn, Medford, Stoneham, Reading, North Reading and Wilmington. Woburn, Medford and Stoneham have their own hospitals. Burlington sends few patients to Winchester. Most go to Choate in Woburn or to Lowell, James said. "People who come to Winchester come with their physicians."

How many physicians are from Winchester? The answer: 80-odd.

Lahey Clinic was brought up by a resident who questioned the need to expand the local hospital when he conjectured Lahey would take patients from Winchester into its new hospital in Burlington.

James said all doctors have "multiple hospital privileges" but none at Winchester are associated with the Lahey Clinic.

Kittredge said since the last building program at Winchester Hospital in 1963, "We have 40 percent more in-patients and three times as many out-patients."

James said out-patients receive ancillary services. He said since 1963 six times as many patients obtain EKG readings; 2½ times more get X-rays; 3½ times more have laboratory examinations, and surgical procedures have jumped by 33 percent.

The hospital spokesmen maintained that the additional space will provide more adequate medical facilities and more parking for hospital patients and visitors. They recognized that present available parking is used mostly by hospital employees.

One open hearing resident was suspicious. "We're anti-hospital because you haven't been leveling with us." Further, he said, the hospital has created a "credibility gap which is hard to overcome."

Participants accused the hospital trustees of changing their plans too often. "What about the psychological environment?" asked a resident.

A woman described moving to Winchester from the city expecting to find quiet. "All we've had is stress and strain. We don't know if we should move or not? Can we sell our property for a fair market value?"

Kittredge reiterated that the hospital does not want to take on additional in-patients. Improving facilities and parking are the questions," he maintained.

"My granite hitching post was knocked down by a hospital employee," another woman said.

Activities of renters leasing acquired hospital property on Valley road was another focus of complaint. Her voice quaking as she spoke, another woman said, "Our property is treated like public property." She alluded to "people running around in nightgowns," liquor bottles tossed in her yard and dope parties.

Another neighbor said renters in one particular location on Valley road park on the street all the time rather than using the garage on the property as did the previous owners.

Another resident said, "Rental property takes away the cohesiveness of a neighborhood."

Surprised to hear such reports, Kittredge said the hospital apparently was not doing a good job as landlord and he would take this situation to the trustees.

Finally, on the suggestion of a resident, Kittredge promised to speak to the trustees about returning acquired property on Valley road and Highland and Forest streets "back to the economy." This property would not be used if the proposal were approved by the necessary municipal and state bodies he acknowledged emphasizing that reselling the property would be contingent on the hospital being allowed to go forward with their long-range plans.

Kittredge said the "estimated time for completion of the work would be three years."

James said the Public Health Council is required by law to respond to the request for Certificate of Need within 12 months. This could mean that if all is approved, building would not begin until 1977.

MOTIVATIONS FOR BUYING

Strong forces are keeping the single home market very much alive despite the increasing price trend over the past several years. A probe of the motivations behind the current sales has found that buyers are convinced that home ownership is worth the financial sacrifice for environmental reasons. A better place for their children to live and the farther from the city the better.

A second powerful influence is inflation. Buyers are convinced that the housing inventory is too short to see any significant over-supply or reduction in value in their lifetime.

Another influence, not to be ignored, is retirement. In many cases, home ownership offers the only hope to enter retirement in a condition other than poverty. Since Social Security was designed as a supplement and not sufficient to live on, a free and clear home, or the investment potential of home equity, provides a solid base for retirement.

Wiring Thought Cause Of Fatal

Cause of last week's fatal fire on Black Horse terrace was apparently the result of faulty wiring.

Lt. Leo Walsh of the state fire marshal's office said Tuesday that the fire originated in the cellar at 3 Black Horse ter.

"From our own determination it started at ceiling level at a ceiling joist. It burnt a long time. The floor was completely burnt out." Walsh said he couldn't say "100 percent sure it was electricity because of such total destruction of the house. But it most probably was faulty wiring."

Dead in the fire was 69-year-old Mrs. Helen B. Nutter. Winchester Fire Chief I. Francis Amico said Mrs. Nutter was dead some time before firefighters reached her. Rigor mortis had set in when she was examined by the medical doctor after the body was pulled from the flaming house an hour after the arrival of firefighters.

Chief Amico said firefighters were prevented from reaching the second floor where Mrs. Nutter was found in a rear bedroom because flames and the burned out floor prevented them from entering the house from the first floor.

Intense heat and flames prevented the men from entering the house by ladder at the second floor, he said.

Police Activity

McDonald's Hit Again; Two Held

Winchester police Monday arrested two Woburn youths after McDonald's Variety Store, 105 Cross st., was robbed of $25.

Arraigned Tuesday at Woburn District Court on charges of unarmed robbery were John Vega, 21, and a 14-year-old girl. They were released in their own custody.

Proprietor Malcolm McDonald said he was taking some money from the cash drawer to put away when a girl walked into the store and went toward the rear.

McDonald said a man came in behind her and went to the tonic machine. He said as he waited to help the girl the man snatched the money from his hand and ran out the door.

Officer Francis Manzie said he was in a cruiser going westerly on Cross st. with Officers John McKinley and Franklin Bartlett when they spotted a man running from the store. Manzie said Malcolm McDonald was running after the man down Forest street.

He said he pulled the cruiser alongside the man and Officer Bartlett jumped out and grabbed him. While Bartlett placed the man under arrest, Manzie and McKinley went to the store and placed the girl under arrest.

She told police she went into the store to buy some cooking oil and was surprised at the events that took place. Trial was set for Feb. 5. The store was robbed last week of $70.

In other police activity in the last week, there were reports of house breaks, a car set on fire and numerous accidents.

On Monday police went to a house on South Border rd. to investigate a break. The house was completely ransacked and a television set and jewelry stolen.

On Sunday, William Gibbons of 103 Wendell st., foreman of the Highway Department, reported the theft of a radio from a town truck parked at his home.

A 1969 Cadillac, property of a Wakefield man, was found burned in the parking lot behind the stores between Cross and Main sts. near the Woburn line. A gasoline can was found in the rear seat. The car's interior was completely burned.

Police received a report Saturday of a break on South Gateway. A color television set was moved but not taken. Three rooms were ransacked.

On Sunday there was a report of a break on Alesworth rd., where a television set, jewelry, silverware and liquor were stolen.

On Saturday at 12:30 a.m. there was a two-car accident on Cambridge rd. The driver of one vehicle, Wendy Caris of 47 Swan rd., the driver of the other, Carol Datolo of Burlington, and a passenger, Kim Broderick, were treated at Winchester Hospital.

There were other reports of accidents during the week but no reports of injuries.

A full tank of gasoline was reported siphoned from a car Saturday at 6 Glen rd. On Friday a Buddiner got caught in the tracks south of the Cross st. crossing. Passengers were removed and transported by taxi.

Lynch Dance Drinking Seen As Exaggerated

Reports of widespread drunkenness and disorder at Friday night's dance at Lynch Junior High School appear exaggerated according to the police and the school principal.

Officer Joseph N. Perritano, on a detail that night at the dance, said, "It wasn't bad at all. There were a couple of kids who had been drinking. We brought them into the office. Their parents came and took them home."

Lt. John McHugh of the Police Department said the desk received a call from an excited parent on Cambridge street at 10 p.m. reporting that her son returning from the dance had collapsed after entering the house.

Police took the youth to Winchester Hospital where he was admitted. A catheter was placed on the youth. Police believe his condition was induced by combining alcohol and drugs.

Principal Robert Fitzgerald said he doesn't know of any drug problem at the dance. He said there were some instances of youths drinking. "Four," Fitzgerald also said he didn't think the youths—eighth and ninth graders—were getting the liquor from older youths.

Asked if he thought they were getting the liquor from home he said he thought so.

Officer Perritano said that other than the isolated reports of liquor consumption, the dance was orderly. "There were just one or two kids who caused trouble for the others."

Reports that students from the other Winchester junior high school—McCall—were causing trouble out in front of Lynch, which is located between Pond and Middlesex streets, were discontinued.

"The McCall kids were out in front. But when they realized they couldn't get in they went away," Perritano said.

Principal Fitzgerald said the McCall students had not been invited. "There are always kids hanging out in front. It wasn't actually a problem."

One parent commented: "Let's face it. We are a cocktail community. Obviously it's (liquor) coming from home. They're not old enough to buy liquor."

The dance was held for the eighth and ninth graders, who are generally 14 and 15 years of age.

Chadwick To Lead Forum

For the 11th consecutive year, the Winchester League of Women Voters will sponsor a Candidates' Night on Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Senior High School.

Voters in each precinct will have the opportunity to meet and talk with candidates for Town Meeting from 7:30 to 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

A general candidates' meeting will be held in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Candidates for contested town offices will present their views and will field questions from the audience. Rep. Harrison Chadwick will be the moderator.

All Winchester voters are invited to attend.

Donahue Battling Voke School Committee

The legal counsel for the regional vocational high school has been appointed its contract negotiator over the strong objection of Winchester's representative.

Gerard P. Donahue feels the two duties should be separate in order for the board to obtain the services of a specialist in contract negotiation.

Regional School Committeeman Donahue also feels that the committee's legal counsel, Sherin & Lodgen, has submitted a bill for services in excess of what it would have been had the regional committee hired a specialist.

The bill from the firm for eight months of part-time counseling comes to $20,300, which Donahue feels is excessive.

Donahue also points out to The Winchester Star that he informed the regional school committee of the state law limiting to $5,000 the amount of money a committee may pay to legal counsel.

Ch. 71, Sec. 37 E states: "The school committee of a city or town may employ legal counsel in connection with collective bargaining with employee organizations for school employees, may expend money therefor from the funds appropriated by said city or town for school purposes provided, however, that no such money shall be expended in excess of five thousand dollars without the prior approval of the mayor, the city manager in a city... or the board of selectmen. Said legal counsel shall not be subject to the provisions of section nine A of chapter 30 or the provisions of Ch. 31."

Ch. 71, Sec. 37 F states the same sentiments except that it substitutes for "collective bargaining" the words "general purposes."

Donahue said that as a result of his protest to the committee he was appointed to a subcommittee composed of two members to study the matter.

From Nov. 15, 1973, to Dec. 8, 1973, he contacted the Massachusetts Association of School Committees; the Regional Vocational School requested information and research from other members of the committee.

As a result of the subcommittee work, the School Committee in December agreed to separate the duties of legal counsel and negotiator.

ANNUAL MARCH ELECTION

Few Casualties As Deadline Passes

Three persons have dropped from the race for Charter Commission and one person each has dropped from the races for School Committee, Park Commission, Board of Selectmen, and Library Trustee.

Monday at 5 p.m. was the deadline for persons who had taken nomination papers for election to office in March to submit their completed forms so they could become candidates.

The following are the persons who have dropped:

—James B.L. Lane, Norman E. Doucette Jr. and Arthur J. Lewis Jr. from Charter Commission.

—Arthur Papastakis from Park Commission.

—John F. Looney from the one-year Library Trustee post.

—Walton C. Gagel from the Board of Selectmen.

—William H. O'Neil from the School Committee.

Thus the town is assured contests for School Committee, selectmen, constable, library, Board of Assessors, Planning Board, Charter Commission and Park Commission. In addition, according to records of the town clerk, there will be contests for town meeting member in all six precincts.

Complete list of townwide candidates is on page 5.

The following is a precinct breakdown on the number of town meeting openings in each precinct and the number running for those seats:

- PREC. 1, 18 candidates for 12 seats
- PREC. 2, 19 candidates for 15 seats
- PREC. 3, 16 candidates for 13 seats
- PREC. 4, 20 candidates for 15 seats
- PREC. 5, 15 candidates for 11 seats
- PREC. 6, 14 candidates for 12 seats

LWV Plans Election Gala

Winchester's Main street will have a touch a Broadway Saturday evening, March 2.

That is the date of the League of Women Voters pre-election theatre gala and benefit. The stage of Metcalf Hall in the Unitarian Church is the location of this first-time-ever event.

Titled "Broadway to Your Door," the social evening will showcase some of Winchester's theatrical talent drawn from the Combined Theatre Groups of Winchester.

The actors are donating their time and talent to benefit the league's many educational activities and programs.

Because the annual town election polls open the following Monday, March 4, candidates for townwide posts will be invited to socialize informally with the actors and audience at a festive reception following the program.

The stage presentation will feature highlights of past and present Broadway attractions directed by Jay Sibley (Mrs. Robert H.). She lived in Winchester for 22 years and will commute from her new home in Maine to direct the evening.

Mrs. Sibley has spent a lifetime in the theatre, becoming particularly well-known for her one-woman shows and monologues. She has performed on stage, radio and television in addition to producing, directing and writing plays.

Members of the league committee making arrangements for the evening include Catherine Fallon, chairman; Constance Stelow, Nancy Von Lazar, Joanne Morgan and Elaine Farman.

Finance Group Wants:

Town To Consider Closing Of Wyman

The Finance Committee is asking the town to consider closing Wyman School in the face of decreasing elementary enrollments and the need for renovation of the school.

"Finance can only suggest and advise," said John A. Sutherland, head of the subcommittee working with the School Department on its ever increasing budget. "I heard rumors that the Finance Committee is closing the school."

Such a move to close a school building can only come through action by the School Committee, Sutherland pointed out, and the School Committee hasn't even formally considered that action, according to Supt. William C. MacDonald.

"As far as I'm concerned as a superintendent," MacDonald said, "I can't see how it could possibly be done this year."

MacDonald said considerable study would be required prior to any decision on closing a school building.

He said if school enrollment continues its downward trend, then the possibility Wyman might be closed could be considered. "But we are not certain the trend will continue."

Winchester elementary school enrollment has declined by 125 pupils in each of the last two years, not a long enough period, according to MacDonald, to make such a major decision as closing a school.

Subcommittee chairman Sutherland said his group composed of nine members of the town's appointed Finance Committee is only asking town boards and committees to think about possibly closing Wyman in the future.

"We (Finance) wouldn't have the knowledge to ask for its closing. It would require tremendous study. We would have to see whether the present population trend continues...."

"The town has to look at the school budget as it goes up every year. And it's going to go up every year," he said of certain built-in expenses which rise beyond the control of the town.

He said those concerned with the school budget should ask themselves: "Are there areas where you could suggest sizeable reductions?"

Subcommittee chairman Sutherland said his group noticed "a sizeable figure to renovate Wyman and other elementary schools" on this year's School Department budget now being scrutinized by the committee.

"We thought we would better it around among ourselves: if the school population is declining, should we continue putting money into renovation?"

If a school is to be closed, why Wyman? First, it is considered ripe for renovation. Second, it is located between the two-year old Ambrose and the New Lincoln School, the latter opened this year after extensive renovation.

Supt. MacDonald commented: "There are a number of parents who moved to this town, and a number who have lived here for years, who are much in favor of the neighborhood concept of schools."

"At a midnight hour you don't just say: Hey! Close the school. There is strong parental feeling against it."

MacDonald said that prior to the opening of New Lincoln, "a couple of the (elementary) schools were crowded." The opening of the New Lincoln allowed the School Department to "free up space in the others—Mystic and (new) Lincoln."

MacDonald said prior to the opening of New Lincoln, the libraries in some of the schools were operating out of closets and there were inadequate—even non-existent—facilities for art and music, as well as libraries.

The decline in school enrollment has allowed "us to provide equal opportunity for all kids. We now have a library at Mystic," Supt. MacDonald said.

A number of other persons mention the uncertainty over the future of St. Mary's elementary school, which two years ago was on the verge of shutting down. If St. Mary's closed, those pupils would be fed into the public school system.

Sutherland said there has been good cooperation between the School Committee and Finance in "reducing the budget in all areas."

He indicated that figures on this year's school budget are not ready for release. "We are running behind everything this year. We have all the school budgets in rough form."

Wyman, Chief's Car, Ending Forestry Dept. Pondered

With a printing deadline set for next week, the Finance Committee has yet to receive 22 of the 61 town budgets as well as the special articles from the selectmen's office.

James Lane, chairman of the committee, said that of the 39 budgets received action has been taken on 27. He said the school budgets were received over the weekend and that the committee has not had time to act on them yet.

The recommendations the committee has made by next week will be printed, said Lane, and a supplement will be added for the late budgets.

Rumors this week that the Wyman School might be closed down are partially true, according to Lane. He said the committee has discussed the possibility informally since "the elementary school population is decreasing." He said a suggestion has been made to the School Department.

"It looks economically reasonable," said Lane, "that it would be ok to shut down a school in two or three years rather than upgrade it."

The phasing out of the Forestry Department was also discussed informally at Monday night's meeting. Lane said the committee has taken the position for many years that it would be more feasible to have the work done by outside contract.

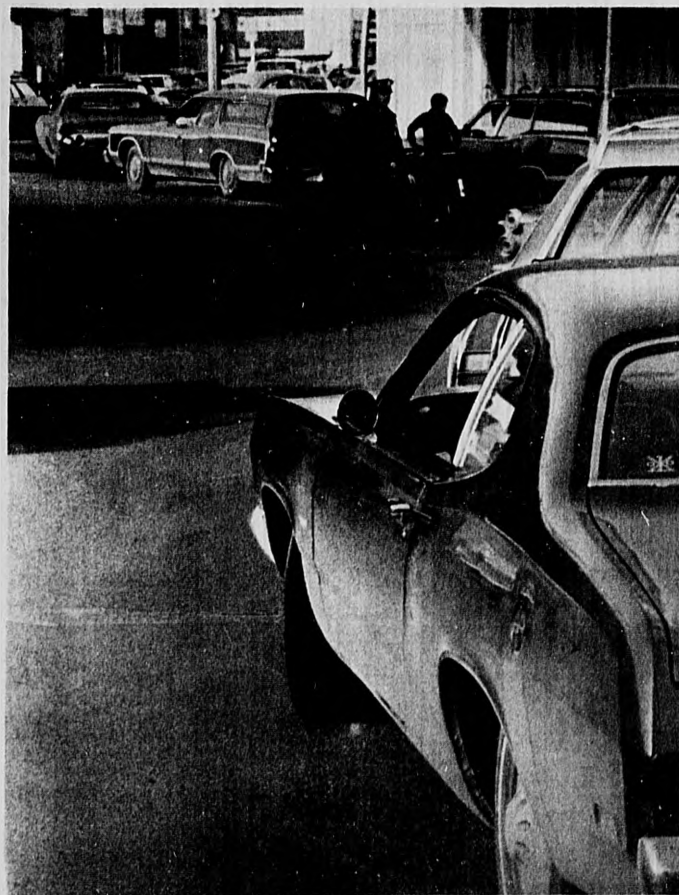

"We're looking at it over a period of time," he said, "so that its people could be consolidated into other departments. This is a decision that only the selectmen can make, though. We can only recommend."

The committee has discussed the article containing an appropriation for a new car for the fire chief although they haven't received the article yet from the selectmen. Lane said, "We're not convinced yet that he needs a new car."

A majority of the budgets not received, said Lane, are for new personnel. He said a "substantial" number of new positions are being requested. He also added that the "town faces the distinction of having 12 extra people if the incinerator ever gets shut down."

Robert M. Hamilton

Colonel Was Former Resident

Funeral services were held on Sunday for Col. Robert M. Hamilton, U.S. Army retired, 82, of Whitman at the Lane Funeral Home. Burial services were private.

Col. Hamilton died last Wednesday at the Chelsea Naval Hospital after a brief illness. Born in Moncton, New Brunswick, he was the son of George H. and Grace (Millon) Hamilton, long time residents of Winchester and active in the affairs of the First Congregational Church.

Col. Hamilton was a 1910 graduate of Winchester High School and attended Lowell Textile Institute.

A veteran of the two world wars, Mr. Hamilton entered military service in 1916, serving overseas in both wars. At the time of his retirement in 1952, he was commander of quartermaster activities at the Boston Army Base.

He was a member of Winchester Post 97 of the American Legion, Winchester Lodge No. 1445 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and the Brockton chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

He is survived by his wife, Lea, and daughter, also Lea, of Whitman; a son, Robert S. (Shelle) of St. Louis, Mo.; a daughter, Mrs. John J. (Dorothy) Lynch of Winchester; a sister, Mrs. Mildred (Hamilton) Winters of Ft. Myers Beach, Fla. Rev. Walter Davis of First Congregational Church officiated at the services.

Junior League

A Winchester woman has been appointed the Belmont-Cambridge Area chairman of the decorators' show house day for the Junior League of Boston, Inc.

For the fourth consecutive year, a house will be transformed by Boston area decorators and will be open to the public from April 28 through May 19.

Mrs. Arthur C. Waltman of Winchester, area chairman, will be responsible for staffing the house on Fridays. Mrs. Lawrence H. Delafeld of Winchester is a member of the advertising committee. Advance tickets may be purchased through Mrs. James Buckley of Winchester.

William P. Supple

William Supple

William P. Supple of 2 Bushcliff ter. died last Friday at Lawrence Memorial Hospital at the age of 67.

Director of public welfare in Winchester for many years, he was a veteran of World War 2.

A concelebrated mass by Rev. Thomas D. Conway, assistant director for the Archdiocese of Boston's religious education office, and by Rev. Bernard M. Hoy took place Tuesday at St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Supple is survived by his wife, Anna K.; his three daughters, Anna K., Mary E., both of Winchester, and Mrs. Robert (Margaret) G. Kirby, of Brookfield; his sister, Mrs. Robert J. Glynn of Miami, Fla.; and three grandchildren.

Soated in the sanctuary during the mass was Msgr. John Carroll, pastor of St. John's Parish, Swampscott. Sixteen members of the Boston Garden staff served as honorary pallbearers.

Costello Funeral Home handled arrangements.

F. C. Stevenson

Retired Policeman

Frederick C. Stevenson, 84, of 99 Hemingway st. died Friday in Winchester Hospital.

A Winchester resident for 75 years, he was born in Wellesley. He was a member of the Winchester Police Department until his retirement when he was appointed school traffic officer.

He served with the US Army in WWI as a corporal and was a past commander of the Aberjona Post 3719. Mr. Stevenson was a member of the First Baptist Church.

He leaves his wife, Charlotte A. (Snowden) Stevenson; three sons, Frederick C. Stevenson Jr. of Salem, N.H., Sgt. James H.E. of Montana, and Officer George W. Stevenson of the Ipswich Police Dept.; a daughter, Mrs. Merle Gaffney of Stillwater, Minn.; and 10 grandchildren.

Services were at the Lane Funeral Home. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Carl Billman

Born Here In 1913

Carl Billman, son of Mrs. Christopher L. Billman of Winchester, and the late Mr. Billman, died January 26 after a brief illness.

He lived in Bethesda, Md., about 10 years. Born in Winchester June 23, 1913, he was graduated magna cum laude from Harvard College, Class of 1935.

For over 25 years he served as executive secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa in Washington, D.C. In April of 1973, the degree of honorary doctor of laws was conferred upon Mr. Billman by Davidson College, Davidson, N.C.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Christopher L. Billman of Winchester; two brothers, Russell W. Billman of Hilton Head, S.C., and George L. Billman of Winchester; and several nieces and nephews.

Private memorial services will be held at the convenience of the family.

John Plumer

John Plumer, 55, of Maplewood, N.J., died Saturday in Orange Memorial Hospital, N.J. Services were held Monday at Prospect Presbyterian Church.

Born and raised in Winchester, Mr. Plumer lived in Chicago before going to Maplewood 10 years ago. A graduate of Lawrence Academy in Groton, he attended Boston University and the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Plumer was sales manager for General Foods in Hoboken, N.J., and a veteran of World War II. He was a member of the Maplewood Glee Club and an elder of Prospect Presbyterian Church.

He leaves his wife, Carolyn Hill Plumer, his mother and one sister.

Police Check Breaks, Thefts

Police in the last week have had a considerable number of reports, including vandalism, breaking and enterings and stolen car chases.

Officer Peter Morgan in a cruiser assisted Medford police in an unmarked car Saturday in apprehending a car stolen in Medford.

Police chased the car from Medford through Winchester down Bacon street and into Medford where it was stopped.

Sunday evening police chased a car from Winchester to Dorchester by way of the expressway. A Winchester cruiser was joined by MDC, Medford, state and other police cars in the chase.

Winchester Police Officer Francis Manzie stopped the car on a routine motor vehicle violation and as he approached the vehicle it took off, he said.

The number plates had been stolen in Lynn, a check revealed. Police lost the car in Dorchester.

There were breaks reported over the weekend at 9 Myopia rd., where a television set and jewelry were missing, and at 14 Madison ave., where it was unknown what if anything was missing.

Police received a report Saturday that a transmission was stolen from a car parked in a garage at Newton st.

There was an accident Saturday at Oak and Holland sts. Two cars were involved. There were no injuries.

Several windows of cars parked at 13 Madison ave. were smashed Sunday morning. The Water & Sewer Board cabin in the Fells reservation and the Girl Scout building in the Fells were broken into over the weekend.

Police reports said there was vandalism at the scout building. There was no report of damage at the Water & Sewer Board cabin.

Named Officer

William D. Sullivan of 2A Rangeley Ridge has been appointed chairman for this area's Bentley College advancement fund.

The fund-raising effort, largest in Bentley's 57-year history, has a goal of $4 million by mid-1975. The money will be used to meet the costs of campus construction, endow undergraduate professorships and scholarships, and create a fund for Bentley's graduate school scheduled to open in the fall, 1974.

Sullivan, president of Winchester National Bank, graduated from Bentley in 1936 and attended the Rutgers University Graduate School of Banking. Senior vice-president of the Bentley College Alumni Association, Sullivan is treasurer of the Rotary Club of Winchester and a past Rotarian of the Year.

He is a director of the Winchester Hospital and treasurer of the Winchester Businessmen's Association. His professional memberships include the Robert Morris Association of Credit Men and The Bank Administration Institute. He is also a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Winchester Lodge of Elks.

Sullivan said that his area is now entering the special gifts phase of the advancement fund campaign encompassing 25 percent of the 322 Bentley graduates living in Winchester, Woburn, Burlington, and Stoneham.

Watergate A Plot
By Pro-Communists

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

You ask about a Watergate and conspiracy theory (Star 1-24).

(1) Watergate sparked a rush of socialist activity in the Nixon administration, spearheaded by Haig and Laird. This was fatuously considered to be involuntary by Mr. Buckley, but others are less naive.

The energy "crisis," a melange of market forces and government bungling, has also served as an excuse for the same type of thing.

Watergate has revealed "the real Nixon."

(2) Watergate has heralded a new, improved era of détente, as, simultaneously with the first big explosion of scandal last June, the head of the KGB received a big new promotion to the Soviet Politburo. Following that, Brezhnev had his famous press conference in Germany, where he dismissed Watergate.

Whereupon he rushed to Washington to "save" or perhaps congratulate Nixon. The mid-east war has since proved that this era of good feeling is permanent. Kissinger paid back Brezhnev's quick trip to Nixon by reaching Moscow in record time.

(3) To make this change more graphic, many have proposed as a solution to Watergate to make all political candidates government candidates, thus imitating the Soviet system.

Proposals have also been made to reduce the number of elections by making terms longer, all of which must be gratifying to those who believe the purpose of conflict with Moscow (as the break-in was supposed to be) is to increase "convergence" with their system of government. Sakharov fulfills roughly the same function on the Soviet side of this question.

(4) It provides a new opportunity for the left to attack those conservatives who are opposed to the universal tendency of our leaders to be Wilsonians, their lack of candor about this, and their employment of lackeys who are ostensibly anti-Wilsonian, as being the type of person responsible for exercises of this type.

(5) The installation of Gerald Ford has brought a higher-ranking internationalist into a more important position.

(6) It has thoroughly discredited the notion that hard-line party men have infiltrated the left wing of the Democratic Party and that people like McGovern might be the object of promotion by cleaned-up Leninist hoodlums. It has made it easy to portray Kissinger—who has conferred secretly with Soviet diplomats (i.e. you know what they are) in the Council on Foreign Relations before his appointment, and who has openly manipulated world events in collaboration with the Kremlin since—as someone who was involved with all types of allegedly right wing crimes in Watergate and Vietnam.

In summation, Watergate was a plot by a pro-Communist administration which fell right into the hands of Socialists and Communists who are ostensibly opposed to him, and regardless of how the details worked everyone (except the American people) has come out ahead. For all we know it was an accident, but if it didn't happen they would have had to invent it.

It Doesn't Happen
Here? IT DOES!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Sunday, Jan. 20, Car 22 stopped at Hill street. The officer talked to two cars of kids and then proceeded to pick up empty beer bottles from the sidewalk.

Plowing through snow on private property they picked up a total of five six-packs that were thrown there by the occupants of the parked cars.

My question is when are the police going to break up Winchester's Hell's Angels with their nightly beer parties and weekend galas at Main Street Raceway (Hemingway to Canal sts.)?

A few examples:
Egging of cruiser—no action.
Switching of six packs through moving traffic.

Squealing brakes, burning rubber.
Loud and dragging mufflers.
Racing motors.
Loud and profane hollering.
Sidewalk and steps of Fayva's used as public urinal.

In view of the energy crisis, grounding these pampered brats and the tramps that ride with them we could save 200 gallons of gas. The residents tend to overlook what their youth does with the attitude it doesn't happen here-BUT IT DOES.

If the police can't break them up, let's call the Registry or the best police, the state police.

Who Is Oldest Resident Of Town?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In studying the Town of Winchester, I'm trying to find out the name of the oldest resident. If anyone knows the name of a person over 95 years old age would he please call me at 729-4715?

Thank you,

Population Doubles,
But Voting Is Less

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We finally have candidates for all town offices, and contests for many of them. The Star is to be commended for encouraging more residents to take out nomination papers and become active in town affairs.

Having candidates is only the first step. We must have voters! Some surprising statistics are available from the town clerk. In 1936, 4,572 residents voted in March elections out of 7,442 registered—a 61 percent turnout.

In 1972 a mere 3,509 people bothered to vote—29 percent. Last year we had a 33 percent turnout, but the number of people was still less than that in 1936 although Winchester's population had doubled.

I am particularly concerned about involving the residents of our new apartments. In Precinct 6 there are almost 1,000 registered voters who live in apartments but there is only one town meeting candidate—a man who has lived in Winchester all his life.

Winchester belongs to apartment dwellers as much as it does to homeowners. We are not just another bedroom community.

The decisions of town meeting affect every resident whether he knows it or not. With a town budget that has grown 14-fold since 1936, local elections are that much more important. Now that we have candidates, we must get out the vote!

Disappointed
Not In Show

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winton Club advertised for talent to take part in their show. I responded and was auditioned, as I wanted to take part in the show. I was booked in, giving my name and address and given a sticker with my name on it.

That was on Monday. On Tuesday I was told I wouldn't be in the show. That was a very humiliating thing to do to me. I have many good friends in town who are disappointed at this because they know what I can do on the stage and they all like to hear me sing.

On one of their shows I was hailed as the star with a write-up and my picture in The Star. Now they don't want me. If it is because I am a senior citizen, I think that was out of order. I don't know why they did it.

I always liked a part in the show because it was fun for me and a place to go. I have been hurt.

Cardinals' Picture
Pure Madison Ave.?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

There is a picture of a bright red cardinal bird on the plastic bag my thistle seed comes in. There is also a pine siskin pictured there. Well, the siskins I do get, by the dozens; but as far as the cardinals are concerned I never seem to have much luck.

I suspect that their picture on the bag is pure Madison Avenue, like the beautiful flowers and bounteous vegetables depicted on the packages of seeds I buy each spring. Wow! Who could resist them?

On rare occasions we do get a cardinal but on the large bird feeder, never on the thistle seed feeder. Sometimes a female cardinal has perched unmoving up in our crab apple tree and watched the other birds feeding down below; but she seems to be stupid or dopey or something, as she never bothers to get down off her perch and take part in the chow-line below.

Try as we may, we never have had much luck with the cardinals, and it has occurred to me that somewhere in the neighborhood they may be getting meals that are so much more to their liking that they just do not care to sample the fare that we have put out for them. Well, all right for them! The other birds seem to like it! We can't please everybody!

It was only four degrees above this morning, but I saw a cock robin at close hand, and heard his cry of alarm. He was fat and red breasted, and quite active. I wonder what he finds to eat in this weather? Surely the worms are not available to him, with over a foot of snow on the ground. He never comes to our feeders. Does he eat wild raisins, or insect eggs, or rose hips or what? He must eat something to stay alive!

Enjoyed Piece
On Welfare

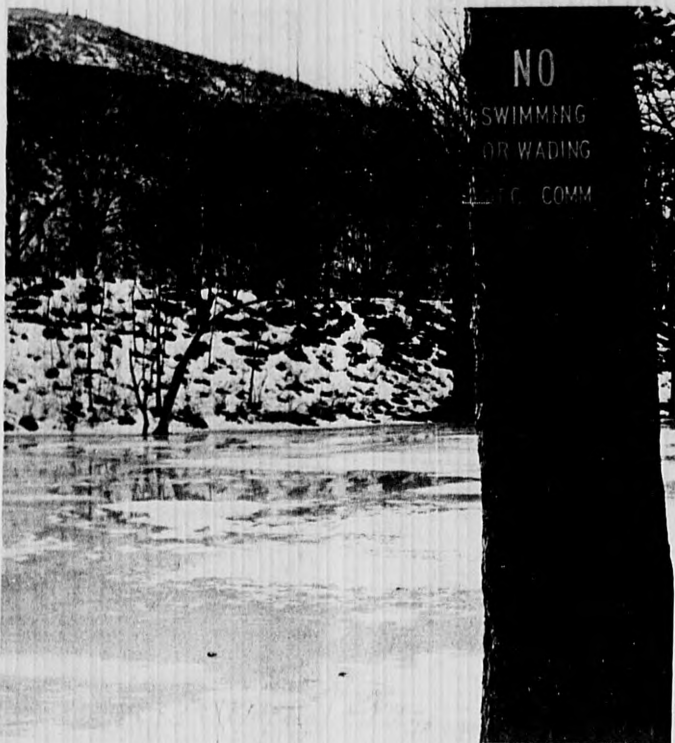

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Want to let you know that I clipped your piece on the welfare letters to send to my mother who writes a weekly column for the Port Charlotte Chronicle in Florida. She in turn quoted them in the Odds 'N' Ends column and she reports to me how many comments she received from the local citizens on the good laugh they had over those letters. They have been read from as far away as San Diego, California.

Hope you'll do another piece on them. We all need a laugh from the newspapers.

Sometimes signs seem unnecessary, or don't make much sense or are out of date because of capricious New England weather like these ones: at the top, the Woburn recreation commission warns against swimming at ice-frozen Horn Pond; next, Winchester's Park Commission warns against skating at melted Wedge Pond; the Swensons on Pond street are selling rabbits—to the delight of their "bird?" "Any Tree $4.85," reads the next. One might say, "Wrap that maple on the left" or "Do you deliver?" Maybe the only one that makes sense is the bottom sign.

Letter From The Editor
Selectmen's Race Shaping Up

There are now four men in the running for two selectmen's seats this year. (Sorry, women, but they are men!) The fifth, Walton Gagel, didn't file his papers—which means he has dropped.

Two of those running, Arthur Dunbar and John Sullivan, are incumbents, which automatically in Winchester gives them an edge of sorts since the voters in this town never seem to become familiar with their candidates and keep the same people in office year after year.

But the Board of Selectmen (along with the School Committee) has been an exception to this philosophy. They have had a tradition of no candidate serving more than one term. A few years ago that was broken and several have followed to go for two terms.

This year for the first time in history a selectman is going for a third term. He's John Sullivan. Limiting, either voluntarily or involuntarily, the number of terms has been a creditable tradition. It has made the board responsive and brought in a continually fresh supply of ideas.

But the loss of John Sullivan on the board of selectmen would be sorely felt. He has the most experience and intelligence. In his absence, the board founders without direction.

When he is present he contributes significant insight into the operation of town affairs, introduces a needed levity into the discussions of the board and peppers the meetings with wit and clarity. Sullivan's modus operandi extends to town meeting and non-public functions of town government.

Few if any predict there is any serious challenge to Sullivan's seat. Whether incumbent Dunbar can hold on to the other seat for a second three-year term is another matter.

Last year Eugene Rotondi came in third after Lawrence T. Smith and William G. Chapman. He was only 100 votes behind Chapman in a five-man (sorry, women—why don't you run some time?) race with two other Italians running.

In a town where ethnic background plays an important role in elections, being an Italian can prove a considerable boost in elections since Italians are heavy ethnic voters.

This year Rotondi and Scotti will be fighting for a large share of the Italian vote between them. Dunbar could be in trouble, a lot of people are declaring. But I wouldn't be so quick to agree. That label incumbent is very important in this town.

Dunbar, while he has lacked visibility, has been a competent selectman. He can also count on a large Italian vote because of geography and family background.

Gagel says he has dropped because he's going into surgery Feb. 10 and his doctor told him he shouldn't run. "I will be inactive many, many weeks," he said.

He won't return to school until the end of March—he's a teacher at Lynch—because of this second operation on his knee. He said he thanks all those persons in town who supported his candidacy.

Gagel and the fourth candidate, Mike Scotti, were motivated to run, they say, because of a dearth of interest in the annual election at the beginning of the campaign season. Scotti is an intelligent young man who works for his father at Scotti & Co., 7 Waterfield rd.

Scotti has been a real estate broker for 10 years. He is an easy going person who should be able to contribute quite a bit to Winchester's political life.

Before this week's election filing date had passed, many persons were conjecturing that most (some said all) members of the Town Government Study Committee would run for one of the nine charter commission seats.

How surprised they were to find only Bob Ericson had taken out papers and only he filed.

Another surprise was that no member of the Board of Selectmen chose to run for charter commission. Selectman Chairman Dunbar said serving on both boards would take too much time.

I wonder if everyone by now knows that Rte. 93 is open all the way to Boston, cutting traveling time to the Hub in half. That is, if you can get gasoline. Rte. 93 can be picked up at the end of North Border or off Montvale ave. in Woburn.

Coming from Boston to Winchester Rte. 93 would be a continuation of the southeast expressway. You can also get onto 93 from Storow Drive. It's a great time saver.

The following is a list of meetings of town boards and committees taken from the Town Hall bulletin board. All meetings are usually open to the public. Unless otherwise noted here, all meetings take place at Town Hall, 71 Mount Vernon st.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission has been ordered to obey a 1972 state law giving local residents preference on lists for appointment to police jobs.

Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn had ruled local preference unconstitutional. Now the Suffolk Superior Court has ruled that when a local resident is appointed "the police force has acquired a permanent addition to the force as well as one who has some familiarity with its problems."

One neighbor points out a discrepancy to us in hospital statistics on parking. Last year, the hospital said it needed 325 new spaces. But the new "multi-level parking facility" (not a garage!) will provide 425 new spaces. So the hospital will be ahead of the game.

The Board of Selectmen this week took some positive action toward getting the opposing sides together. Patrick D. Murphy of 29 Highland ave. wrote the board:

"I would like to make a suggestion. We recognize a problem. The hospital recognizes a problem. The town recognizes it. Now, if we could create a ceasefire in the Near East we certainly should be able to get together in Winchester."

"I would like to propose the formation of a committee composed of local property owners, representatives of town government and representatives of the hospital to work out a solution that will improve the neighborhood and enhance the value of local property."

Well, what the selectmen did was send a letter to the hospital asking that in future planning they ask some of the neighbors to serve on a decision-making committee and to serve as liaison between the hospital and the other neighbors. Not quite what Murphy had in mind. But better than nothing.

Not so positive was the selectmen's inaction in taking a position on school budget autonomy. Way back in November the Massachusetts Selectmen's Assoc. asked boards of selectmen to support legislation allowing town meetings to cut school budgets by a four-fifths vote.

The Winchester selectmen put the matter off. This week the Northborough Board of Selectmen asked the Winchester selectmen to seek town meeting approval to file a bill in the legislature allowing Winchester in some way to control 70 to 80 percent of its school budget.

Of course it's too late for our selectmen to do anything. The deadline for town meeting articles has passed. In true fashion, the board handled a possibly embarrassing situation by doing nothing about it.

There seems to be some confusion over whether the Lowell to Boston bus still goes over Cambridge street because a notice of change in schedule didn't mention Cambridge street.

The bus still goes over Cambridge street. The MBTA added some streets on the bus route in Woburn but didn't mention Winchester in its announcement because we are unaffected.

The town's dog pound is about ready to open. Dog Officer Dominic Molas this week is closing out his cleaning business in preparation for more dog business. And the van used to transport the animals is in good working order. So you people who still let your beasts roam the streets, watch out.

One bad feature of daylight saving time is drivers on their way to work in the dark in the mornings forget to turn off their car lights.

Why don't the police, particularly the state police, ever give trucks tickets? Trucks do the damndest things on the road and get away with murder. When has anyone ever seen a policeman stop a truck for speeding?

Of course you haven't. The police cruiser could never catch the truck.

Route 93 is ridiculous. Those trucks roar down that speedway doing who-knows-what passing everything in sight and no effort is made to control their speed.

The weight of the trucks have caused the highways to break up, their excessive speed causes numerous accidents and their silly lane-weaving antics scare the life out of half the motorists.

A few notes from the newsletter of the Massachusetts Society of Secondary School Principals:

"Despite previous assurances by HEW Sect. Weinberger late last month (November) to give schools the highest priority, the Administration has apparently decided to place schools in the same category with homes for purposes of gasoline and heating oil allocation. This would place schools behind all industrial users for their fuel needs, regardless of their products..."

A Michigan psychiatrist claims he can identify future killers while they are in adolescence and says he has done so 10 times in the last 10 years.

He "believes that schools contribute to violence by being unmanageably large and by ignoring the differing maturation rates and 'imaginative needs' of the sexes..." The number of 14 and 17 year olds is expected to drop 8.5 percent in 1985 from the 1972 figure of 16.4 million."

VINCENT CARROLL
For Charter Commission

Vincent G. Carroll of 207 Highland ave. is a candidate for Charter Commission. He issued the following statement of candidacy this week:

Bob Ericson, Member Of TGSC, Running For Charter Commission

Robert C. Ericson of 155 High st. is a candidate for the Charter Commission.

Ericson joined the Town Government Study Committee two years ago with the specific objective of working for improvement in town government through the charter commission process.

This was subsequently adopted by the committee as its recommendation at the 1973 annual town meeting. During 1973 he had responsibility for the committee's voter education activities for the charter question.

In this connection he authored a series of four articles on the charter commission process which appeared on the editorial page of The Winchester Star. He also represented the committee in its speaking program before church and service club groups.

Ericson is the only member of the Town Government Study Committee running for a seat on the commission. "If elected, I will bring to the commission a substantial background of ideas and information developed during the two years of the charter commission movement in Winchester," he said.

"I look upon service on the commission as the action stage which logically follows the preparation activities in which I have served."

Since 1960, Ericson has served in a variety of elective and appointive positions in town government: 13 years as a town meeting member; five years on the Personnel Board, three years as its chairman; three years on the finance committee; and two years on the Town Government Study Committee.

Concern Holding VD Meetings; Public Invited

The Concern open meeting on venereal diseases will be Thursday, Feb. 7, at 7:45 p.m. in the Winchester High School cafeteria.

Can you name the venereal diseases? What are the symptoms? What are the cures? What can be done to halt the present epidemic of VD?

The Concern board feels that more and better education is the answer to the last question. For its program on venereal diseases two nurses from the Department of Communicable Diseases will speak and present a film narrated by one of the actors from Marcus Welby, M.D.

Betsy Ewing, secretary, writes:

"Concern would like to present a series of programs on problems that affect all of us. Winchester is not a safe little island immune to the troubles shared by others.

"A disease of epidemic proportions such as VD is of major importance to everyone. Please urge your family and friends to join you for the Concern meeting on VD on Feb. 7. Whether we can proceed with plans for other programs depends on the response to this one."

outlined in a 31 page segment of the 86 page subcommittee report.

The original subcommittee report, passed out three months ago, listed $14,000 as the salary of the property accountant but that has been upped to $15,430 for the budget.

The former bookkeeper now becomes the accounts payable clerk while new fulltime positions of general office clerk and accounts receivable clerk replace two parttime positions.

Better financial reporting through data processing also is expected; all funds, including class funds and health occupation funds, are to be handled through the business office in the future; and payments for jobs are to be made before the job is released. The superintendent-director is recognized as an integral part of all school operations.

Due to a split between Pacino and McCarthy on the question of the district treasurer, that position is put aside until a future meeting for discussion.

During the discussion of the hiring of a property accountant, McCarthy said that all funds should be controlled via the business office because of "past scandals" at the school. He stressed that the school should not be in a "situation trying to collect bad debts."

Connolly felt that the department heads, because of their extra stipends, should handle the inventory.

McCarthy answered that this was discussed but it was not in the contract; he felt that an attempt to get the department heads to take a really strict inventory could lead to "trouble" with the NE Teachers' Association.

Both Pacino and McCarthy stressed that they had not been in favor of a purchasing agent but that research by the subcommittee had convinced them of the need to relieve current pressure on the business office and to set up good inventory control before, as McCarthy put it, "there is another scandal."

Mrs. Holland praised the "constructive report" and Chairman Rossetti noted that better inventory control would end the "shortages that occur."

Chapter 766 The $42,000 added for four and a half positions under Chapter 766 provides for $9,000 instructors for the partially sighted, mentally retarded, deaf, and emotionally disturbed, plus $6,000 for a parttime speech therapist.

★ Wyman

But, he said, there is considerable work to be done before the figures are final. "The budgets have been cut down quite a bit from their original form. No major cuts can be pointed to."

But, he added, maintenance has been substantially reduced, "other expenses" has been cut and "capital expenses" has been reduced "substantially."

The subcommittee has yet to look at "personal services" (salaries and wages), the major portion of the school budgets.

The Finance Committee is scheduled to send all its budget figures to press a week from tomorrow.

Selectman Chairman Arthur Dunbar Seeks Second Three-Year Term

In response to why Arthur Dunbar, Board of Selectmen chairman, plans on seeking the office for a second term, he cited his interest, experience and commitment to the town.

The following is his announcement of candidacy:

Arthur Dunbar, a resident of Winchester for the past 25 years, has been an active and energetic citizen. He ran a local business and is presently employed locally as a sales representative with the John Hancock Insurance Co.

Dunbar's community involvement and leadership have included both fraternal activities and town government appointments. He has served as a leader of the local Sons of Italy Lodge, has been elected as a Precinct 1 town meeting member for three terms, has led the fight for fair 100 percent tax evaluation for all town properties.

He has served on and chaired the High School Building Committee and in 1971 was elected to serve on the town's Board of Selectmen.

In the past three years, as a selectman, Dunbar has been involved with every aspect of town government. This included his working with regional, county, state and federal government offices. He has chaired many subcommittees; to name a few: Public Works, Fire, and Regional Law Enforcement.

When asked why he wished to continue serving the town as a selectman, Dunbar indicated that the town faces many new challenges in the next three years, and that he hoped that his many years' service in town government would contribute to the resolution of these challenges.

GOP Aids Quinlan Drive

Winchester voters who signed or collected signatures for the recent campaign reform petitions may be interested in the report made by Sen. John Quinlan at Wednesday's Republican State Committee meeting.

Quinlan reported that 4,200 persons throughout the state worked on the drive. Although 56,038 was the required number of signatures, 90,000 actually were recorded; 75,047 of which were duly certified. Quinlan, the State Committee representative for Senate Minority Leader John Parker, conducted the drive which was the only one out of seven petition drives to finish successfully.

Republican State Committee woman Cynthia L. Barone attended the meeting and reported that 62 of the 80 State Committee members assisted in the drive, "a most unusual record of activity for the group."

She also said that Young Republican

President Richard Duffy of Winchester and Republican Chairman George Little Jr. were among the many Winchester people who coordinated the local drive.

Out-of-state guests at Wednesday's meeting were David Gosling, Republican State Committee Chairman of New Hampshire, and Tucker Wright, Chairman of Rhode Island.

Recently elected State Representative Peter Velis, whose campaign was watched and reported nationally, thanked Chairman Otis Wahlrab and his state and town committees for their help.

Speakers on note expected to appear in Massachusetts in the near future will be Nelson Rockefeller (March 13) and Vice President Gerald Ford (state convention, June 29).

A discussion on fund-raising ended in a unanimous sense of the meeting vote that "Funds collected for the Republican cause should be made through the Republican State Finance Committee."

John Sullivan Announces Bid For Third Term

Selectman John J. Sullivan announced his candidacy for a third term on Jan. 14.

Seven years ago, Sullivan in his first bid for public office at the age of 27 was defeated by a single vote.

The next year, he was top vote getter and was elected to his first term on the Board of Selectmen. After three years of service he was reelected and served as chairman of the board in 1971.

Sullivan considers that his efforts as a member of the board have played a major role in the control of the tax rate over the last several years.

He has for six years served as a negotiator for the town in collective bargaining and played a major part in the creation of the Winchester Housing Authority. Of particular note, Sullivan ended a four-year battle with Middlesex County which was taken to the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

Estimated savings for the town are $40,000 per year. In addition to his service to the government of Winchester, Sullivan is serving as a member of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and the William Gannon Fund.

In recognition for his public service over the last six years, Sullivan was elected as Young Engineer of the Year by the Massachusetts Society of Professional Engineers.

Sullivan considers the next three years to be extremely critical for the Town of Winchester, with the large number of collective bargaining agreements to be negotiated, the adopting of the new zoning law and the possibility of a town charter commission.

Sullivan is employed by Charles T. Main, Inc., as chief project director in the thermal power division. Prior to this he was a project engineer for Sanders Associates and the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Sullivan is a former Navy officer, is a graduate of Winchester High School, Villanova University and Oak Ridge Postgraduate School of Reactor Technology.

School Committee Seeks Candidate

At a special meeting of the School Committee Jan. 21 the committee voted to establish the position of director of administrative services in place of the position of assistant superintendent for administrative services, which will be terminated with William F. Clark's retirement on Feb. 28.

The director of administrative services will be responsible for preparation of annual budgets, budget control and financial statements, development of specifications of goods and supplies, services and equipment, purchasing, financial accounting, supervision of business and finance employees, pupil transportation.

The beginning established salary range is $18,000 to $20,000.

Candidate Denis Golden was last person to file papers (Monday, 4:15 p.m.) with town clerk Elsie M. Nelson (right) and assistant clerk Margaret Connolly.

LaLeche League To Hold Meeting

Expectant mothers who are wondering which feeding method to choose and are considering breast feeding should contact the La Leche League, 115 Spy Pond pkwy., Arlington.

The local chapter will begin a new series of monthly meetings on Wednesday at 8 p.m. the home of DeeDee Saporoff, 115 Spy Pond pkwy., Arlington. The discussion will be, "The Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Baby."

La Leche League is an international league of women who have breastfed their babies and want to help other women. The league says that they find the informal discussions (babies welcome) help prepare expectant mothers and keep experienced mothers informed about child-infant care.

Today's Health Out Of Date, Says Public Health Official

Health programs today are out of date because legislative guidelines for nurses and doctors are those passed in the early 1900's. This statement was made by Dr. Rosamond Murdock, director of school health, division of family health services, Dept. of Public Health, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as she addressed members of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Assn. on the occasion of their 75th anniversary.

Murdock said the outdated system separates the health program from the physical education and lunch programs instead of coordinating them into one health education program stressing preventative medicine.

She deplored an outdated system of superintendent of schools and school committees which are not experienced in hiring school nurses. She said professional nurses should be required in all schools.

Murdock said regulations and changes in child health practices are different today than they were in the 40's. The 70's brought school health and child health together, she said.

She criticized schools for not having health examinations as being routine and said parents are not informed of their children's health through conferences. She feels conferences between parents, teachers and experience from babyhood to college.

The doctor feels students should be taught

VNA Names New Slate Of Officers

A new slate of officers was presented by Mrs. John Harrington Jr., co-chairman of the nominating committee to the Winchester Visiting Nurse Assn. at the recent 75th annual meeting as follows:

Board of directors—president, Mrs. Hugh F. McCarthy Jr.; vice president, Mrs. Phillip I. Blumberg; recording secretary, Mrs. Clarence S. Lyon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kenneth E. McVicar; treasurer, Mrs. H. Gardner Bradley; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Achilles C. Penna.

Education committee—Mrs. John H. McClellan, Mrs. Albert G. H. Dietz, Mrs. Stuart A. Bemis, Mrs. Harry G. Foden, Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald.

Finance committee—Mrs. Archilles C. Penna, Mrs. James E. Barger, Mrs. Warren S. Berg, Mrs. William J. L. Kennedy.

Personnel committee—Mrs. Carl H. Purrington, Mrs. Robert J. Fahey, Mrs. John W. O'Grady, Mrs. Frank K. Virneuil.

Nominating committee—Mrs. Lawrence J. McPeake, Mrs. John M. Harrington Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Capodilupo, Mrs. Max L. Goodman.

Public relations committee—Mrs. John H. Hosmer Jr., Mrs. Richard A. Kingsbury, Mrs. Russell D. Holt, Mrs. Derek J. Goodman.

Members at large—Mrs. Frank P. Brennan, Mrs. James R. Burge, Miss Mary Cullen, Mrs. David Dettinger, Mrs. Harris Gibson, Mrs. James H. Graham, Mrs. Karl J. Hirschman, Hilda Hope, Mrs. Paul F. Kelly, Miss Leonard M. Rich, Mrs. Andrew K. Strange, Mrs. Gustave Wunder.

Professional advisory committee—Mrs. Hugh F. McCarthy Jr., Mrs. Phillip I. Blumberg, Mrs. Clarence S. Lyon, Mrs. H. Gardner Bradley, Mrs. Carl H. Purrington, M. Gloria Pearson, Austin Broadhurst, Allan T. Buros.

Mrs. Ellis J. Green, Mrs. Ernest J. Dieterich, Reese James, Dr. Gustav G. Kaufmann, Dr. Donald Annino, Dr. Joseph J. O'Connor, Dr. Charles E. Rooney, Dr. Lawrence Quigley, Mrs. Walter G. Armstrong, Mrs. Elizabeth Kenney.

preventative medicine through health counseling in three fields: social, physical and mental. Priorities are drugs, venereal diseases, pregnancies, health hygiene and psychological and social adjustments, she said.

Murdock stressed school health programs should be early with periodic screening through physical examinations and conferences. Identifying children's problems early is important to effect a healthy preventative medical program.

She pointed to early diagnosis and improving poor teeth and nutrition, obesity, anemia and scoliosis. These problems can improve with school lunches which provide a variety of choices; also through new gymnastic programs for obese children.

Preventative medicine has had little support from the legislature in voting funds, Murdock told the audience. She said Winchester is fortunate to have public health nurses for its schools, screening and testing programs, and most of all an interested community.

Mrs. Hugh McCarthy, president, welcomed guests and the board of directors. She recalled the history of the local Visiting Nurse Association, saying it was founded in 1899 to offer nursing services to all residents from the newborn to elderly.

Jewell, Royce H. Randlett, M. Gloria Pearson is executive director of the nursing staff. Mrs. Martha Heigham is senior staff nurse.

Other staff members include, Mrs. Margaret Keefe, Mary Ellen Manning, Mrs. Joan Morrow, Mrs. Sharon Bartley, Mrs. Kathleen Sullivan, and Mrs. Elaine Curtis, business manager; and Mrs. Doris Stevens, secretary.

Local Red Cross Offers Scholarships

The Winchester Red Cross Chapter will award two scholarships to the Red National Aquatic School. Applications must be submitted to the local chapter at 39 Church st. by

Feb. 15 and must outline reasons for wanting the scholarship.

The Red Cross schools begin in June to give people training before summer activities start. The training is available for persons 17 and older who are better than average swimmers and are medically approved as physically fit.

Learning Problems Will Be Discussed

Dr. C. Keith Connors, director of the child development laboratory at Massachusetts General Hospital who studied Winchester children with learning disabilities, will speak at an open meeting on Feb. 5 at 7:30 p.m. on research and development at the Winchester High School cafeteria.

Connors is director of the Beacon School, a new day school for children with special learning problems. He is a child psychologist specializing in treatment of children with learning disabilities, brain dysfunction and hyperkinesia.

He has authored or co-authored 60 papers on the evaluation and treatment of children with emotional problems and learning disabilities. Two years ago Connors and his team interviewed a number of volunteer Winchester parents and their children as a part of a genetic study to help determine hereditary causes of learning disabilities.

Fourth grade students and their parents, brothers and sisters were psychologically tested as part of the study. Connors said the cooperation at Winchester schools and of parents and children was helpful.

Woman Loses But Wins

"Never in a million years did I think I could wear a size eight pant suit," said Mary Wallace of 5 Chesterford rd. recently when she reached her goal of 123 pounds after losing 136 pounds in 15 months. "My whole life has changed along with my size."

Ms. Wallace, who used to squeeze into a size 26 and one half dress, recently celebrated her loss with her Weight Watchers class in Burlington and 50 area members, guests, and friends later at the Howard Johnson's on Middlesex tpk.

She presented her lecturer, Mrs. Elaine Nitenson, a 32-pound loser with Weight Watchers, with roses and thanks for being "my guiding star always ready with a smile and words of encouragement."

Al Wallace, her husband, who lost 26 pounds on the Weight Watchers program, told the gathering that although his wife weighs only half as much as she used to he loves every pound twice as much.

After joining Weight Watchers at the suggestion of her parents who were members in Columbus, Ohio, Ms. Wallace urged one of her friends to join. Her friend has dropped 75 pounds.

"The greatest satisfaction of all is being able to inspire others to lose weight," said Ms. Wallace, who now lectures for Weight Watchers in Billerica. "There is nothing more beautiful than the knowledge that one life can touch another and give it hope."

Weight Watchers is a group approach to losing weight. It emphasizes reeducation of eating habits and includes three "nutritious and satisfying" meals a day plus snacks. For more information contact Weight Watchers, P.O. Box 336, So. Attleboro, Mass. 02703.

Mary Doherty Plans To Marry Thomas J. Kelley

Mr. and Mrs. Neal E. Doherty Jr. of 84 Loring ave. announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Denise, to Thomas Joseph Kelley Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kelley of Holyoke.

Ms. Doherty was graduated from Winchester High School and received a B.A. in English from Anna Maria College, Paxton. She is an account executive with Dean Wolf Associates, a Boston advertising agency.

Her fiancé was graduated from Williston Academy, Easthampton; received a B.A. from St. Michael's College, Vt.; and a J.D. degree from Boston College Law School. He is an associate with the trial office of Atty. James D. Casey, Boston.

A May 25 wedding is planned.

Volunteers Needed At Winchester Hosp.

Despite snow storms and the energy crisis the need for volunteer help at the Winchester Hospital continues.

Who is a volunteer? A volunteer is any interested person in the community who has time to give. Being a Friend of the Winchester Hospital offers many challenging opportunities both at the acute hospital and at the continuing care unit.

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital are having a monthly orientation meeting for prospective volunteers on Thurs. at 9:30 a.m. in the board room of the hospital. A behind the scenes tour of the hospital and a slide presentation showing all aspects of volunteer service at the hospital and the CCU will be given.

For further information please call Mrs. Sherman Mapes or Mrs. Gordon Graham of the hospital volunteer office.

Mary Wallace of Chesterford rd. weighs 261 pounds in this picture taken before she lost 136 pounds over the last 15 months.

Ms. Wallace, 136 pounds lighter, receives a goal award from her Weight Watchers lecturer, Elaine Nitenson.

Estates Garden Club Plans Whist Night

A Military Whist Night will be presented by the Winchester Estates Garden Club on Friday, Feb. 8, at 8 p.m. at the Vinson-Owen School.

Mrs. Rolland Robison, in charge of arrangements, said no one should hesitate to come alone or because they haven't played whist before. Instructions will be given to all participants, and prizes and refreshments will be offered. Persons who prefer may play bridge.

Assisting Mrs. Robison are the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Z.L. Roehr, tickets; Mrs. Joel Wein, publicity; Mrs. James O'Brien, card tables; Mrs. Joseph Ciccio, whist set-up; Mrs. Vincent George, refreshments; Mrs. Padmaker Lele, prizes; Mrs. Stephen Barlow, punch; and Mrs. H. F. Ro ndeau, clean-up.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Roehr at 12 Thronberry rd.

Lizotte Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Theore F. Lizotte (Linda Dennehy) of Plalstow, N.H., announce the birth of their fourth child, second son, Travis James, on Jan. 17 at Winchester Hospital. Theater Groups Host Newcomers

The Associated Theatre Groups of Winchester are making plans to attract newcomers to the local community theater scene by presenting a production of two one-act plays which will emphasize participation by new talent onstage and backstage.

The curious are invited to attend one of the two orientation meetings which will be held in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church on Sunday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The single performance of the one act plays will be held March 16.

Working seminars will be conducted on many of the backstage skills needed to produce a play, such as set construction, lighting and makeup. The seminars run from mid-February through mid-March.

"All that's necessary to participate in these seminars," says coordinator Jack Gulderson, "is to register with the group at either of our two orientation meetings. There is no fee and no special skill or experience is required."

The two one-act plays offer a wide range of parts. Both "The Pelican" by August Strindberg and "Double Solitaire" by Robert Anderson are powerful plays about family life. Readings for roles in these plays will be held at both orientation meetings.

Art Association Gives Demonstration In Pottery Wheel

A pottery wheel demonstration by Ian Fenton, art instructor at McCall Junior High School, will be the program of the Winchester Art Association on Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the high school art studio.

Fenton will demonstrate and discuss the pottery making process, including the choice and preparation of clay, exploration of shapes to build on a wheel, and glazing of a fired piece.

It is open to the public. A limited quantity of clay will be available to anyone interested in trying the potter's wheel. Refreshments are planned.

The Art Association reminds Winchester artists and craftsmen that the new date for its annual members' show is March 5 at 7:45

The Winchester Art Association is open to artist and non-artist members. Betty Wilder of 17 Mason st. will give more information.

WOW! Starts This Week

Rehearsals for Winton Club's annual show were taking place this week for performances Tuesday through Saturday at Town Hall.

"Show business is great fun," said Mrs. Robert Armstrong of the club. "But you really have to be dedicated when you dance all night and work all day."

Mrs. Armstrong said the club has been grateful to the Winchester merchants who have been running their shops all day and coming to rehearsals at night.

The Continuing Care Unit of Winchester Hospital requested an opportunity for some of its ambulatory patients to attend the show — called WOW! this year.

"En Ka has purchased a block of tickets for their use and thanks to this organization WOW! will be enjoyed by people whom Winton Club is also endeavoring to serve," she said. "Next May you will see lots of Winton Club members helping at the En Ka booths all over their fair."

"January has been the busiest month, with the zaniest weather, and after weeks of rehearsals, building sets, and selling tickets February looks like the quiet time until at least school vacation starts."

Friday and Saturday floor tickets are sold out. Balcony rush seats are available for Thursday through Saturday.

Concert Choir Sings Tomorrow

The 80 voice concert choir of Winchester High School under the direction of Burton O. Cowgill, director of music, will perform the "Gloria" by Vivaldi at McCall and Lynch Junior High Schools on Friday.

The choir will be accompanied by a string ensemble and John Bishop at the piano. Soloists include Monique Phinney, Anne Fairbanks, Rebecca Downs, Karen Culver and Chris Crawford.

There will be one presentation at McCall and two at Lynch. The public is invited to attend the performances.

Fuel Oil Permit Approved By Selectmen

The Board of Selectmen at a recent meeting approved a permit request from James A. Johnson to keep trucks containing home heating fuel at 130 Cross st.

The trucks are now kept in Woburn. Johnson said there will be no transfer of oil at 130 Cross st. Most of Johnson's delivery business is in Winchester.

The Town Employees' Association has presented a grievance to the American Arbitration Association over giving Sunday library maintenance work to persons outside the bargaining unit.

The association, through its attorney, seeks to stop the practice and give the work to bargaining unit employees and to have bargaining unit employees receive back pay for the work they should have been given. A communication from the Needham

Board of Selectmen seeking support to reform the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association Executive Board received the "wait and see" from the Winchester selectmen.

The Needham selectmen said they were "dismayed" by the executive board's seeking "to attempt to force the appointment of Robert Oliver to the post of executive director at an annual rate of $14,000-$15,000."

The Needham selectmen say the officers of the board are generally ex-selectmen "responsible for the past stagnation and ineffectiveness of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association."

"Indeed it is apparent they do not intend to heed the sentiments of the many boards of elected selectmen whose taxpayers funds support this association."

At the suggestion of Planning Board Chairman Otto E. Schaefer, the selectmen withdrew from the annual town meeting warrant an article to approve a new zoning by-law.

Schaefer said his board has had no time to complete its work on the by-law. "It's a little hard to explain what a planning board does for a living," he said. "But here it is 11 o'clock and we've just started on our agenda."

Town Counsel Douglas Randall commented on the proposal: "This sign by-law is perhaps the most sophisticated ever proposed."

Said Schaefer: "It's not that bad, Doug." Schaefer also said the Planning Board would like a meeting with selectmen and Winchester Business Association over plans for Winchester Center. The first Monday in February is the tentative date.

Gannon Committee Kickoff Drive

The members of the William J. Gannon Fund met last week to kickoff the drive to raise funds for the young police officer critically injured last Memorial Day in an automobile accident.

Police Lt. James J. Cogan announced that 20,000 raffle tickets have been delivered to more than 100 police departments throughout the state and 20,000 more are available for sale.

The meeting was attended by representatives of various fraternal organizations in town who have agreed to sell raffle tickets to their members. Tickets may be obtained at the Winchester Police Station on Mount Vernon street.

Several Winchester High School students in attendance at the meeting agreed to offer assistance in the raffle effort.

The committee announced that 473 letters have been sent to Winchester business concerns and the returns to date are "excellent." The committee plans a similar mailing in Woburn, Officer Gannon's native city.

Unsolicited donations have been received from Boston and California. Anyone interested in making such a donation may do so at the police station. The committee has been advised that contributions are tax deductible.

On the night of the drawing, March 15, the committee will sponsor a dinner-dance, at Montvale Plaza. Tickets for the dinner will be available to the public on Feb. 11. Santo Cannava, heading that effort, announced that tickets will be $12.50 per individual.

This will include an open bar, dinner and dancing. The drawing will be conducted at the dinner-dance.

The committee thus far has had all printing donated by Barnard Printing of Boston.

Children's Theatre Prepares For New Play

Two meetings of the Children's Theatre of the Winchester Community Theatre, Inc., were held at the Winchester Public Library Meeting Room on Tuesday evening and Thursday afternoon for members and new children to hear of results of the "Noah's Ark" and plans for the spring session.

A report of financial intake and expenses was given briefly and will be made public.

New staff members of the Children's Theatre are: Roland Marcy, assisting Mrs. Carlene Samoloff in directing, will be directing the new project and teaching painting of scenery with Mrs. Samoloff.

Mrs. Nancy Mills will be an assistant to Ms. Marcy.

Mr. and Mrs. Trente Atterberry, the pantomime artists, will be on the staff of the Children's Theatre this spring, beginning Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at the Lincoln School.

Already 28 boys and girls have signed for the spring session. Each group will have a half hour each week with either Mr. or Mrs. Atterberry in pantomime.

Painting and acting will continue in preparation for the scripted play.

Registrations may be made at the Lincoln School Lobby at 3:30 Thursday, Jan. 31, or Tuesday, Feb. 4, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Enrichment Activities At Parkhurst Listed

Students of the Parkhurst School have had a varied enrichment program to date this year, including Susan Linn with her puppets and Dean Bander with musical instruments.

The children are continually hearing from community volunteers sharing hobbies, personal experiences and cultures.

The community volunteers have had a wide range of programs including Japanese origami, making birds and boats; the preparation and tasting of a Hong Kong meal; discussions and drawings of the comet Kohoutek; and musical movement in the Orf Kadey method.

In addition, the Parkhurst students have benefited from classroom volunteers. These volunteers are from the community but work directly with the teacher on a week to week schedule.

The classroom volunteers often supplement the teachers' work in large or small groups, or assist in non-teaching tasks such as bookkeeping.

Police Give Check In Officers' Memory

The Winchester Police Department recently gave a check to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. Donations were collected in memory of Andrew J. Saraco and Frederick J. Marasca, members of the department who were killed in a car accident May 28.

"Each of these young men had a sincere interest in the youth of our community," wrote Lt. James J. Cogan of the police department in an accompanying letter, "and we would like this money to be used to assist some Winchester youth in pursuing higher education in the law enforcement field."

Lt. Cogan also said he hopes the police department will be able to make a yearly contribution in the memory of the two police officers.

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation is currently making plans for its 29th annual fund-raising drive.

State Agency Has Summer Jobs For Students

College students with experience in recreation camps for young people should contact the Professional Service Center in Waltham which has over 1000 listings for summer work.

Inexperienced students will be considered if they have special skills in the area of counseling, water safety, arts and crafts, woodworking, dramatics, riding instruction, or music. Salaries range from $250-$1000 plus room and board.

Swim Team, Wins Eighth; Loss To Weston Protested

Star Sports

Last Tuesday the Winchester High School swim team beat a strong Concord-Carlisle 52-30.

The meet was swum at the Woburn Boys Club. The team of divers Vickroy and Williams won 1-2 in that event. This was the turning point of the meet. The breaststroke team of Vin Palumbo and Alec Goodman took a 1-2 in that event, wrapping up the meet for Winchester.

First places were taken by Steve Armstrong in the 200 freestyle, Danny Holmes in the 100 free and John Henriques in the 100 fly. Both of the Winchester Relays came in 1-2. At Weston last Friday the Winchester High School swim team, primed for the toughest meet of the year, was confronted with the unexpected. "Although the pool at Weston Junior High School is two years old, the end walls were not marked or properly surfaced, making it impossible for freestylers to effect a proper turn," Coach Vincent Palumbo said.

The swimteam lost all of the free style events, the 50, 100, 200, 500 "because of the poor visibility and slipperiness of the end walls." Even at that the Sachem swimmers made it close, forcing Weston into the final event in order for them to win the meet. "Unsportsmanlike conduct" on the part of the Weston swimmers in the 500-yard freestyle is the major protest of the Winchester Coach, Vin Palumbo.

Bright spots of the meet were the 1-2 punch of Chip Vickroy and John Williams in a great exhibition of their skills; the first, second and third taken in the Breaststroke event by Vin Palumbo, Alec Goodman and Rick Minutoli; and the 1:00:8 in the 100-yard butterfly by John Henriques.

The medley relay team for Winchester placed first and third.

Final score: Weston 94, Winchester 78.

O'Leary Plays

Salem Hockey

Jay O'Leary from Winchester is a member of the Salem State Vikings' varsity hockey team, which is sporting an 11-1-0 record in Div. 2 play, and is currently top-ranked in the latest ECAC standings.

The 6 foot, 185 pounder, who attended Winchester High School, is a senior at Salem State, majoring in junior high school social studies.

He is a starting defenseman. While at WHS, he was co-captain of the hockey and cross-country teams and was a member of the track team.

Couples A Go-Go

Last Saturday evening, 17 people showed up for the tenth evening of Couples A Go-Go bowling.

The big upset of the evening was that Mimi Burnett took high average away from the president, Stan Hart: Mimi Burnett, 152; Stan Hart, 150.

Results of that evening: mens' high game, Wimpy Burnett, 176; womens' high game, Vi Vangell, 185; high series, Mimi Burnett, 509.

Even bowler of the evening went to Vi Vangell. With an average of 137 she had games of 153-158-185.

Improvement in averages for the 10 evenings: Vi Vangell, five pins; Mimi Burnett, three pins; Ed Dokus, Wimpy Burnett, Jean Bradley, Bill Kennedy, Walter Armstrong and Jean Hurley, two pins; Terry Dokus, one pin.

Bill and Jill Kennedy were hosts after bowling.

V-O Bowling

Fine team effort by the Bluejays — Anna Pierce, Jean Day, Regina Cantella and Bea Terzian — gave them eight points over the Robins tying them for first place with the Cardinals.

Roll-offs for the first place champs will now be held for the first half.

Jean Day of the Bluejays captured the high three string with 287. Rose Mottla of the Cardinals took the high single of 111. The Cuckoos — Ann Redmond, Rita Uglietto, Marie LeMay and Dot Bianchi — took the team high single of 385 as well as the team high three string of 1,047 bowling against the first place Cardinals.

Strikers this week were Ann Redmond, Rose Mottla, Bunny McCarthy, Ellen Mahairas and Emily D'Auria. Ann, Rose, and Bunny had two strikes each.

First half highs: high individual single, 113, Barbara Gray; high three string, 305, Anna Pierce; team high single, 385, Cuckoos; team high three string, 1,056, Bluejays.

Last Year's LL Uniforms Sought

Little League outgoing president Jim Stewart welcomed new president Frank Langone and secretary, Paul Guarente, at the monthly meeting of the Winchester Little League Inc. held recently at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

During the business meeting Guarente read minutes. It was reported there are still many uniforms used last season which have not been returned to managers.

Other business notes were: There has been electricity installed at the field house on Ginn Field. Also, in order for the Women's Auxiliary to serve hotdogs, hamburgers and coffee, ventilation must be installed in the field house. Mechanically-inclined fathers who would like to assist in this kind of project should contact Langone.

Thanks was extended to Boston Sand and Gravel Co. and Coronis Construction Co. for their work on the field house at West Side Field.

Camp Wyanoke

The Camp Wyanoke New England Reunion, the first event of Wyanoke's 66th season, took place last Saturday in Lexington with persons attending from seven states and 24 different towns.

Winchester was well represented at the reunion with Ned Pepper, Louis Hamel and Mr. Hamel, Jim Graves, Adam Powers, Tony Simboli, Mr. and Mrs. James Bourne, Frank Harrington, Chris Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, Jay Davies, Jim Davies, Mr. Davies, Tom Shirley, John Shirley, Caroline Shirley, Dr. and Mrs. Shirley, Ken Torlone, Ron Torlone, Steve Meahl, and Mr. and Mrs. Brad Bentley, Directors.

In the fun and games department, Adam Powers won the haircut contest Louis Hamel won in the sport coat division.

Movies from camp in 1973 were shown. There were short talks about 1974 plans which include, in addition to the regular camp program, a two-week specialization camp to which girls are invited.

Wyanoke, started in 1909 by the present director's father, is one of the oldest camps in New England.

Sachems Edge Raiders 45-40

By John J. Parrell

Coach Vandy French's Winchester High School basketball team kept on their winning skid in recent action by besting the Red Raiders of Melrose 45-40, the twelfth consecutive triumph for the Sachem quintet. The team leads the Middlesex League by one game, with the Woburn Tanners second, Lexington in third position and Melrose falling back to fourth.

The rest of the league is loosely strung out, with the other six teams having losing records and Belmont's Marauders not yet able to win a single game.

This week's opposition will include a game at Burlington on Tuesday and a visit by the hapless Marauders to the local court tomorrow evening. Unless there should be a major upset, the Sachem hoopers will be safely qualified for the Easter State (Tech) Tourney before the weekend.

Stern opposition looms for next week when the Winchester team will invade Wakefield on Tuesday. The Warriors made the tourney last year and are a much more dangerous group than their record shows.

They will be gunning to knock off the Sachems. Nothing would please them more than to accomplish this feat before there rabid home rosters.

A week from tomorrow Stan Boynton will bring his Lexington quintet to the local gymnasium. The league champions of the past four seasons will be eager to avenge their earlier setback by Winchester. No, the path to the title is not an easy one, and will require an all out effort by every player every minute of every game.

Fresh from their thrilling and masterful trouncing of Woburn, the Sachems went to Melrose for the first game of the second half of the schedule. Melrose had held them to a single point victory at the start of the season, but with Nate Bitting available now, it figured to be much easier.

It was a hard-nosed battle from tapoff to final whistle. Winchester supporters were relieved when the team rallied from a 38-37 deficit at the five minute mark of the final period to turn threatening defeat into victory with three baskets within a space of 33 seconds. This was accomplished by some swift floor work, a steal and a neat combination play engineered by Wayne Dennis and Nate Bitting.

Melrose opened the scoring with a basket after 47 seconds of play. It was nearly a minute later that co-captain Mike Heffernan drove in to score. He was fouled on the play, converting the foul shot for a 3-2 Sachem margin.

During the next two minutes Winchester got two baskets each from Heffernan and Bigelow and one by Bitting to forge a 13-4 lead, the biggest edge they had all evening. The home team rallied for a pair of late baskets to make the first period score 13-10.

The Raiders crept to within one point, Heffernan dropped in three hoops in a row, the last on a spectacular steal, to build a five point bulge.

Over the last two minutes the Sachem shooters were cold. Two baskets by the home team set up a tense situation with only two seconds remaining before the half. Bill Killilea, son of the former Melrose coach now assistant coach of the Boston Celtics, had a two-shot foul but missed both. The half time intermission found the Sachems ahead by just two points.

Neither team was having a particularly effective shooting average from the floor. This situation prevailed over the whole game. A well executed play by Sandy Bigelow and Nate Bitting brought a basket after just 18 seconds and the latter hooped another before the one minute mark to stretch the lead to six points.

The Raiders kept scrapping. By the middle of the period it was once again a slim two-point edge for Winchester. Two Bitting hoops moved the lead to six, but as in the preceding periods, two late baskets slashed it to the same two points as the third session ended.

Co-captain Tim Porter was the hero of two quick scores at the start of the fourth period. Melrose converted two foul shots, added a basket, and then took a two-point lead on another hoop.

Wayne Dennis tied the score, but a free throw by Killilea put Melrose ahead 38-37 with just under three minutes left on the clock. Then came the cluster of three baskets which iced the verdict for Winchester. It was a great game to win, but the victory did not come easily. Nate Bitting was top scorer with 14, a dozen in the second half and his rebounding was also a key factor.

Summary:	13	8	10	14	45
Winchester	10	9	10	11	40
Melrose

The junior varsity team had a much easier time with the Raiders reserve group, posting a 58-40 win. Mills and Stockle each picked up a dozen points and the latter had 14 rebounds.

Hockey Team Posts 2 Wins

BY JOHN F. PARRELL

Coach Ted Kelley's Sachem hockey team picked up a pair of wins last week by downing Belmont's Marauders 4-2 at the U.S.A. rink and by a cliff hanging win over Watertown at the Raiders own rink.

This makes the Winchester High School record in the Middlesex League read 5-7-1. Both games this week will be played away from home since they were scheduled to play Burlington at Billerica last night and meet the Wakefield Warriors on Saturday at 2 p.m.

This game will be played at the new Stoneham rink adjacent to Route 93 on Montvale ave. The next home game will be played Wednesday of next week when the Reading Rockets invade the U.S.A. rink for a 7 o'clock faceoff.

The Belmont game found Winchester jumping into the lead as Co-captain Charlie Evans caged the puck after only 14 seconds of action. Belmont knotted the count only a minute later as Tom Saldanay drove one past Pete Frongillo with the Sachem net minder screened from seeing the flying puck by his own defense.

Winchester came right back to regain the lead as Tom Brennan and Evans put together a neat combination and Brennan lit the red light. There was no further scoring in the first session.

Winchester moved out by 3-1 as Gerard Kivney let a long shot fly. It deflected off Mark Siegfried to the net.

As in the earlier meeting, the Marauders came out fast at the start of the final period, pressing hard. It was only 27 seconds after the faceoff that Gallagher assisted by Igo sent the puck past Frongillo for a 3-2 score. The visitors continued to move the puck and the Sachem defense had trouble clearing the zone. Three penalties also kept the home team under pressure. Just as the final minute started Tom Brennan passed back to Co-captain Kevin Pierce, who netted the final goal.

Just as in the Belmont game, Charlie Evans scored before the opening sound of the referee's whistle had hardly faded. The goal, at the 12 second mark, was destined to be the only score of a fast and well played game.

Andy Miga controlled the puck and slipped a pass to Tom Brennan. The latter fired a long lead pass which Evans picked up on the fly right inside the blueline. He roared in alone on Kevin O'Riley, beating him cleanly.

The Sachems had many chances to add to their lead. On the remaining 29 occasions, O'Riley was equal to the task of smothering the offensive drives. At the other end of the rink, Mike O'Leary playing his first game was equally effective. He turned aside no less than 30 shots by Watertown's Red Raiders to assure the fifth victory of the season for the Winchester sextet.

Midas has opened a new shop.

You won't find the kind of muffler service Midas gives you anywhere else.

At Midas, we'll usually install a muffler in 30 minutes or less. And since we carry mufflers for over 1700 different car models, we'll probably have the muffler you need right away.

As for our guarantee, it has teeth to it. We promise that if anything goes wrong with a Midas muffler we installed on your American-made car, we'll replace it for just an installation charge, as long as you own the car.

We're also part of a chain of over 600 American and Canadian Midas shops. So unlike most guarantees, ours isn't worthless when you're driving out of town.

When you come right down to it, we're not just opening a new muffler shop. We're giving you a whole new kind of muffler service.

Sachems Win No. 13; Edge Burlington, 62-60

By John F. Parrell

The Winchester High School basketball team won its 13th consecutive game Tuesday night at Burlington, qualifying for the Eastern State (Tech) Tourney.

Coach Vandy French's quintet became one of the first teams to officially qualify. Coming on Jan. 29, this is the earliest date ever for any Sachem quintet, even those in the halcyon days of Ted Bartlett's great teams of the 1950's.

But the 13 jinx was not the only thing that made it a hard earned victory. A far greater factor was the absence of Co-captain Tim Porter due to an infection. Tim's steady play, and particularly his rebounding, were sorely missed by his teammates.

This enabled Aza Haneef, the best player for the Red Devils to grab the ball off the boards at both ends while tossing in 21 big points. Ability to convert foul shots proved the deciding element with the Sachems converting 22 for an amazing 88 percent.

They took a three point lead in the first quarter, stretched to five at half time, with the score board reading: Winchester 35, Burlington 30.

The home team came out for the second half determined to close the gap. Over the first four minutes they racked up six points while Winchester was limited to only two. The Sachems kept losing the ball on erratic passes, inconsistent rebounding.

Co-captain Mike Heffernan was forced to the sidelines with four fouls against him. The Red Devils capitalized on the Winchester letdown and went ahead by six points. A hoop at the six minute mark, another by John Zanoli at the 7:20 point, and a pair of fouls by Sandy Bigelow made it a tie game at 43 all as the third period ended.

The fourth quarter opened with Haneef netting the ball after only six seconds for a Burlington lead of 45-43.

Just one minute later another Burlington basket pushed the score to 47-43. Sandy Bigelow's first of five final period baskets made it 47-45 at 1:35. Haneef retaliated at the two-minute mark to put the Red Devils in the van by four once again. Wayne Dennis zipped a pass to Heffernan for a hoop and Sandy Bigelow's two foul shots forged another tie at 49 all.

Burlington put through another shot for a 51-49 margin at 3:41. About 10 seconds later Bigelow notched another basket and added a foul shot for a 52-51 lead. The home team was still battling hard. A basket by Born followed by another for Haneef pushed them into a three point edge with only three and one half minutes of action left.

Two more Bigelow baskets followed by another for the Burlington quintet kept the Red Devils in front by 57-56. Bigelow's final floor goal sent the Sachem ahead with just 2:08 left on the clock.

Mike Heffernan's two foul shots sandwiched around a basket by Nate Blitting gave the Sachems a 62-58 bulge with only 32 seconds of action remaining. Nate Blitting picked up his fifth foul and left the game.

The home team managed to pick up a foul shot at 7:47 and a basket at 7:56. The Sachems breathed a sigh of relief as the last four seconds ticked away.

They had won their 13th in a row. The Red Devils have improved since the weird game that was played here only a month ago.

Sandy Bigelow had 10 baskets plus 10 foul shots for 30 very valuable points. Heffernan chipped in with 14. Haneef of the Red Devils had 21.

St. Mary's Wins 4-1 And 4-2

Dan Whitney scored two goals in one game for the third time this season as St. Mary's beat Walpole 4-1 over the weekend to stay a point behind first place Norwood with one regular season game remaining.

The win was the second in 24 hours for the St. Mary's team which had traveled to Portland, Me., Saturday and defeated the Portland Middlets 4-2 in a local tournament.

After a scoreless first period vs. Walpole, St. Mary's went ahead 1-0 at 2:11 of the second period on Peter Haley's first goal of the season.

Dan Powers flipped Tony Santo's rebound over the Walpole goalie at :37 seconds of the third period to give St. Mary's a two-goal lead. Whitney made it 3-0 with an unassisted goal at 4:27.

Walpole spoiled Cliff Falla's shout bid with a disputed goal at 5:15 of the third period. The puck appeared to hit the post and bounce out into the crease but the referee ruled that the puck had crossed the goal line.

With only 1:06 remaining, Whitney scored his second goal of the game and seventh of the season assisted by defenseman Jim Beaton.

St. Mary's plays last place Milton at noon Saturday at Boston College while Norwood will face third place Walpole. A win by St. Mary's and a tie or loss by Norwood will give St. Mary's their second consecutive American division championship.

Track Team Whips Woburn

Coach Tom Kline's Winchester High School track team won their fifth meet of the season against only two losses as they outscored traditional rival Woburn in a close meet 48-38 this week.

The decision was in doubt right down to the relay, won by the Sachem quartet of Bob Tonello, Dana Cronan, Steve Meahl and Rick Mauger. Bob Tonello broke away to a two-yard lead. His teammates held the lead to the end.

John Friberg, taking part in his first meet of the indoor season was top scorer for Winchester, winning hurdles and high jump. The Middlesex League season will end this week. The Sachems were carded to meet Stoneham on Tuesday and undefeated Reading on Saturday.

In the girls' events of the Woburn meet, Mem Chipman took a first place while Kerry McKenna and Donna Ciscione garnered seconds.

The summary:
Two-mile run: Bustin (WO), Parker (WI), Tregaser (WI), Time: 10:23.7.
Shotput: Roche (WI), McIntosh (WO), Dexter (WI), Distance 44 ft. 2 in.

Insurance FACTS

BY FRANK MAHONEY

Insurance covering damage to others, is better known as liability insurance. It covers bodily injuries and property damages. Laws in all states make this insurance mandatory. Liability coverage is effective when the vehicle insured is driven by the policyholder, any member of his family, or anyone who drives it with his permission. Liability insurance is, then, one of the most important coverages you buy for your auto, as well as a mandatory coverage.

And FRANCIS X. MAHONEY INSURANCE AGENCY, 914 Mass. Ave., 643-3800 handles all types of insurance including complete liability insurance. Serving Winchester, Arlington and surrounding communities, we give personal attention to every client's needs and will be happy to answer all those nagging questions about insurance that may be bothering you. Open: 9-5 Mon-Fri; by app't Sat.

Collins To Play Organ

On Sunday at 4 p.m., Mrs. Sherwood C. Collins (Julie) will present a program of organ music at Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church. Mrs. Collins has been the organist at Crawford Memorial since 1962.

Her organ program will include three groups of numbers. The first section of Baroque music will include: "Prelude, Fugue and Chaconne" by Buxtehude, followed by two chorale preludes, "Kommt mit uns, Jesu vom Himmel herunter," and "Wachet auf, ruft uns die Stimme" by J. S. Bach, and "Prelude and Fugue in E flat Major (St. Anne's)" also by Bach. The Romantic Period will be represented by Cesar Franck's "Chorale III in A minor." It will be followed by a group of works by modern and contemporary composers.

"Postlude I" by Jean Langlais, "Cantilene" by Flor Peeters, "Psalmodien und Intermezzo I, IV, VI" by Hermann Schroeder, and "Cortege et Litanie" by Marcel Dupre.

Mrs. Collins began her study of piano at age five and has been playing the piano and organ since. With her twin sister she gave duo-piano recitals and concerts throughout the Midwest. Both received degrees in music from the University of Wisconsin with a major in piano and minor in organ.

She studied with Egon Petri at Mills College in Oakland, Calif., and at the Juilliard School of Music in New York. She served as organist at Westminster Presbyterian Church and the First Baptist Church in Madison, Wis., and at Lake Park Lutheran Church in Milwaukee before moving to Boston.

In addition to her position as organist at Crawford Memorial Church, Mrs. Collins has served as the musical director for the Tufts University Arena Theater production of Stop the World. She was director of music for the Magic Circle, children's summer theater at Tufts for two seasons. She has served as accompanist for soloists in the metropolitan Boston area and as organist at the Cathedral of the Pines for the gathering of Methodist Churches from New England. Mrs. Collins teaches both the organ and the piano.

Unitarian Pupils Ask Parents To Give Solutions

Unitarian sixth graders recently invited parents to participate in a Sunday morning church school class.

The young people were interested in hearing their parents' solutions to some of the problem situations which are a part of the sixth grade course on decisions. The course consists of activities designed to stimulate thought and discoveries about two chief topics: Why different people make different decisions and how to make better decisions.

"For thousands of years people have turned to the Bible to learn about prayer," he said. "And there's no better place to start. From beginning to end the book of books shows the superiority of prayer-power over every condition opposed to good."

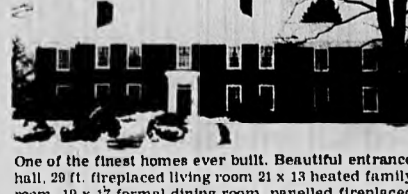

Mr. Crichtow spoke at the invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Winchester. He was introduced by Second Reader Mrs. Elizabeth C. Herberich. "Prayer Power" was the title of his lecture.

Every human heart is yearning for what only genuine prayer can bring, Mr. Crichtow said.

"The first requirement of effective prayer, is that we acknowledge our over-extended relationship with inexhaustible good, God."

Christ Jesus, he said, showed how to experience prayer-power at all times. "The prayers of Jesus were

St. Mary's Sponsors Educational Lectures

The continuing Education program of St. Mary's Church is sponsoring a series of weekly lectures in connection with this time of questioning within the Church.

The first of these, originally scheduled for Jan. 30, has been rescheduled for Sunday at 8 p.m. in St. Mary's Hall. The successive lectures will be on Wednesdays.

Rev. Arnold Hogan, S.J., M.A., S.T.D., will lecture on contemporary moral problems. Fr. Hogan was graduated from the National University of Ireland and holds a doctorate in moral theology from the Gregorian University, Rome.

He has lectured extensively in continuing education programs throughout the Boston area and is conducting an adult education course in the Jesuit Center at Sullivan Square.

Fr. Hogan is teaching in the religious education master's program at Emmanuel College.

Future lectures at St. Mary's are the following: Feb. 6: "Family Concern - Youth Today" with Rev. James Power, chaplain at Salem State College's Newman Center.
Feb. 13: "Sacraments in General, Liturgy in Particular" given by Rev. Arnold Colletti.
Feb. 27: "Sin and Grace," Sr. Rea, S.S.N.D.
March 6: "Conscience and Its Formation," Rev. Marcel La Flamme, S.M.
March 13: "Sacrament of Penance," again Sr. Rea, S.S.N.D.

Accidentally Overheard

Necks that are long are supposedly the most beautiful. This is evidently the thought of the Padung or Mayan people of Burma. There the extension of the neck may be as much as 16 inches. This is done by placing a series of copper coils around the neck. Not only does this make their women more beautiful, but it also serves to guarantee that they please the men; removal of the rings produces asphyxiation.

FINANCING INCOME-PROPERTY

If you are contemplating the purchase of income property, the question of how large a mortgage loan you should have will undoubtedly arise. Those who specialize in this type of real estate, almost to a man, go on the philosophy that income property should be purchased with as large a mortgage as possible. They provided the property yields enough net income to meet mortgage payments. In fact, knowledgeable investors strive to get as close to 100 percent mortgage as they can.

From the standpoint of investment analysis, it can be shown that this policy usually gives the greatest capital gain, the largest amount of tax-free income, and the largest percentage of investment return.

In no other investment do you have the opportunity to use leverage (a small percentage of your money to a great percentage of another's) like you do in real estate. So, the larger the mortgage loan, the further your own money will go.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

'In 1968, 1,000 Juveniles In Jail; Today, 17 Incurable'

At the Jan. 23 dinner meeting of the Winchester Kiwanis Club, Ted Flaherty, juvenile probation officer of the Malden District Court, presented a program on the juvenile and the courts.

Flaherty talked about the administrative organization of the juvenile district court which has 10 officers responsible for the cities of Malden, Medford, Everett, Melrose and Wakefield.

The focal point of the workings of the court is to work with and rehabilitate the juvenile offender, youths from age seven to his 17th birthday, he said. Based on the fact that 85 percent of adult prisoners were juvenile delinquents, extensive investigation is made into the causes of the youths' offenses with the intent to correct them, thus avoiding incarceration, he said.

Many cases evolve from parent neglect, thus both the youth and the parents are counseled, he said. In most cases where the offender is from a broken home, he is entered into residency programs consisting of psychiatric and social aid, Flaherty commented.

A feeling of success and achievement is fostered in these programs in order to overcome the common feeling of despair by the juvenile; in this way, explained Flaherty, the goal of the juvenile court—to make a productive citizen of the youth by treatment rather than commitment—is being realized.

Proof that the court's attitude is successful is the fact that in 1968 there were one thousand juveniles considered delinquents and imprisoned, he said. Today there are only 17 who are incorrigible, he said.

March 1 Deadline For Aid Forms

Mrs. Austin Broadhurst, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation said recently that Winchester High School seniors have until March 1 for submitting applications for scholarship assistance for the 1974-75 academic year. The following guidelines were issued:

"By that date students should return the white student aid application form to the high school guidance office. The green student budget form should not be completed at this time.

Bloodmobile Set For Next Week

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be set up in the Winchester Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st., on Feb. 8 from noon to 5 p.m.

Persons between the ages of 17 to 65 may give blood. However, the 17-year-olds must pick up parental consent forms before donating.

Prospective donors should eat a well-balanced meal four hours before a donation but should avoid fatty foods such as butter, cream, ice cream, or eggs. Donors should weigh at least 110 pounds.

Appointments must be made in advance.

"After the student has received notification of acceptance at an institution the budget form should be completed and returned to the guidance office between May 1 and May 4.

"Students now in college and requesting additional assistance should also return the student application form to the guidance office by March 1. The budget form should not be sent until the student has received final grades for 1973-74."

Library Films

February 2 - 3

Lady of the Light - A light house keeper's daughter discovers that life on a remote seacoast can be lonesome.

The Animal Movie - In this animated film a boy discovers that he cannot compete with an animal-by imitating the way they move.

Snowballs - In Quebec snow time provides many varied fun activities, including skiing, for sports-minded people.

Saturday morning's film program is for school age children. It begins at 10:00. On Sunday afternoon the Family program is held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library and will begin at 2:30. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children.

Community Use Of Schools Talk Goes On

Discussion of community use of schools took up the major portion of the School Committee meeting Monday night.

Supt. William C. MacDonald met with student Michael Meagher to discuss a student proposal for community and out-of-town use of shop facilities in the high school.

The aim is to incorporate this program into the adult education program. MacDonald named three possible problems: 1) Concern with the security of buildings; how to isolate certain sections. 2) Availability of custodial work. 3) Availability of a qualified, certified instructor willing to be at the high school on Saturday mornings.

School Committee member Stephen R. Parkhurst suggested hiring four part-time instructors to divide the 20-week program among them.

There are still questions remaining, such as should this be a sign-up type of program, or a drop-in center, and should materials needed be brought in by their owners and taken home afterwards to minimize stealing.

An addition to the adult education program is Mrs. Shirley Freedman as instructor for crewel embroidery courses for beginning and advanced students.

The community use of schools program will continue under the jurisdiction of the School Committee for at least another year. MacDonald suggested the cost of community school usage be separated from the rest of the budget to facilitate spending and budget making.

Joseph Crowley, math teacher at Lynch Junior High School, is the new director of the summer school. He intends to make the summer school courses, especially at the secondary school level, more appealing instead of merely "rehashes" of the courses taken all year. Also on his list of things to do is the elimination of the summer school course description folder. "Too elaborate, too involved," Crowley said.

Also under discussion was how many and which of Winchester's school buildings would be used during the summer session.

Response to Jeanne Amico, president of the Secretary Association, was deferred until executive session. This is in regard to the Olney report, a management study initiated to correct inequities of salary and classification of school secretaries.

John Parrell, sports writer for The Star, suggested that something be done to "immortalize" Coach Henry Knowlton, director of athletics for Winchester schools.

He was "the first in school in the mornings and last out at night," said Parrell of the coach who has given more than 40 years to Winchester. Parrell spoke of naming the football stadium, gym or playing field after Coach Knowlton.

General consensus seemed to bear out what Parrell felt: why wait until death to honor someone?

Bird Solid Vinyl Siding ends expensive never ending maintenance chores

BUT CHECK THESE FACTS:
This siding has solid color all the way through (not just on the surface). So it won't show scrapes, won't peel, won't blister. WON'T NEED PAINTING! And that's not all. Because it's solid vinyl, it can't rust, can't rot, can't conduct electricity. So whether you're fixing up your present home or planning a new one, let us show you the siding that stays beautiful without painting — Bird Solid Vinyl Siding. FREE estimate.

- Bank Financing up to 84 mo. to pay.
- Over 20 years in the business.
- We handle the entire job. Roofing, dormers, kitchens, room additions, and porch repairs.
